

MISUSE OF "OLD GLORY"

The Flag Has Become an Advertisement for Everything Under the Sun.

A WAR ON ITS DEGRADATION.

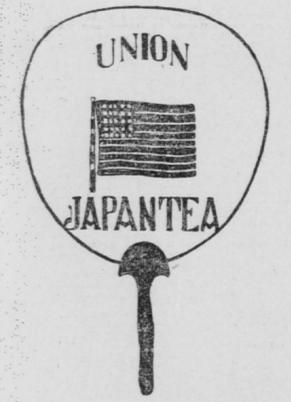

Patriotic Societies Have Begun a Campaign to Protect the Sacred Emblem.

A National campaign against the constant and increasing desecration of "Old Glory" by advertisers and others has just been fairly begun by the Society of Colonial Wars of the State of Illinois and a proposed law guarding the sacredness of the Stars and Stripes will be a notable issue during the next session of Congress.

prising mass of information about the extent to which the flag is prostituted to purposes of private gain and the ingenuity displayed in its misuse.

men who are proud that they are Americans. Public sentiment will govern Congress in its action, and so the society mentioned, which is just now leading the campaign, is spending time and money in gathering information about the misuse of the National flag and in bringing the proposed law and the reasons in its favor forcibly to the attention of societies, officials and citizens most likely to be interested.

All patriotic societies, newspapers, important officials and many prominent men throughout the country are receiving copies of a pamphlet just compiled by the National flag committee of the society mentioned. This pamphlet gives a brief history of what has already been done during the brief agitation, many expressions of opinion and many cuts showing how the flag is used in the great American City of Chicago to advertise beer, theater fakers and so on.

Bills to prevent the desecration of the United States flag were introduced in both houses of the last Congress, one in the House in January, 1894. Senator Hansbrough of North Dakota introduced a bill making it a misdemeanor to use the flag by printing or painting thereon or attaching thereto any advertisement for private gain by public display.

that the National flag is precisely described by statute, and unless any pattern or facsimile of it containing a slight deviation were included the purpose of the law could not be attained.

It was in January last that this society began its work by passing resolutions in favor of the law and soliciting the co-operation of all patriotic societies. The National Commandery of the Regular Army and Navy Union passed a similar resolution on the same day, and since then resolutions of co-operation have been passed by the Sons of the American Revolution of several States and many assurances of co-operation and indorsement have been received from many quarters.

In April last a National flag committee was appointed to act for the society. It is composed of Captain Philip Reade, U. S. A., Colonel Henry Lathrop Turner, N. G. L., and Charles Kingsbury Miller of Chicago, secretary. The members of this committee hunted Chicago over for awhile and reported: "Violations of the proposed law were found to be numerous, flagrant, ingenious and startling in Chicago alone." The committee found the flag used for advertising and decoration in almost every line of business in the city, respectable, legitimate and otherwise. Among the 200 kinds of establishments or people displaying the flag to help catch nickels were auction-stores, bar-rooms, baseball grounds, beer saloons, circuses, gloves, charity ball, chimney-sweeps, dime museums, "living pictures," "Old Glory" saloons, "Old Glory" laundries, "Old Glory" lunchrooms, political clubs, prize-lighters, railroads, street-fakers, soapmakers, whisky barrels and so on.

"No account is made," says the report, "of the many peripatetic signs, both animate and inanimate, often seen in the most frequented thoroughfares." The many illustrations in the pamphlet are striking arguments themselves. One flag, found in front of a Clark-street saloon, has "Waukesha Bock Beer" decorating its "festal" white and a registered trademark shown is a guarantee that what it labels is "Old Glory" should reach, the press should publish and instructors should teach that it is a step toward National decadence for the National flag to be regarded as a trade sign. It is because of the merchantable use to which copies of the National flag have been put that a great deal of the natural reverence and respect the flag should command is dissipated.

The flag has had a stormy history; has been bathed in patriots' blood, and is perfumed with the memory of their sacrifices. Its folds are sacred. We violate a command by desecrating it.

Instances of this class are more striking and absurd than hundreds of others that might be given, but they are but little more irrelevant. From thousands of stores all over the country the National emblem floats as a flaming sign for cheap shoes and dry goods sales. It is made a trademark for tar-soap, bicycles, cigars, gum and manufactured articles of every kind. It is stretched across streets to bear advertisements for awnings in front of stores, and printed on paper, is used for wrappers. Every political party uses it as a sign for headquarters, and to even the public uses of the authors of the pamphlet object because "Old Glory is too sacred a symbol to be misused by party, creed or faction."

