Some of the dresses in this clearing are the most beautiful models of the season—splendid, exclusive things, distinguished in high degree. Just the things to last the season out.

It is to be a sale little different from any other we have held or heard of. The merchandise is finer, the prices lower than the word "sale" usually means.

Big Home Coming Day.

Sunday was Home Coming Day at Binghamon, and the event came off in a very successful and enjoyable manner. The affair had been planned to take place a few weeks ago, but owing to the rainy weather, it was postponed until Sunday. It was a real home coming day for many of the former residents of the Binghamon community, and they gathered in to see the home folks in large numbers. The celebration was held in the grove adjoining the Martin church. In the morning the meeting was opened with a Scripture reading by the Rev. Mr. Hicks, the pastor of the Martin church, and the Rev. Mr. Hall, of the United Brethren church, offered prayer. Hymns were sung by the audience.

At noon a big picnic feast was enjoyed beneath the trees and the contents of the many baskets soon disappeared.

In the afternoon the assemblage was called to order by Prof. W. A. Crowl, and some informal talks were made. The remainder of the day was spent in a general reunion, and all had a good time.

The assembly elected officers as follows:

President—W. M. Martin. Vice president—D. R. Martin, Elkins.

Secretary-treasurer—W. A. Croyl, Fairmont. Executive committee—W. H. Hess, J. S. Hess, of Binghamon; Mrs. C. B. Nay, Fairmont; and E. T. Caldwell, of Worthington.

Home coming day at Binghamon next year promises to be larger than ever.

Motor to City.

Dr. Golden, of the Davis Memorial hospital, of Elkins, motored to Clarksburg Sunday morning with his son and accompanied by Major Nine, William Down and Charles Mylins, who is enroute to Morgantown where he will attend the West Virginia University and take charge of his work as supervisor of penmanship in the public schools. Mr. Mylins taught in Davis and Elkins college for several years while a student there. The Morgantown board of education had a number of good men to choose from and Mr. Mylins' selection is a worthy tribute to him personally and to his splendid record.

FALL STYLES

The tendency during the past few years has been towards Period Furniture. This fall only Period Furniture will be used by those who furnish their houses correctly. We carry reproductions of the principal periods, such as Sheraton, William & Mary, Adam, Queen Anne, Charles Second, Elizabethan and Colonial.

The dining room, bed room and living room should all be furnished in Period styles. There is nothing handsomer and nothing more up-to-date. Many city stores sell nothing else. The Four Hundred of the large cities will buy nothing else.

ELIZABETHAN STYLE.

The style of the above dining room suite belongs to the Elizabethan Period named for Queen Elizabeth the last sovereign of the House of Tudor. At this time the Renaissance movement was gradually making a change in the furniture of England.

The characteristics of the Elizabethan style are the heavy bulbous legs, turned or square, interwoven strap-work, heavy mouldings and carved panels.
