

MONDAY, APRIL 1, 1895

JUST ABOUT THE WEATHER.

The individual here depicted moving gingerly down the street with feet wide spread is shrewdly watching for the usual April Fool hat filled with bricks which had boys always placed on the sidewalk with malicious people to throw at him.

LOCAL NEWS IN BRIEF.

Remenyi will play at Berkeley to-night. The spring term of the public schools to-day. The Olympic nine defeated the Santa Clara nine yesterday.

BARBERS IN A JOYFUL MOOD.

THEY ARE ELATED OVER THE NEW LAW COMPELLING SUNDAY CLOSING.

A RATIFICATION MEETING.

ADDRESSES MADE BY C. M. SHORT- RIDGE, ASSEMBLYMAN DINKEL- SPIEL AND OTHERS.

There was a large representative gathering of local barbers—members of the Barbers' Association and of the Protective Union—at Foresters' Hall, 102 O'Farrell street, yesterday afternoon.

and always obeyed them. But if a law is honest and good, and the constitution would not permit it, then make a new constitution or amend the old one.

In conclusion, the speaker advocated the new law because it afforded some rest and recreation and gave men a chance to go to the hills and byways, and to the seashore, to the mountain tops, and after a week of toil, enjoy the luxury of commingling with sweet nature robed in her fairest charms.

Assemblyman W. G. H. Dinkelspiel was next introduced, but owing to hoarseness could not make a long speech. His remarks were to the point, and were applauded. He had upheld the barbers' measure in the Legislature because it was a matter of right and justice.

There was a large representative gathering of local barbers—members of the Barbers' Association and of the Protective Union—at Foresters' Hall, 102 O'Farrell street, yesterday afternoon.

IT MAY NEVER BECOME A LAW.

THE FAULTY BITUMINOUS ROCK ORDINANCE ADVERSELY CRITICIZED.

SUSPICION OF A MONOPOLY.

REMEDIES SUGGESTED FOR INCORPORATION IN AN AMENDED ORDER.

The faulty and suspicious bituminous rock ordinance which is to be voted on this afternoon by the Board of Supervisors has met with so much adverse criticism that there is every probability it will never become a law.

The belief that it is a scheme to foist a monopoly on the citizens of San Francisco through a poor subterfuge has spread beyond the city.

and European cities, which method saves the rock from contamination of deleterious matter that blows about the streets in quantities sufficiently large to materially affect the composition of the substance.

SIMON WANTS HIS MONEY.

He Will Sue Attorney Davis to Recover It. Simon Davis, a musician employed at the Tivoli, will to-day bring suit against Attorney H. H. Davis to recover the sum of $325.

A QUAIN CHURCH EDIFICE.

THE SWEDENBORGIAN SOCIETY'S NEW SABBATH HOME ON LYON STREET.

PICTURESQUE FEATURES OF NON-WE- GIAN LIFE TRANSLATED HERE.

Pastor Joseph Worcester of the new Swedenborgian Church, at the corner of Lyon and Washington streets, preached yesterday morning the second sermon which has been delivered in that edifice since its dedication.

ASSEMBLYMAN H. G. W. DINKELSPIEL ADDRESSING THE BARBERS' MEETING.

The following telegram was read: Charles M. Shortridge: Congratulate the boys on our success. W. S. COSBROVE, President of the San Jose Barbers' League.

Gus Hartmann then spoke regarding the fight in the Legislature for the bill in which he participated. He praised Mr. Dinkelspiel's efforts.

E. P. Roach said that now everything rested with the future and he hoped that the barbers would continue to follow up the work of improving their craft.

President Seppich of the Protective Union also spoke and asked the barbers to contribute liberally toward the organization now that it was on the road to success.

After the chairman had called attention to the barbers' hall, which takes place at P'nal B'ith Hall on April 18, the meeting adjourned.

the objects, the lack of which has been agitating our craft for years. Through the earnest and eager work of sympathizers, combined with our own efforts, we have been enabled to pass through the Legislature a bill giving the barbers of San Francisco and of the State a half-day's rest in the week.

While it might be claimed, he went on, that men could agree to stand by each other and close their shops on a Sunday, the fact remains that some sort of a prohibitory law is necessary.

The barbers had gone to the Legislature and asked for a law that they ask for a law to do anything which is proper and right. The cause could not be carried out individually.

A half day out of seven was little enough as a holiday, and the only fault with the law as passed was that it did not allow barbers more time. They are professional men, and must be successful in their business.

Referring again to the recently passed law Mr. Shortridge said that the barbers should resolve in favor of a new law, and that is the closing of shops at 3 o'clock at night. [Applause.]

Reverting to the allegations of unconstitutionality of the closing law, Mr. Shortridge referred to an interview with Governor Budd regarding the bill.

Langley's Directory has 2594 more names than the opposition. Out Monday.

ter, implies a surprising ignorance of the composition of bituminous rock. Without such foreign matter it would not be "rock," as, indeed, no bitumen is found absolutely pure in nature.

