Benjamin Shurtleff, Mayor of Napa.

NAPA, March 24 .- If the indolent tribe of Indians who gave this valley the name of Napa were here to-day their sleep would be disturbed by the hum of machinery which is making of this shire town of Napa County a manufacturing center. The industry that stands out most prominently is that of glove-leather tanning and wool-picking, which is carried on under the name of the Sawyer Tanning Company. Some of us wear gloves all our lives without knowing the many processes through which the skins pass before they come made up in gloves to our hands. The Call's correspondent could not have found a more extensive and complete place to gain knowledge than at the works of the Sawyer Company, which occupies three blocks, and is by far the largest place of the kind on the Pacific coast. The soft, beautiful castor gloves, which all like for outing and cool weather wear, are made by a superior oil tan of the castor buck. The great vats of oil where these skins are put in a bath are not a particularly attractive sight, but the result is both beauty and durability of the leather.

put in a bath are not a particularly attractive sight, but the result is both beauty and durability of the leather. Hair seals are being tanned for the same use, and are satisfactory to the glove-makers.

To make leather for gloves used by miners, smelterworkers, farmers and rallroad men, the Sawyer Company use horse, cow and seal skins, which are prepared by chrome tannage, a peculiar process. The company has gained a reputation the world over through a patent process for the tannage of sheep, goat and deer skins, which is known as the "Napa patent." This firm sends seven-eighths of their goods East or to foreign lands.

It is interesting to see the wool pickers employed here. The wool from the sheep pelts is cleaned, graded and pressed into packages for shipping. Four thousand pounds of wool is pulled and shipped every day. Sixteen hundred skins of one grade or another are put on the shelves tanned, measured and ready for market each day. Nearly two hundred men are employed by the Sawyer Company in their extensive business.

The Napa Woolen-mill plant, with its four-set mill, twenty-two broad looms, several dressers, calender press, scouring, coloring and other machinery and equipment, in which sixty people are employed, is a factory of some consequence. The mills are mainly engaged in the manufacture of medium and heavy weight all-wool flannels and blankets. The good California wool and carefulness in dying and weaving have given their goods a reputation second to none in the country. Notwithstanding the general depression and closing down of many Eastern mills the looms here are humming all the time. B. F. Holden, manager of the company, says their daily output at this season of the year, which is their dail time, because of the long hot summer months just ahead, is 3000 yards.

Two-thirds of the goods from the Napa Woolen-mill are sent east, thus bringing outside money here for circulation, which is certainly a good thing for the town and State.

The chronic croakers should visit the Raymond & Williams glo

At Birmingham the gale was felt especially severe. A man and three children were killed. The property damage to the work is estimated at thousands of dollars. Two men and a girl in Leicester were struck by falling debris and almost instantly killed. The would come here. The advantages of Napa, the firm found, were many, and as their supplies came from the tannery company here they decided to accept the invitation. The plant was built on a most desirable lot near the Southern Pacific Railroad depot. The building is a large two-story and basement structure, well lighted and ventilated, and with all the latest improved machinery for glove manufacturing in large quantities. The property damage to the two men and a girl in Leicester were struck by falling debris and almost instantly killed.

Dr. Benjamin Shurtleff, Mayor of Napa, whose life is one of interest and activity, in response to a question as to whether Napa would deal as generously with other manufacturing companies seeking a location said, "We would make every effort to raise money in order to bring any legitimate enterprise to the town."

would make every effort to raise money in order to bring any legitimate enterprise to the town."

A shoe factory would find this town an excellent location, as the shipping facilities are of the best and the supplies for the manufacture of shoes are right on the spot. The Whitman tannery makes fine French calf leather, and in order to obtain the best results the company employs chiefly skilled French labor.

The McBain Tannery handles heavy skins for sole and harness leather. Their process of tannage is up to the highest standard of merit.

The Enterprise Planing-mill, owned by the brothers W. H. and R. Corlett, is an extensive plant. Forty-five men are employed in the manufacture of sashes, doors, blinds and moldings, but they have felt the general depression and have run slack. W. H. Corlett says:

"From orders just received we feel asured that the tide has turned, and the business will now gradually improve to the standard of former days."

This town of 6000 inhabitants has also numerous smaller but thriving industries, which in the aggregate add much to the business life of the community.

The Lisbon Winery sends out some of the best sherry possible. The machine and repair shops employ quite a number of skilled men.

The Napa Fruit Packing and Canning Company is one of the largest in the State.

And where else would one expect to find cream tartar works but in this wineland of Napa Valley?

