ALOYSIUS WESBECHER
 Captain and center of the Washington and Jefferson football team which will meet the West Virginia University eleven at Morgantown Saturday. Wesbecher, a senior at Washington and Jefferson and is playing his fourth year on the Red and Black football team. He is 22 years old, five feet and ten inches high and weighs 175 pounds.
 Ralph W. Ince has just completed a one-part comedy for the Vitagraph company, entitled "The Countess." Anita Stewart and Earle Williams will be seen in the principal parts.

Deliciously Humorous Picture is On at Grand

It is "The Dictator," by Richard Harding Davis, with John Barrymore as Star.

"The Dictator," by Richard Harding Davis, which is the chief attraction on the Paramount program today at the Robinson Grand, affords John Barrymore the inimitable comedian and those immediately concerned with him in the projection of fun, opulent opportunity to tickle the risibles of picture patrons. Among the interesting facts connected with their production is that a number of the supers used in the ensemble scene were veterans of the war with Spain. Mr. William E. Gonzales, American minister to Cuba, kindly permitted the Famous Players Company to use the American legation for consulate scenes. These realistic backgrounds invest the story with a colorful interest that merges excellently with the dramatic and comic aspects of the production. Mr. Barrymore's characterization of the harassed dictator is deliciously humorous, and the predicaments in which he constantly finds himself contribute to what may literally be termed "a howling success."

Tuesday, B. A. Rolfe will present the exquisite Viennese actress, Emmy Wehlen, in a tender story that stirs the heart strings, entitled "When a Woman Loves," by Charles T. Horan.

Rapid progress is being made on the production of the strong Ines-Triangle sociological drama, in which Mary Boland, erstwhile leading woman for John Drew, and Willard Mack, the noted author actor and producer, are being co-starred.

America's noted actor, Nat Goodwin, appears in the five-act Broadway drama, "The Master Hand," today at the Orpheum theater. The play is one of the best ever filmed and comedy is alternated with many thrills. Mr. Goodwin is ably supported by an all star cast of Broadway players.

SCENE FROM "THE LONESOME HEART" FOUR-PART MUTUAL MASTERPIECE PRODUCED BY AMERICAN

Tomorrow, the miraculous Mutual masterpiece, "The Lonesome Heart," featuring dainty and beautiful Margarita Fischer, will be the big offering.

Cyril Harcourt, the author of "A Pair of Silk Stockings," is writing an American comedy.

The Star theatre is showing today one of its biggest features for the week in "For Italy's Glory," a thrilling picturization of the war in Italy, showing big Italian naval guns, the bombardment of Austrian coast towns, the recruiting and departure of troops, the Italian king, Victor Emmanuel; views of "Unredeemed Italy," Italian cavalry and scenes along the front. A touching story of an Italian's heroism is also depicted.

A. G. Delamater will shortly produce in Washington a farce from the French called "Too Near Paris."

"The Money Master," a five-act Klemme-Edison feature film, is top piece at the Bijou today. The cast includes Frank Sheridan, Paul McAllister, Anne Meredith and Fania Marenhoff, an exclusive aggregation of Broadway stars seldom seen together on the screen.

"The Money Master" is founded on Cleveland Moffett's famous play, "The Battle." It is a story of the gold lust and the Ghetto, unusually well told, full of dramatic situations and possessed of those great essentials which made the stage version one of the most successful plays of its day.

As an added attraction the management has secured the three-act Kalem-Broadway favorites production, "The Masked Dancer," in which Miss Anna Orr is featured. So great was the success scored by Raymond Hitchcock in "The Beauty Shop" at the Astor theater, New York that she remained in that production two years. She appeared with Richard Carle in "Mary's Lamb" and with Mizie Hayes in "Spring Maid." She takes the part of an oriental dancer in "The Masked Dancer."

Zellah Covington, one of the authors of "Some Baby," is going to claim damages from the German government for the loss of five plays. A number of sketches and a large collection of newspaper clippings to be used as suggestions for plays, this loss occurring when the Arabic was torpedoed. He places his damages at $50,000.

What promises to be another splendid attraction is the Bobby Hagan musical comedy show which opened a week's engagement this afternoon at the Palace.

One of the special features of this show is the changing of the program daily. Mr. Hagan has six complete tabloid versions of operas and will present one each day. The scenery, costumes and all that goes to make an No. 1 production, will be changed each day to suit the play. For Monday the play selected is "A Night in a Harem" and Tuesday's offering will be "Fun over East." The company carries a cast of fourteen persons, eight being petite and lovely girls, and the work of these young ladies is of superior order. Today's performance is a corker from start to finish, clean, highly entertaining and well worth the price of admission.

A beautiful two-part Essanay society drama, "The Romance of an American Dutchess," featuring Ruth Stonehouse and Richard Travers, and two other good comedies are seen on the screen.

"When California Was Wild" will be a Selig-Jungle-Zoo wild animal drama in one reel. Fritz Brunette again enacts a difficult role with wild bears, wolves and mountain lions, arithmetically introduced into this realistic representation of the perils encountered by the sturdy pioneers, during the early days of California. William Robert Daly has the production in charge.

In the year that has passed since the first of the "Hazards of Helen Railroad" series was released, the players who make up Kalem's railroad company have become expert railroadmen. It is declared that every individual in that organization can run a locomotive as skillfully as any engineer, and that they are just as skillful in all other duties pertaining to the iron trail.

William Anthony McGuire has written a play called "Fools," which will be produced by A. H. Woods.

Automobile for Bijou Theater Contest is Shown in the Street.

A five-passenger Maxwell car appeared on the streets this morning with large banners stating that it will be given away October 23 by the Bijou theater.

W. S. Simeral, the manager, states that twenty votes will be given with each admission in the afternoon and five votes with each ticket purchased for the night performances. He also adds that a beautiful diamond ring will be the second award while $25 in gold will be given to the person casting the third largest number of votes. On account of the short time in which the contest will be staged many of the popular gentlemen as well as young ladies are expected to enter the competition. The contest managers office is in the balcony of the theater and he invites anyone that might be interested to call and get one of the booklets which will entitle the candidate to a greater number of votes.