All bitumen and other asphaltic products in their natural state carry a very small proportion of non-bituminous matter, such as coarse sand, pebbles, earthy matter, lime and mica, or iron in some form; but the percentage is usually so small as to have no injurious effect upon the material for paving purposes.

The pastor took for his text yesterday morning the account of Jacob's dream, contained in Genesis xxviii. In ancient times, he said, instruction concerning future events and lessons of heavenly wisdom were given from heaven frequently by means of dreams.

The Street Superintendent, or the Street Committee of the Board of Supervisors, could test the concrete and bitumen after being laid. Let authority be given to take up a piece of the pavement for a sample and subject it to proper scientific tests as to strength of its concrete foundation and the thickness of bituminous rock in the covering.

Another thing which this proposed ordinance does not demand is compression of pavements to secure a good surface and solid body of bituminous rock. What the Board of Supervisors might do in this regard is to require the specifications to compel rolling with heavy rollers at least two tons in weight, as in the old ordinance.

It is absurd to presume that San Francisco cannot do as other cities do in the matter of laying bituminous rock upon the streets. But here is a city ordinance requiring that bitumen must be heated on the street instead of in a yard for that purpose.

It is a common sight to see children gathered around the big steam engines, where they are attracted by the machinery in motion. The little ones cannot appreciate the frightful consequences of an explosion of boilers or bursting of steam pipes. That danger is always imminent from these causes cannot be denied.

John Baltz, a race-track man, whose headquarters are in the Chronicle building, met with an experience yesterday morning which he says will long be remembered by him.

Mr. Baltz attended the American Band dance Saturday night, and when the hours grew small, escorted a lady friend home.

The lady resides on Polk street, and the nearest and most convenient route to return, when cars have ceased running, is by Fulton street.

Mr. Baltz says that his intention was to go to Thomas Nolan's place, opposite the City Hall, but when within half a block and in front of 31 Fulton street he was alarmed to see two men running swiftly across the street toward him.

He grasped the situation at once and started on a run. He was fleetier than his pursuers and gained Larkin street and ran into the arms of John L. Wichmann, an old-time policeman, but who now conducts the City Hall Louvre.

Mr. Wichmann, with the instinct of his training and experience, whipped out a big six-shooter and started after the high-wayman. They could, or at least one of them could, be seen running up Fulton street. Wichmann ran after them as far as Van Ness avenue, when one of them, the taller of the two, ran into the yard at the corner. He followed and fired one shot at the robber, but he escaped into the open street.

Mr. Wichmann said yesterday that he did not know exactly how he got mixed up in the matter, but having a revolver handy and being in a courageous mood he just thought he would land one of these would-be murderers.

The taller man of the two is described as wearing a light overcoat, very long, a light mustache and carrying a heavy black cane.

Mr. Wichmann, whose place of business is at 115 Larkin street, says that such an occurrence in that quiet neighborhood was a shock to him, but that the excitement of his chase did him lots of good.

"Oh, we all police officers up here, all had proper fire arms, but I was not against," said Mr. Wichmann yesterday evening. "The little experience I had this morning is nothing compared with the idea of a possibility of landing one of these fellows and finding out the whereabouts of the Stag murderers or one in any way connected with the numerous atrocious crimes recently reported."

"I was pleased this morning to have Mr. Baltz run into me, but I would be a much happier fellow to-night could I have that fellow in the light coat as he was crawling over the fence."

"I got tangled up in a clothesline and tumbled up in a couple of ash-barrels, but I don't think I was the trouble that the fellow did it was after."

IN THE SIVA DOW OF THE CITY HALL.

FOOTPADS WAYLAY A CITIZEN ON FULTON STREET AT AN EARLY HOUR.

AN OLD OFFICER VIGILENT.

PURSUED OVER FENCES AND DITCHES THE DESPERADO AT LAST ESCAPES.

John Baltz, a race-track man, whose headquarters are in the Chronicle building, met with an experience yesterday morning which he says will long be remembered by him.

Mr. Baltz attended the American Band dance Saturday night, and when the hours grew small, escorted a lady friend home.

The lady resides on Polk street, and the nearest and most convenient route to return, when cars have ceased running, is by Fulton street.

Mr. Baltz says that his intention was to go to Thomas Nolan's place, opposite the City Hall, but when within half a block and in front of 31 Fulton street he was alarmed to see two men running swiftly across the street toward him.

He grasped the situation at once and started on a run. He was fleetier than his pursuers and gained Larkin street and ran into the arms of John L. Wichmann, an old-time policeman, but who now conducts the City Hall Louvre.

Mr. Wichmann, with the instinct of his training and experience, whipped out a big six-shooter and started after the high-wayman. They could, or at least one of them could, be seen running up Fulton street. Wichmann ran after them as far as Van Ness avenue, when one of them, the taller of the two, ran into the yard at the corner. He followed and fired one shot at the robber, but he escaped into the open street.

