

THE BAY DISTRICT RACES.

Captain Rees Was Never in the Hunt With the Flying Installer.

THE SPEEDY FLY IN FRONT.

Fireman, the Brother to Torch-bearer, Took the Two-Year-Old Event Driving.

Niagara of Dick Ledgett's string pulled up bleeding slightly at the conclusion of the third race.

Fireman, Fly and Installer were the three successful favorites, the other two events going to outsiders.

Elrod, the newly arrived Lantonia jockey, rode his first mount on Charlie Boots, finishing a good third.

Billy Beverly, at one stage of the betting laid to the flying installer, but later on bet on him at a lower price.

The gelding Charlie Boots finished third in the two-year-old race to a colt owned by the man after whom he is named.

Florence C gave a fine exhibition of bronco bucking while at the post in the youngster race, unseating her rider once.

Monroe Johnson's good-looking El Rio Rely Billy Clara Johnson was well backed in the two-year-old event on the strength of a recent fast workout over five furlongs. She ran an excellent race.

J. B. Ferguson, the popular colored trainer of the newly arrived Westchester stable, was fortunate in landing his first bet in California. He backed Amigo, the 10 to 1 outsider that won the opening race, with no doubt considering this a lucky omen for the success of his string.

The Elmwood stock farm experienced a most successful day. Fireman and Installer both won their races and Remus was beaten out by a short distance in the third race. In his present form it is doubtful whether there is a horse quartered on the track capable of giving Installer a race at a mile.

The meeting of those two fast milers, Captain Rees and Installer, was the medium that attracted a very fair-sized crowd to the Bay District yesterday. They came together in the last race, but what was expected to be a horserace from beginning to end turned out to be a very tame affair. The Captain was chalked up an even money chance when the odds were posted, with the Elmwood stock farm representative a shade cheaper at 6 to 5, which later on was raised to 8 to 5. Then the money went in on him, and when the bell called the horses out it was the even-money favorite with 6 to 5 offered against Captain Rees. Of the other starters in the race Mr. Jingle was about the only one that carried any coin.

To a poor start, Installer went right out in front, and running under restraint the entire distance, won pulling up the last hundred yards in 1:41 1/4. Captain Rees, out after a couple of times, made a poor showing, failing to finish in the first three, Mr. Jingle getting the place, with All Baba, a 90 to 1 shot, third.

The racing did not open very auspiciously for the favorites, like L, the 9 to 1 choice for the opening dash at five furlongs. Amigo was marked a mark. Amigo, a 10 to 1 shot, showing prominently as the horses entered the stretch, won easily, two lengths in front of Mt. Carlos with 80 to 1 against him in the betting. O'Bea, the second choice, was third, but a head further away.

Better luck followed the favorite in the next event, the four and a half furlong spin for the members of the two-year-old division. Fireman, who finished second in his preceding race after getting away last, was made a 6 to 5 choice, with Don Pedro, Charlie Boots and Clara Johnson fancied in the order named.

To a straggling start Britannia, Clara Johnson and the favorite showed in the first flight. Clara Johnson entered the stretch with a commanding lead and looked all over a winner, but Hennessy brought the favorite up the last sixteenth and Clara won by a head. Charlie Boots finished a good third.

The Elmwood stock farm again furnished a favorite for the mile selling affair in which who went to the post, 2 to 1. Miss Garvin though, with her light impost of eighty-six pounds, carried the handicapper's coin, being strongly backed with three above her. Fancy prices were offered for the half against her.

The light-weighted Miss Garvin skipped out in front with the favorite at her heels when Ferguson sent them away and every thing looked bright for him until after rounding the far turn, when the favorite was urging him. Miss Garvin entered the stretch first, with Faro the contending horse. The latter, by hard riding, passed the mare forty yards from the wire, winning by a length. Remus came again at the wire, beat Miss Garvin and won the place. The winner's price was 8 to 1.

With nothing fast enough to make him quit the Elkton stable's fast sprinter Fly, who opened at 7 to 5 and receded in the 2 to 1 to 1 led his field throughout in the fourth race, finishing a length in front of Major Cook at 15 to 1 in the betting. Boreas, the second choice, was a good third. The speedy gelding tripped the five furlongs in 1:01 1/4.

WILL SETTLE THE STATE.

