The New Supervisors Will Put Themselves on Record
This Week.

MAYOR DAVIE'S PUZZLE-BOX.

Record of E. C. Sessions, Who Made a Sacrifice to Protect Small Depositors.

Before next Sunday the Alameda County Board of Supervisors will have placed itself on record. Never have the voters of this county been more interested in county management than in the result of the past week's sessions of the Board of Equalization. Multi-millionaires appeared in person or sent petitions to have their assessments reduced to a figure at which any one of them would scornfully curl the lip. They offered it for one-tenth of the holdings. On behalf of the railroad company and the other wealthy corporations petitions were filed, declaring under oath that their property in Alameda County is all old, comparatively worthless and was operated at a loss merely for the convenience of its patrons. In fact, the Southern Pacific agent tacitly admitted that the company had two steamers, carrying thousands of passengers daily, that would not pass an inspection of their hulls and boilers.

The Haywards road is the wealthiest streetcar system in Alameda County and is a paying investment. It pulls trains of freight through the main streets of Oakland; it turned a deaf ear to the suggestion of the merchants on Washington street, who asked that the company haul its coal-cars through the streets all at night; it carries the United States mails; the lands at Elmhurst, on which the power-houses and carhouses are located, was donated, and the property-owners along the route gave handsome bonuses. The corporation has the right of way over thirteen miles of county road and does as it likes in the heart of Oakland, and it asked for a reduction of assessment to less than the cost of half of its cars.

The Southern Pacific operates its line on Seventh street, charges streetcar fare and runs in opposition to the electric roads. Its local service ends at Franklin street, distinctly a street railroad as are the electric roads. Yet their agent said that the county could not assess it, because it is part of the general State system.

The powerful and wealthy Contra Costa Water Company said that its franchise was worth nothing, and hinted that Oaklanders had been ungrateful for refusing to submit to a monopoly when a way of escape was offered them. The Board of Equalization has undergone a complete change since it met a year ago, when it was not annoyed by any protests from the railroad, because Mr. Dalton had not succeeded Mr. Leckie, who was highly complimentary to the corporation while the last board was in session. Of the present board, Church, Johnston and Talcott are new members.

Pelouze is from Assessor Dalton's ward and a friend of the reformer, and it is pretty certain that his loyalty to his friend will be seen in his voting to uphold Dalton's assessments. Bailey has given no evidence of being any different from what was a year ago when he was pledged to raise a corporation assessment before he heard the evidence.

Talcott was elected on an anti-railroad ticket and is a man of independent views. He will probably be found with Dalton in the end. Church belongs to a family that has fed at the Alameda County crib for twenty years. He has not been put to the test, however, yet, and his vote will determine the result. Johnston serves a term in the City Council and is a member along with Pardee and Nelson made a good anti-monopoly record. He has given no indication of a change and can be trusted to do the right thing. In the whole, it looks as if the assessments of Dalton will in the main, be upheld. Certainly, Talcott, Johnston and Pelouze showed no timidity at the convenient appearance of Mr. Morehouse, the San Leandro banker. It would surprise me if Mr. Dalton should eventually receive some mention by the State Board of a different nature from that made of Robert Leckie by Mr. Morehouse.

There is a point at which an abuse of privilege is as objectionable as a common nuisance. That point has been reached by the hideous howlers who nightly yell from the steps of the City Hall. It matters not to the ears of those who cannot get out of reach of the sound whether the origin of the nuisance be a colored female preacher or a leather-lunged auctioneer-politician. It is a nuisance, pure and simple. The pretty little park has been spoiled, the flowers have been trodden down, and a high time that Mayor Davie afforded some relief. Oakland is not a town of anarchists, who are incited to lawlessness by every street orator that mounts a soapbox, but on the contrary, people regard such as something to be tolerated as being an unwelcome example of the right of free speech. The ordinance prohibiting street preaching and oratory without a license is a useless piece of local legislation.

It is unnecessary in San Francisco, London or Chicago and other big cities and is not needed here. Mayor Davie's attitude in refusing permits is surprising, as, when making his campaign, he was the oftentimes heard open-air speaker in the country. The present restrictions are regarded as a hardship by the church party of Oakland, and anything opposed to that party in this city is always impolitic and generally unreasonable for Oakland ministers intellectual rank among the highest in the State. The old method of not permitting street meetings on thoroughfares traversed by electric roads worked no hardship and was generally popular. A return to it would be the most amicable and judicious method of obviating the present nuisance.