The growth of this town, I am told, has been slow, conservative and permanent. The policy pursued in the past will be continued. The manufacturers are ready to join hands with others of the State for any bona fide undertaking for the welfare of all. Its commercial advantages, with natural competition in the transportation line because of the tidewater to its wharves, insure the place a substantial, prosperous future. If the Government would make an appropriation for locks and a dam about four miles below Napa, they would not be dependent on tidewater. The good resulting to all Napa Valley, with its heavy shipping, would be incalculable if this could be brought about.

There has been much discussion in regard to building an electric road down the valley from Calistoga to Napa.

Valley, with its heavy shipping, would be incalculable if this could be brought about.

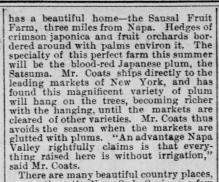

There has been much discussion in regard to building an electric road down the valley from Calistoga to Napa, and possibly on to Tiburon Point to the ferry, which would shorten the distance for passenger traffic. The County Supervisors, who are progressive men, as is evinced by the good graveled roads they have constructed in every direction throughout the county, are ready to give the franchise for an electric road to the right kind of company. So said Mr. Burgess, one of their number, with emphasis.

N. H. Wulff, shipmaster of the good freight and passenger boat Zinfandel, says if the road is built he is ready to put on another good boat from Napa to San Francisco. Captain Wulff carries from 150,000 to 200,000 gallons of wine alone from this wharf every month. Experienced men are saying that an electric road could carry freight at half the rate now charged by the railroad company and make money.

If this road is built and the time and distance to San Francisco shortened the lovely foothills of this valley will be dotted with homes of San Franciscons.

The immediate country tributary to Napa City "is the home of all good things horticultural." So savs Mr. Leonard Coats, a practical fruit-grower who has touched upon every branch of horticultural pursuit during his LEADING NAPA CITIZENS. eighteen years' residence in Napa County. Mr. Coats

There are many beautiful country places, among them the Napa Soda Springs, a few miles away; that combination of mountain, miles away; that combination of mountain, orchard, park and palace—Oak Knoll, the country home of Mr. Drury Melone, and Mr. George Goodman's estate, Eschol. There are great dairy farms along Napa Creek, where the grass is forever green and the willow hedges gracefully drooping. Then there are the homes, the schools, the libraries and the churches, without which all the present commercial and horticultural interests of Napa Valley would be as "dead sea fruit."

MANCHESTER MARKETS.

General Advances in All Commodities by the Aid of Silver.

MANCHESTER, March 24.-Last week was an active one in the market here, the advance in the price of cotton and the strength of silver aiding, but the improvement in yarn and cloth averages about one-half the advance in cotton. Large Eastern offers were returned for improved limits. The home trade was better. Yarns obtained fancy prices more easily than cloth, and at the end of the week were fairly sold at prices one-eighth higher on the week. Continental spinners were very well sold and the demand was quite active.

At Kingston immense damage was done to property. A great number of fine trees and several farm buildings at Sandring-ham, the country residence of the Prince of Wales, near Kingston, was destroyed.

BUSINESS IN LONDON.

Silver Secured a Firm Stand and American Stocks an Increase.

LONDON, March 24.-Discount rates last week were firm, but with a prospect of easiness within another fortnight. The stock market, stimulated by the activity of the American and mining markets had altogether a more cheerful tone. The scenes in Throgmorton street will compel the committee to consider the advisability of extending the time for the closing of the Stock Exchange beyond 4 o'clock, the large foreign business in mining securities and the late receipt of prices from Wall street making it impossible for business to cease before 5 o'clock. Home railroad and foreign securities were rather quiet. Silver securities were firm. The prices of mining securities were firm. The incoming securities fluctuated, many prudent speculators taking out profits, yet the immense business continued.

The adoption of the Atchison scheme had a good effect upon American railroad securities, which exhibited a marked rise all around. A settlement of the coal dispute would undoubtedly bring a further rise. A more hopeful view is taken of trade prospects in the United States.

The increases made were: Louisville and Nashville and Illinois Central, each 3: Milwaukee, 2½; Reading firsts and Wabash sixes, 2 each; New York Central, 1¾; Erie, seconds, 11/2; Denver, preferred, Northern Pacific, preferred, and Atchison, each 11/4; Lake Shore, Mexican Central and Wabash preferred, 1; Atchison, firsts, Union Pacific and Reading, each 3/4. Most of the other advances were frac-tional. Central Pacific declined 3. Canadians were fractional.

THE ASSASSIN IS ARRESTED!

He Is Thought to Be an Over Patriotic Young Man With Misguided Feelings.

