Death of a Famous Puyallup Chief—Eastern Editors Entertained at Tacoma.

FRESNO, CAL., May 28.—The discovery that Fresno's jail now holds a scion of noble blood was made this afternoon by Professor W. S. Sanders, the famous forger now in jail here. Yesterday afternoon John McAllister was convicted on the charge of having stolen a watch and some clothing from a farm house in the southern part of this county. This morning he was taken before Judge Risley of the Superior Court to receive sentence. When asked if he had anything to say, McAllister electrified the Judge, lawyers and spectators by making a most eloquent plea for mercy. The speech was one of the best ever heard in the courtroom here. Judge Risley was much affected, and fixed the term of imprisonment at one year, the shortest time allowed by law. McAllister is a young man of fine presence and shows considerable culture. When he was taken back to jail Professor Sanders, who is waiting here the result of an appeal to the Supreme Court from his sentence of fifteen years' imprisonment, questioned the young Englishman, who finally admitted that he is the son of an English nobleman. He would not give his true name for fear that his parents would hear of his disgrace. He has been in this country about six years. For some time he superintended a ranch in the southern part of county, but finally was discharged.

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, CAL., May 28.—

The gayety of commencement week reached its climax to-night in the promenade on the quadrangle. Tourists who have been impressed with the long sweep of Moorish arches and the simple walls of stone should have seen the arcades to-night in their carnival garb, illuminated with vari-colored electric gloves, ornamented with flowers, evergreens and bunting, enlivened by the gay costumes of the ladies, resounding with music and merriment, and the entire scene softened by the crescent moonlight. It was a splendid, impressive spectacle. Nature and art conspired to produce an almost unparalleled effect. The promenades at Yale, Harvard and Pennsylvania are all that wealth can make them and are deservedly famous in the social and collegiate sphere of the East, but it is safe to say that no institution in the land is so favorably situated in regard to buildings and their adaptability for such purposes as Stanford University. The affair, unique and original in every detail, could not be surpassed anywhere.

The hospitalities of the evening devolved upon the several sororities and girls' societies. The different organizations occupied as many sections of the quadrangle, which they transformed into veritable bowers of beauty, lavishly employing evergreens, bunting, flowers, lounges, draperies and every conceivable contrivance which would contribute to the charm of the entertainment.

The ladies received and entertained royally. The first section was occupied by Kappa Kappa Gamma. The sorority colors, light and dark blue, predominated in the decorations. The patronesses were: Mrs. Sanford, Mrs. Richardson, Mrs. Smith and Mrs. Holburn. Hostesses—Misses Lucy Allabach, Winifred Caldwell, Harriet S. Fyfe, Kate L. Nash, Mabel Packard, Henrietta L. Stadtmuller, Minnie B. Yoder, Martha E. Hagen, Marie L. Pitcher, Lenora Schoback, Winifred Webb, Margaret Deming, Elsie Hume, Edith M. Jordan, Dora E. Moody, Edith L. Hill, Helen P. Vineyard and Ada Edwards.

The Comitium. Patronesses—Mrs. Baker, Mrs. Wight, Mrs. Lenox, Miss Thompson and Mrs. Field. The hostesses were: Misses Maud Jones, Lottie and Laura Stephens, Grace Davis, Jane and Kate Herrick, Marylyn Main, Miriam MacLaren, Alice Hays, Edith Straight, Lucy Brim and Olive Williams.

Chi Delta, pink and gray. Patronesses—Mrs. Murray, Mrs. Gifford and Mrs. Cushman. The hostesses were Marion F. Dole, Margaret Foster, Evelyn Briggs, Agnes Bell, Florence Cushman, Louise Culver, Lillian Watson, Stella Ross, Agnes Ferguson, Zaidee Brown, May Critchlow, Lou Henry and Victoria Bateman.

Pi Beta Phi, wine and blue. Patronesses—Mrs. Pease, Mrs. Stillman and Mrs. L'hort. The hostesses were Lucia Lay, Mary Osborne, Louise Amesbury, Laura Trumbo, Nettie Woodburn, Alice Cragin, Mabel Lowe, Anna Weaver, Jennie Peery, Sue Hour, Helen Williams, Helen Webster, Dorothy L'hort and Grace Williams.