The sale of Sessions' basin Saturday drew forth many expressions of sympathy for one of the few progressive men Oakland has known. Five years ago E. C. Sessions was one of the most solid capitalists of Oakland. At that time the only street railroad to East Oakland was the one-horse car line on Twelfth street that ran to Thirteenth avenue and back, and that ran the same route fifteen years ago, but probably with another horse. Mr. Sessions built the Eighth-street electric road, at that time the second road of the kind in this county. He sunk the largest part of his fortune in it. Before it was a success several other enterprises had failed and the opposition proved to be stronger than he could overcome. At a considerable loss he saw the road go into other hands. At that time Mr. Sessions was president of the Oakland Bank of Savings and he did that which at once stamped him as one of the most noble men of Alameda County.

The bank held the earnings of hundreds of small families, all of whom would have suffered by a run such as can always be instigated by competitors. Knowing that his losses might jeopardize others should they be exploited, Mr. Sessions surprised his colleagues on the board of directors by suddenly resigning, and giving as his only reason that it was his duty to do so. And not one cent of the bank's money was in peril. Sessions' Basin was a tract of marsh land that its owner improved and filled in. It was mortgaged to help some other enterprise, and it will be valuable before long. Mr. Sessions is an old man now, and his hair is white. He may never reap even a proportional benefit from his investments, but East Oakland is under a large debt of gratitude to the honest capitalist.

One of the most significant events of the past week, and which will prove of great benefit to Oakland, is the extension of the engagement of "The Old Homestead" Company. There is an old maxim that a good show-town is a good business town. For thirty years—one whole generation—this city has been accustomed to think that a "theater-boat" went to San Francisco about twice a week. Within the past two years this idea has been forgotten and Oaklanders seem to be aware of the fact that they are a city of 70,000 people—almost large enough to be worth a little patronage from themselves. And what is true of the theatrical business is true of others. It is of more than passing value to Oakland that the city has a first-class company on a city where a first-class company can depend on a whole week of good business.

Alameda County Schools.
The County Superintendent of Schools has just completed his report which will be filed with the State Superintendent in a few days. The figures are interesting, showing in a comprehensive manner the educational status of Alameda County. There are 403 schools in the county, viz: 6 high schools, 154 grammar and 243 primary schools. The 71 male teachers employed receive an average salary of $126.32, and the 1,042 female teachers average $81.61. The total received from all sources was $705,933, and of this sum $596,621 has been expended. The estimated value of schoolhouses and furniture in the county is placed at $1,007,831.

Oakland Navy Races.
The races of the Oakland Navy were sailed over the new course yesterday. The first race was for canoes and sloops, and was won by Captain Jack Whitehead's Flash. The Brownie, Major and Nemesis finished in the order named. There was an open race for all classes, but it was a very quiet affair and was won by Captain Williams' Nimrod. There was a moderate breeze blowing, and the first race was fairly well contested, but no time records were broken.

The Artist Tramp in Jail.
George W. Harris, the artist tramp whose reputation he has made all over the State, arrived in Oakland Saturday afternoon, and early yesterday morning he was in the Oakland prison on a charge of begging. Harris is an intelligent fellow and once filled a lucrative position on a New York weekly. He has taken an oath to live without working and has been in jail wherever he went. It is about a year since he was released from jail in this city.

Salvation in a Theater.
It was announced yesterday that the Salvation Army will open the People's Theater next Thursday night. There will be a big parade and the officials from headquarters in San Francisco will be present. The theater is located in the business center of the city and was a popular playhouse till a month ago.

Alameda Sugar Bounties.
Last year's beet-sugar bounty amounted to over $850,000. Of this amount more than $650,000 had to be paid to the Alameda factory at Alvarado getting nearly $87,000. The bounty on sugar manufactured in August, 1894, is to be paid. It amounts to nearly $200,000, and will be a good thing for the growers as well as the manufacturers, because it was agreed a certain percentage of the bounty should go to the former.—Haywards Review.

Town Trustees in Difficulty
Over the San Pablo Avenue
Grading.

Part of the Work Done—Protests Are Offered Against Continuing the Job.