SHIMONOSEKI, March 24.—As Li Hung MAY BE A CASTLE IN SPAIN Chang, the Chinese peace envoy, was re-turning to his lodgings in this place today, after having attended a conference with Count Ito and Viscount Mutsu, the Japanese peace plenipotentiaries, a young Japanese fired a pistol at him. The bullet sped straight, but most fortunately did no more harm than to inflict a wound in Li Hung Chang's face. At the time of sending this dispatch it is impossible to learn whether or not the wound is serious.

The attempt to assassinate the representative of the Emperor of China has caused the most intense excitement, and on every side there were expressions of deep regret The would-be murderer was arrested. It is believed that he was prompted to the crime by misguided patriotism.

THE NEWS IN WASHINGTON. Belief That the Japanese May Lose by the Deed.

WASHINGTON, March 24.—The news of the assault on Li Hung Chang caused a sensation in diplomatic circles in this city. The opinion here is that Japan will suffer greatly as a consequence of the assault, and that the position of China will be so strengthened that she may be able to suc ceed on better terms than she could otherwise have secured. The incident may lead to the breaking off of peace negotiations, or at least may postpone further action in this direction until the Japanese have guaranteed the safety of China's envoys.

that there will be found in San Francisco a landowner with philanthropic motives strong enough for the Univerity to secure the land for nothing and use the $250,000 for building purposes alone.

The present scattered condition and wholly inadequate quarters of the departments of law, veterinary, medicine, dentistry and pharmacy show the strong need for a new building, and it is upon this account that the regency is rejoicing.

Japanese Losses to Date.

YOKOHAMA, March 24.-It is stated that on Thursday last the Japanese occupied Fisher Island, one of the Pescadore group. Sailors were landed on the coast, and these were followed by troops. The Chinese made no opposition. The papers say here that Japan has purchased two warships from Chile. An official return that has just been issued shows that the total Japanese loss during the entire campaign has been only 1654 men killed.

The Japanese Identified. LONDON, March 24 .- A dispatch states that the name of the would-be assassin is Koyama. He is 21 years of age. Count Ito, president of the Japanese Council of Ministers and one of the peace Commissioners, has visited Li Hung Chang and expressed to him his sympathy and regret.

DESERTED BY HER HUSBAND

SHE IS NOW SICK AND HELPLESS, FAR FROM HOME AND KINDRED.

Mrs. Emily Sharpe, the deserted wife of Charles Sharpe, citizen of the world, lies sick unto death in a stuffy little room at the American Exchange Hotel on Sansome street. Mrs. Sharpe is a delicate little English woman, 26 years of age, who is suffering from nervous prostration caused by a serious accident and illness two months ago at Forest Hill, and later on aggravated by the heartless desertion of her husband, who left her penniless in a cheap boarding-house at Sacramento three weeks ago. Sharpe took with him all the money that he and his wife possessed. He also took a diamond ring valued at $250 and other pieces of jewelry, heirlooms in Mrs. Sharpe's family, and told her that he would either return or let her know of his whereabouts within two days. He did neither.

and a half ago Charles Sharpe met her in London, where they were marrled about a year ago. He represented himself as a wealthy American and by his insinuating manners and address won the young woman's heart and hand. They came to America shortly after and visited Sharpe's mother in South Dakota. From there they came to Sacramento. The boasted wealth of Sharpe did not appear in evidence, for he soon found himself out of money. He then set himself the task of finding employment as a barber, but all his efforts in this direction seemed to fail. About two months ago Sharpe and his wife started for Forest Hill, Placer County, where Sharpe intended to open a barber-shop. They went by stage from Auburn to Forest Hill, and the roughness of the journey over the rough and hilly road caused the illness which brought Mrs. Sharpe to her present sad condition.

When the Board of Regents next meets it is more than probable that bids for architectural plans will be asked for. Then after the conference committee has completed its labors the best design may be accepted. After that if a site is donated the actual work will begin.

Meanwhile there is a chance for a broadminded man, with plenty of land, to disminded man, with plenty of land, to dis-building for the affiliated colleges of the California State University was signed last Saturday by the Governor, there was rejoicing among the Board of Regents of the University.

But now it appears there is a possibility that the appropriation may have been in vain and that the rejoicings are premature. The University has the money for the building, but not for a site. Unless it can secure a site without expenditure, its building must remain in the air, a splendid "castle in Spain." Here is the chance of the day for San Francisco landowners!

