ONLY SIX MINUTES FOR A NEW BRIDGE

Heavy Steel Span Replaced in Quick Time on Traction Line.

A difficult engineering feat, witnessed by a big crowd, was staged by engineers of the engineering force of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad and the Monongahela Valley Traction Company Thursday morning when in only six minutes they put a large steel single span bridge into place on the Weston branch of the Monongahela Valley Traction Company at the Owens Siding. The new bridge replaces an old one which was not heavy enough for the trains of the railroad company to pass over.

The traction car leaving here at 9:30 passed over the bridge at 9:52 and the men started to shift the bridges. At 10 o'clock the track had been disconnected and five minutes later the trolley wire had been cut. At 10:05 the bridge started to move and the new span was in place at 10:11. It took the men thirty-nine minutes to reconnect the rails and the trolley wire and at 10:40 the car coming to this city from Weston passed over the new span.

The new span is 155 feet long, sixteen feet wide and weighs 125 tons. It is a regular Baltimore and Ohio railroad bridge, being built by the Ferro Construction Company. The old span was 155 feet long, sixteen feet wide and weighed 185 tons, making the combined weight of the two spans 230 tons. This heavy weight was moved six feet in the remarkable time of six minutes.

Frank Greenfield, inspector of the engineering department of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad; Dudley D. Britt, engineer for this section of the Monongahela Valley Traction Company, and Mr. Scofield, of the Ferro Construction Company, had charge of the moving of the spans and the work was very satisfactorily handled.

The steamship, Lozier, plying between New York and Philadelphia during the world's baseball series with more or less rough seas, came into port here at 1:30 o'clock Thursday morning and was held in quarantine until its passengers were thoroughly examined and the customs officials had satisfied themselves that no smugglers were on the liner. As consular treatment had been department had no easy task at the health department had no easy task at the island.

Quick voyage was made from Buffalo with but one vexatious sandbar at Fairview out of Fairmont, a costly one to J. Truman Swager who was picked up at Fort Pitt at Pittsburgh with the assurance that the Lozier would distance the fast mail train. Mr. Swager found it necessary to transfer to a Ford which landed him at Fairmont to the tune of $4.50 in cold coin.

The Lozier left Buffalo at 6 o'clock Wednesday morning, after Frank A. Gill notified and left the ship. Captain C. E. Prunty at the helm steered by way of Erie and Pittsburgh and after a short stay for coaling and other purposes started homeward, with Percy Byrd, Fleming H. Holden and J. T. Swager, first class passengers traveling on complimentary from the Giants as a matter of consolation.

FOUR HUNDRED

Delegates Expected to Be Here for Masonic State Conventions.

The Grand Royal Arch Chapter will hold its convention November 10 and 11, and the Grand Blue Lodge November 12 and 14.

Owing to the fact that Clarksburg now has unusual hotel facilities, no uneasiness is felt by Masonic officers that visiting delegates will not be able to procure suitable accommodations. About 400 delegates are expected to be here that week. Notices are being sent to the traveling men, however, that the conventions are to be held here, so that they may route their trips accordingly.

WAR VESSEL

Will Likely Be Sent to Mexican Waters by French Government.

PARIS, Oct. 16—The foreign office here today received a telegram from the French legation at Mexico City suggesting that a warship be sent to Mexico. The government officials are considering the matter and following the usual practice of sending a warship when a French colony requests one, it is probably that one of the French vessels already in American waters will be detailed to Mexico. The French foreign office has not been advised whether the diplomatic corps at Mexico City counseled the Mexican government to use caution in replying to the representations of the American government. Provisional President Huerta of Mexico has obtained loans of $2,500,000 in Paris cheques, according to reports through the influence of the chiefs of the Catholic party.

A band on board a tug met her down the river and played her to her berth to the strains of the "Conquering Hero" and a succession of national airs. The sirens of all the vessels in the river were loosened and cheers from the crowd on the river bank greeted the crew of the Narragansett as they reached the Anglo-American Oil Company's wharf. Is Taken in Secret But How the Judges Stand Leaks Out.

