J. E. DOMAN, Pres.

Doman Consolidated Oil Co.

J. E. Doman, promoter and business manager of the Doman Consolidated Oil Company, is a native of West Virginia, but his ancestors hail from New Jersey, just across the river Delaware, opposite Philadelphia, and he is closely connected by blood relation to the Willards, Warnes and Wanamakers, who are great powers in the Eastern manufacturers and promoters of the United States. He has been a resident of our town for more than fourteen years and has had much experience in the general business world. He has two diplomas as a graduate of two law schools and has had ten years' experience as an adjuster and settler of general business, which gives him a broad experience in financing and saving of various promotions. He has made good upon all his undertakings and is due largely to his honesty and integrity and never-tiring energy. He has chartered the above named company under the blue sky laws of West Virginia, having complied in every detail with the new statute. He is now offering the stock of the Doman Consolidated Oil Company to the public for subscription. This property is located in the center of one of the greatest oil fields of West Virginia and has great merit as being a big producer, as oil is found in paying quantities in three different sands at this particular point. The property is situated near the town of Smithfield, West Virginia, and development has been going on for more than sixteen years and the profitable production known in the state of West Virginia has been found in this immediate section.

The company has made great strides and there is more than $11,000 worth of stock subscribed. The first rig was completed on the 20th of June and drilling began on July 28th. The directors of this company are public men of unquestionable integrity and have had years of experience in this line. The driller, who has the contract for drilling, has been in the business all his life and by combination and association of the energy and experience of these men spell success for the company and big dividends to the subscribers of the stock. The public is invited to join this enterprise.

Yours very truly,

The Doman Consolidated Oil Company.
