Ordination of Frank E. Hinkley, the Chicago Reporter-Preacher.

REV. MR. GUNSAULUS' SERMON

Mrs. Aram No Longer a Deputy Sheriff-Orator Rosenberg's Voice Roused.

Rev. Frank E. Hinkley, preacher and reporter, was ordained at the Second Congregational Church, West Oakland, yesterday afternoon with great ceremony.

Mr. Hinkley was a pupil under Dr. Gausaulus in Chicago, after he gave up his position as newspaper editor.

The ordination was quite an event in clerical circles in view of the prominence of Hinkley's sponsors and of the severe and unusual ordeal he had been compelled to undergo to gain his title of reverend.

In addition to the sermon preached by Rev. Gausaulus, Rev. J. K. McLean, president of the Pacific Theological Seminary, Rev. J. B. Orr of Benicia and Rev. Frank H. Foster of the Pacific Theological Seminary took part in the ordination services.

Rev. Mr. Gausaulus took his text from Paul's letter to the Hebrews, in which he says: "He endured seeing him who is invisible by his reference to Moses, whom Rev. Gausaulus rated as the greatest preacher the world had ever produced."

"The preacher," he said, "need not be an orator nor yet possessed of great brilliancy to be successful in leading a congregation in the path of the Christian spirit."

"What he must have is the light of divine inspiration, and through that only can he expect to endure and carry on the work to which he has consecrated himself."

The preacher then called Hinkley to the pulpit and congratulated him on his success in reaching the title of reverend, and urged him to look ever upward and onward, asking God for strength at all times.

Water Company's Supply.

The following open letter is self-explanatory:

To Our Patrons: This is to thank the people of Oakland for the consideration so generously extended to the Oakland Water Company upon the occasion of the late water shortage.

Mr. W. F. Aram, one of Oakland's female public servants, has discovered that the public road to fame and fortune is not a path of roses.

She is Not a Deputy Now.

Mr. W. F. Aram, one of Oakland's female public servants, has discovered that the public road to fame and fortune is not a path of roses.

Mr. Aram's husband is an attorney and recently had a case in which the actions of Sheriff White's deputies were called in question.

He Thinks the Values of the Estates of Morse and Lees Insufficient.

Mayor Sutro says that he does not object to Treasurer Widber's bondsmen because of any legal points. He fears their sufficiency from a business point of view.

Young Cook mysteriously disappeared from here once before, but after some time he was found in San Francisco.

DIVINE INSPIRATION.

A Sermon on the Subject by President Blair of the Reorganized Mormons.

W. W. Blair, one of the three presidents of the Reorganized Mormon Church, delivered a sermon at Red Men's Hall last evening to a gathering of the local followers of Joseph Smith, who presides over the reorganized body.

"We believe that a measure of inspiration is extended to all mankind and abides with them until they reach a condition of total moral depravity."

"The framers of the Declaration of Independence and of the constitution were also inspired for their work."

SUNRISE ON TAMALPAIS.

Three Hundred People Climbed to the Summit in the Moonlight.

Members of the Cross-Country Club and Their Friends Enjoy the Trip.

Three hundred enthusiastic pedestrians, members of the Cross-Country Club and their friends, made the ascent of Mount Tamalpais in a body before sunrise yesterday morning.

The party divided into two sections, one to make the ascent by way of Larkspur over the new trail and the latter from Ross station. There were fully 130 people in the latter party, and they climbed their way through Ross Valley, headed by the members of the Cross-Country Club.

The night was simply perfect. It was like a regular old-fashioned Indian summer's night, about which New Englanders boast exist nowhere else on earth.

THE RUSSIAN CHURCH.

It May Be Removed From This City to an Eastern State.

There is a probability that the Russian Cathedral on Powell street, near Filbert, which is the single representative of the Russo-Greek church in the United States, will soon be deserted and that Bishop Nicholas, with his assistants, will make their headquarters in some Eastern city.

