An Increasing Demand for Manufactured San Francisco Work.

HIGH-GRADE MACHINERY BUILT

New Electric Dynamos for the Dynamite Harbor Defense Guns Completed.

It may be known with great satisfaction that San Francisco is rapidly coming to the front as a manufacturing center and the work of her skilled artisans is being used far and near along the Pacific shores.

The San Francisco Bridge Company has just completed an important contract in connection with the Portland (Or.) water works. This was the manufacturing and the laying of pipes for the works.

The Horsely Gold Mining Company of Idaho has placed an order with Francis Smith & Co. for 250,000 30-inch steel pipes and other appliances to equip their mine in Cariboo, B. C., for hydraulic mining in an extensive scale.

POTRERO FOR ARC LIGHTS.

Four of Them to be Immediately Placed on Army Street.

Street Lamps Examined by Supervisor Hirsch—Needless Gas Lamps.

The Potrero is after electric lights and has received a promise of getting them. Supervisor Hirsch has been making an examination of the street-lighting now in vogue there and has recommended that by replacing a dozen or more of gas lamps with two good arc lights and abolishing nearly a half dozen more, which, being close to electric lights already, are useless, a great saving would be effected and much more satisfactory lighting given that part of the City.

Police Sergeant Bennett is particularly anxious that some kind of light be placed on Army street. This is a very important street now that it has been graded, as persons working at the Potrero and living in the Mission district choose that way when they desire to walk.

Four arc lights are to be immediately placed on this street at the following crossings, respectively: Pennsylvania avenue, Connecticut, Texas and Arkansas streets.

The unnecessary gas lamps at the Potrero are at Napa and Michigan, Napa near Louisiana and Louisiana, Louisiana near Shasta near Louisiana and Louisiana, the west side of Michigan and Shasta streets, one on the southwest corner of Michigan and Shasta streets, one on the Louisiana and Louisiana near Shasta near Louisiana and Louisiana, one on the north side of Sierra street, between Louisiana and Maryland, one on the north side of Butte street, between Kentucky and Illinois.
