SOCIAL

Contrast Between Queens.

LONDON, Nov. 8.—Never was a contrast between two queens afforded than the presence together of Queens Mary and Alexandra at the marriage of Prince Arthur of Connaught, and the Duchess of Fife.

Although common report says the two women are not on the most friendly terms, custom demands that at many functions they appear together, and at the marriage at St. James Palace they both entered and left the chapel hand in hand. Of the two, in fact, at least, Queen Alexandra, who will be sixty-nine on December 1 next, and is therefore twenty-three years older than her daughter-in-law, appears the younger, but when she walks her age is more apparent. Her face, too, is always brightened by a smile, which no doubt accounts for her never-waning popularity with the general public, who always cheer her more heartily than any members of the royal family, with the possible exception of the Duke of Connaught, with whom she divides honors in this respect.

Leaving the chapel the other day it was noticed that the Queen Mother, with that tact for which both she and King Edward were famous, lingered to bow to all present, so that none might feel slighted. In fact, she was so persistent in this that Queen Mary had more than once to gently urge her forward.

Miss Bogges Entertains.

Miss Gertrude Bogges most delightfully entertained a small party at auction bridge, at her home on Lee street from 7 to 10 o'clock Thursday evening. Five tables were in use and at the conclusion of the games prizes were awarded to Mrs. Henry Alexander, Mrs. John O. Brooks, Mrs. Cuthbert Osborn, Mrs. Elwood Wilson and Mrs. Hervey Showalter. At 10 o'clock a delicious salad course was served.

Quartet Coming.

Such tributes as have been paid the Flonzaley quartet prove beyond question the organization's title to first place among the great string quartets of the world.

"The Flonzaleys need fear no rival," writes Philip Hale, of Boston, "not even the Knelsels. In the perfection of their ensemble they stand alone. The three concerts given here this season have been among the musical delights of the year."

A Marvelous Escape.

"My little boy had a marvelous escape," writes P. F. Pastams of Prince Albert, Cape of Good Hope. "It occurred in the middle of the night. He got a very severe attack of croup. As luck would have it, I had a large bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in the house. After following the directions for an hour and twenty minutes he was through all danger." Sold by all dealers.—Advertisement.

GOOD REASONS.

I wish to call the attention of my friends and patrons to the fact that I do not have a substitute. I do not employ nor send out a man. I am the artist here in this studio. I personally transact all of my business and make all of my sittings, in the studio or out of it. I also desire to thank those customers who have so liberally and kindly recommended my work to their friends. Practically every one, especially those who buy high class photos, remark that they are the best they have ever had taken. I understand how to make them good and that always pleases not only the sitter but those who are fortunate enough to receive one of them as gifts. This is the very reason why you should have your photos made at the "Our Way" Studio by MRS. M. E. RARICK.
