

...YEARS AGO there was a dividing line between the man who wore ready-to-wear clothes and the one who patronized the tailor.

Today there is no difference—Men don't buy the former because it is the cheapest way, but for the reason that ready-to-wear clothes are clothes at their highest development.

Here in Clarksburg, at this store only will you find such famous make clothes as Schloss Bros. Co., Ederheimer Stein Co.'s "Fitform Clothes," and Fashion Park Clothes. These are the clothes which have brought this condition about. Come in and look over the largest variety of "Keep Kool" suits in town.

Glad to show you, of course.

YOUNG MUSICIANS' NATIONAL CONTEST

Is Duly Announced by the National Federation of Music Clubs.

The National Federation of Music Clubs announces as follows the second national contest for young professional musicians under its auspices. In making this announcement to the members and friends of the National Federation of Music Clubs, the Telegram desires to emphasize its belief in the value of the work, not only to the young musicians who are assisted in an organization; because the young musician, who had advanced so far in proficiency as to merit a public appearance was presented to the public; and also, the public had a most conclusive demonstration of the fact, not therefore perfectly understood, that we have in America a high class of teachers and students, and that it is not necessary to go away from America to find the best of both.

To bring the work of the contest to its highest possible value, it must be representative, not of a few large cities, but of every club and musical interest in each state.

The following conditions in the contest are presented by the committee in charge:

1. Contestants must be entirely American trained.
2. Contestants must be under thirty years of age.
3. Contestants must be screened from the judges and be known to the jury by number only.
4. Contestants must perform entirely without notes before their state jury, and later before their district jury, at least three or, if desired, more compositions.
5. Compositions to be performed must be by specified composers. The list from which choice may be made will be furnished by the chairman of the committee.
6. The contestant, to be eligible, must join the student and young professional department of the National Federation of Music Clubs by sending name and address and annual dues of one dollar to the chairman of the department.
7. Contestants must arrange for their own expenses in the contest. To the winners in the final contest will be given a public appearance at the tenth biennial festival to be held in Birmingham, Ala., April, 1917.
8. Should there be in large cities a great number of contestants, a preliminary contest similar to the state contest will be arranged by a local committee in the city, this contest to precede the one under the direction of the state president.
9. The committee reserves the right to reject any contestant, even though given the highest marking, if, in the opinion of the judges, the performance is not up to the required standard.
10. All contests will be open to the public; the small admittance fee charged will be used to defray the expense of the contest.

Judges.
1. The minimum number of judges for the state contest shall be three for each class of contestants—two professionals of the same branch of music as the contestant, and one musician of general culture.

2. The minimum number of judges for the district contest shall be five of each class of contestants—three professionals of the same branch of music as the contestant, one musician of general culture, and one critic.

3. Teachers having pupils entered in the contest may not serve as judges. The state contest may be held at such time as can be arranged by the state president, before the first of December, 1916.

The district contest must be held before the first of March, 1917.

List of compositions from which choice may be made by the contestants in the second biennial contests.

verted into green bowers with flowers and ivy garlands. On Good Friday fourteen stations had been marked with crosses in the communication trench for the solemn procession. At half past two, just as I had confessed my last penitent, a bullet hit him in the neck. The blood spouted out just as the last words of absolution were uttered. I gave him first aid, and then he turned his brave blue eyes toward me and murmured: "You have saved the soul! I offered up a prayer that went with his departing soul, while the blood flowed upon my cross and cassock. It was in that condition that I proceeded on the road to the cross, and at the twelfth station I offered the pure vermilion blood of that brave son of France to Christ and with all my heart I said: "Our Lord, that blood was generously shed."

Bishop Decorated.

Bishop Ruch, as chaplain of a section of stretcher-bearers of the corps, was decorated with the legion of honor and the war cross on the field of battle, and cited in orders as follows: "Charles Ruch, bishop, effaced himself in spite of his eminent dignity and gave proofs in a modest post of untiring activity and devotion, notably in the latest combats, visiting the first line trenches, seeking for wounded on the line of fire, and watching at night in exposed field hospitals. His calm courage has acquired for him the affection of everyone."

In a little section taken from the Germans, where there was a church riddled by shells, the chaplain of the victorious regiment decided to say mass while shells were screaming to right and left. A projectile crashed through the only window remaining intact, smashed the altar and threw the chaplain and his assistants to the floor. Fragments of the shell struck the priest in the head, while another broke his right arm at the elbow and another at the wrist.

