

LOYAL SUBJECTS DANCE WITH QUEEN ANITA.

PICTURESQUE SCENE DURING THE REGATTA ON THE LAGOON.
[Sketched for "The Call" by Kahler.]

SANTA CRUZ, CAL., June 14.—The event of this day was not on the water. It was a function. The merry and beautiful young Queen gathered her people about her and gave the note to music and bade them dance. To be sure the water carnival went forward afternoon and night, according to an elaborate programme, but the event happened in the pavilion—the pavilion that was built in six days.

And that is another thing that sets a halo around the monumental respect that every visitor to the carnival must from this time cherish for Santa Cruz. Here, in an immense building that rose from its postholes to its weather-vane in six days, was presented to-night a fitting compliment to that never-to-be-forgotten picture under the stars on the San Lorenzo. A ballroom that might easily represent the artistic energy of months if the fact was not known that a sandlot here spread itself away to the water a few days ago, presented an interior of finished beauty and brilliant illumination, to say nothing of the goodly company in its ballroom finery.

The immense room is completely swathed in yellow and gold. From the center of the ceiling the carnival colors, in alternate wide stripes, fall down in even festoons, caught and held in place by an immense fishnet that spreads over the whole expanse. From the center of the building, too, hang festoons of incandescent lamps, extending the length of the building, caught up, however, at frequent intervals. Arc lights are swung from the ceiling, twenty-one of them making the hall quite as light as it would be with the roof off at midday under a cloudless sky.

At the further end of the room from the entrance has been built the Queen's throne—a raised dais, with gilded chair under an ample canopy of yellow satin ribbons—where swing another battery of incandescent lights and four colored Venetian lamps. Stations are fixed at the side of the Queen's chair for her immediate attendants, and in front is a broad area, also raised above the floor, for the seating of the guests of honor.

It is now 9:30 o'clock. Hastings' band has been entertaining a throng on the river and the illuminated floats are there, but alas, the Queen is not, and those who would be with her where she leads are here, here in great numbers. The lights are all ablaze and the guests on the floor and in the balcony are all on the tip-toe of expectancy. At last the doors swing open and a troop of flower girls enter with their frocks full of roses. In their yellow dresses they move down the white floor—it is a broad expanse of white canvas—over which they strew the roses in the path in which the Queen is to follow. She is coming in the splendor of her royal ball robe and with all her brilliant company, to the slow measure of a march. As they approach the center of the room all the electric lights are suddenly turned out and four calcium lights throw their color shafts full upon the company. As they move forward the color changes continually, making a very beautiful picture.

General Dimont conducted the Queen and led her up to her throne. The royal party took their places as indicated, and then the grand march took place, still under the changing colored calcium lights. It was all of that high order of spectacle in keeping in each of the carnival events.

Roncovieri was at his best, and started the ball with that spirit that only good music can. All through the evening the most picturesque effects were secured by the clever handling of the lights. All the fancy dances were carried through under the play of the four calciums. Credit for all of this, of course, due to the committees, and chiefly to Charles R. Tidball, who superintended the decorations. It was he also who did the same at Santa Barbara. Following are the committees:

Reception—Hon. J. P. Smith, G. Bowman, Mayor Robert E. Jeter, John R. Chace, William T. Jeter, James McNeil, F. Barson. Floor—Richard Thompson, director; H. A. Linscott, W. D. Haslam, Ralph M. Thompson, Dr. A. H. Bailey, J. R. Williamson, F. W. Ely, Frank Hoffman, W. A. McGuire, J. A. McGuire, Tully Ware, F. W. Swanton.

The order of dances was as follows:

Grand march, "Santa Cruz Carnival" (Respectfully dedicated to Mrs. J. Phillip Smith. Waltz, "España" (Waltz, "The Little Last Child" (Lancers, "United States Army" (Tobani Polka, two step, "Flower Festival" (Roncovieri Schottische, "Her Golden Hair Was Still Hanging Down Her Back" (Rosenthal Waltz, "The Sidewalks of New York" (Beyer Lancers, "University Song" (Moses Berlin, "The Poplar" (Mahood Waltz, "The Little Last Child" (Stern Schottische, "The Little Alabama Coon" (Mazurka, "La Czarina" (Ganna Lancers, "Sweetheart" (Laurandean Polka, two step, "Del Monte" (Roncovieri Waltz, "Sobre Las Olas" (Rossa Quadrille, "Opportunity" (Laurandean Polka, two step, "Washington Post" (Souza Waltz, "Santiago" (Corbin Waltz, "Unbeaten" (Laurandean Spanish dance, selected. (Waltz, "The Blue Room" (Arday Medley, "American Concert Band" (Waltz)

