

BEGINS TO LOOK LIKE THE END.

ALL THE TESTIMONY IN THE STRIKERS' TRIAL HAS BEEN INTRODUCED.

KNIGHT THE CHIEF WITNESS

MONTEITH HAD TO CONTEST EVERY INCH OF THE HARD-FOUGHT FIELD.

The trial of the Sacramento strikers practically came to an end yesterday. All the testimony is in, and the only things that remain to be done are the closing speeches of counsel, the Judge's charge to the jury and then the verdict.

JUDGE MORROW LISTENING TO THE TESTIMONY OF ASSISTANT DISTRICT ATTORNEY KNIGHT.

pages of typewritten foolscap. In this connection Attorney Monteith for the strikers remarked that it had taken thirty-six days for the prosecution to put in the case, while the defense had only occupied twenty-six days.

"That is quite true, Mr. Monteith," said Judge Morrow, with a smile, "but you fail to mention that a considerable portion of those thirty-six days was taken up by your cross-examination."

"Your Honor is right," said Monteith, "but we were compelled to fight every inch of the ground."

There was a larger attendance at the trial yesterday than during any day since the proceedings began. It had leaked out that Assistant United States District Attorney Samuel Knight was to be put on the stand by the defense and a lively tilt was expected between him and Mr. Monteith.

"How long did your term of Assistant United States District Attorney last?" began Monteith. "From early in 1886 to early in 1894," was the answer.

Monteith—Where were you from May 26 to, say, July 1.

Monteith—As far as I can remember, in my office.

Monteith—what was done when Judge Irving Carpenter, W. H. Herrin and one other Southern Pacific official were present in your office?

Monteith—All we want to show is that there was a conference.

Judge Morrow—in the case of Sparf, now under sentence for murder, an attempt was made to get similar testimony. I sustained objection and counsel excepted. The Supreme Court thought so little of the matter that it did not even notice it. The objection is merely sustained.

Monteith—I merely wish to show that similar conferences were held and that the object was to send the United States Marshal to Sacramento.

Monteith—Do you remember the conference held in the Palace Hotel, Mr. Knight?

Monteith—I refer to the conference in the Palace Hotel, telephone office, when A. N. Towne, J. A. Fillmore, Charles A. Garter and the Southern Pacific attorneys were present?

Monteith—I don't remember any such conference.

Monteith—I object to the witness answering. Knight—As Mr. Foote objects I will not answer any more questions.

Monteith—Did you have any conferences with any one?

Monteith—Did you not issue a subpoena for A. N. Towne?

Monteith—Did you not issue a subpoena for A. N. Towne?

WILL SEND DELEGATES.

The San Francisco Labor Council Will Offer to Take Part in the Manufacturers' Convention.

The Labor Council, at its regular weekly meeting held in Union Hall, 1159 Mission street, last evening, decided to accept the invitation of the Chamber of Commerce to send delegates to the manufacturers' convention, and A. Fuhrst, M. McGlynn and J. F. Burns were elected to represent the council in that body.

Delegata A. Fuhrst reported in regard to his trip to Washington as a representative of the union seamen of this coast. He stated that the passage of the bill for the protection of American sailors, introduced by Congressman Maguire, was materially aided by the flood of petitions sent to Senators and Congressmen by labor unions all over the country.

A communication was received from the Seattle Labor Council warning workingmen to stay away from that town, as even if the proposed canal across the State becomes a certainty there are plenty of men to do the work. Miners are also cautioned against going to the Alaska mines.

It was decided to appeal to Governor Budd to favorably consider House bill

HIS RIVALRY PROBABLY OVER.

JOCKEY KINNIE IS THROWN FROM HIS MOUNT AND SERIOUSLY INJURED.

SLIGHT CHANCE OF RECOVERY

FERRIER AND HY DY WERE THE ONLY FAVORITES THAT MET WITH SUCCESS.

The sport at the track yesterday was marred by an unfortunate accident in the first race, that will probably result in the death of Jockey Kinnie, who had the mount on Ladameo, an outsider in the betting. So much consideration was felt for the lad that, on inquiring of one track official as to the boy's condition at the conclusion of the last run, he replied that he didn't know how he was. But this is in keeping with the policy of the present meeting; as long as the dollars come in at the gate let the mill grind.

The race was a five-furlong affair for maidens, Kingsley being a 6 to 5 favorite. Mt. Carlos—ridden by Fred Carillo, who was once ruled off the turf for one of the most barefaced jobs ever perpetrated on a race track, the pulling of Al Farrow—was played as the good thing in the race.