The programme of the evening embraced seven promenades in double numbers, the music being furnished by the American Concert band of San Francisco. The opening number of the first programme was the "Stanford University March," written by A. G. Kaufman '96, and dedicated to the class of '95. Critics pronounce the composition a success. It is written for two-step music, and was played three times at the senior hop on Monday night. For the second number of the first promenade the orchestra played the overture from "William Tell," introducing the storm scene.

The subsequent numbers were illustrated by means of stereopticon views thrown upon an immense canvas stretched across the west tower. "The Darkies' Frolics," and the great descriptive battle piece, "Death of Custer," the numbers of the second promenade, were effectively illustrated upon the canvas, and elicited enthusiastic applause. Selections from "Robin Hood" and a medley of popular airs were followed by the grand overture from "Tannhauser" and Donigan's composition, "Remembrance of the Midway," the latter illustrated by familiar scenes from the Plaisance.

For the fifth promenade the orchestra played the "American Patrol" and Saint-Saens' "La Danse Macabre" (Dance of Death), illustrating the former with views of the Civil War. The intermezzo, "Cavalleria Rusticana," first number of the sixth promenade, was followed by the "Stanford Medley," the feature of the evening, a series of campus scenes, prominent students and university characters. The performance aroused every spark of enthusiasm in the student body audience. The views of different buildings were accompanied by the entire audience singing "Hail, Stanford, Hail!"

The picture of the first football team came next, followed by pictures of different players. The appearance of the athletic heroes upon the canvas was greeted with prolonged cheering, and the singing of familiar football songs.

Clemans, captain of the team in 1892, descended the distinction of being the first to appear. He was instrumental in developing Stanford's football material, and contributed largely to Stanford's unbroken supremacy on the oval. Clemans graduated in 1893, and is accounted the greatest halfback on the coast.

Paul Downing, captain in 1894, came next. He has played on the 'Varsity four years, and in as many different positions, as guard, half-back, center and tackle.

Hazzard and Harrelson, the best center-sweep and the little quarter-back, known as Big Bill and Little Bill, were received with laughter and applause. Both men played in the '94 team.

SACRAMENTO, CAL., May 28.—Labor Commissioner Fitzgerald called upon Governor Budd this afternoon and presented a report calling the Governor's attention to the overlapping of the work of the various State committees, whereby they unnecessarily duplicate much of the labor and cause unnecessary expense to the State. Among other things the report says:

All commissions are required to furnish statistical reports, the work must necessarily be duplicated, contradictory, overlapping and duplicated, involving an extra expense upon the State for printing in tabulated and other forms the result of the year's work taken at haphazard, and not confined to the absolute territory of the commission, which should handle a particular object and furnish to other commissions the data which might be required and more properly belongs to them.

The report suggests that the executive committee issue a call to all chiefs of bureaus and organize a board of supervisors of statistics, to meet monthly, who should have general supervision of the collection of statistics. Any department contemplating an investigation of any particular subject should first report the same to the board, which would then determine to what department the work should be assigned. Upon presentation to the board of the completed work it should be simplified and abridged, and any matters germane to the work of some other department should be given over to the department to which it belongs.

Commissioner Fitzgerald informed the Governor also that 250 destitute people were living on "the dumps" at the foot of seventh street, San Francisco. They had until recently eked out a miserable existence by gathering bones, scrap iron, tin and other junk and selling it. But even this scanty means of gaining a livelihood has been taken away by the keeper of the dumps, who has let out the privilege of junk gathering to Italian scavengers. The wretched people who are living in the dumps house themselves in old gas mains, water-pipes and in huts made of mats.

Mr. Fitzgerald informed an Associated Press reporter this morning that he understood that Horticultural Commissioner Hatch and more than one member of other commissions were the employers of hundreds of Japanese and Chinese. He proposed to look into the matter and to offer to supply all the white labor wanted as soon as he establishes a free employment and registration bureau next week. He will be able to supply vineyardists, orchardists and others with gangs of men from two up to 1000.

The Labor Commissioner informed the Governor that there are at present not less than 12,000 unemployed men in San Francisco.

SHOT BY FOLSOM GUARDS.

An Attempt of Ex-Convicts to "Plant" Opium Ends Disastrously.

SACRAMENTO, CAL., May 28.—Two convicts, one of whom is named Woods and the other Duff, were discharged from the Folsom prison last Saturday and started toward this city. The prison officials suspected that the men would return and attempt to secrete opium somewhere on the prison grounds, where other convicts might get it, so the discharged men were watched.

