

MRS. PANKHURST IS FREE TO ENTER THIS COUNTRY

Secretary Wilson Reverses Action after Confering with President.

NO BOND IS REQUIRED

President Feels Law is Flexible and It is a Question of Policy.

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—Mrs. Emmaline Pankhurst left Ellis Island and came to New York shortly after 1 o'clock this afternoon.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20.—Mrs. Emmaline Pankhurst, the militant British suffraget, is free to enter the United States.

Secretary Wilson declared that he and the president had discussed the question briefly. "We agreed," he said, "that Mrs. Pankhurst should be admitted on her own recognizance."

"Being admitted on her own recognizance of course if she violates any of our laws we have two remedies: Courts may pass on her acts or we may deport her.

The decision of the president and Secretary Wilson was communicated to Commissioner Caminetti, who issued the formal order of release.

President Wilson felt that the law had a flexible interpretation so that it is largely a question of policy. Commissioner Caminetti's decision was in strict accordance with the views of President Wilson and the secretary of labor.

Mrs. Pankhurst's lawyers received the verdict with broad smiles and announced they would leave at once for New York.

Mrs. Emmaline Pankhurst, the militant English suffraget, held at Ellis Island, pending decision at Washington on the question of her deportation, ate a hearty breakfast according to attendants and bided her time as best she could until she could learn whether she was to be allowed to make her lecture tour in this country.

An official of the French line, owners of the steamship La Provence, on which Mrs. Pankhurst will be deported in case her appeal is denied, was quoted as saying that Mrs. Pankhurst's threat to go on a hunger strike would not paralyze the food provided for her and the other passengers, she may do as she pleases. If the English lady prefers to die, it is her affair.

STARVED WOMAN IN STRANGE SCENE TO PRISON

Militant Suffraget Dramatically Whispers to Audience from Stretcher.

LONDON, Oct. 20.—A dramatic appearance at the suffraget weekly meeting was made today by Miss Annie Kenny, organizer of the Woman's Social and Political Union, the militants' organization.

Suffering from the effects of a hunger strike in Holloway jail and looking extremely feeble she was borne into the hall on a stretcher and was given a memorable reception by the crowd of women, who stood on chairs and cheered until she stood on chair and cheered until the stretcher supported on chairs, was placed in the middle of the platform, where Miss Kenny lay motionless and only able to whisper a few words to her friends.

Dickey's sentence was fourteen years, none of which he had ever served. He had been regularly convicted of the crime but broke jail at Richwood before guards came to take him to the penitentiary and had been at large ever since.

When arrested here he had a pistol in his possession and he was held under a charge of violating the anti-weapon statute, but this was dropped when arrangements were made to take him to the penitentiary to serve the murder sentence.

The prosecuting attorney of Braxton county came here and took him to the penitentiary Saturday night.

Dickey's son, Thomas, who was arrested with him and who also had a pistol at the time, will be held here for violating the anti-weapon law.

MINER ATTACKED WITH A HATCHET

And Gashed on Head, Back and Hand Quite Unexpectedly.

LODGE ROOM GRUDGE

Assailant Angered, It is Said, Because Guard Refused a Request.

George Morton, a negro who has worked in the big Pinnickinnick coal mine east of the city for the last eight years, is wearing a quantity of bandages and adhesive plaster over several cuts inflicted with a hatchet Sunday at his home near the mine in what is alleged by him to have been an entirely unexpected and unjustifiable attack upon him by Garrett Gilbert, also a negro coal miner, employed at the same place.

Morton received deep gashes in his head, one in his back above the hips and one on a hand. Several stitches had to be taken by a doctor to close them.

According to the complainant's story, Gilbert appeared at the door of a lodge room Saturday night while the lodge was in session and asked to see a fellow, Morton, who was guarding the door in an official capacity, told him he could not see the member then as secret work was going on. Sunday morning when Gilbert saw Morton sitting on a porch at the latter's home, Morton bantered him about trying to break into the lodge whereupon, Morton alleged, Gilbert seized a hatchet and began hitting him over the head with the sharp end. The attack was a sudden and unexpected one, Morton says that he had no chance to defend himself.

Justice Nicewarner will hear the case Tuesday.

WATSON ON TRIAL

In Federal Court On Charge of Sending Obscene Matter through Mails.

AUGUSTA, Ga., Oct. 20.—Thomas E. Watson, lawyer, publicist and one time presidential candidate of the People's party, today was placed on trial in the United States district court here on a charge of sending obscene matter through the mail.

The specific charge against Watson is that he published in July, 1911, and April and May, 1912, certain alleged questions which he claimed were asked by Roman Catholic priests to persons in confessional which questions the indictment alleges were obscene.

These questions appeared in a series of articles attacking the Roman Catholic church and especially the priesthood. It is the plan of the defense to conduct its fight upon the ground that the articles published in Watson's magazine were written by Watson as editor and that his conviction on the charges as set out in the indictment would not be in violation of the provisions for freedom of the press as guaranteed in the constitution of the United States.

TAKE TRIP TO PANAMA CANAL

Magnificent Volume to Be Presented to Readers for Expense of Distribution.

GREATEST OFFER MADE

Book of Rare Photographic Reproductions and Water Color Studies.

Get ready to take a trip to the great Panama canal. This does not mean that you should pack your traveling bag, nor will you need to get a new white serge suit. The clothes you are wearing will be sufficient, and just leave your linens where they are now.