Of the notables among the guests were: General Dimond, General Warfield and Mayor Suro, of San Francisco; Lieutenant Stahl, in command of the Olympia, and all of his officers; Lieutenant Frank A. Brooks, adjutant commanding the Naval Battalion of California; James D. Phelan of San Francisco, General Chadbourne, Mr. and Mrs. Charley Fair, Mr. and Mrs. Nappenbush, Mr. and Mrs. H. Fisher, George P. Wetmore, W. H. Spaulding, R. M. Welch, Sanford Stoddard, H. P. Sonntag and party, Fred C. Crooke, C. W. Abey, Victor Duboce, Clement Bennett, George T. Bromley, John W. Bourdette, Howard Smith, John D. Sprackels, Carroll Cook, L. R. Lazalere and wife, Will E. Fisher and wife, Judge Conlan and wife, Frank Stone, David Ritz, William Banker, Dr. Cecil M. Dennis, Mr. Dunphy and family, W. J. Sullivan, George Seibe, W. S. Kinsey, Mrs. N. Wallace, Miss Addie Mahan, Mrs. Florence L. Walker and Miss Walker, Jackson Crooks and wife, Colonel Kowalsky, Miss Louise Burke, Miss Myra O'Brien, Mrs. Alex McBean, Mrs. S. F. Carwright, Miss Ivy French, Miss Beatrice Boston, Mrs. Sloper, T. H. Goodman, Colonel Andrews, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Smith, ex-Mayor Bowman and wife, Judge Logan and wife, ex-Mayor W. T. Jeter and wife, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Chace, Major and Mrs. F. McLaughlin, Mr. and Mrs. James McNeil, Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Ely, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Lindsay, Mr. and Mrs. A. Haslam, Dr. and Mrs. T. W. Drulliard, Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Swanton, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Lilly, Mr. and Mrs. R. Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Tedall, Mr. and Mrs. W. Schurz, Mr. and Mrs. William Vahlberg, Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Morton, Dr. and Mrs. C. W. Doyle, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Mattison, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Linscott, Mr. and Mrs. J. Coope, Mr. and Mrs. J. Dickinson, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Lamb, Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Van Clerk, Mr. and Mrs. J. Weber, Mr. and Mrs. Chayles Lysle, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Sullivan, Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Irish, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Linscott, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hihn, Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Kearney, Mr. and Mrs. F. Robinson, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Horsnyder, Mr. and Mrs. L. Hihn, Mr. and Mrs. R. Miller, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Wood, Miss Mabel Meade, Mr. and Mrs. J. Crooks, Mr. and Mrs. G. Staffer, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Kron, Dr. and Mrs. C. H. Bulson, Mr. and Mrs. T. V. Matthews, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Cunningham, Dr. Alex Bailey, Mayor Effe, Ed Derey, Harry Linscott, E. I. Crane, Harry Wanzer, James Williamson, William Williamson, Oscar Foster, William Maguire, John Maguire, Edward Evans, W. E. Miller, Dr.

Wier, H. T. Lillencrantz, Fred McPherson, Foster Young, Ralph Raymond, Z. Barnett, Milton Pray, Arthur Peyton, Everett Chace, Talbot Ware, Reuben Pringle, Clem Ward, J. E. Kidd, Charles Town, W. Stice, Ed Sharon, Mrs. Ernest Cotton, Mrs. A. A. Kaylor, Mrs. F. Staniford Gilroy, Mrs. Lucy U. McCann, Mrs. I. H. Raymond, Mrs. J. Lewis Gilroy, Mrs. J. D. Chace, Mrs. J. Williamson, Misses Marion Jewett, E. D. Chamore, Mary Jamison, Lillian Ray, Annie Sullivan, Mabel Sullivan, Minnie Sullivan, L. Wilbur, Blanche Terrill, Agnes Boston, Clara Gardner, Lydia Pirley, P. Makenny, Clara Hubbel, Lucy McCann, Bessie Haslam, Sadie Barson, Belle Nantz, Kattie Riddell, May Linscott, Jane Gallagher, Mabel Drennon, Edith Wilbur, Maud Jenkins, Grace Smith, Helen Barbier, Jennie Graham, Geneva Kelsey, Minnie Drulliard, George Skinner, Dora Drennon, Mabel Scott, Maud Scott, Annie Garnet, Eva Roff, Alice Farnham, Richard Thompson, John Halsted, J. L. Halsted Jr., R. M. Thompson, G. W. Hamner, G. M. Stolp, Harry Goodall, Varney W. Gaskill, W. H. Bryon, Miss Nellie Boyd, J. W. McElroy, R. R. Bridge, Will Ashe, W. E. Elliott, Mrs. Allie Curritt, J. G. Dinkelspiel, Mrs. J. B. Lewis, Mrs. F. A. Hihn, Mrs. F. W. Swanton, Miss Mabel Chace, Miss Nellie Gallagher, Miss Ivy French.