Just as expected, they returned Sunday night and gained entry to the prison grounds. When within the reservation they were fired on by some of the guards, and this morning a trail of blood was found leading from the spot where they were when shot at. The officers think the wounded man will show up at some town or village to have his wound treated.

SANTA BARBARA BLAZE.

Albert Clark's Enterprise Laundry Wiped Out by a Conflagration.

The Proprietor Receives Serious Burns—A Fishing-Sloop Wrecked on the Beach.

SANTA BARBARA, CAL., May 28.—Albert Clark's Enterprise laundry, near the corner of Gutierrez and Rancier streets, burned down at 3 o'clock this afternoon, with all contents, including a large amount of clothing belonging to Santa Barbara citizens. The fire was caused by the explosion of a can of gasoline being poured into an empty stove in the ironing-room, in close proximity to one in which there was a fire.

All the employes escaped without injury, with the exception of Mr. Clark, who was filling the stove, and was badly burned about the wrists, and possibly inhaled the flames. When he dashed from the burning building he was wrapped in flames. His life was saved only by his own coolness and the brave efforts of Ernest Golland, who succeeded in smothering the flames with woolen garments.

The loss is estimated at about $1000, with no insurance.

By a curious coincidence, Mr. Rose of the San Francisco Fire Alarm Company was consulting with Mr. Woodbridge, late superintendent of the telephone service here, concerning the introduction of the fire-alarm service in Santa Barbara at the time the alarm sounded.

Rumored Employment of Celestials to Be Investigated by the Labor Commissioner.

HAPPENINGS AT SAN JOSE.

St. Clair, the Slayer of Mate Fitzgerald, Again Reprieved.

Heavy Shipments of Cherries to the East—Two Decisions Involving Large Amounts.

SAN JOSE, CAL., May 28.—Thomas St. Clair, who was to be hanged at San Quentin Friday for the murder of Mate Fitzgerald of the bark Hesper, has again been granted a reprieve. To-day he was to have been taken to San Quentin, and two United States marshals, the Harrises, had him on the train for San Francisco when they were notified that he had been reprieved.

The two deputy marshals arrived from San Francisco this morning and started to return on the 11 o'clock train with St. Clair. A few minutes after they left, Sheriff Lyndon received a telephone message from Marshal Baldwin to hold the prisoner, as he had been reprieved. Sheriff Lyndon rushed to the depot, but the train was pulling out, and he caught the last coach. St. Clair was taken from the train at College Park and brought back on the 12-40 train.

A telegram was received this afternoon stating that St. Clair was reprieved until October 18. The death watch has been removed, and St. Clair has been placed back in his old cell.

When St. Clair heard the news he was so overcome with joy that he could not speak. This is the fourth time he has been reprieved, but never before had the day of execution been so close at hand.

SAN JOSE, CAL., May 28.—Judge Reynolds to-day rendered judgment for plaintiff in the case of Margaret Ogier et al. vs. Joseph Enright et al. for $12,526.26 principal, $37.50 costs and $500 attorney's fee.

In the suit of Margaret Ogier et al. vs. W. Farrington et al. judgment was given plaintiff for $2391.87 principal, $18.15 costs and $2000 attorney's fees.

INCREASE OF SHIPMENTS.

Seventeen Carloads of Cherries Sent to Eastern Markets.

SAN JOSE, CAL., May 28.—The overland shipments for the past week footed up 1,077,880 pounds, against 764,540 pounds during the corresponding week in 1894, an increase of 313,340 pounds. The cherry shipments commenced last week, seventeen cars, or 421,555 pounds, going East. This is a big increase over the same week in previous years. During the week ending May 26, 1894, but one car was shipped; in 1893 the first cherry shipments were made during the first week of June, and in the last week in May, 1892, three cars were shipped.

The cherry crop this year is about ten days ahead of the past three seasons, and a few warm days will cause the shipments to increase to five or six cars per day. Careful estimates place this season's crop at not to exceed 60 per cent of last year's crop. The cherry shipments last year amounted to 4,181,370 pounds, two weeks being lost on account of the strike. In 1893 the shipments were 2,279,205 pounds, while in 1892 they amounted to less than 1,000,000 pounds.

CAJON PASS TRAGEDY.

Joseph Calmont's Bones Found in the Embers of His Cabin.