The Big Colonization Scheme Wendell Easton Is Working in London.

An Exhibit of California Products in London and Agencies All Over Europe.

The largest, and what now appears to be the most promising California immigration enterprise ever organized is being pulled into working shape by Wendell Easton, who has been in London for several weeks.

The syndicate, corporation, or whatever it may turn out to be, in which Mr. Easton is interested, is by far the largest and strongest one in capital and influence which has ever been organized to bring European colonies to California lands. In one of his private letters from London Mr. Easton has recently expressed his opinions of future success in glowing terms, and said that he believed that 10,000 well-to-do people of Europe could be settled in California within twenty-four months.

If Mr. Easton's expectations are half realized, the work will be the most notable and valuable colonization enterprise California has seen, and it will do much to add to the development, population and wealth of the State.

The promoters and backers of this colonization enterprise have been working quietly and saying nothing. Those interested in it here will not yet say much about the business details of the scheme. It is learned that a new corporation has been formed here to handle large tracts of California lands mainly by selling them to Europeans that have some money who can be induced to settle in California.

H. Francis, an Englishman who belongs to an English family who has been in California and London are interested. Mr. Francis recently returned from London and Mr. Easton will return soon, when George Easton will go there and keep things moving.

George Easton and Mr. Francis say that all arrangements for the working of the project will not be completed before September 1, by which time large plans for settling all over Europe and as the connection of this company with the California enterprise will be in the nature of a partnership, its agents will become agents for California lands. The California people will keep the kind of the English and the steamship and other English people interested will keep an agent here, and altogether there is to be an influential, broad-gauge and permanent agency for bringing desirable immigrants from Europe to California.

That is the gist of what George Easton and Mr. Francis said yesterday about the scope and plans of the enterprise, which they would not speak in detail. English capital and Englishmen are being interested, and various negotiations here and abroad are pending.

"One thing I am free to say," said George Easton yesterday, "is that the only the better class of people will be brought here. Land will be sold, subject to four payments, and the first payment must be made on the other side. One difference between this and other colonization schemes is that the kind of the purchaser will have a reliable guarantee that the land he buys and the conditions he will find are exactly as represented. The men interested both here and here are such as stand by the guarantee will mean something. Since leaving here in April my brother, Wendell Easton, has been pretty well over Europe and the pending negotiations are about completed. My brother writes from London that he believes that 10,000 desirable people can be brought here within the next two years, but if we are half as successful as that we will be doing wonders. He writes that he is visited by a large number of inquirers about California, and many of them are people of money and influence. Here is an original note he sent me, which arranges an interview with Lord Herrick, who wants to come here with $10,000.

"We have a number of large tracts all over the State, which we will try to settle. One is the L. J. Rose estate in Los Angeles County. Then we have the Mitchell estate of 50,000 acres near Modesto, a tract of 20,000 acres near Sacramento, belonging to a syndicate, and a large tract in Salinas County, which will be especially desirable to Scandinavians.

"We have others and will acquire others. The lands will range in price from $15 upward and will be adapted to a variety of crops and tastes. An especial effort will be made to bring out large colonies of people, who will settle together. We will establish and maintain an exhibit of California products in London, and I am just now negotiating for the purchase of the exhibit which at Chicago was sold to the Land of Sunshine Company. I found that had been sold to another company and taken to Kansas City, where it is now. We will move that to London soon if we can get it and re-entire it. It would not be wise to say much about our plans in detail now, but everything will be ready for operation within two months, I am confident."

Every Paris social has its "canteen," where five meals are served to the children who cannot pay, while those who are better off pay in part or in full. Each child brings his clean napkin, his little bottle of vin ordinaire, and sometimes fruit or a bit of cheese for dessert. The cooking is usually done by the janitor, and the meals are served at little tables in the playground. The cost of the portions, generally stews of meat and vegetables, is about 2 cents for each child.

THE KING OF THE RIFLE.

Strecker Has a Previous Record as Champion of the World.

BIG SCORES OF THE PAST.

He Has Faced the 200-Yard Rifle Target for More Than Twenty Years.

It was no great surprise to the many friends of Adolph Strecker in this City to learn of the remarkable scores made by him at the inauguration ceremonies of the shooting festival of the National Schuetzen Club.

zenbund of the United States which began Sunday at Schuetzen Park, Glendale, L. I. His scores were: 46 out of a possible 50 at the standard target, 73 out of a possible 75 at the ring target and 97 out of a possible 100 at the man target.

