

The National View

Serving Humanity.—President Wilson has made it perfectly clear that his purpose in invading Mexico is to "serve humanity" and that his conception of "serving humanity" is to promote the fortunes of all bandits, ex-bandits and near bandits. Nothing better or more tersely expresses the Wilson policy than the statement of his confidential agent, John Lind, who wrote, "To make a dog feel that he is a cur he must be whipped by another dog, and preferably a cur. Consequently let this house-cleaning be done by home talent. It will be a little rough, and we must see that the walls are left intact, but I should not worry if some of the verandas and French windows were demolished." Villa was the "cur" selected to whip the other "dog," Huerta, and to enable Villa to do it he was permitted to get all the arms and ammunition which enabled him to make his successful raid on Columbus, N. M. The falsity of President Wilson's pretensions that he went into Mexico to compel Huerta to salute the flag is proved by the declaration of Franklin K. Lane, secretary of the interior, who has written, "We did not go into Vera Cruz to force Huerta to salute the flag. We did go there to show Mexico that we were in earnest in our demand that Huerta must go, and he went before our forces were withdrawn." Probably Secretary Baker is right in explaining that only when one considers that President Wilson regards the patriots of the American Revolution as in the same class as the professional bandits of Mexico, can one understand his Mexican policy.

results of that poll were amazing. In no instance have the reports shown the percentage of Republican loss in this state (New York) to be less than twenty-five per cent, and in Erie county the losses to the Republicans run as high as forty per cent. Equally large losses are shown to the Republicans, not only in Ohio and Indiana, but in twelve other states which the two parties are contesting. These figures mean only one thing, the election of the Democratic candidate by a tremendous plurality. The author of this prediction was Norman E. Mack, Democratic national chairman, and it was made a few days before the election of 1908, in which Mr. Taft carried New York by 263,000, Ohio by 79,000, Indiana by over 10,000 and Erie county by 7,000, defeating Mr. Bryan by 1,269,000 plurality.

Campaign Claims.—The wild rainbow chasing of one Vance McCormick, of the Democratic national committee, strikingly recalls another piece of rainbow chasing. It reads, "Within the last two weeks I have caused a careful poll to be made by captains in hundreds of precincts in New York, Indiana and Ohio, for the purpose of obtaining the percentage of Republican loss over four years ago. The

As Princeton Sees It.—The material victory of Governor Hughes over President Wilson in a poll of Princeton University has led one of the deans there to make another poll to ascertain the causes of Mr. Wilson's repudiation. His figures show that those who have left Wilson to support Hughes explain their reasons as follows: Mexico, thirty-five per cent; other foreign relations, fifteen per cent; unpreparedness, ten per cent; Clayton act, civil service raids, Adamson law, Colonel House, et al, violation second term plank, tariff and shipping acts, waste of public moneys and rhetoric (notes and words) five per cent each. Perhaps the most surprising feature of these reasons is the small number who have deserted Wilson because of the Underwood tariff. An explanation of that is doubtless to be found, however, in the fact that the men at Princeton are rarely wage-workers or business men, and that they have not experienced, or have forgotten, the business depression produced by that bill before the European war created an abnormal temporary protection of American industries.

CORNWELL DISGUSTED WITH LABORING MEN—"LONG ON TALK, SHORT ON VOTES"

Democratic Nominee Opposed Labor Enactments in Senate and Expressed Disgust.

HUNTINGTON, Oct. 26.—During the campaign of 1904, while John J. Cornwell was making his campaign for governor, against the late William M. O. Dawson, Captain R. H. Williamson, chairman of the legislative board of the Order of Railway Conductors and who had made a request of Cornwell, made public a letter in which the candidate expressed his disgust with organized labor in all its branches, and declared that "The labor organizations are long on talk, but short on voting."

Mr. Cornwell's letter follows: Mr. R. H. Williamson, Chairman, Box 382, Huntington, W. Va.

