Merchant Marine.
 No political capital can be made at this time by casting attention to the miserable extent to which the act of August 18, 1914, is failing to build up our merchant marine. It is too late now for the voters to do anything except to impress on those elected to Congress the importance of trying to do something to improve conditions.

The report of the bureau of navigation shows that eight vessels, with an aggregate gross of 13,623 tons, were admitted to American registry since June 30 of this year. In the same period forty-eight American vessels, of 78,880 gross tons, were sold to foreigners. In other words, instead of building up our merchant marine, the laws enacted by the Democratic Congress have resulted in an actual shrinkage of 63,257 gross tons since the first day of July.

Congress handed to Secretary McAdoo $50,000,000 to be used in building up our merchant marine. That sum would not buy the ships that Americans have sold to foreigners in the last four months.

Likes Parrish.
 The Tyler County News, published at Middlebourne, likes the candidacy of Senator Roy E. Parrish for the presidency of the state senate. Under the editorial caption, "A Splendid Candidate," it says:

While the News feels that the Republicans will select a good man for president of the state senate, still we have our preference. Senator Roy E. Parrish, of Clarksburg, would just about fill the bill. Roy Parrish is young, energetic and a splendid parliamentarian. He is a hard-over senator, one who has not been aligned with the factions and one who would command the respect of every colleague.

Mr. Parrish has three other active aspirants whom he will have to defeat if he lands the place. Owen Gooch, of Coalter, and Rosenbloom are all after the honor. A victory over these three men would, indeed, be a worthy one. The senate could not possibly select a better presiding officer than Senator Roy E. Parrish. He is an able attorney, a clean and he would be impartial to every senator and every measure. We certainly should like to see the Harrison county man honored with the event. And Senator Parrish, in the event of the death of the governor, could with confidence discharge the duties of the governorship.

Road Photo Contest.

The Dupont-Davis road photo contest closed on November 7 with contestants from every state of the union as well as Alaska, District of Columbia, Philippine Islands and Porto Rico. Never was a more interesting, instructive or larger set of road photographs produced at one time.

The many thousands submitted are now being tabulated and arranged so that they may be reviewed and then submitted to the judges, Theodore Roosevelt, Mark Sullivan and Ida M. Tarbell, for the awarding of the prizes amounting to $2,600 total with a first prize of $500. This work will require several months and will be done with the utmost care. When completed the awards will be announced by another bulletin which will be sent to each and every contestant as well as to the general public. As stated in the contest no correspondence will be entered into about the competition.

There were submitted most beautiful photographs in themselves. Those of gorgeous scenery and of the wonders of America with the highways leading to them. Good roads and woefully bad roads were shown. The before and after juxtaposition pictures were often given to the very, very bad road followed by the good road. The variety and the numbers seemed to be unending.

Presidency of the Senate.
 The fact that Senator Roy E. Parrish has only passed his twenty-eighth birthday is being urged somewhat against him in his candidacy for the presidency of the Senate. In the event of a vacancy in the office of governor, the president of the Senate becomes the acting governor. The constitution of the state, article IV, section 4, prescribes that the governor of the state must have attained the age of 30 years at the time of the beginning of his term of service. If Senator Parrish should be elected president of the Senate and a vacancy should occur in the office of governor before Senator Parrish reaches the age of 30 years, he would not become the acting governor, but that duty would devolve upon the speaker of the House, he being otherwise qualified.

The fact that Senator Parrish would not succeed to the governorship as president of the Senate, if a vacancy occurs prior to the time that he attains the age of 30 years is little important. A vacancy occurring in the governorship any time before the expiration of three years of the term for which the governor is elected must be filled by a special election promptly called and held. From a political point of view it cannot matter much whether a Democrat or a Republican acts as governor in the interim between the occurring of the vacancy and the holding of the special election to fill it. If a vacancy occurs after the expiration of three years of the term for which the governor is elected, the acting governor would serve out the remainder of the term. In that event, the president of the Senate who shall be elected at the expiration of the term for which Senator Parrish is a candidate will be the acting governor.

A glance at section 16, article VII, of the constitution will satisfy anyone that there is no merit in the objection being urged against the election of Senator Parrish to the honorable position which he aspires to hold.

First Out of "Pork" is Ordered.
 Promptly with the fall of the speaker's gavel announcing that the Congress is in session, Combs the rivers and harbors appropriation bill, carrying a total of $32,136,063. This "pork" measure has the grace this time of being framed to cost the people ten million dollars less than the last. It contains many old items, although the Trinity river scandal does not show in the allotment to Texas. One thing that impresses the casual reader is the advantage the solid South enjoys over the rest of the country. Of course, the states along the south Atlantic and Gulf coasts have many "rivers and harbors," and must be cared for. But this fact will not overcome the eloquence of the figures, which show totals for the southern states as follows:

Alabama	$ 271,000
Arkansas	130,000
Florida	699,500
Georgia	572,250
Louisiana	2,282,000
Maryland	132,600
Mississippi	223,000
North Carolina	1,064,000
South Carolina	238,000
Tennessee	1,038,000
Texas	1,144,300
Virginia	1,097,000
Total	$9,201,800

Almost one-third of the total amount goes to these twelve Democratic states, insuring them in advance a fairly remunerative return for their loyalty to the dominant party. People of Nebraska have had occasion to complain, though, for they will get some share of the $35,000 allotted to take care of the Missouri river between Kansas City and Sioux City.

THE DAILY NOVELET

IN THE SWIM.
 Into the high life
 They got at last;
 And out again, they
 Went pretty fast.

The O'Daddies were social climbers. They lived their lives according to the fashion.

They had learned to play bridge- whist, although they much preferred fighting over checkers with each other at home, for the O'Daddies were the most loving couple in the world. They did all sorts of things they didn't enjoy, for the way of the social climber is hard.

As our story opens, they are in their drawing room, in each other's arms, in tears.

"Oh, it's terrible, terrible!" sobbed young Mrs. O'Daddie. "I'd-I'd almost rather give up society altogether, Wallie darling."

"Courage, Delphine," soothed O'Daddie, though his own voice was husky with emotion. "There's no way out. All our friends have one, and they are beginning to look at us coolly. We must get one, Delphine."

"You know best, Wallie," she snivelled. "Will you—will you see the lawyer?"

"Yes, I'll see the lawyer. I'll attend to all the details," her husband assured her brokenly.

And four months later they got their divorce.
