WAR PICTURES AT THE STAR MONDAY

Another Installment of European Series is to Be Presented.

"Europe in Arms" is the title of a thrilling film production of the great war which will be presented Monday at the Star theater. It is replete with action and many scenes are shown of the firing lines. Two thousand feet of other pictures will be included in the program making five splendid reels.

Harold Lockwood and Miss May Allison will shortly be seen in a big feature production under the direction of Thomas Ricketts of the American Film Company directing staff. "The Buzzard's Shadow" is the name given to the story by its author, Kenneth B. Clarke.

Dainty and beautiful Marie Walcamp with Wellington Playter and an all star cast of Broadway players appears in the Universal Broadway feature, "Coral" in five acts today at the Orpheum theater. The play is a splendid adaptation from the well known novel and is said to be one of the most beautifully photographed productions ever shown on the screen.

Miss Viola Dana, Edison star, is featured on the Bijou screen today in the four act masterpiece, "The Slavey Student" written especially for this charming artist by Lee Arthur. In this play, vibrant with the sweet wholesome life and love of school days, Viola Dana's winsome personality and ability were never in better evidence. It is a play that lingers.
Two comedies, "A Letter to Daddy" and "Moustaches and Bombs," complete the program.

Two big specials, "The Fixer," presented Bickel and Watson, the great New York fun makers; and Hal Forde eph J. Franz at the Pacific Coast studios of the Universal Film Manufacturing Company.

The Bon Ton Musical Comedy Company will close a most successful engagement tonight at the Odeon theater.
The bill presented by this splendid company for the last two days of this week is built for laughing purposes beautiful musical numbers by the talented chorus.

For the coming week the attraction at the Odeon will be Tanel and Young's "Southern Beauties," a show with an established reputation.

The pictures for today are the latest episode of the "Hazards of Helen" series entitled "Nerves of Steel," a Vitaphone comedy of the celebrated Jarr family series entitled "Jarr and the Visiting Fireman" and an Edison drama, "Does a Woman Forget," featuring Ruth Stonehouse.

Grace George opened her season in New York at the head of her own company in her own theater, the play being Langdon Mitchell's "New York Idea," formerly used by Mrs.
Fiske.

There is a prize vaudeville bill at the Palace today. The appearance of the four following acts, namely, Oia Edeburn in character dancing, Singer, the great Russian magician and fire eater; Ritter and Wells in their playlet "The Collegian and the Girl" introducing original songs, dances and patter; and Rice, Genuing and Rice in a spectacular dramatic sketch, "When the Sun Goes Down" has made a decided hit in this city and affords local patrons an excellent variety of high class amusement. The program has been appreciated by packed houses and proves the excellence of the bill.

The photoplay offerings include "Above the Abyss" an Essanay society drama in two acts. Vitaphone presents Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Drew and Courtland Van Deusen in "The Story of a Glove," "The Little Scapegoat" is a society drama, produced by Biograph. The cast includes Jack Muhall, Gus Pixley and Irma Dawkins.

Arnold Daly has secured the American rights of an English play by Eden Philpot and B. Macdonald Hastings, called "The Angel in the House." He will produce the piece in November with Hilda Spong, a leading woman.

"The Daughters of Men," a photoplay in five acts, by the late Charles Klein, is the feature picture offering at the Robinson Grand today. This notable play of Mr. Klein's deals with the problem of Socialism. While gripping and inspiring the story is truly great, because of its strong human appeal to all classes of society.
The cast is composed of many well-known stars, whose genius in acting are unsurpassed.

Monday Jessie L. Lasky will present the popular Broadway comedian, Victor Moore, in a picturization of the greatest Irish-American comedy drama, "Chimmie Fadden," in five merry acts.

Bickel and Watson, that famous team of comedy artists, who did so much to put the early Ziegfeld "Follies" shows on the theatrical map, make their premier appearance in film in George Kleine's latest five-part comedy, "The Fixer," founded on Willis M. Goodhue's celebrated stage farce.

Rita Jolivet, who has been much in the public eye as one of the survivors of the Lusitania disaster, is to have one of the prominent parts in "Mrs. Boltay's Daughters," shortly to be produced by the Shubertis in connection with Harrison Gray Elske and George Mooser.

think it well to inform your excellency immediately of the true state of the case, and with this view to invite attention to the following data and figures:

"The increased re-export of cotton from the United Kingdom to Norway, Sweden, Denmark and the Netherlands during the months of January to May, 1915, as compared with the same period in 1914, amounted to 502,985 centals of 100 pounds. The United States exported during this period in 1915 as much as 3,858,338 centals, as compared with 204,777 centals during January to May, 1914, an increase of 3,149,451 centals, or six times the increase in the export of cotton from the United Kingdom.

"The above figures for the United Kingdom are taken from the official customs returns those for the United States have been carefully compiled by the manifests of those vessels which actually arrived with cargo from the United States in Scandinavian and Dutch ports during the five months, February to June, 1915, as compared with five-twelfths of the total recorded exports from the United States to those countries in the year ended June 30, 1914. It has been necessary to adopt this method as the monthly summary of foreign commerce issued by the United States government gives very few details with regard to American trade with those countries. It is evident that some shipments must have taken place from the United States to Scandinavia and the Netherlands which could not come within the scope of even the most circumstantial compilation of statistics drawn up from the manifests of examined ships alone, and I would therefore lay particular stress upon the fact that the figures obtained by the war trade department are necessarily under statements of the amounts actually shipped. But even from the figures thus obtained it is possible to show conclusively how much greater the increases in the American exports to Scandinavian countries and the Netherlands have been than those of Great Britain during the first five months of this year, not only in the case of cotton, but in that of almost every other important commodity.

"Re-exports of rubber from the United Kingdom to Scandinavia and the Netherlands declined from 17, 727 centals of 100 pounds in January-May, 1914, to 16,593 centals in January-May, 1915; on the other hand exports of rubber from the United States to the same destinations increased from 1,572 centals to 5,040 centals. Larger re-exports of rubber to the United States from those countries have, indeed, taken place, but all other re-exports of rubber have declined during this period.

"It will therefore be seen that this country has actually been supplying more rubber to the United States at the expense of other neutrals, while American exporters have taken advantage of this to ship increased quantities of rubber to Scandinavia and the Netherlands.

"In the case of lubricating oils, the increase of United Kingdom exports to Scandinavia and Holland was 703,370 gallons; the increase of the United States exports during the same five months was 3,057,593 gallons, being five times as great as the British increase.

"The increase in the re-exports of unmanufactured tobacco from the United Kingdom to the same countries and over the same period was 2,877,844 pounds; the corresponding United States increase was 6,034,848 pounds.
The British increase is mainly due to the diversion of tobacco grown in the British dominions from Continental to United Kingdom ports. The re-exports of manufactured tobacco from the United Kingdom have actually declined while exports of this commodity to the United States to Scandinavia and the Netherlands have hitherto been relatively insignificant. It is therefore altogether improbable that the United States can have lost trade in tobacco in consequence of the measures taken by His Majesty's government.

"United Kingdom re-exports of cocoa have risen from 2,875,148 pounds in January-May, 1914, to 14,504,016 pounds in January-May, 1915, an increase in round numbers of 5,000,000