Dear Sir:— I have your favor of the 17th inst. and in reply beg to say that during my experience as a member of the past two sessions, I voted against several measures that were practically designed to take away the common law rights of the miners and other laboring people, but when I reflect that a great majority of these same people whom I endeavored to help have, at each election, voted directly with and for the political party that was instrumental in passing legislation hostile to their interests, I have about lost interest in the cause. In short, I do not feel much disposed to try to help people who will not help themselves.

The labor organizations are long on talk and short on voting. I say this with no intention of reflecting upon your particular organization. I know nothing about the politics of any member of your organization, but refer more particularly to the Mine Workers, with whose course in the last campaign in this district I am completely disgusted.

DISGUSTING WEAKNESS OF PRESIDENT WILSON

Along with His Shown Selfishness Too Much for Patriotic Democrats.

NEW YORK, Oct. 26.—William B. Anderson, one of the most prominent members of the New York bar, and lifelong Democrat, has enrolled in the national Hughes alliance. In his letter joining the alliance, Mr. Anderson wrote that he had always voted the Democratic national ticket, except when Bryan ran against McKinley. He voted for Wilson in 1912. "The conviction has been growing in me very strongly during the last year," he said, "that we can no longer look for disinterested motives in Mr. Wilson's official acts. His vacillating, uncertain, weak Mexican policy, his attitude first against and then for, then again against honest preparedness is not indicative of a man of principle acting with a mind single for his country's good, but rather of a man seeking the easy way out of difficulties, afraid to decide lest he might offend one body of citizens or another, a man unable to make strong friends and yet seemingly fearful of making enemies, always self-conscious and viewing all public questions chiefly from the standpoint of their relation to himself. And then at the last comes the crowning positive proof of his weakness and self-interest, his 'settlement' (God save the mark) of the controversy. A man who hands over his own property under a bare threat is not bad enough, but one who turns over some millions of dollars belonging to other people under like circumstances is not the type that I have learned to admire nor do I believe that any honest man even among those who benefitted by his act will respect him for it. His attempt to disguise the real nature of his act by juggling with the words 'eight hour day' is wholly unworthy of his intellectual ability."

WASH-IRVING ELEVEN TO PLAY MORGANTOWN

Coach Arnett's Boys Eager to Meet the Down River Team.

Confident of their ability and filled with pep following the game against the Buckhannon high school eleven last Saturday afternoon the Washington Irving boys have been working hard this week in order to be in tip top form for the Morgantown high school team when they clash at Norwood park at 3:15 o'clock Saturday afternoon.

Not a single player on the Washington Irving squad was injured to any extent in the Buckhannon game and all are out working this week for the game Saturday. The Morgantown team has played only one game this season, playing the Fairmont team to a 12 to 6 score when the Fairmont team objected to a ruling of the official and the game was forfeited to Morgantown.

The local team's record to date is very pleasing, having defeated the Fairmont high team in a fast, clean game by a score of 6 to 0 and holding the strong Buckhannon team to a 0 to 0 tie game. Coach Arnett is trying to make a clean sweep this season, winning every game he plays and from present indications it looks like he will be successful as his hardest games are over and his team is in the best condition that it has been since the season opened.

TIME FOR THOUGHT NOT COMPLACENCY

Not Political Talk about Prosperity Declares Governor Hughes in Speech.

HARTFORD, Ct., Oct. 26.—Charles E. Hughes went into what he termed "the home stretch of the campaign" with the opening speech here today of the last trip before election day. The nominee in a theater spoke before an audience composed partly of workers in munition plants nearby. "This is no time for complacency," he said. "This is no time for political talk about prosperity. It is a time for thought. When the men now in the trenches of Europe are withdrawn to follow the pursuits of peace the abnormal stimulus of the war will be withdrawn and the men in this country now engaged in satisfying the demands of Europe at war will no longer have that demand to satisfy. It is a new Europe we will have to meet, a disciplined, organized Europe and we should meet it with a new United States. And you can no more run this country in the coming years on the tariff principles of our opponents than you can fly to the moon."

Mr. Hughes alluded also to the Adamson bill.