One of the most important measures now calling for the immediate attention of the Board of Town Trustees is the macadamizing of San Pablo avenue. The proceeding are in a complicated state, and doubtless much difficulty will be experienced before matters are properly adjusted. About a year ago the Board of Trustees passed resolutions of intention to grade and macadamize the southern portion of the avenue lying within the town limits, the work to be done on the district plan. A large number of protests were made by the citizens owning property along the line of the proposed work, and through delays, bringing the work well into the winter, it was decided to postpone the winning of protests until spring.

The matter was taken up again in the following February, but the protests were overruled. Contracts were subsequently awarded, the grading being given to W. J. Schmidt, and the macadamizing to the Oakland Rock Company. Schmidt did his work, but the Superintendent of Streets refused to enter into the contract with the Oakland Rock Company on the ground that a protest from parties owning the greater part of the frontage bars the work for six months. This course was taken at the request of the contractors, who promised to immediately sue out a writ of mandate in the Supreme Court, thus securing within a few weeks an adjudication of a point upon which no ruling had yet been rendered.

The contractors, however, have not carried out their part of the agreement, and the course now to be taken until the Supreme Court decision of the case may be made is the problem to be solved. The avenue is one of the main thoroughfares through the western portion of town, and it is considered by the people as a public right. The property along the section of the street which was supposed to have been macadamized is owned for the most part in large tracts, and some of these owners propose to resist the intended improvements with all the power in their hands. In consequence of their continued protests the matter is one full of difficulties, and a lively time is anticipated by the Town Board before matters shall have been completely adjusted.

A New Veneer.
The production of a new kind of veneering material is noticed in the German papers, the substance being composed principally of infusorial earth mixed with variously colored and coloring ingredients and spread in layers over wooden cores. On the mass becoming dry it is cut into sheets or blocks, and if the layers have been differently colored, their irregular section presents an effect resembling that of figured wood. For its expeditions present use a machine is arranged by which two wooden posts, thirteen feet high and about five feet apart, are made to revolve about a vertical axis. Each post has twenty-four horizontal branches radiating from it, and these branches as well as the posts revolve easily about their own axis. In the process of manufacture the horizontal branches are first covered with paper, to prevent any of the composition from sticking to them, and then painted with its mixture of infusorial earth, coloring matter and gum. The branches attached to one of the posts are first painted with one coat, and the machine is then revolved so as to bring the other post near the work, and the time the branches of the second post are coated, those of the first post are dry and ready to be revolved into position for another coat. In this manner, the painting goes on continuously, the branches being loaded with a coat of composition nine or ten inches thick; the color of the coats is made alternately dark and light, and the thickness of the stratum is varied so as to imitate the varying unevenness of the annual rings in a tree. When all is thoroughly dry the cylinders of composition are slipped off their wooden cores and saved or cut into veneers.—New York Sun.

The Verein Eintracht Shooting
Section Gives a Picnic.

CROWDS AT SCHUETZEN PARK.

Most of the Victorious California
Marksmen Rested After Their Trip.

The Verein Eintracht Shooting Section's excursion to Schuetzen Park yesterday drew hundreds and hundreds of people, merry-makers and marksmen, their wives and sweethearts, to Schuetzen Park, San Rafael. The merry-makers had it all their way all of the day, while the marksmen were content to burn powder and plug bullets for a few hours in the afternoon. The excursionists loaded the steamboat to the rails and, when they reached their destination, spread out over the pleasure grounds everywhere. They crowded the vine-covered arbors and the seats on the spotted thoroughbreds on the merry-go-round. They rattled the balls on the bowling alleys and scattered the pins with well-aimed shots. They patronized the prize wheel and they danced in the big pavilion until the cheeks of the trombone player were puffed out like twin balloons. They had all kinds of a good time, not forgetting plenty of luncheon and a variety of refreshments.

