

WOMEN VIOLENT IN THEIR ACTIONS

As Matter of Revenge for the Arrest of Mrs. Pankhurst, Their Leader.

BURN A BIG MANSION

Travelers on the Majestic Are Indignant over An Hour's Detention.

LONDON, Dec. 5.—The threat of the militant suffragettes to resort to violent methods of revenge for the arrest of their leader, Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, was put in effect this morning with the destruction of a mansion at Weemys Bay, Scotland. Several attempts to destroy letters by pouring acid into mail boxes here and numerous cases of window smashing. Moreover it was stated the women had a plan to do something sensational within the next twenty-four hours, and the police everywhere kept a strict watch. In the meantime Mrs. Pankhurst remained in jail. She has already commenced a hunger strike. Passengers on the Majestic, on which Mrs. Pankhurst made the voyage across the Atlantic, told today of the indignation of the travelers on being detained for over an hour in Plymouth harbor in order to enable the police to outfit the suffragettes, who planned to rescue Mrs. Pankhurst. As one American put it, "All this to arrest one little woman." The English press is also inclined to sneer at the elaborate plans. The Manchester Guardian remarks "there was an absurd disproportion between the actual danger of disorder and the plans of the authorities." The Westminster Gazette says, "It is absurd to describe the arrest of Mrs. Pankhurst as a triumph for the police."

ELKS WIN

Their Case against the City of Grafton in Judge Raymond Maxwell's Court.

In the circuit court of this county Judge Raymond Maxwell has handed down a decision sustaining the injunction which had been granted the Elks' lodge of Grafton, restraining the city of Grafton from interfering with the dispensing of intoxicating liquors at the Elks' home. The case had been pending for several months. It was first brought up in the Barbour county court, where Judge Kittle granted the Elks a temporary injunction. The city of Grafton then took the case to the Taylor county court, where Judge Fortney was unable to sit on the case owing to his being connected with the lodge. Judge Meredith, of the Marion county court, also declined to give his decision in the case and it was remanded to the Taylor county court, from which it came to the Harrison county court last month for a final decision. The case arose when the Taylor county court granted the lodge a county license, although the citizens of Grafton had voted the town "dry." When the Elks continued to dispense intoxicating liquors, arrests were made of some employees at the Elks' home, and a fine of $50 was imposed in the mayor's court. The case was then taken into the circuit courts by the order.

There are employers in the state who have not been advised of the scope of the Workmen's Compensation Law or who do not care whether they comply with the provisions of the law or not. This new department of the state government is clothed with the authority to secure all data relative to accidents in the state, whether such employer has taken advantage of the workmen's compensation act or not. Section 10 of the act says: "Every employer shall furnish the commission, upon request, all information required by it to carry out the purposes of this act. The commission or any member thereof, or any person employed by the commission for that purpose, shall have the right to examine under oath any employer or officer, agent or employee thereof." The handling of the workmen's compensation law is under the control of the public service commission, with Tom Ott, chairman of the commission, in charge. As to whom employers such to this act shall perform certain duties is shown in section 11, of this act, which reads as follows: "Within thirty days from the organization of the commission, every employer subject to this act shall notify the commission of such fact. C., Dec. 5.—Eggs are to be banished from the table in the homes of nearly all of the cabinet members, whose wives have boycotted their support to the egg boycott campaign, which is being waged to reduce the price. Mrs. Bryan assured Mrs. Logan she was in thorough accord with the movement. Following Mrs. Bryan's lead, all the other cabinet wives have joined the effort to bring lower egg prices. A monster petition is being prepared with which Congress is to be stormed by Mrs. Logan and her co-workers. It is expected that by next Monday night more than 25,000 names will have been signed to the document. Mrs. Logan declares that already 15,000 Washington housewives have joined the movement.