HE HAD BEEN CREMATED.

It is Thought the Unfortunate Was the Victim of a Murderer.

HELD A LIFE IN HIS HANDS.

Calmont Had Taken the Ante-Mortem Statement of the Man Slain by Will Taber.

SAN BERNARDINO, CAL., May 28.—The bones of Joseph Calmont lie among the embers of his cabin in Cajon Canyon, eighteen miles north of here, the flesh burned from them and naught to explain the mystery of his death. It seems probable that he was the victim of a murderer.

Calmont was a Frenchman aged 62 years, a dissipated man who worked at odd jobs and spent all his money for liquor. He was missed from his customary haunts yesterday, and a neighbor going to his cabin on the edge of the mountains discovered the shack in ashes and the supposed bones of its occupant in the ashes. Calmont had talked of suicide Sunday, but it is beyond belief that he should have chosen self-cremation. A theory generally accepted is that he was murdered.

Calmont was the principal witness in a murder case soon to be tried in this city. In a quarrel about three months ago near Calmont's ranch Will Taber shot James Medlin, shattering the latter's arm with a charge from his shotgun. Medlin died a few hours later. Calmont watched by his side as Medlin's life slowly ebbed out and received from Medlin his ante-mortem statement. Calmont being oftentimes heavy with liquor his destruction and the burning of his cabin, which stood in a thicket a quarter of a mile from any other habitation, were easy of accomplishment, with scarcely one chance in a thousand of detection.

Another theory is that of murder for money. Calmont had a homestead which he sold recently, receiving full payment in coin, the balance to be paid when the papers were perfected. If robbery were the primary and incendiarism and murder the secondary motive each would have been comparatively safe from observation.

Acting Coroner Soule, accompanied by the sheriff and District Attorney, went to the scene and held an inquest. The Coroner's jury returned a verdict of suicide. It happened that while the heart was cooked by the heat, its contour was not destroyed, and examination showed a bullet hole through it. Among the ruins was found the barrel of a rifle containing a cartridge which had been exploded. The jury accepted the theory that Calmont set fire to the cabin and then killed himself or that the powder set fire to his clothing, which communicated to the bedding and thence to the cabin.

Speaking to a CALL correspondent, one of the jurymen said that while he was morally satisfied that Calmont did not take his own life, no evidence developed to establish any other theory, and there was nothing left to do but bring in a verdict of suicide.

Dixon, private secretary to Mayor Carlson.

A Japanese Consulate at Tacoma.

TACOMA, WASH., May 28.—A letter received from Yokohama by the Chamber of Commerce here contains the information that a Japanese consulate will soon be established at Tacoma. An appropriation of $15,000 has been made by the Japanese Government for the purpose. The appointment of a consul is expected to be made in the immediate future. This will place Tacoma on an equal footing with San Francisco so far as diplomatic connection with Japan is concerned, as there is no other consulate on the coast north of San Francisco.

In a short time I could eat, drink and sleep well. My family were thankful for the medicine which had done me so much good. Since my recovery I do my house work without getting very tired. I call myself well, but continue to take Hood's Sarsaparilla and would not be without it." Mrs. CHARLES HICKLEY, 7 Blackmar street, Newark, New York.

The Santa Cruz Electric Railway, the terminus of which is at the bathhouses, is to be extended before the carnival to the mouth of the river. A force of men will soon be at work putting up wires and poles and laying the track. This will not only be a great convenience to the townspeople, but also to the residents of East Cliff, Alhambra and Seabright who may cross the river on the foot bridge and then take the cars for Santa Cruz.

The work on the beautiful arch to be erected at the corner of Laurel street and Pacific avenue was commenced to-day. It will be of redwood and the pillars are to represent this native tree, a large quantity of the bark being used.

The work on the dam is being pushed rapidly, and to-morrow morning the sacks which have been filled with sand will be placed in the river.

A force of men is at work at the Athletic Park at Vue de l'Eau making the track ready for the bicycle meet during the carnival. The following prizes have been arranged for the bicycle contests:

One mile—First prize, $20; second, $10.
One mile—First prize, $50; second, $35.
Two miles, class A—First prize, $50; second, $35; third, $20.
Two miles, class B—First prize, $125; second, $90; third, $25.

They will then receive a ticket, which will entitle them to the privileges of the river during the carnival, it being understood that they shall take no passengers for money.