The trip in question is in the shape of a great big beautiful book, filled with word paintings as well as water color paintings which vie with each other for prominence, and yet paradoxically harmonize at every angle. The new illustrated book is called "Panama and the Canal in Picture and Prose," and each section of this title is fully covered. First, it tells you all about Panama, that crooked little neck of land which has been divided so that the entire world may be more closely united; then it fully explains all that is of interest relating to the great canal itself; finally, it portrays rare views of the country and the people in photographic reproductions and artistic color plates, describing them in beautiful word pictures that hold the attention of the reader to the very end.

The knowledge to be gained by a close reading of this volume will forever after be a valuable asset to every man, woman and child, for this great waterway is destined to become an important factor in times of peace as well as in war. It will revolutionize the shipping of all the nations of the world; it will bring about changes in the trade and commerce of all the earth; it will open up new avenues of trade and establish new relationships between the various countries of the globe.

The Daily Telegram realizes the unusual educational advantages offered in this volume, and has arranged for a great distribution to its readers. While parents will want the book for themselves, they also must not lose sight of the fact that the school child of today is the one that will face the problems presented by the changed conditions of the future when the canal shall have become a working factor among the nations of the earth. So the children as well as the older members of the family should have access to this standard work; should learn of the wonders of this gigantic engineering achievement; should study the characteristics of these strange people on the zone; should know of the history, purpose and promise of this mighty inter-oceanic waterway.

The book itself is indeed a work of art. It is more than double the dimensions of an ordinary novel; is printed from new type, large and clear, on special highly finished paper; bound in tropical red vellum cloth with the title stamped in gold and the front cover inlaid with a beautiful stippled color panel showing the famous Culebra cut. It contains more than 600 magnificent illustrations, many of which are made from unique water color studies and reproduced in their artistic colorings to full page size. No expense has been spared to make this splendid big volume the standard work on Panama and the canal.

Willis J. Abbot, the author of this book, spent many months in the canal zone, and his intimate acquaintance with officials in charge of the work afforded him every opportunity for gathering his facts. The result is a full and complete story of the canal from its inception to its realization, a story so accurate and comprehensive that it will ever be referred to by those who would know the true history of the great problem which has at last been solved by the skill of modern engineering.

Every place of business, every home, every school and public institution should have a copy of this great canal text book. The Daily Telegram makes this possible by offering it for six certificates, one of which is printed daily in these columns, and the small expense amount to cover the items of the cost of packing, express from the factory, checking, clerk hire and other necessary expense items. A smaller volume has also been prepared which contains practically the same text matter, with only a hundred photographic reproductions and none of the color plates. Either volume will be sent by mail for an additional fee to cover the exact amount of postage. This is all explained in the Panama Certificate to be found on page seven of this issue. Clip the certificate today and lose no time in taking advantage of this wonderful offer.

TO EXAMINE MEN.

Queen of Spain and daughter.

According to a trustworthy report, the Infanta Maria Cristina, second daughter of the King and Queen of Spain, born December 12, 1912, so far has failed to talk and the physicians to the royal family fear she is permanently deaf and dumb. The second son of the Spanish ruler, Don Jaime, has been deaf and dumb since birth. The Queen is said to be greatly worried, and has gone from the convent to another at Madrid, asking for special prayers for her daughter.

BODIES ARE TAKEN FROM TRAIN WRECK

And a Report Has It That Ninety-Five Persons Are Injured.

MERIDIAN, Miss., Oct. 20.—At 10 o'clock this morning twenty-six had been taken from the Mobile and Ohio troop train wreckage, according to a telephone report reaching here. The report said all bodies had not then been taken out. The same report gave the number injured at ninety-five.

MOBILE, Ala., Oct. 20.—Victims of yesterday's troop train wreck on the Mobile and Ohio railroad at Buckatuna, Miss., were brought to Mobile early today on relief trains. The list of known dead at 8 o'clock was twenty-two, most of whom were members of the 178th Coast Artillery. There were seventy-four seriously injured soldiers in Mobile hospitals, while a number of the less seriously hurt were taken to the government hospital at Fort Morgan. Physicians, who arrived on the relief train, said they feared at least fifteen among the seriously injured could not survive.

Investigation of the cause of the wreck continued today. It was believed to have resulted from the derailing of the locomotive tender, which dragged the baggage car and three coaches off the track and over a twenty-five foot trestle. The injured are members of the 179th company, the 29th company and the Eighth band. They were enroute from Forts Morgan and Barrancas to a state fair at Meridian, Miss. Additions to the list of the dead included the initials of four unidentified men. These were "V. A. S., "W. C. A.," "W. C. S.," and "V. W. C." Additions to the list of seriously wounded officers included Captain Taylor, of the Thirty-ninth, in command.

SUDDEN

Is Death of M. L. Haselden, a Well Known Farmer of Mt. Clare.

M. L. Haselden, aged 63 years, a well known and well to do farmer, of near Mt. Clare, dropped dead at 1 o'clock Monday afternoon while taking his daily walk over his farm. No funeral arrangements have been made as yet.

Mr. Haselden was in apparently good health when he ate his dinner with his family and getting up from the table he started to walk out over his farm. When a short distance from the house he fell to the ground. Members of the family seeing him fall ran to his side but he had passed on before they arrived. A physician who was summoned said his death was due to heart failure.

The deceased man is survived by his widow and five children, all living at home.

PERISHES IN FIRE

Is the Belief as to a Night Watchman Who is Missing Now.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 20.—A fire that destroyed the advance elevator of the Chicago and Alton freight house and a saloon in East St. Louis, Ill., last night and early this morning, still was burning at noon, but firemen expect no spread of the flames. The loss to the elevator and its contents was $500,000, while the damage to railroad property is estimated at $100,000. The night watchman employed at the elevator has not been seen since the fire and it is thought that he perished. Search is being made for him.
