I accordingly went to live with a friend of mine near LONG GREEN in Baltimore County. At first I thought the country air and change of diet appeared to help me, my spirits were better and more bouyant, and my appetite considerably improved, the new milk appeared for a time to assist my digestion, but after a while it appeared to lose its effects; after about four weeks I returned to Baltimore, scarcely any better than when I went timore, scarcely any better than when I went away. I then sent for my Physician again, who told me he had introduced a new medicine or prescription in his practice, and that he would prescribe it for me. He put me on a course of Black Powders which he called COMPOUND CHARGOAL POWDERS. I took these four months with little or no benefit.