Mr. Wichmann said yesterday that he did not know exactly how he got mixed up in the matter, but having a revolver handy and being in a courageous mood he just thought he would land one of these would-be murderers.

The taller man of the two is described as wearing a light overcoat, very long, a light mustache and carrying a heavy black cane.

Mr. Wichmann, whose place of business is at 115 Larkin street, says that such an occurrence in that quiet neighborhood was a shock to him, but that the excitement of his chase did him lots of good.

"Oh, we all police officers up here, all had proper fire arms, but I was not against," said Mr. Wichmann yesterday evening. "The little experience I had this morning is nothing compared with the idea of a possibility of landing one of these fellows and finding out the whereabouts of the Stag murderers or one in any way connected with the numerous atrocious crimes recently reported."

"I was pleased this morning to have Mr. Baltz run into me, but I would be a much happier fellow to-night could I have that fellow in the light coat as he was crawling over the fence."

"I got tangled up in a clothesline and tumbled up in a couple of ash-barrels, but I don't think I was the trouble that the fellow did it was after."

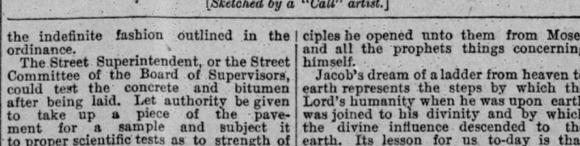

THE WEEK'S PLAYS. New and Old Productions at the Local Theaters.

"The Girl I Left Behind Me" opens at the California to-night. The present production is said to be far better than when the play was so successfully presented at the Baldwin a few years ago.

Paris, a young nobleman..... Walter Hodges Capulet..... H. A. Barros Romeo..... George C. Ryan Mercutio, friend of Romeo..... Charles Thornton Beatrice, nephew to Capulet..... George C. Ryan Friar Laurence..... Henry St. Maur Juliet, daughter of Capulet..... Miss Marie Bathsheba, servant to Romeo..... Eleanor Percy Peter, servant to Juliet's nurse..... Miss Kate Lester Nurse to Juliet..... Miss Kate Lester Juliet's daughter..... Miss Marie Bathsheba, servant to Romeo..... Eleanor Percy Citizens of Verona, kinfolk of both houses, maskers, guards and attendants.

"P'nfano" opens its second week at the Tivoli to-night. "At the Alcazar the effective burlesque "Electrics" opens.

The Orpheum has a number of new Eastern attractions, and the Wigwam puts on the burlesque "The Queen of Castile." The melodrama "Hands Across the Sea" opens at Morosco's Grand Opera house to-night.

THE NEW SWEDENBORGIAN CHURCH ON THE CORNER OF WASHINGTON AND LYON STREETS.

MOROSCO'S GRAND OPERA-HOUSE. THE Grandest Family Theater in America. WALTER MOROSCO, Sole Lessee and Manager. THIS EVENING AT 8, AN ELABORATE PRODUCTION OF Henry Fetti's Greatest Success, "HANDS ACROSS THE SEA!"

H. M. S. PINAFORE! Special Matinee Saturday, April 6. Monday, April 8—BOHEMIAN GIRL. Next Opera—LITTLE ROBINSON CRUSOE. Popular Prices—25c and 50c.

CALIFORNIA THEATER AL HAYMAN & Co. (Incorporated).....Proprietors. TO-NIGHT AND ALL THIS WEEK (INCLUDING SUNDAY), MATINEE SATURDAY. THE POPULAR AMERICAN DRAMA, "THE GIRL I LEFT BEHIND ME"

ALCAZAR THEATER O'Farrell at bet. Stockton and Powell. R. H. HAZEL.....Lessee. COMMENCING MONDAY, APRIL 1, ONLY MATINEE SATURDAY. AN Up-to-date Burlesque, "ELECTRICAL!"

CIRCUS ROYAL And Venetian Water Carnival. Corner Eddy and Mason streets. CLIFF PHILLIPS.....Proprietor and Manager. GRAND ESTABLISHMENT ENTERPRISE IN AMERICA

MACDONOUGH THEATER (OAKLAND). 2 Nights, Beginning TO-NIGHT, SEVEN SERFS GOOD HARMES. THE FENCING-MASTER. Special Scenery—60 Artists—Augmented Orchestra.

RUNNING RACES! CALIFORNIA JOCKEY CLUB RACES, WINTER MEETING, BAY DISTRICT TRACK, COMMENCING SATURDAY, OCT. 27, 1894. Races Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday—Rain or Shine.

FOR SALE Horse Goods And Wagons, AGRICULTURAL IMPLEMENTS, ETC. 1 Passenger Wagon, platform springs, seats 14 besides driver; in good order and a fine wagon for a summer resort.

SOUTHERN FARM, Box 144, San Leandro, Cal. The Original & Genuine LEA & PERRINS SAUCE. Imparts the delicious taste and zest to Hot & Cold Meats.

BEWARE OF IMITATIONS. Take None but Lea & Perrins. Signature on every bottle of original & genuine John Duncan's Sons, New York.