OCCUPY VILLAGES.

WOMAN IS ARRESTED

Under Charge of Bootlegging at Grasselli, Following Husband's Arrest.

Mrs. Josefa Menandez, of Grasselli, whose husband, Jose Menandez, was arrested there a few days ago under a charge of bootlegging, was arrested Thursday afternoon at her home by Deputy Sheriff Laco Wolfe on a warrant charging her with a like offense. She gave bond before Magistrate William E. Starcher for her appearance in his court for a trial, or hearing, at 1:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon. Jose Menandez was discharged when his case came up in court.

Oppose Adamson Act

NEW YORK, Oct. 26.—Ed Dwyer, former chief engineer of the Central Division of Brotherhood Locomotive Engineers, in an interview states that "of all the absurd half baked legislation ever enacted in Congress the Adamson law 'takes the cake.'"

To complete the absurdity, it ought to have added:

"Be it enacted that on and after January 1, 1917, the time for moving trains engaged in the interstate commerce of the United States shall be limited to eight hours daily, commencing at 8 o'clock a. m. and ending at 4 o'clock p. m., during which time trains must be moved, at all other times must remain stationary."

"Do the railroad trainmen realize they are not paid by the day, but by the mile? The present wage agreements read, 100 miles or less, constitutes a day's work. These two words—or less—cost the railroads millions of dollars annually—they are not in the Adamson absurdity. One hundred miles is the minimum day's pay and the payment for extra miles over and above that amount costs the railroads about one-half as much as the regular wages. All trainmen know how eagerly the railroads would grasp the opportunity to return to the old system of wages by the day."

tion shall be fined not less than $100 nor more than $1,000, or imprisoned not to exceed one year, or both. This is a chain that binds you as well as the railroad managers.

"Do the railroad employees of the United States realize that the railroad managers are not making any efforts to have the pseudo eight-hour law repealed, or to have it declared unconstitutional, and that since the enactment of the law, several influential railroad presidents have announced their intention of supporting Wilson.

"Are the railroad employees gullible enough to believe they are doing this because the Adamson law increases their pay?

"As a stern rebuke to President Wilson for his flagrant effort to bribe them, and as a just punishment for his bold attempt to double cross them with the blundering Adamson law, the railroad trainmen of the United States should vote unanimously for the election of Charles E. Hughes."

have the people believe them to be? "Six hundred and fifty thousand dollars of license tax was lost to the state yearly beginning with 1914, and over $300,000 was lost on account of the strike in the Paint and Cabin creek coal fields in 1912, and $1,280,000 has been expended to relieve the crowded condition of the state institutions since the year 1912; yet with the loss of $650,000 of license revenue, our direct levy for state purposes is only $26,000 greater than in 1897, with all of our progress.

"How can you sustain your position that tax reform has proved a failure? The people are interested and wish an answer from you specifically upon these interrogations.

"If the old method of taxation were still in effect which you advocated in 1904, do you not know that to take care of our state's progress on the $2.75 per capita cost, which is the amount being expended for the maintenance of our state and which represents an amount lower than state with even less population than ours, the direct state levy this year would have to be $1.29 on the 100 valuation instead of five and one-half cents?

"As is the case under tax reform, how do you explain this if your assertions are true as to the failure of the Dawson tax laws which you have circulated throughout the state quoting from a speech of yours delivered recently in Wheeling, pointing to your predictions when a candidate in 1904.

"Practically all of the $1,280,000 expended during my administration was appropriated by a legislature in 1913, for permanent improvements at state institutions, the complexion of the Senate of that body being fifteen Republicans and fifteen Democrats with a Democrat presiding. This amount was appropriated by the legislature for the purpose of relieving the crowded condition of our state institutions.

"Do you condemn these expenditures? Do you condemn the fifteen Democrats who voted for these appropriations and made possible these expenditures? What part of them would you have cut out?

"You have criticized my administration for being extravagant and for the creation of new offices. The public service commission was created, the compensation department was created during the legislative sessions of 1913 and 1915. Which one of these departments would you abolish if you were governor of West Virginia?