ALBANY, N. Y., Oct. 16—When a verdict will be reached in the impeachment trial of Governor William Sulzer depends upon the speeches of the judges in explaining their votes. This applies to the remarks in secret session, one of which began with the opening of court today and the public sessions which follow. Efforts to attach significance to the informal vote were denounced by many of the senators as unjust to the members of the court itself and to the governor. The discussions may end tonight and may not be ended Friday, the last court day of the week. The trial has been in progress a month today.

The high court of impeachment adjourned shortly after 1 o'clock today to meet again at 3 o'clock this afternoon at which time it was announced a start would be made on the final vote to determine the guilt or innocence of the governor. It was reported that the court voted informally in its secret session this morning to remove the governor from office by a ballot of 43 to 14. A vote to disqualify him from ever holding another office under the state was lost, it was reported.

Every article of impeachment was voted upon separately, according to the news that leaked from the court room and not all of them were sustained. Those on which the governor was reported to have been guilty were articles 1, 2, 6 and 4 of the impeachment charges. The three first are the money articles, having to do with the alleged falsification of the governor's campaign statement and the misuse of campaign contributions.

Parkersburg Ice Cream Company to Have Modern Clarksburg Plant.

SITE IS PURCHASED

Fairmont Brewing Company's Storage House to Be Torn Down.

Workmen are engaged in tearing down the Fairmont Brewing Company's cold storage and bottling plant on Clark street between Fifth and Sixth, Glen Elk, preparatory to the erection of a modern ice cream manufacturing plant, to cost $50,000, by the Imperial Ice Cream Company, of Parkersburg, one of the largest concerns of its kind in this part of the country.

Options were recently acquired by the Imperial company on four different sites for its proposed factory, but the Clark street site was considered the best and the company purchased it a few days ago for $15,000 through the Post-Reger Company, of this city. The property purchased embraces the storage plant and the lot on which it is situated, and part of a vacant lot adjoining, which belonged to Mrs. Ernest Onestingle. The latter strip is 37 1/2 by 65 feet, while the storage plant lot makes the entire site 65 by 95 feet. Spot cash was paid for the property.

A thoroughly modern ice cream manufacturing plant three stories in height of brick and concrete construction is to be erected on the site at once. E. J. Wood, a Clarksburg architect, has prepared the plans and specifications for it.

Twenty men will be employed in the new factory at the start, and if the business increases, as is expected, more will be added. The Imperial company turns out an average of 1,500 gallons of ice cream daily at its Parkersburg plant and it is figured that the company's present business in the central part of West Virginia will suffice to keep the new plant here in continuous operation at such a saving in transportation charges as will bring a good interest return on the local investment. The big cut in transportation will also enable the company to build up a much larger trade in its product in this section of the state, hence the prospect for the local plant is exceedingly favorable.

AVIATOR LOST

Searchers by Land and Sea Abandon all Hope of Finding Him.

NEW YORK, Oct. 16—Seekers by land and sea of Albert Jewell, the air man, who vanished in the sky last Monday, abandoned hope today of ever finding his body or his airplane. They were convinced that he had been carried out to sea by the wind and fallen into the water and drowned. He was last seen 4,000 feet above Edgewater, Long Island, heading for open water. If Jewell fell into the sea there is a remote possibility that he was picked up by a small boat or tramp steamer outward bound and without wireless. A few motor boats still continued the search for him today.

EVER NOTICE THIS ABOUT THE CANAL?

It has been a good many years since the Panama canal was first talked about, and quite a few since the digging commenced. And yet a great many people can't say offhand just what its general direction is. Many think it is east and west. The truth is, however, as the map shows, that the canal runs in a northwesterly and southwesterly direction.

The jury that if they should find Mrs. Eaton killed her husband while laboring under hallucinations that constituted an irresistible impulse, the state would be satisfied with a verdict of not guilty by reason of insanity.