In European monarchies the national flag is protected every way by stringent regulations. In America no law prohibits the use of the National flag for anything. It is only in the army and navy regulations that respectful treatment of the flag is prescribed, and no one can doubt that the patriotism of naval men is conserved and deepened by their daily habit of turning toward the lowering flag with bared head and "attention" at the sound of "evening colors."

Once when General Grant was in Galena, Ill., during his campaign of 1863, he saw across the street a big flag bearing the names, "Grant and Colfax." He turned to one near him and said: "I wish you would have that flag taken down or those names taken off. There is no name so great that it should be placed on the flag of our country."

This is a different kind of patriotism

misuse of Old Glory for advertising purposes is for Americans to withhold their patronage from such firms as seek to draw attention to themselves by degrading the National ensign of their country.

THE SILVER CONVENTION.

Letters From Noted Silver Men in Other States Indorsing the Movement.

Miss Phoebe Couzins Will Deliver an Oration - Others Who Will Make Addresses.

The bimetallic convention committee is very busy with the preparations for the big meeting to begin August 19, and the success of the large gathering of silver men is more strongly assured. A number of the noted men invited to speak have promised to do so, and others that are not able to be present have written heartily indorsing the movement.

The following gentlemen are the last to signify their intention of being at the convention: Frank J. Cannon, H. F. Bartine and R. C. Chambers, chairman of the bimetallic Union executive committee, from Utah; Governor W. J. McConnell, Idaho; Robert M. Beatty, Attorney-General of Nevada.

Miss Phoebe Couzins will deliver her oration, entitled, "The Golden Calif, or the Silver Conspiracy."

Hon. L. Bradford Prince, Governor of New Mexico; W. H. Harvey of the famous Horst-Harvey debate, Senator Peffer of Kansas and Governor Wolcott of Indiana have written encouraging letters to the committee. Governor Prince wrote as follows:

SANTA FE, N. Mex., July 31. Secretary-GENTLEMEN: I appreciate the compliment of your invitation and the importance of the party assembly which you are calling. I have given two solid months to the cause and must now attend to some personal matters. However, we will all work for the same end, wherever we are, and sooner or later, right must prevail.

I send copy of my St. Louis address, which has been varied used as an educator in the eastern part of the country. Wishing you the greatest success.

L. BRADFORD PRINCE.

W. H. Harvey's regrets have come in the following form: CHICAGO, July 31. George W. Baker and George P. Kenney, San Francisco, Cal.-DEAR SIR: Mr. Harvey is in receipt of your kind invitation and desires to say to you that it will be impossible for him to attend your convention, owing to important engagements previously made. He wishes you the best success, however. Sincerely, W. H. HARVEY.

Senator Peffer accompanies his regrets with the following strong expression of opinion: TOPEKA, KANS., July 29, 1895.

Mr. G. W. Baker, Chairman Executive Committee Bimetallic League-DEAR SIR: I have yours of the 17th inst. and in reply to inform you that the date of the bimetallic convention in San Francisco on the 19th of August. My arrangements for the month of August are such that it will be impracticable for me to attend, but I shall be with you in the spirit.

Bimetalism is not with me a new thing. I have favored the restoration of the old free-coinage law of 1837 for many years, and do not believe our political situation will be even partially satisfactory until that action is taken. In addition to getting more money into circulation, we would be supplying coin for use in the West, and the Government would be relieved of a debt which the Government owes is payable either in silver or gold coin, and the debt which the Government owes is payable in either silver or gold coin.

It would give me the greatest pleasure to be present on the occasion named by you, but at the recent conference at Chicago on the 17th I was appointed one of the Executive Committee. A meeting of this committee will be called in two or three weeks, and it will not be prudent for me to be absent. Thanking you and Mr. Baker, your president, I am, very sincerely yours, W. O. PEFFER.

George P. Kenney-DEAR SIR: I thank you for your favor of the 20th inst. inviting me to be present at a non-partisan bimetallic convention, to be held in San Francisco August 19.

It would give me the greatest pleasure to be present on the occasion named by you, but at the recent conference at Chicago on the 17th I was appointed one of the Executive Committee. A meeting of this committee will be called in two or three weeks, and it will not be prudent for me to be absent. Thanking you and Mr. Baker, your president, I am, very sincerely yours, W. O. PEFFER.

WORK IN THE HOPYARDS.

Sacramento Growers Apply to the Labor Bureau for Help.

Over 200 men who had been at work sweeping streets for the Merchants' Association and who were thrown out of work by the street-sweeping being temporarily placed in the hands of Superintendent of Streets Ashworth applied at the State's Free Labor Bureau yesterday for work. President Dohrmann of the association and Deputy C. L. Dam of the bureau will endeavor to get the new contractor to take on the old crew as soon as he secures the contract. Many of the old street-sweepers called upon Mr. Dohrmann yesterday to thank the association for the assistance, in the shape of work, received during the recent hard times.

