

Expert to Teach Efficient Housekeeping in Clarksburg

Miss Harriet H. Ellis

Home Economics Course for Local Housewives to Be Conducted by Telegram.

A woman writer of note predicts that business conditions in America are going to be better because women are being compelled to carefully consider the buying quality of every dollar they handle. This is a matter of importance that will attract the attention of all thoughtful women who are eager to see efficiency methods introduced into the housekeeping world as men are introducing and using them in the business world.

Clarksburg, and will bring some conservative women up to date and interest them also. It is to be a school of housekeeping and cookery methods, and Miss Harriet Ellis, of Cincinnati, an expert who is not only a trained domestic scientist, but is also an experienced housekeeper and famously good cook has been secured to have charge. As one of the leading Better Foods Better Homes lecturers in the country, Miss Ellis has been eminently successful during the last two years in interesting actual housekeepers in the newer domestic science which enables them to perform their household tasks more easily and to provide better, more wholesome and more economical meals for their families.

The Telegram Home Economic school which Miss Ellis will conduct here, is to be free to all housekeepers and cooks. The watchword of the whole enterprise is "household efficiency," and it will be presented in an interesting and entertaining manner by one who has studied the matter scientifically and experimentally. Such work as Miss Ellis is accomplishing in her lecture course and cookery teaching, represents a marked advance for women in the administrative side of the home life. It deals with household management in a practical fashion and teaches values and proper and interesting methods of preparing foods that will appeal to the many good cooks of this city.

RIOTOUS OUTBURST OF BEAUTY TO COME

In the City of Washington in Observance There of Easter Sunday.

(SPECIAL TO THE TELEGRAM) WASHINGTON, D. C., April 3.—Easter in Washington, aside from its religious observance, means that the capital is emerging from the dry and unattractive chrysalis of winter, and stealthily reaching out with buds and tendrils, to prepare for the riotous outburst of beauty, with which the capital annually halts the spring season. It comes so suddenly here, that it almost makes one gasp with wonder. All the circles, squares, parks and innumerable spots which are tended by Uncle Sam's gardeners in Washington, lie bare and unattractive for months, and then—as it seems—almost in a night, the circles, which are at the intersection of the avenues, and which commemorate the heroes of the nation, Washington, Lafayette, Thomas, Scott, Sheridan, Farragut, Dupont, McPherson and others come out in a resplendent dress of crocuses and tulips and other harbingers of spring. One of the never failing heralds of the Easter season is the hedge of Forsythia, which sprouts from the terrace wall on Massachusetts avenue. This was formerly the most exclusive and much-to-be desired residential section of the city, but the rapid growth of the city, has had the effect of decreasing the value of the property. The least bit more desirable, for one who wishes to enjoy the appropriate atmosphere of Washington's exclusive circles. However, the Forsythias have not abated in loveliness one single jot, and it is a slight worth seeing to see them burst in a day, into a golden wealth of beauty.

Clarksburg, and will bring some conservative women up to date and interest them also. It is to be a school of housekeeping and cookery methods, and Miss Harriet Ellis, of Cincinnati, an expert who is not only a trained domestic scientist, but is also an experienced housekeeper and famously good cook has been secured to have charge. BUMPER CROP

Of Peaches in Braxton County This Year, is Promised by the Outlook.

FAIRMONT, Apr. 3.—"The fruit in Braxton county has not been injured, and the outlook for a bumper crop is the greatest in the history of the county," said Agricultural Agent Engle to a party of business men from Sutton this week before they started for Fairmont. The country around Sutton is said to be rapidly coming to the front as the greatest fruit growing section in the state. Large orchards of apples, peaches and cherries have been planted and many of the trees will produce fruit for the first time this season. Mr. Engle, the agricultural agent, is a graduate of the West Virginia university. Through his efforts agriculture has received great stimulus. That the town is wealthy and is fast coming to the front is based on the fact that a majority of the citizens own their own property. Many of the citizens that reside in the town also own farms in the country which they work on during the spring and summer months.

Armless Man Has A Legless Rival

SAGINAW, Mich., Apr. 3.—Arthur Clemons, justice of the peace, is a candidate for re-election. Having lost both arms in a mine accident several years ago he was elected two years ago on the Republican ticket and has proved an efficient officer. With ingenious contrivances is able to turn the leaves of law books and he writes by holding the pen with his teeth.

Washington City Notes

(Special to the Sunday Telegram) WASHINGTON, April 3.—The first step toward a nation-wide back-fire campaign to convince congressmen that the Congressional Union for Women's Suffrage is in earnest about votes for women, through a federal amendment to the constitution, has been made. The suffrage leaders are the busiest women in Washington. They are not only directing and conducting the campaign in the seven states which have announced their intention of allowing women to vote on state suffrage, but they have outlined a wide spread campaign against the congressmen who opposed them in the last session and voted against a federal amendment to let them know where their own people stand on the question. Conventions are to be held in every state in the union, opening with a big rally in Maryland in May, Delaware and New York being next in line on the program.

West Virginia After Coal Trade of South

Operators Meet and Perfect Plans of Capturing South American Traffic.

CHARLESTON, Apr. 3.—West Virginia coal operators of prominence have been in Washington for several days for the purpose of combining their efforts to get the coal trade of Argentina. It has been shown to the operators of this state that it is possible to get a market for an enormous output in this southern republic, and, if the plans of the present carry, it is expected that an effort will be made to further the trade in other South American countries. All the coal fields of the southern section of the state were represented at the Washington meeting. J. W. Dawson was there from Charleston; W. O. O'ard from Landgraf; A. H. Land from Logan; Colonel L. E. Tierney from the Pochonias field and D. W. Baker from Mercer. B. B. Jenkins was there from the Fairmont field, indicating that perhaps the production of that portion of the state will help to make up the southern supply. As a result of the meeting the operators will recommend that representatives be sent to Argentina at once to look after the trade and to land orders if possible. Another important step in the coal business of this section of the country is the recommendation made at a meeting held at Ashland, Ky., that the Letcher Coal Company, the Haly Coal Company, the Henry Coal and Coke Company and the Kentucky River Consolidated Coal Company, consolidate and become known as the Kentucky River Consolidated Coal Corporation.

Stockholders of the companies will meet April 7 at Ashland to consider the proposition. The merged concern will be incorporated under the laws of West Virginia with a capital stock of $3,500,000, if the proposition carries.

WOMAN OFFICER

To Be Appointed in Huntington under New Juvenile Court Law.

HUNTINGTON, Apr. 3.—Judge John T. Graham, of the circuit court, says that he will appoint a woman as one of the probation officers under the new juvenile court law to go into effect in May. Judge Graham will test the constitutionality of a woman as a state officer. He believes that, since many girls will come under the jurisdiction of the juvenile court, one of the probation officers should be a woman. The judge discussed to some length the qualifications of such an officer saying that she must be alive to the object of the office.

JAIL SERVICES.

The Rev. Dr. G. D. Smith, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church, is scheduled to hold religious services at the county jail this afternoon.
