THIS IS THE NEWEST, latest and best improvement in ag. icultural implements, and is destined to entirely supersede the old Shovel Plow and all other cultivators for the cultiva-tion of Corn, Tobacco, Cotton, &c. It does as much work with one man and horse as can be done with three men and horses using the shovel plow, and does it better. It can be used to very good advantage in furrowing ground for Corn-marking two furrows at once, and thus one man can do as much work as is usually done by two. It is worked with shafts and is so constructed as to be much easier for both man and horse, than the shovel plow. It possesses many other advantages over any other implement of the kind in use, which must be seen to be appreciated. The simplicity and durability of its construction, tegether with the amount of labor saved by it, must render it a great favorite with
