RABBI STOLZ OFFERS CONVENIENT PRAYER

In the Auditorium in Chicago Where the Progressives Are Assembled.

CHICAGO, June 8.—Rabbi Joseph Stolz, D. D., of Isaiah temple, Chicago, delivered the following invocation before the Progressive national convention here today:

"O Lord, whose throne is the heavens, whose footstool is the earth; O God, who art the Father of all people, the Ruler of all nations; O Eternal One, who are supreme above the din of battles, and mighty above the voices of many waters; Thy judgments reach to the uttermost ends of the earth. Thou makest for righteousness, even when clouds and thick darkness are round about Thee.

"Thou bringest order out of chaos, light out of darkness, good out of evil, peace out of conflict, even though the earth do change and the mountains be moved, even though nations rage, and kingdoms totter. And we need have no fear for the days to come, if we keep the truth and establish justice, if we despise the gain of oppression, and seek peace and pursue it.

"Thou art our refuge and our strength, a very present help in times of trouble and perplexity. O, send us Thy light and Thy truth that they may lead us to the real sources of national strength. Inspire us with an ever-growing and ever-deepening love of those ideals which have made our country great and which can weld together those who left their homes in all parts of the earth to find security and liberty within our portals.

"Let Thy spirit of wisdom and understanding, of counsel and might, rest upon this convention, that its lofty passions may inspire the confidence of the people, that its righteous indignation may purge the nation of its materialism, that its high aspirations may strengthen the conviction that the true greatness of our country lies not in the abundance of the things we possess but in the justice of our laws and institutions, in our devotion to peace founded on righteousness and love, in the brotherhood of all the races and nations, all the classes and creeds within our borders.

"Bless our country that it may be a stronghold of peace, an advocate of peace in the councils of nations, a messenger of peace unto the peoples of the earth, an apostle of peace striving earnestly for a realization of the prophet's dream of the day when men will beat their swords into plowshares and their spears into pruning hooks, when nation will not lift up the sword against nation and they will not learn war any more, when every man will sit under his vine and his fig-tree, and none will make him afraid.

"Thine, O God, be the greatness and the might and the glory and the victory. Amen."

SKETCHES OF LITTLE OLD NEW YORK

BY O. O. McINTYRE

Telegram Bureau: Rooms 121-125 Hotel Majestic, West Seventy-second Street.

NEW YORK, June 8.—Arthur Bennett, globe-trotter, journalist, painter, sportsman, circus manager, dog fancier, yachtsman and big game hunter by turns, is back in New York. He is another marked marvel of literature.

He is known to sportsmen, newspapermen, horsemen and artists in every part of the world, and yet but few of his nearest intimates were aware that Bennett, the blase wanderer and flaneur of the boulevards, the country clubs and "the big tops" was also L. B. Yates, writer of fascinating circus stories.

He brought with him to New York two blooded dogs and six polo ponies. He doesn't play polo but he admires polo ponies and while down South picked them up. He just keeps them as pets.

He has followed a career of picturesque adventures in every part of the world. He has campaigned his own stable of thoroughbreds on the French and English turf in one season and won several American circus titles.

He has been a reporter, an elephant trainer and a race track plunger and made and lost many fortunes.

His stories under the title "Call of the Calliope" have made him rich although he never thought of magazine writing until trying to kill time on a train one day he wrote the first story.

It was accepted and more stories of the same kind were asked for.

A gentleman who commutes to New York each day from Newark got into his favorite jitibus the other morning and found a young man opposite him who slouched in his seat. He was short and thin. His face was pinched and the color of pie crust and his shoulders were so rounded that they nearly formed a closed circuit.

Two fingers of his right hand were very yellow where they grasped a cheap and shoddy cigar. But there was one thing bright and fresh about him. Burned to the hovel of his coat was a celluloid badge about three-quarters of an inch in diameter. It read:

NOT A MAN NOT A DOLLAR FOR WAR.

The Buried Treasures of Music Will Be Yours

IF YOU OWN a Jesse French & Sons Player-Piano! Much of the finest music ever written is more or less unknown to present generations because of the difficulty in rendering. Anyone can now bring out all the fine touches of sentiment and harmony put into these beautiful pieces by the master hand of the composer. All you need is the—

Jesse French & Sons Player-Piano

"Unquestioned Excellence"

Wonderful in its simplicity and ease of operation. Perfect control of the expression allows the player to give individual emphasis, just as in manual playing.

And a perfect, sweet toned instrument to play by hand in the usual manner. Action is light, and extremely responsive to the touch.

"Should a player piano be a little beyond your reach, we recommend the Jesse French & Sons straight piano as highly as we do their Players. If you have an old instrument, either piano, or out-of-date player, we will make you a liberal allowance on the very latest thing on the market, and permit you to pay on easy payments if you so desire."