Prior to the arrival of the members of the other shooting clubs, the members of the Eintracht shooting section had a prize shoot of their own, three shots each, possible 75, the following being the ten best scores: Theodore Binner 68, F. A. Kuhl 65, A. Auer 63, J. Zahn 60, A. Stamer 54, C. F. Auer 54, R. Stettin 54, Charles Gumbel 53, J. Rohr 51, H. Schroder 50. A. Winter made the best first shot, 23. Captain Kuhl was everywhere in evidence, seeing to it that nobody missed any of the fun, not forgetting meanwhile to shoot strongly enough to take the second prize in the shoot. Everybody appreciated his efforts, as every one knew that to his energy and enterprising spirit the Eintracht owes much. Besides being an excellent marksman, having won many trophies and medals, he has been industrious in fostering the interests of the society in every way. He was active in the movement to locate in the present headquarters on Twelfth street, and in all the works of the Eintracht, even to the prominent part he took in Saturday night's parade, he has been to the front.

That being the case, it was no wonder that crowds joined in the excursion early in the day and more came pouring in with the other shooting clubs in the afternoon. It was expected that most of the wearers of shooting laurels, recently snatched from Eastern brows, would be foremost, but the crowd had to be content with the presence of D. B. Faktor, who was the only one of the California delegation which made such a record in the East to turn up. He was cheered and congratulated repeatedly, and to show that he appreciated the compliments he made one of the finest scores of the afternoon by team passing to and from the winning team, it was stated, were too much fatigued with their trip to give up their Sunday rest.

The big shoot of the day was that of the California Schuetzen Club, a large number of the members turning out with guns unlimbered. They shot bullets for money prizes, standing at the end in the order named:

Otto Burmeister, D. B. Faktor, D. W. McLaughlin, C. E. Campbell, Thos. E. Eging, J. Utschig Sr., A. Mocker, A. Utschig, C. Sagemorn, A. Riemenberger, O. Bremer, J. C. Waller, A. Eckert, H. A. Berth, J. Metternich, J. F. Carroll, R. Stettin, A. Gehret, F. Hansen, H. Gumbel, H. Eckmann, F. C. Muller, F. Oettinger, J. Straub, F. Archer, H. Langer, W. Solder, Joseph F. J. Archer.

The cadets of the club also shot. A. Reubold gained first prize, C. Sagemorn second, H. Kuhl and F. Riehl scoring in the order named.

The bullet shoot of the San Francisco Gruntli Shooting Section resulted in the following scoring in the order named: Charles Ott first, A. Gehret second, J. Frei third, J. Appenzeller, F. Baumgartner, L. Hansen, J. Fetz and M. Schurr.

The Turner Schuetzen medal shoot resulted in Otto Burmeister winning the champion class, F. Hunsman first class second class not won, Charles Sublat third class. Burmeister made the best first shot and Charles Nielsen the best last shot.

The ladies of the California Schuetzen Club were a so out in force and plugged the targets in their monthly medal shoot as merrily as did the men. Mrs. Utschig won the champion-class medal with a score of 110. Mrs. Kelly the first-class medal with 110 and Miss Langer the second-class medal with 112.

SPORTS AT SHELL MOUND.

Marksmen, Bicyclists, Horsemen and Sportsmen in Attendance.

The marksmen and sports were kept busy at Shell Mound Park yesterday. Very few of the German clubs turned out, but the members of the National Guard were there in force and some excellent totals were made.

Batteries C and E of the Second Artillery are to fire a match for a trophy next Sunday and both teams were out for a practice shoot yesterday. There are to be thirty-five men a side, and judging by the scores made during the practice Company C ought to win. The members of Company E are not cast down, however, and they assert that the scores will have a different complexion when it comes to the actual test.

Besides the regular monthly bullet shoot the party there was the Butchers' picnic, horse racing, bicycle racing, pigeon shooting and also athletic and other games. In the shooting contests Company A of the Fifth Infantry held its regular monthly medal shoot, with the following result:

Poulter 44, Cunningham 43, Stewart 42, Buer 42, Maker 42, Downie 42, McCormick 41, Packett 41, Captain Poulter 40, J. Packett 40, Summers 39, Donahoe 39, Hawkins 39, Littlewood 38, Fock 36, Strong 35, F. Petersen 34, G. W. Puckett 32, Herman 29, McKinnon 29, Wise 29, W. J. Petersen 29, Alvord 27, Miller 26, Jordan 26, Bailey 25, Graves 23, Dickerson 14, Heldt 12, Gunn 9.

