FRENCH ARE PROUD OF THEIR TRENCHES

Which They Have Spent Months in Building Up and They Hate to Leave.

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.) BRITISH ARMY HEADQUARTERS IN FRANCE, Aug. 28.—Trenches which were dug by the French soldiers to welcome their successors when the British took over a section of the line from the French a while ago. An occasional sniper's bullet and the occasional burst of a shell accompanied the informal ceremony.

"The peculiar thing is that the French do not like to go," said a staff officer. "They have spent months building up their trenches to make them comfortable and as secure from the enemy's fire as possible. They are proud of their trenches. In a sense they feel that the results of their labor belong to them. Besides they have got settled in the associations of the villages to the rear where they are billeted. They know all the local people."

Strictly speaking all that happens is that a British battalion marches in and a French battalion marches out after the officers of the incoming battalion have spent a day or two in the trenches familiarizing themselves with details. But to the men of both sides it is a great event.

Though the British and the French are allies the soldiers of the two armies rarely meet. Each is on his own side of the line which bounds the zone of the two armies.

Probably not one out of fifty French soldiers speaks much English, said an officer, "and certainly not one out of fifty British soldiers speaks much French. Yet in five minutes they are talking together—and some way or other they make one another understand."

What interests them most is the comparison of equipment. They must try the mechanism of each other's rifles. The Briton must try on the new French steel helmet which the Frenchmen wear to protect their heads from shrapnel bullets and splinters. After the helmets he must examine the French knives which the French use at the close quarters in trench fighting where the bayonet is unwieldy. And after that comes a comparison of bombs and bomb throwing methods. Gestures serve pretty well for this kind of a conversation.

Meanwhile every bit of school book French and English is in play in the midst of laughter. The outgoing soldier expatiates on his "dig-out" and how comfortable he has tried to make it; and the new comer is properly complimentary in this diplomatic interchange between the men in khaki and blue.

When the French go they say "Good-bye" and the British try their hands at "au revoir."

"There is certainly one thing our soldiers can learn from the French," said a British officer. "Though a Frenchman has never done any cooking before he soon learns how to make an appetizing stew. Our men are doing better. Camp life is a good teacher."

lasting improvement. "We call upon our citizenship, regardless of politics or economic conditions, to use every means of agitation, all avenues of education and every department and function of government to eliminate the injustices exposed by this commission, to the end that each laborer may secure the whole product of his labor."

UNITED STATES LEADS WORLD AS EXPORTER

First Time in Its History According to Figures Compiled in Washington.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28.—For the first time in its history the United States leads the world as an exporter. Occasionally we have surpassed the United Kingdom in the exportation of domestic products but it was only in the fiscal year ended June 30, 1915, that our total exports, domestic and foreign, exceeded those of the United Kingdom.

Our total exports in the fiscal year 1915, according to an official statement of the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce, department of commerce, aggregated $2,758,600,000, as against $2,170,100,000 for the United Kingdom, the figures representing in the case of the United States an increase of seventeen percent and in the case of the United Kingdom a decrease of thirty percent when compared with last year.

American exports in the fiscal year 1915 included domestic products to the value of $2,716,300,000 against $2,329,700,000 in 1914; and foreign products, $52,400,000, against $40,400,000 in the preceding year. British exports in the same periods included British and Irish produce, $1,744,100,000 in 1915, against $2,557,200,000 in 1914; and foreign and colonial produce, $426,000,000 in 1915, compared with $526,500,000 in 1914.

The following table, from official reports on file in the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce, reviews the growth of exports from the United States and the United Kingdom at twenty-year intervals during the last century.

Year	American Exports	British Exports
1835	115,000,000	445,000,000
1855	218,000,000	587,000,000
1875	513,400,000	1,370,000,000
1895	807,000,000	1,301,000,000
1914	2,683,000,000	2,101,000,000
1915	2,758,600,000	2,170,100,000

*Years ended December 31, except 1915, which relates to the year ended June 30.

*Years ended December 31, except 1915, which relates to the year ended June 30. The great industrial development of the United States during the century is illustrated by the increase in exports of manufactures. In 1831, the earliest year for which figures are available, exports of manufactures were valued at $8,000,000; in 1915 they aggregated $1,166,000,000 exclusive of foodstuffs.

MOTOR RACES

Cycles and Cars to Compete in Thrilling Events at Central West Virginia Fair.

Motor cycle and automobile racing events will be included in the track events of the big Central West Virginia Fair to be held Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, August 31 September 1, 2 and 3, on the big exposition grounds here.

The fair has already achieved quite a reputation for events of this kind, contests of a like nature at previous fairs having been speedy and exciting. The splendid half-mile track, which is considered one of the finest in the country, is particularly well adapted for them. Liberal purse offerings insure the entrance of numerous contestants and the strict adherence to sensible rules will put them upon a high class plane. These races will be given this year and everybody should witness them.

PEANUTS

Are Recommended by the Imperial Institute as a Food for Cattle.

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.) LONDON, Aug. 28.—Peanuts, locally known as monkey nuts, are recommended as cattle food by the Imperial Institute, after a series of experiments with a view to finding a substitute for the higher priced foods.

Before the war, these nuts were imported in great quantities both by Germany and France. They were crushed and pressed for oil and the residue pressed into cakes for cattle. But England used but a small quantity as the people, when they eat them at all, eat them raw, being ignorant of the fact that they are improved by roasting.

India, China, and Africa are the great producers of peanuts, although they are being introduced into British tropical dependencies.

DR. RINEHART
Is Being Urged by Numerous Friends to Run for Office of State Treasurer.

SHINNSTON, Aug. 28.—Shinnsonton will doubtless furnish a candidate for the Republican state ticket next year in the person of Dr. J. H. Rinehart, whose numerous friends are urging him to aspire to the position of state treasurer. Dr. Rinehart, a member of the last legislature took a foremost part in the deliberations of that body and many of his friends believe that his work was of that sort that merits recognition in a substantial way, and they see in the genial doctor good material for the place on the state ticket.

Under the new primary act which will be tried out for the first time next June, all candidates will take their fight direct to the people and the result will be the voice of the majority. This being the case the doctor's friends believe he has a splendid chance for the nomination.
