PALACE PRESENTS A NEW PLAY TODAY

It is "A Day at Rector's" by a Pleasing Musical Comedy Company.

A unique musical comedy entitled "The Naked Truth" opened at the Palace yesterday and judging from the way the comedy was received it gave satisfaction. This company is billed here for the first part of the week playing an entire new program daily.

The program for today is "A Day at Rector's" and was built especially for fun and musical numbers. This company carries its own special scenery and electrical effects. Ed Paulson, the well known author of productions such as "Little Boy Blue," "Ermine," "The Million," and many others, is the author of this production.

Miss Marie Fox, the charming soubrette makes good, supported by George Fenner, Fred Simpson, the character man, and Joe Edmunds, the well known Scotch comedian, and a bevy of pretty girls.

For Wednesday a very clever play will be presented showing a review of vaudeville, and for the last three days James A. Gundy will be here with his big company of twelve persons.

Taylor Holmes will star next season in "Mr. Myd's Mystery," by Lillian Trimble Bradley, dramatized from a story called "The Mystery of No. 47 Hyacinth Road." The tour will be under the direction of Joseph Brooks.

"The Lilly of Poverty Flat," in five acts full of heart interest, featuring means much to economical people these days.

FOR WEDNESDAY

We offer regular $2.50 Ladies' or Misses' Mary Jane or Baby Doll Oxfords at

$1.59 PAIR

Beatriz Michelena, and an all star cast of Broadway players, is the mammoth feature offering today at the Orpheum theater. This is a thrilling tale of the west, and appeals to all who love stories of California in days past. The play has a happy ending and the villain is brought to the fate he rightfully deserves.

Tomorrow episode No. 11 of the great detective drama, "The Black Box," will be shown together with latest pictures from the European war.

John C. Rice, who was famous as a comedian in "My Aunt Bridget," and who was also leading comedian with May Irwin, died suddenly this month in Philadelphia. He was married to Sally Cohen, with whom he played in vaudeville for many seasons.

Miss Rosemary Theby and Harry Meyers are featured in a two-reel Victor comedy drama to flove at the Star theater today that will hold interest. It is entitled "Baby." Also Miss Irene Hunt is seen in a beautiful role in a western scenic drama entitled "The Mystery of It." It is a two-part Reliance. Two other reels complete the program today.

Tomorrow the man who brings the smiles, Billy Ritchie, will be seen in "Love and Notes, or Yours for Fun." The program for Wednesday will consist of six reels of comedies and dramas.

Clarence Badger has completed another number six of the series—"Lady Baffles and Detective Dick"—comedy for the Allen Curtis Jokers Company, and between shows these fun makers have been extremely busy applying the principles of pussfootism to bring the criminal to justice.

The sparkling musical comedy, "The Fascinating Widow," pleased three large audiences at the Odeon theater Monday. The production is clean and is replete with good music and witty lines. The company is a well balanced one and scored one of the greatest hits ever accorded a similar organization at this popular playhouse.

Miss Ollie Payne handles the leading female role capably and wins numerous encores with her pleasing voice. The sketch is appropriately staged and the scenic effects are greatly enhanced by the addition of some unique electrical effects. The chorus also makes a great hit with the patrons. They sing several tuneful numbers and execute some neat drills. Messrs. Jackson, Oswald and Golden give several harmony numbers and are well received. The action of the play is fast and the comedy bright and up to date. There will be a complete change of programs tomorrow when this splendid company will present "The Battle of All Nations."

Jack London has written a vaudeville sketch called "Daughters of the Rich," with Fifth Avenue as the locale of its plot. It is to be presented by Hilda Gilbert, the widow of a French baron killed in the war.

Fighting for her honor in the grasp of a vicious man, a guest at her own table, who takes advantage of the dispersing of the latest Bohemian party, to make her the victim of his desires, is one of the thrilling moments that confronts "Cora," the singer, and leading role in the screen drama, "Cora," in which the gifted young actress, Miss Emily Stevens, is seen in this latest E. A. Rolfe production, now released by the Metro Pictures Corporation today at the Robinson Grand.

This scene depicts Cora defending herself against heavy odds. She is finally succored by the man she dearly loves, but not before she has killed the man who has attacked her, by hitting him with a wine cooler near a window, the impact throwing him off his balance and he is seen falling to the pavement below and is picked up dead.

Incidents in the life of Cora, the orphaned daughter of an impoverished opera singer, from the time she dwelled in the tenements in destitute circumstances and was taken in by two struggling young girls, one an artist's model, until she acquires fame as a singer herself, and her betrothal to a famous artist for whom she once posed during the days she lived in the tenements, are graphically shown on the screen.

Tomorrow a picture that will particularly interest theatergoers in this section of the country under the Paramount program entitled "Sunshine Molly" will be the big offering. The taking of this picture by the Bosworth Company placed it at an expense of $100,000 and in it an oil field is set ablaze.

Lou Tellegen, who came to this country originally as Sarah Bernhardt's leading man, and who has been starring lately, has made application for American citizenship. He was born in Holland of a Greek father and a Dutch mother, and was accepted here as a Dutch actor.

Bryant Washburn is seen to exceptional advantage in the part of a crusty, crabbed old bachelor in Esanay's three-act photoplay, "The Little Deceiver." It is a character similar to that of Scrooge in Dickens' Christmas carol.

State of Ohio, City of Toledo, Lucas County, ss. Frank J. Cheney makes oath that he is senior partner of the firm of F. J. Cheney & Co., doing business in the City of Toledo, County and State aforesaid, and that said firm will pay the sum of ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS for each and every case of Catarrh that cannot be cured by the use of Hall's Catarrh Cure.

Edith Storey and Hughie Mack are principals in a three-part Vitaphone photoplay, "Jane Was Worth It," on the Bijou scene today. Jane Beavers in the old adage that the way to a man's heart is through his stomach. She gets busy, produces the goods, brings home the bacon. See it for a good laugh. Wallace A. Carlston presents two cartoons, "Dreamy Dud Visits the Zoo" and "An Alley Romances." Mr. Carlston's reputation makes these pictures strictly first class. Pathe Daily News No. 43 shows the great Knights Templar parade recently held at Philadelphia. It also shows President Wilson at the opening of the Pan-American financial conference. Another reel, "Tiger Bait," closes the bill.

Wednesday Marc McDermott and Marian Nesbitt will be principals in a three-part Edison masterpiece, "Her Proper Place." As the sister slave of the family who first is displaced by her sister in her love affairs and uncompromisingly makes sacrifices, Miss Nesbitt is most appealing. Klaw and Erlanger will present "Captain Fracasse" from the celebrated novel by Theophile Gautier.

THE HOME OF THE PIPE ORGAN

Scene from THE SECOND BEGINNING A Universal Film

A story taken from a page of life has been developed into an interesting film play called "The Second Beginning." Adele Lane, Gretchen Lederer and Edward Sloman of the Universal players have succeeded in portraying the evils effected through promiscuous gambling, one of the vices of present day society.

A factory girl is married to a rich man who is in the hopes that his pretty wife will blossom into a society woman. She does, but incidentally learns that gambling is an accepted form of every day entertainment with the result that she contracts a debt she is unable to pay. How she is estranged from her loving husband and is finally tempted to desert him for the other man is the theme which is well carried out by the clever players. Pretty Gretchen Lederer and Adele Lane were particularly effective in this absorbing picture.