Company F of the Fifth Infantry made a very poor showing. It resulted as follows:

Sergeant Covatt 42, Webb 42, Unda 40, Sears 39, Johnson 39, Darling 38, Boddy 38, Axx 38, Sergeant Kennedy 37, Morse 39, Nickerson 35, Johnson 35, Stahl 35, Peterson 35, Grose 35, Corporal Nelson 34, W. J. Wilson 34, Corporal Bennett 34, Parsons 34, Hansen 33, Shaw 33, Griffin 31, Captain Wetheron 30, Boddy 29, Carney 29, Miller 28, Blakey 27, Sears 27, Le Ballion 27, Preston 26, Thompson 24, Wheeler 23, Stapleton 22, Hansen 22, G. Hansen 20, Atkinson 20, Wilson 15, Morse 15, Griffin 14, Scott 13, Barker 11, Harbinson 11.

The Knights of the Red Branch Rifles held their regular quarterly shoot. Members who won medals three times in succession and were again successful yesterday became the permanent owners. The scores were as follows:

J. Sheehy 40, J. Smith 49, M. Gaul 39, J. Rogers 37, J. Green 36, J. Campbell 35, M. Casey 32, M. J. Connolly 30, M. Brady 30, M. Shorten 30, M. Mannix 29, John Fay 29, D. Russell 29, J. Hogan 29, George Egan 28, P. Donohue 28, M. O'Neill 28, J. Murphy 26, P. O'Sullivan 25, J. Loughrey 26, T. English jealousy was shown because we carried off some of the best honors. On the streets and elsewhere the Californians were cheered, and there is not one of the party but what will remember with kindest and warmest feelings the trip."

The local shooting clubs who made such a display in honor of the returned marksmen are inclined to do more yet to show their appreciation of the wonderful work the delegation performed and the credit which was reflected on the California clubs thereby. It has been suggested by Captain John Smith of the San Francisco Schuetzen Verein that a banquet be tendered them at the Ocean View House of Henry Dorscher, the president of the Verein, near the Cliff House, some time during the week, and the matter will be carried out beyond a doubt. An early meeting will probably be held to make arrangements for it.

THE OARSMEN ARE ACTIVE

Local Clubs Occupied With
Preparations for the Sacramento Races.

The South Ends Anxious to Meet Any Professional Crew on the Coast.

Every Sunday Long Bridge and the wharves in its immediate vicinity are crowded with enthusiastic admirers of this branch of sports, while on the bay the scene is animated. Boats of every description may be seen gliding hither and thither, and many impromptu races are often held which afford amusement and excitement for the onlookers.

Among the spectators who visited the bridge yesterday were noticed several of the old-time oarsmen and past masters of the spoons. They watched the performance of the young bloods who are aspiring to the fame of a Peterson, a Gaudaur or a Teemer, and expressed the opinion that San Francisco will be able to turn out more than one formidable bidder for the world's championship honors. The work of young Frank Duplisse and E. McCausland received particular mention. They are neither of them out of their teens, but each holds a championship.

Frank Duplisse is the champion senior amateur single-sculler of the coast and he is also stroke of the champion senior crew of the coast, whose personnel is as follows: Henry Bode, bow; Bob McArthur, forward waist and coxswain; Gus Carson, after waist; Frank Duplisse, stroke; George McGill, coxswain.

E. McCausland holds the junior championship in the single scull. Frank Duplisse is a member of the South End Club, while McCausland sports the colors of the Ariel Boat Club.

Enthusiasm among the rowing fraternity in regard to the Sacramento regatta is intense, and although the affair is still more than a month away the coaches of the various clubs are working like Trojans getting their men in form for the contest. But few of the crews for this regatta have been made up as yet, most of the clubs trying out men.

Mr. Spillane, a well-known oarsman and captain of the South Ends professional crew, voiced his opinion in regard to professional rowing in the following manner: "At present professional rowing is dead. This amateur athletic association controls all the regattas, and as professionals are not wanted we are never offered a prize for which to row. We can't become reinstated amateurs, and we are not going to be relegated to the ranks of the 'has-beens' on this account, but it is the intention of my crew to boom professional rowing if we can. We stand ready to row any crew on this coast a professional barge race."

The members of the crew are: Jack Spillane, bow and captain; Jerry Murphy, forward waist; Fred Damke, after waist; William Shea, stroke, and Jack Healy, coxswain.