Previous to the race Carillo was reported to have imbued too freely of the cup that inebriates, and I for one fully concur in this rumor, for his actions after dismounting substantiated it. At any rate, while the horses were fairly well bunched an eighth from the wire, Mount Carlos swerved in as well as could be seen from a press-stand that might as well be in the basement for all the view of a race that it commands, bumping Ladameo, throwing her to her knees.

"Cornob," as little Kinnie was called, was thrown, striking heavily on his head, causing concussion of the brain. Willing hands carried him to the jockeys' room and up to the time of leaving the track after the last race he had not recovered consciousness, and by the way the attending physician spoke life was a 1 to 10 chance.

Robert Kinnie, which was the boy's proper name, was in the employ of Mike Kelly, and while he never gave promise of becoming a Griffin or a Taral was a conscientious and honest little fellow, who did the best he could.

Of the "dogs" that started in the race the Julia Martin filly proved the best, with Rosalee second and Kingsley third.

Riley Graman was up on the block again yesterday, and I thought by the way matters began the young plunger was going to pay out what he had made on the ground the two preceding days, but the opposite proved the case. Riley fancied a quirt in the six-furlong handicap, but he ran on the outside and "boosting" the prices against the others. Well, Wheelock and the New Yorkers took a fall out of him, playing Ferrer at 2 to 1, Pittsburg Phil, however, played Belicoso. Kinnie was in, having ridden Nebuchadnezzar, but after the accident Sloane was put up and rode over-weight. Captain Coster, who I think has suddenly been rated too high, was heavily played at 2 to 1. It was really no race, as the half and won eased up by three lengths. Belicoso was second, about the same distance in front of Captain Coster. If a race were made for horses on stilts Quirt might possibly have a chance, for on the present track in the shape she's in now, she couldn't beat her owner, and he doesn't appear to be threatened with speed.

It old Hy Dy did not see the money yesterday I never saw him when he did. The old brown gelding certainly looked eligible for the two-year-old race. And he went out and got it with ease, starting away from the favorite, Kingsley, who looks drawn too fine. Riley Graman played Miss Buckley, but she never got near the money. Hy Dy won with ease, Griffin contenting himself with beating commission a long neck. Miss Buckley was a poor third.

I would not like to say that Mr. Joseph, the owner of imp. Grand Lady and the two-year-old Marionette, did not always try to win; rather put it that they ran in the same class, and in the same way, and away second, fell back to fifth place, and staid there with Lloyd up, in a race won in 49 1/2 seconds. Yesterday, with Chorn up, she opened up a gap soon after the start, and in the end, in 49 1/2. This is hardly form. Barney Schreiber has been to the theater and jollied himself into thinking Red Pike would win. He did fairly well—finished third. The second race, a mile and a half, was an excellent race. Midlothian and ran in the same class at his first attempt. Leon L, the favorite in the race, which was a half-mile dash, ran poorly, and owner Legg would like to give him a rest. It looks to me like the other horses on the track, Captain Coster—too many fast work-outs as a yearling.

Grannan evened up what he had lost on the preceding races by backing Marionette 1 to 2 on the ring, 5 to 1 was at one time obtainable against her.

After the last race I noticed the people that hail from the Windy City, Chicago, were greatly in need of that indispensable article that gave the Illinois metropolis its name de plum. The old roan sprang in at his favorite distance, and when Grannan marked 4 to 5 against him I thought Bookmaker Walter was going to have a fit. He bet Grannan $300 at the price and James O'Connell, who is a very smart fellow, up to his elbows with a smile that gave a doubt to the young plunger's mental capacity. Walter is a pretty good judge as a rule and Grannan rubbed to $15 to $20.

Along came the Levy, who is a smart chalk on his cue, and slung a thousand-dollar bet at Grannan; he took it and didn't rub. Johnny Humphrey, whom I consider one of the shrewdest men in the ring, had his own money on an 8 to 10 and 15 to 1. Grannan had 25 to 1 against Major Cook, but Billy Beverly betting him $100, he cut the price. Venus was second choice, but ran poorly.

Major Cook (H. Isom) was ridden by J. J. Murphy and ran in front at a heart-breaking pace, as I predicted to a friend, and an eighth from the wire Joe Cotton came on and won handily by half a length from the Major. Tim was only a fair third. The race was a very off edge, and White and Clarke would do well to let up on him, even if the grass is short. MULHOLLAND.