At the ring and man targets he carried off the first prizes, while at the standard he was tied by two other marksmen, one of them also a Californian, E. Blondau.

Strecker is the acknowledged champion shot of the world at 200 yards. His best score, which is the world's record, was made last August at Schuetzen Park, San Rafael, when he scored 966 points out of a possible 1000 in 200 shots at the point target. He has also figured to great advantage in many other contests with the rifle.

He first came into prominence in 1874, when he won the King medal from a list of competitors numbering 1100 at Baltimore. He again came well to the front in 1876, when he was beaten at Philadelphia by William Hayes at a six-day bulleye match by a small margin. His defeat, his friends claim, was due to the fact that just before the contest he had been confined to bed by illness for a period of nearly five months. Since then he has not been in any matches in the East except the recent one at Milwaukee, but has done a great deal of clever work in this vicinity.

His forte is shooting at 200 yards, but several years ago he shot against Milton Farrow of West Virginia, at Alameda, at 500 yards, and though his opponent resorted to reclining positions and Strecker practiced standing the latter came away the victor.

At the Midwinter Fair shoot, although he failed to carry off any first prizes, his failure to do so was attributed to lack of practice. At the point-target match, in which only centers or red flags counted, he scored 23 in 100 shots, while his successful rival, Mr. Ehret, secured 27. But in from 18 to 25 is painted black and the remainder white. As the name implies, the man target shows a portion of the human body from the head to the waist. It is 39 1/2 inches across and is divided vertically into 39 sections, each 1 inch wide, except the center or head, which measures 1 1/2 inches. The sections are numbered, from each of the sides to the heart, from 1 to 20, the rifleman scoring as many points as is indicated by the number on the section he

At the point target the customary number of shots is 200, at the ring target three and at the man target four.

The Stanford Decision. United States Circuit Judge Ross has given the Government ten days in which to file a new complaint in the Stanford case. Judge McKissick, special counsel for the Government, is in favor of an appeal on the demurrer without filing a new complaint, as he is satisfied that the case will be carried to the United States Supreme Court in any event. Nothing will be done, however, until the ten days in which an amended complaint can be filed expire.

Deadly Statistics. A distinguished specialist has carefully noted the difference between 12 families of drinkers and 12 families of temperate persons during 12 years, with the result that he found that the 12 drinking families produced in those years 57 children, while the temperate ones were accountable for 61. Of the drinkers 25 children died in the first year of life, as against 12 for the other side. The latter deaths were from weakness, while the former were attributable to weakness, convulsive attacks, or oedema of the brain and membranes. To this cheerful record he added five who were idiots; 5 were so stunted in growth as really to be dwarfs; 5 were older before became epileptic; one, a boy, had grave chorea ending in idiocy; 5 more were diseased and deformed, and of the epileptics became by inheritance drinkers. Ten only of the 57 showed during life normal disposition and development of body and mind. Fifty of the children of the temperate families were normal in every way. —American Practitioner.

AN ELABORATE SWINDLE.

The Gold Brick Game Revised and Brought Strictly Up to Date.

FRUSTRATED BY ACCIDENT.

Tuscarora Too Keen For Arizona in the "Lost Mine" Speculation.

Possibly the best planned and most ingenious attempt to work the gold-brick swindle was foiled a few days ago by the absence of one link in the chain. The conspiracy from beginning to end was arranged with surpassing care and intelligence. At the very moment of its consummation it broke down, and its failure was almost the result of an unforeseen accident.

Aleck Primo is a French Canadian, and has been for years a successful miner in Tuscarora. He is a man well to do, a good miner and possessed of more than ordinary shrewdness. Some days ago Mr. Primo was approached in Tuscarora by a mild, honest-looking individual, who wore the appearance of a prospector, one who had spent his best years out of doors.

"Is your name Primo?" asked the stranger.

"Yes; that's my name," said Mr. Primo. A look of blank disappointment came over the face of the stranger. "I have made a big mistake," he said. "I came up here all the way from Tucson to look up my old pard, Primo, and now I see you are not the man."

The disappointment of the man was so genuine that Mr.