Queen Anita's gown of white and gold brocade was described yesterday. She looked altogether charming in it. It was cut en train, low corsage with belt of jewels, and the front of the skirt draped with jeweled lace. She wore on her breast the Catherine Parr jewels. Her mantel was royal purple velvet trimmed with gold and ermine. The Queen did not dance, but freely mingled with her people in the promenade.

As for the maids, Miss Josie Turcot wore white satin and pearl trimmings; Mrs. Mabel Chace, white silk, with white feathers in her hair; Miss Ethel Bert Morey wore Nile green, as did also Miss Hubbel; Miss Anna Linscott wore yellow silk; Miss Edith Pirley and Miss Hedwig Buss wore pale pink, with pink chiffon trimmings; Miss Beatrice Boston and Miss Nellie Nixon wore white silk; Miss Jennie Hughes wore baby-blue India silk, chiffon and bands of pearl trimming, with a blue feather in her hair. All the maids had their hair powdered.

Mrs. J. P. Smith was dressed in pink satin with black trimmings, corsage decollete, exquisitely trimmed with lace, a diamond necklace and diamonds in her hair.

Miss Agnes McLaughlin wore black velvet, corsage low, hair Grecian—a very striking costume.

Mrs. Jackson Crooks wore beaded white brocade satin en train, trimmed with silver and ostrich tips.

Mrs. Charlie Fair wore black satin with net overdress, skirt edged with pink roses, corsage low, with magnificent diamond necklace—a very elegant costume.

Mrs. John R. Chace wore white India silk, corsage elaborately trimmed with chiffon. Mrs. Fred Swanton wore a charming gown of white satin. Mrs. Judge Logan wore black silk with lace in jets. Mrs. Burke wore white silk, ornamented with carnation pinks. Mrs. F. A. Hihn wore white silk crepe. Mrs. Pearl Haslam wore yellow silk with pearl trimmings, made empire. Mrs. Dr. Horsnyder wore white brocade satin and Miss Maud Hoffman pale-blue silk.

The Naval Reserves have been having just a high old time on their outing with the Olympia. They are on shore to-night, with leave of absence until to-morrow morning at 7 o'clock. They came on shore this morning and with the regulars of the great warship formed a procession which marched through the city, led by the Queen's escort on horseback, the dazzling habiliments of the latter contrasting sharply with the somber uniforms of the men-of-war—men—a contrast as sharp as are customs of to-day with those of medieval times.

The procession was formed in two detachments, the regulars in their plain blue and carrying no arms marching in front and the reserves in full uniform and carrying guns bringing up the rear. It marched over the same ground as the others that have preceded and provoked as much enthusiasm along the line. The reserves are extremely well satisfied with their outing. Commander Stahl is in excellent humor with his men. In an interview to-night he said the men went aboard and took charge of the big warship on Wednesday night and sailed at noon Thursday. The men performed every duty of the voyage just as is required of the regulars. They made a perfectly successful run and dropped anchor here at 6:30 last night. The men behaved well for an initial outing. None of the men were even seasick.

Lieutenant Turner of Company D, Captain Douglas of Company C and Captain Dennis of Company B all speak in the same satisfied terms. As for the men they are too proud for anything.

"We were set at work cleaning brass, and kept the ship in trim all the way down," said one of them to-night. "None of us were seasick, although the ship rolled heavily much of the way, especially coming over the bar. This morning we were put through a drill on shipboard."

The Olympia is in charge of a detail from Company D, Lieutenant Turner, to-day and to-night. Thousands of people visited her during the day, and the owners of small boats coined money in carrying them out. The Dowager Queen and the maids of honor spent the afternoon on board.