The members of the Dolphin Boating and Swimming Club are kept busy these days getting their oarsmen in trim for the Sacramento regatta and the building of their new boat-house.

New members are constantly being added to their club's roll. Those who became members last meeting were: Arthur Lennon, Frank Kelly, P. Giovanni, Amy Pastene, John Murrion and Jude Keogh. Their new boat-house will be erected at the foot of Van Ness avenue, and their crews that will row in the coming regatta will be as follows: Senior—Jack Coughlin, stroke; Tom Kennedy, after waist; A. Ronard, forward waist; C. Farrell, bow and captain; and George Roach, coxswain. Junior—J. Bartman, stroke; E. Sullivan, after waist; B. Logan, forward waist; W. O. Patch, bow and captain; and George Roach, coxswain. They are now in regular training.

POTTERY AND PIGEONS.

Some Good Shooting Done on Bluebirds and Live Birds.

The Lincoln Gun Club, the oldest inanimate-target club in California, held its fifth monthly shoot at Alameda Point yesterday. The club members turned out in great force, and the large crowd of friends and spectators made it evident that there is a great deal of interest taken in shooting at inanimate targets.

"Bluebirds" were used and sprung from five traps, each shooter knowing at what angle the object would be thrown. The shooting was of five, ten and fifteen birds. Before the medal shoot began a 10-bird match, $1 entrance, was decided. The scores were as follows:

Cate 10, Bruns 9, Fisher 8, Fanning 10, Potter 9, Wenzel 8, Sharp 6, Cohen 4, Wagner 4, Franz 3, Daniels 3, Quinton 7, Winifred 6, Whiting 9, Baum 7.

In this match Cate and Fanning divided first and second money, while Bruns took third.

In another sweepstakes under similar conditions the result was: Fanning 10, Fisher 7, Wenzel 7, Quinton 9, Franzen 7, Whiting 9, Daniels 9. In this shoot Fanning took first money, while Quinton, Whitney and Daniels divided second and third prizes.

In the medal shoot, at twenty-five bluebirds, twenty-two men shot with the following result:

Baum 18, Daniels 21, Franzen 21, Whiting 19, Ostrander 12, Wagner 11, Baum 19, Fisher 15, Wenzel 15, Winifred 15, Wagner 14, Baum 17, Wenzel 15, Winifred 15, Fanning 20, Sharp 21, Karney 19, Quinton 19, Heines 7, Bruns 20.

Potter and Bruns divided first and second money, while Sharp, Cate, Fisher, Daniels and Franzen split up what was left between them.

A fifteen-bird match, $1 entrance fee, was then in order. The scores stood:

Baum 14, Daniels 14, Williams 11, Webb 15, Cate 13, Stewart 14, Andrews 14, Fisher 14, Baum 13, Fanning 13, Potter 14, Bruns 14, Sharp 14, Franzen 13, Heines 6, Quinton 13, Winifred 5, Wenzel 14, Wagner 9, Cohn 8.

The Recreation Club.
At the Oakland racetrack the Recreation Club held its fifth monthly shoot at live pigeons yesterday. But six shooters put in an appearance, and one of them, Fay, was a member of the club. The club shoot was at twelve single birds, twenty-five pairs.

"Nonsense can say that the Eastern people are not hospitable," said George Helm, the champion of the ring target. "Wherever we went they could not do enough to make us feel at home. In New York everything was at our disposal, and in Chicago and Milwaukee it was the same way. If we had accepted all the invitations of hospitality which were extended to us from St. Louis and a dozen other cities we would not have been back here for a month to come. It may seem strange, but there was a generous, glad feeling expressed all around when we did so well. No spirit of eight yards' rise, eighty boundary, and the scores were as follows:

Slade.....111111112211-12
Ross.....02121110201-11
Barney.....112221222011-11
Randall.....02111021112-10
Fay.....32121111222-12
Height.....221100121001-8

As will be seen from the above score, Slade won first prize, Fay not being a member of the club. In a $2.50 pool slide which followed their scores were as follows:

Slade.....121122201012-10
Ross.....220011120201-9
Barney.....11222211022-11
Randall.....02111011212-10
Height.....02111011212-9

Barney took first money in the pool, Slade and Randall dividing second. The day was a perfect one for shooting, there being just enough wind to make the birds fly well. The pigeons were a fairly good lot, but the heat was against them.
