SONG BIRDS OF EUROPE BEING KILLED BY WAR

Or Else They Have Been Driven Out of Country by Soldiers' Bullets.

NEW YORK, Jan. 25.—Have the song birds of Europe become the victims of bullets, shrapnel and deadly gases...

During a severe artillery duel it is reported that several British soldiers were seen to be crying. When asked why, they said that during the lulls of the bombardment the birds could be heard singing...

Between the opposing lines, birds are said to be scarce, except swallows and swifts, and stray linnets, wagtails and starlings.

The war has helped instead of hurt the birds of Europe, is the declaration of T. Gilbert Pearson, secretary of the National Association of Audubon Societies...

For example, the French government has stopped all hunting, and the minister of war has issued an order that the sale of no native game will be tolerated.

Belgium, in time of peace, is one of the greatest bird-catching countries in Europe. More than 50,000 skylarks, as well as hundreds of thousands of other birds are annually trapped and exported from that country for food.

To carry on its protective work through education, the association, from its national headquarters at 1974 Broadway, New York city, is asking for the enlistment of five thousand friends of the birds...

"What in tarnation's come over that there cow?" exclaimed Farmer Hoerake, as he followed the pensively wandering mule across the pasture.

"She ain't never give me no trouble at milkin' time afore, and now she's all over the place 'stead of at the milkin' bars when I ring the milkin' bell. Whoa, Maud, whoa!"

But Maud would not. Sighing coquettishly, she ambled and skipped along, looking coyly over her shoulder at intervals and now and then giving her tail a coy swish.

"The fool critter! What in the name uh milkweed's got into her!" grumbled Farmer Hoerake as he followed the brindled bovine.

Maud the cow had stopped at the brink of the creek and was looking down at her reflection and giving vent to the silliest bovine giggles.

"I hev it!" he shouted. "Durn ef I didn't make a mistake and rub that there sample of How to Be Beautiful perfume on the critter 'stead o' liniment yesterday!"

Another Day of Reckoning. The United States treasury faces a deficit of over $100,000,000. The party responsible for that deficit must either meet the situation or surrender the reins of power.

A special meeting of the officers and members of Pride African Methodist Episcopal church is called for this evening at 8 o'clock.

TOKIO, Jan. 25.—A more aggressive campaign against tuberculosis in Japan is being urged by Doctor Shibasaburo Kitazato, one of the leading bacteriologists of the empire.

Beware of Tablets and other unknown remedies which are sold for the relief of headache and neuralgia; take gradually increased throughout the empire as financial conditions permit. If better methods of prevention and cure are adopted the scientist declares he is confident that within a few decades tuberculosis will practically disappear from Japan.

So far as observation by foreigners is concerned the spread of tuberculosis is in part due to the frequent construction of Japanese houses in low areas where the sun rarely enters and to the habit of tightly closing windows and doors during the hours of sleep.

The scientist thinks that the high death rate among the teachers is one of the causes of disease among young men of conscription age which causes so much apprehension among the army authorities.

As for the appearance of consumption in districts hitherto spared, such for example, as mountainous regions, Dr. Kitazato blames the conditions in factories in the cities.

He adds: "Most of the factory girls live in dormitories. Space is at a premium in these dormitories, usually about six feet square for three girls. In many instances two girls are required to sleep in one bed. Then again the girls are usually divided into two shifts. The girls of the night shift sleep in the day time and work at night. The girls of the day shift return and enter the very beds just vacated. No opportunity to air the bedding is given."

Dr. Kitazato expects to start a special hospital to treat consumption cases and he believes sanatoriums will be