"I take this method of addressing you because you refused to meet me in joint debate to discuss these issues so that the people might be properly informed.

"You hold up the Dawson tax laws as being a failure. I have submitted facts taken from the tax commissioner's records, which are indisputable and which prove conclusively that after this year, if the present revenue laws are left upon the statute books with the exception of the direct levy to enlarge our state institutions or to repair them, no direct levy will be necessary for state purposes.

"If the Dawson tax laws have proved a failure, as you would have the people believe they have, how do you explain that the state of West Virginia is now practically being run upon indirect methods of revenue instead of direct methods of revenue, as was the case from 1897 to 1904 which represents the period that your party uses in preparing all data in presenting records with which you attempt to prove your conclusions?

"In conclusion, Mr. Cornwell, if you do not believe in indirect methods of taxation, what kind of taxation do you favor? The people are anxious to know."

TEUTONIC PRESSURE REPORTED WEAKENED

PETROGRAD, Oct. 26.—The pressure of Field Marshal von Mackensen's army in Dobrudja against the Russian and Rumanian forces has weakened somewhat, the war office announced today.

On the Transylvanian front, the statement says, Rumanian troops arrested the progress of superior Austro-German forces.

Russian troops in the wooded Carpathians are successfully withstanding Teutonic assaults, the war office also announced. It reports the repulse of an attack on the height northwest of Capul mountain in that region.

Capture by the Russians of the town of Bjar in Persia northwest of Hamadan was also announced today.

GERMAN STATEMENT OF WAR OPERATIONS

BERLIN, Oct. 26.—Teutonic troops have pushed their way further into Rumanian territory on the northern front, according to Thursday's war office announcement. Ground has been gained on the road to Sinalya.

Russian battalions Wednesday evening made an advance without artillery preparation against the German positions to the west of Lutsk in Volhynia, says the statement. The storming Russian waves, the statement adds, broke down under the German artillery fire.

BURNED TO DEATH

Are Six Adults and Five Children in a Hospital Blaze in Canada.

FARNHAM, Quebec, Oct. 26.—Six adults and five children lost their lives in a fire which destroyed St. Elizabeth hospital early Thursday. This forenoon the ruins were still blazing and it was impossible to approach them to search for from fifteen to twenty-five persons reported missing.

The institution was managed by the Grey nuns and comprised two buildings, one for hospital patients and the other a school for children.

Up to noon no bodies had been found but the names of four missing, who are believed to have perished, were known. They were paralytics. Survivors were taken to many Farnham homes making difficult the work of compiling a list of dead. Many were injured by jumping from windows and four children may die.

The grey nuns displayed great heroism. One sister climbed to the third floor and risked her life handing helpless through windows to firemen and citizens on ladders.

An early estimate placed the property loss at $135,000.

VILLA FORCES

HAVE ROSY CHEEKS AND FEEL FRESH AS A DAISY—TRY THIS!

Says glass of hot water with phosphate before breakfast washes out poisons.

To see the tinge of healthy bloom in your face, to see your skin get clearer and clearer, to wake up without a headache, backache, coated tongue or a nasty breath, in fact to feel your best, day in and day out, just try inside-bathing every morning for one week.

Before breakfast each day, drink a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it as a harmless means of washing from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels the previous day's indigestible waste, sour bile and toxins; thus ransing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach. The action of hot water and limestone phosphate on an empty stomach is wonderfully invigorating. It cleans out all the sour fermentations, gases and acidity and gives one a splendid appetite for breakfast.

A quarter pound of limestone phosphate will cost very little at the drug store but is sufficient to demonstrate that just as soap and hot water cleanses, sweetens and freshens the skin, so hot water and limestone phosphate act on the blood and internal organs. Those who are subject to constipation, bilious attacks, acid stomach, rheumatic twinges, also those whose skin is sallow and complexion pallid, are assured that one week of inside-bathing will have them both looking and feeling better in every way.—Advertisement.