Yesterday the Labor Bureau received an order from a hop-grower near Sacramento for 150 men, women and children to pick hops. They will be paid between 75 cents and $1 per hundred pounds and can earn from $1.50 to $2.50 a day and the work is light. The work will last about two months. John H. Durst of Wheatland promises to call on the bureau for help to gather his crop of hops. He says his neighbors have agreed to send to the bureau for their help.

A complaint was received from the Federated Trades Council of Sacramento that Japanese and Chinese coolies are given the preference in several Sacramento fruit canneries, notwithstanding the foremen of the canneries state they prefer white help. The latter state that the cannery companies pay only 8 and 10 cents an hour, and that white people applying for work are refused. The Labor Commissioner is requested to make an investigation, with a view of correcting or officially exposing the alleged injustice.

Deputy Dam is sending letters to all clergymen in the State, asking their co-sacred trust if we do not cherish and protect it.

The patriotic societies of California are invited to pass suitable resolutions, and instances of the misuse of the flag everywhere, with illustrations, if convenient, are solicited by the committee.

An effective method to discourage the misuse of Old Glory for advertising purposes is for Americans to withhold their patronage from such firms as seek to draw attention to themselves by degrading the National ensign of their country.

CLUNIE THE LOSER.

An Opinion in the Case of Henry Sutfitt Against His Assignee Given Yesterday.

An opinion in the case of Henry Sutfitt against Andrew J. Clunie was handed down by the Supreme Court yesterday, and the verdict against the defendant is affirmed.

Sutfitt owned a cigar-store on Kearny street, and when he failed Clunie was appointed assignee. Thomas J. Clunie, the assignee's brother, was attorney in the case, and he bought up all the claims, advancing money for the payment. All the claims were afterward paid in full. Clunie was reimbursed and he profited by the transaction, but Sutfitt brought suit on the ground that his attorney had no right to the profit.

In the opinion rendered yesterday Justice Van Fleet says: The court below found that in the transaction in question the defendant and Thomas J. Clunie acted fairly and openly and without guile or chicanery. The evidence supports that finding, and I do not understand the fact is disputed by any one. The whole difficulty originates in the dishonesty and ingenuity of Thomas J. Clunie to assist the plaintiff out of his embarrassments.

As far as disclosed by the record, purely out of friendship and without any expectation of profit to himself, he gave his own personal obligations for the payment of plaintiff's debts. This he did under the understanding and with the reasonable expectation that plaintiff would supply him with money to meet them at maturity. This plaintiff failed to do, and Mr. Clunie was, therefore, compelled to pay them himself. To protect himself against loss, he was clearly justified in taking assignments of the claims so paid.

For these reasons I should be glad to find any way by which this consequence could be avoided. But it is evident that the rule referred to interposes an insuperable obstacle. To the extent necessary for his protection, the law would recognize and give effect to the assignments in Mr. Clunie's hands, even had they been taken without plaintiff's knowledge and consent. While, therefore, I cannot regard the conduct of plaintiff as commendable, and although Mr. Clunie's intentions appear to have been strictly honorable, the law the plaintiff is entitled to the profit of the transaction, and that therefore the defendant is liable in paying the money to his brother, as he did.

Chief Justice Beatty dissents from this decision.

A WIFE'S PETITION.

Mrs. Dr. Keane Wants to Be the Guardian of Her Husband.

Mrs. Theodosia Keane has again applied to the Superior Court for letters of guardianship over the person and estate of her husband, Dr. George B. Keane, whom she declares to be incompetent.

The Keanes were married twenty years ago and they have five children. Community property, according to the petition, yields them an income of $900 a month.

Of her husband Mrs. Keane says: "For more than a year, by reason of a severe spell of sickness, the excessive use of intoxicants and a naturally morbid disposition, he has been mentally incompetent to take proper care of his person or property and has been imposed upon by designing persons, whereby his income and property have been wasted and sacrificed."

About a year ago a similar proceeding was begun and the court decided in the doctor's favor. Mrs. Keane conducts a fashionable boarding-house at San Rafael.

FOR THE ATLANTA FAIR.

Secretary Filcher of the State Board of Trade has received word that the State Board of Equalization cannot see its way clear to use any part of the money left over from the World's Fair fund for advertising purposes, for printing literature for the California exhibit at Atlanta, the Superior of Glenn County sent word to Mr. Filcher yesterday that his first business done at its meeting Monday was to appropriate the $250 subscribed and exhibit fund. Contra Costa County has also come up with its $250. This, with the money the State Board has already appropriated, makes up $2000 of the $6000 subscribed.