The two divisions meet at San Jose and consolidate, the train reaching the city by the sea in time for the evening's entertainment to be witnessed by the members of the party.

In response to numerous requests received from Senator Burk and J. P. Smith, members of the executive committee, Brigadier-General R. H. Warfield and staff, consisting of Lieutenant-Colonel J. G. Giesting, Lieutenant-Colonel G. F. Hanson, the staff surgeon; Major Duboce, the staff inspector; Major F. F. Follis, the quartermaster; Major W. A. Halsted, the commissary; Major H. Hosmer, inspector of rifle practice; Major Charles E. Murphy, the staff engineer; Major C. H. Evans, signal officer; and Captain S. L. Naphthal, will all join the Half-million excursion and attend the carnival.

The military men make a striking appearance in their new dress uniforms, and they undoubtedly will cause quite a sensation upon their arrival in Santa Cruz.

The members of the Half-million Club will be given a reception by the executive committee of the fête upon their arrival, and General Warfield and staff will be entertained by General Dimond and staff, who will meet them in military style, in full uniform, at the depot.

The members of both parties will remain in Santa Cruz until the last event on the carnival programme is ended. The cars will remain on the side track near the depot, and be used as a hotel during their stay, as it is impossible to procure accommodations for so large a party with the city in its crowded condition.

SPORTS ON THE LAGOON.

Acquatic Contests That Cause Far More Amusement Than Excitement for the Spectators.

SANTA CRUZ, CAL., June 14.—The aquatic events on the lagoon during the afternoon were of an amusing rather than an exciting character, and the crowd assembled was kept in good humor by the tub, swimming and other contests. The American Concert band rendered fine music during the entire afternoon. Many decorated boats were on the river. Messrs. James O. Wanzer, T. A. Sweeney, Captain W. H. Gatrell and Charles P. Clark were the committee in charge of the exercises. Following are the winners in the various contests:

Double-scutt race, one mile—First prize, $25, Dutra brothers; second, gold medal, Washburn and Faraola.

Canoe race, one mile—First prize, $5, Frank Washburn; second, George King.

Swimming race, 100 yards—First prize, gold medal, Clyde Hawthorne; second, silver medal, Jesse Wood.

Swimming race, for boys under 15 years, 100 yards—First prize, $3, Guy Burroughs; second, $2, Orville Burroughs.

Tub race—First prize, $5, Charlie Washburn; second, $2 50, Orville Burroughs.

The single-scutt race and fisherman's race take place to-morrow afternoon, the former on the river and the latter on the bay.

The Union League and Half-million Club excursion train was delayed and did not arrive until after 10 o'clock. They arrived, however, in time to take part in the festivities of the night.

LUCK OF SPOKANE MEN.
Rich Yields of Gold in a Mine Thought to Be Valueless.
SPOKANE, WASH., June 14.—The War Eagle Mining Company has declared a dividend of $50,000, or 10 cents a share. This mine is situated in the Trail Creek district, north of Spokane. A year ago it was a prospect. The promoters had taken bonds on it and tried in vain to sell the property for $15,000.

Finally Patsy Clark formed a company of Spokane men, who divided the stock among themselves at 6 cents a share. They bonded the mine, did some development work and opened up a bonanza. The first month's ore shipments paid for the mine and all improvements. The present dividend is, therefore, clear profit on the investment. It represents three months' limited shipments over an almost impassable mountain road.

WON BY A PORTLAND BANK.
A Suit Growing Out of the Ainslee Lumber Company Failure.
PORTLAND, OR., June 14.—A verdict for the defense was rendered by a jury in the United States Circuit Court to-day in the suit of the Nevada Bank of San Francisco against the Portland National Bank and George W. Hazen, cashier, to recover $21,000 for alleged false representations concerning the credit of the Ainslee Lumber Company, which failed for a half million dollars in July, 1892.

The Nevada Bank claimed that through the representations of Hazen it loaned the Ainslee Lumber Company $21,000 only a few days before the failure. The Portland National Bank and other banks of this city were victimized by the Ainslee Lumber Company to the extent of $400,000.

Inquest at San Rafael.
SAN RAFAEL, CAL., June 14.—The inquest on Carl Gassmus, who was found floating at old Sausalito, was concluded this morning, the jury finding that he came to his death from poison taken with suicidal intent.

[For additional coast telegraph see Second Page.]

A VENETIAN GONDOLA AT SANTA CRUZ.
[Sketched by a "Call" artist.]