The church has been long established in this city. The Bishop takes his title from Alaska.

For the past three months Bishop Nicholas has been in Russia, having been called there by his superiors to consult over certain church matters.

Upon inquiry at the church yesterday it was stated by the Bishop's under-secretary that the return of his superior was not looked for inside of two months at least.

He would not say though that the church would be removed. He had heard the rumor, but did not know whether it had ever been seriously considered.

Escapade of an Ex-Soldier on Sacramento Street Yesterday.

Daniel Mullen, the Proprietor, Had a Narrow Escape From Being Shot.

David Barbour, an ex-United States soldier, created a sensation in Daniel Mullen's saloon, at 610 Sacramento street, yesterday morning shortly before 7 o'clock.

Barbour entered the saloon with a "Whoopie" and, flourishing a large horse pistol in his hand, ordered Mullen, who was behind the bar, to give up what money he had about him.

Mullen did not report the matter until last night. From his description of the man Officers McGee and Barry ran Barbour down in Chinatown.

SELECTING THE DOCTORS.

Governor Budd and Mayor Sutro Busy With the Board of Health.

Two Are Definitely Chosen. The Others to Be Decided Upon To-Day - The National Guardsmen.

All yesterday afternoon Governor Budd and Mayor Sutro discussed doctors. It was a purely dispassionate, unpolitical affair and resulted in a decision on a few questions, while there are several other matters to be decided upon to-day.

"No," said the Governor, last night, "I have not decided upon the men for the Board of Health yet. You will know who they are by to-morrow evening, though."

"All day, to-day, Mayor Sutro and myself have talked over doctors. He has not yet decided that there has been considerable feeling among the small politicians at my not appointing the board before."

"The Governor drew a much marked paper from his pocket. From the numerous lead pencil marks he deciphered the following:

The Governor said that further consideration of the Board of Health matter had been postponed till to-day. He and the Mayor will talk over the appointments in the office of the Harbor Commissioners.

"I can't say what will be done until I have consulted the other members of the Board of Location," he said.

The matter of making one regiment of the troops in San Francisco was being considered. Such a step, it was evident, was favored by Mr. Budd. He said, though, "It may be, but it is not to be passed upon by the Board of Location, and before anything was done the advice of General Warfield would probably be asked for."

The Governor thought there would be four troops of cavalry—one for this city, one for Los Angeles, one for Sacramento and one for Monterey. The board has not yet decided with what commands the horse soldiers would be connected or whether they would constitute an special organization.

"In everything we are simplifying," said the Governor. "By reducing the number of regiments in San Francisco we would bring the soldiers and men closer together."

"It will, I feel, result in increased efficiency. It also brings the organization of the National Guard near that of a single brigade."

Several Other Most Interesting and Closely Contested Games Played.

The attendance at the handball courts yesterday was very good and a number of interesting games were played.

At the San Francisco court a close and exciting match was played between J. Harlow and the coast champion, G. Hutchinson, and J. McEvelly, four of the strongest players on the coast.

The Bohemian-California match at Golden Gate was equally lopsided. The Bohemians went first to bat, Robertson scoring 100 runs with 100 balls and the rest of his men reached double figures.

The total reached was 167. Townsley did good work for the black and yellows with a well played innings of 22. But nobody scored.

CRICKET IN THE HOT SUN.

The Alamedas and Bohemians Beat Their Foes With Hands Down.

The Wickets Were Fast-Captains Hood and Robertson Score Heavily.

Yesterday's cricket matches proved two things. First, that the game's enthusiasts are utterly impervious to the temperature, and, second, that the strength of the respective teams is badly out of balance.

At the Webster-street ground the Alamedas met and defeated the Pacifics with an ease that divested the game of all interest from an onlooker's standpoint.

Against this total the captain of the blue and whites himself contributed a half century, and when his tenth wicket had fallen his side had but four runs to show.

The Pacifics played a second innings, but their result, with that of their first, only brought them within 39 runs of their adversaries.