For the chaplain as well as for the combatant, heroism is the small change of every day existence at the front. His place is wherever there is fighting. He often falls under the shells and bullets, and frequently reaps the same reward for gallant conduct as that of the fighting soldier. The Abbe Henroque, simply priest at the beginning of the war, is now a knight of the legion of honor. He lifted men as they fell under a heavy shelling, and suffocating gas projectiles, dressed their wounds and carried them to shelter. He was wounded in the head and arm by a shell that exploded only to wipe the blood from his eyes; an instant later a heavy projectile upheaved a section of the French trenches and buried two officers and six men; Abbe Henroque, while crying for help dug until he had saved one officer and four of the soldiers.

"I am Perfectly Delighted with Poudre Le Mohn." said a prominently social lady in New York recently. "It is all you claim for it, and more."

This is what we claim for Poudre Le Mohn, the dainty disappearing powder: We claim it will overcome dandruff, oily or brittle hair, restore the scalp to a normal and healthy condition and leave the hair dry, clean and lustrous.

We claim that its use will obviate the necessity for too frequently washing the hair and remove the possibility of catching cold, to which you are always exposed in the use of liquid preparations.

We claim that the proper method of relieving hair and scalp troubles is the use of Poudre Le Mohn, because it combines in one effective treatment the essential requirements of a tonic, stimulant and germicide.

We claim that Poudre Le Mohn is absolutely harmless, economically pure and thoroughly efficient within its sphere.

We guarantee that you will be completely satisfied with the results obtained from the use of Poudre Le Mohn and will cheerfully refund purchase price if, after ten days' trial, you are not delighted with its action.

GOOD SERVICE DONE BY PRIESTS IN WAR

In Europe Some of Whom Give Up Their Lives at Post of Duty in Battle.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS)
PARIS, May 27.—A campaign by the extreme anti-clerical elements of the Radical and Socialist parties against the presence of priests at the battle fronts in daily contrast with soldiers has brought sharply into public notice work which these priests have done and are doing at the front. It required a special intervention to produce for priests even the "privilege" of going to the front. Prior to May, 1913, no chaplains were provided for the army. The minister of war at that time provided in a decree that in case of war two Catholic priests, a Protestant pastor and a Rabbi should be attached to each group of stretcher-bearers of an army corps, and two Catholic chaplains to each division which had no stretcher-bearers.

Many Accompany Army.
Thus about 100 priests and half as many Protestants and Israelites were authorized to accompany the army. When war began, Count Albert Mun, since deceased, obtained from the minister of war authorization for priests to enlist as chaplains with the approval of their bishops up to the number of 250 in addition. Count Paul Pourties obtained the same favor for eighty more Protestant pastors, while sixteen additional Rabbis were named.

The number of priests who have given their lives on the field of battle has not yet been counted, for besides the chaplains there are several thousand priests incorporated in the auxiliary services, or who volunteered for active service. A great many deaths, however, have been reported among the chaplains under heroic circumstances. The Rabbi, Abraham Bloch, was fatally wounded at Saint-Die by a fragment of a shell at the moment when he tended a crucifix to a wounded soldier who had taken him for a Catholic priest. The Abbe Villier, chaplain of the civil hospital of Arras, was killed by a shell while seeking to save his patients during a bombardment of Arras. Chaplain Dubreuil died at the extreme point of positions conquered by the Zouaves with whom he went to the assault.

Give Up Lives.
Three chaplains gave up their lives during the battle of Champagne; the Abbe Thinet struck by a shell while digging out men buried by the explosion of a mine; the Abbe Perrot and the Abbe Pouch, who fell, the former while looking after a fallen soldier and the latter while giving first aid to a general of brigade wounded on the field of battle. A chaplain from the region of Verdun gives the following graphic recital of an experience: "We celebrated Easter under the shrapnel, within 300 yards of the German trenches, and the Credo was saluted by a fusillade. Our trenches had been con-

FAMILY AVOIDS SERIOUS SICKNESS
By Being Constantly Supplied With Theford's Black-Draught.

McDuff, Va.—"I suffered for several years," says Mrs. J. B. Whittaker, of this place, "with sick headache, and stomach trouble. Ten years ago a friend told me to try Theford's Black-Draught, which I did, and I found it to be the best family medicine for young and old. I keep Black-Draught on hand all the time now, and when my children feel a little bad, they ask me for a dose, and it does them more good than any medicine they ever tried. We never have a long spell of sickness in our family, since we commenced using Black-Draught."

Theford's Black-Draught is purely vegetable, and has been found to regulate weak stomachs, aid digestion, relieve indigestion, colic, wind, nausea, headache, sick stomach, and similar symptoms. It has been in constant use for more than 70 years, and has benefited more than a million people. Your druggist sells and recommends Black-Draught. Price only 25c. Get a package to-day.