To this letter there was no signature, but Conductor Liese took charge of the child and brought it safely to Oakland, arriving at 10:15 o'clock yesterday morning. The conductor took the little one to his East Oakland home, where he and his wife cared for it with tenderness until the afternoon, when they started on the San Jose train for Warm Springs.

They found Mrs. Matlock, the mother, on the lookout for the child. She is a handsome woman of 24 years, and was overjoyed to see her babe, which she handly knew, as she had not seen it since it was three months of age, at which time California State University was signed last To this letter there was no signature

The provisions of the bill are elastic, but the sum of money is definite, and the regency now intends to do all it can to get the site for the proposed buildings, as central and as cheap as possible. As a matter of fact it is hoped by the regency board that there will be found in San Francisco voluntarily sent the babe back.

Conductor Liese said last night that he noticed a young man well dressed and of short stature get on the train at Fresno with a child. The man took a rear seat in a coach and after the train got under way he went to the door and jumped off, leaving the child and the letter above quoted. The conductor hardly knew what to do under the circumstances and at Collis he telegraphed Superintendent Wilder for intelegraphed Superintendent Wilder for in-structions. He was ordered to bring the baby to Oakland. Conductor Liese said that the babe did not want to go to the mother at first, preferring to remain with himself and wife, to whom he had taken a great liking.

Miss Clara Burgan, a young lady whose home is at Fresno and who arrived in this city yesterday, witnessed the abandonment of the little girl and saw the men who had her in charge. Miss Burgan gave the following account of the affair last night: analous for the establishment of a consolidated college for the State University.

With the completion of the appropriation bill comes first to the Board of Regents the fact that as a lump sum the $250,000 is insufficient. There are so many gents the fact that as a lump sum the $250,000 is insufficient. There are so many needs and there is proportionately so little money that it is generally admitted by members of the board that the land must be obtained as a gift if the intent of the appropriation is to be made available at all.

So far the regency has before it but one general architectural plan. That is definite only through the needs of the several branches of the college that are now inadequately housed.

Judge Charles W. Slack, who has given much time and attention to the bill for the last three years, said yesterday:

That the bill has passed ought to be a source of self-congratulation to every member of any profession in the State. Its appropriation is not so large as the necessity demands, but it is not so large as the necessity demands, but it is not so large as the necessity demands, but it is most ordered, in the window. This done, and just as the rescue with a donation of the land. For the building the amount given by the State could be made sufficient.

There have been no architectural plans considered, for the reason that no one was sure that the expenses therefor would be met by legislative appropriation. The architectural plans considered, for the reason that no one was sure that the expenses therefor would be met by legislative appropriation. The architectural plane to not so large and a bundle of clothing. He acted rather strangely and I went into one of the cars. Just before the train arrived from the sound saw the young man with the little girl on a seat at the rear end of the car. He was in the act of placing a note in the window. This done, and just as the train was starting away, he quickly left car and was seen no more. The baby was poorly dressed and looked as if it had been needs of the architectural plans considered, for the reason that no one was sure that the expenses therefor would be met by legislative appropriation.

Deserting the Home. The great misfortune of the day is that of most of the members of the Board of Regents.

A general auditorium with dependent wings will, I think, meet the requirements. The schools of medicine, pharmacy, dentistry and veterinary work need adjacent laboratories to give the students proper facilities for the best work. I am inclined to believe that such a plan will be, generally speaking, the basis of the accepted design.

It is often necessary that the different schools require, one from the other, the use of instruments or books. The plan that would make this scientific borrowing possible should, I think, be the one the board, will adopt. Proper equipment is the strong necessity, and the money appropriated, large as the amount may seem to many, is barely adequate for such equipment, much less sufficient for land and buildings.

The whole theory is one of the consolidation or rather concentration of work and the workers. It is to the future that the State University of California must look. Native ability without housing or equipment may easily fail; with reasonable encouragement nothing is possible less than success. There should be certainly sufficient honest philanthropy in the city to prevent the failure of the appropriate and sufficient establishment of the State University.

A S. Hellidie another member of the both men and women are deserting the home. Woman is clamoring for the privilege to join man in going away from home. Of General Carr, who has just died in New York State, they used to tell an amusing story about Troy, his old home. Carr left Troy to go to the war in command of the Second Regiment. The story is that the first engagement the young colonel figured in was at Big Bethel. His regiment had halted for rest and refreshment in a pleasant dale. They had not then tasted war. It happened that the rebels were in ambush in the immediate neighborhood of the resting-place of the brave Trojans, and from a safe hiding-place opened fire upon them. Carr instantly put spurs to his horse and rode up to a group of officers. Excitement and bewilderment were apparent upon his handsome face as he approached the party.
