Many of the prizes offered at the Bay District track yesterday were in the bettingring, and not on the card. The track was sloppy, but very fair time was made in the different events. Taking everything into consideration, picking winners was not difficult, but there have been times when it was easier. Yesterday was "cut-in" day with the bookmakers, thirteen going on. Among the absentees was George Whee- filled. lock, who dallied with the bangtails on the ground, along with the rest of the talent. The sport began with the downfall of a favorite, Sallie Calvert, the first choice, with 8 to 5 against her, finishing behind Tom Ryan's Fly, the second choice, who led all the way and won easily, running the five furlongs in 1:03½. Raphael, who carried Riley Grannan's money, finished third.

The second run had for starters Warrago, Annie Moore, Road Runner, Tobey, Rogation and Faro, the first half of the divided fourth race. Road Runner, opening at 1 to 2, went to the post 2 to 5. Faro, opening at 8 to 1, was backed down to fours at post time, Riley Grannan having his checks down on the son of Prince of Norfolk. Bookmaker Walter also played the horse and promised Flynn $200 if he won. Well, he did, and "won a block." Getting away in front Road Runner could never get near him, finishing second, five lengths behind. Warrago was a good third in the race.

Although won by one of the first choices the mile selling race was a sort of disappointment, as old Hy Dy was expected to do better. The latter and Trix went to the post with 8 to 5 against each. Eckert was backed down from 15 to 10 to 1, but looked as if he had been run through a gaspipe

Most of those that think they know something about the races played Arctic, getting 4 to 1 against their money. Pittsburg Phil put his sheckels on the cold trick, as the horses went to the post. After acting very nicely at the post, Arctic became troubled with strange noises in his head, and buckjumping the reverse way of the track tried his best to unseat Chevalier, but being unsuccessful, again became docile and was led back to the post. But the backers of Arctic were not kept in suspense long, for Starter Ferguson dropped his flag to a start that was much more frigid for them than the name of the horse they played.

Terra Nova was away first, followed by George L and My Sweetheart, and Arctic a block further away. Of course he could

It was a lively betting affair, this race yesterday. Jack Richelieu opened with fours against him, but only for a short time. He finally went to the post a 7 to 5 favorite, with Mainstay second choice at 12 to 5.

Sligo followed by Grandee headed the bunch past the half with Mainstay a close attendant. At the far turn Mainstay took the lead, holding it throughout, passing the judges a length in front of Sligo, with Grandee third. Dave Gibson was fortunate in whipsawing the race, and Riley Grannan, who was in improved form, also landed a good bet on the blg Mariner colt.

Arno, backed from 8 to 5 to 1, did much better, and, to my mind, were Tommy Butler a bit more experienced in the finishing line, the race would been his. As it was after Lonnie B, followed by Trix, had led until well around the turn the mare fell back and Trix led into the stretch with Arno the contending horse. In a drive through the stretch Sloane landed Trix winner by a head from Arno, with Hy Dyridden by Griffin, a poor third.

A Soldier and a Footwarmer.

Some singular things are recorded as having happened yesterday between a soldier, a footwarmer, a locomotive and other rolling stock on the Great Western line in the parts of Berkshire about Newbury. The soldier and the footwarmer were travelling in the same compartment. There was, of course, nothing stronger than water inside the footwarmer; there may have been inside the soldier.
