

BALANCED TO A CENT.

The Books of the Fourth of July Committee Closed Up.

THE SUB-COMMITTEE REPORTS.

A Few Suggestions Regarding the Holding of Future Celebrations.

The Fourth of July committee is a thing of the past. Its last meeting was held yesterday in the Mills building, and the books were balanced to a cent.

The auditing committee submitted a report covering the financial transactions of the general committee from the time it came into existence. The report showed that the gross collections were $4855 65.

There was received from the Supervisors $37 00, making a total of $7855 65. Checks were drawn to the amount of $7225 46, and $289 12 was paid out in commission to collectors.

This left a balance on hand at the beginning of the meeting of $344 08. Of this $300 was paid to General Warfield for bands, horses, etc., used in the parade; $10 went to Miss Henderson for typewriting, and $31 08 was paid to Professor W. A. C. Smith for services as assistant secretary.

This wound up the books. Before adjournment the executive committee submitted its report, a document which contained some pertinent suggestions for future years. Among other things the report said:

We conceived it to be eminently just and proper that the Fourth of July should be an American day, and in this respect we faithfully represent the desires and sentiments of the committee of one hundred that empowered us to act. It is our firm conviction that on the Fourth of every year, is one of the proudest days of our life as a citizen of this country—those who have the right of birth and also those who have declared their ties and loyalties to the American people and by naturalization acquired the privilege of being integral parts in this great confederation of freedom, and subject to its laws, should by vivid representation and impressive demonstration be reminded that this is the anniversary of the day of freedom and that it is but one day to honor, one country to serve.

It is high time that the politicians, ambitious mainly for public spoils, should on this day be relegated to obscurity and their places filled by citizens imbued with pure patriotic sentiment, and that the children should be brought to the front and given valuable object lessons in patriotism.

It appears to us quite proper to call the attention of our public instructors to the fact that the future welfare of this Republic will be materially enhanced if more time shall be employed in giving our little ones instruction in the historic events which made this country a free and powerful nation, and less effort directed to diverting the public school funds into sectarian channels. It is our hope that this new patriotic Fourth of July will be the birthday of a new era; that its tendency will be to divert the minds of those who will soon be our country's statesmen and useful citizens from modern political and sectarian discords, to the direct and unimpaired maintenance of patriotic lessons taught by our heroic revolutionary sires.

The work of the ladies has proven a grand success. They have taken charge of subjects that would have been awkwardly handled by the noble characters of the untiring, tireless, motherly woman by taking up the burden of providing for the amusement and attending to the wants of the 10,000 little folks under their charge.

The spirit of patriotism has been manifested by the universal enthusiasm created by the adoption at the meeting of the general committee of the resolution regarding the American flag. The cry was taken up all over the city and the magnetic influence of the resolution was felt throughout the Union. It has demonstrated the fact that it will hereafter be unnecessary in our National celebration to call for the aid of the half-hearted citizens who have not entirely thrown off their allegiance to the monarchial powers under which they were reared.

The American flag order of Governor Budd has met the approval of all good patriots, and is a strong endorsement of the action of the celebration committee.

There were not so successful in collecting funds as the occasion called for, but we must consider that the previous actions of Fourth of July committees has put a damper on patriotism, and the public could not see at first glance the true patriotic spirit which actuated this body. Our books are open for inspection. In them can be found recorded the names and amount subscribed by each individual or firm and also seen the voucher for every cent expended. The balance is drawn and shows that no money has been wasted in foolish expenditures.

The report is signed by W. H. Davis, secretary of the executive committee, and G. W. Owen, assistant secretary.

THE FIRST DEPORTATION.

Chew Yick Cannot Produce a Registration Certificate, So He Must Go Back to China.

The first Chinese laborer found without a certificate in California was brought before United States Commissioner Hancock yesterday. His name is Chew Yick and he came here from New York on the American ship Henry B. Hyde. The Customs-house authorities swooped down on him, and when he could not produce one of the precious documents, he was taken into custody. He will have a hearing tomorrow, and as he admits that he never was registered, the chances are that he will be deported.

There are thousands of unregistered Chinese laborers in the State of California, but so far no effort has been made to arrest any of them. The principal reason is that there is no money in the treasury with which to deport them, and the Mail Company will not give credit. The Chinese know this, and instead of the population growing less, hundreds additional are Chew Yick is not going back to China without a struggle. He says he was 113 days coming from New York to San Francisco, and before that he was on a voyage on another American ship. He did not have an opportunity to get a certificate, so he intends employing an attorney to fight the case.

RAILWAY OFFICIALS COMING.

A Southern Pacific Conference on Sunset Route Matters.

General Manager Kruttschnitt, General Superintendent Van Vleck and General Passenger Agent Morse of the Southern Pacific Company's Atlantic system are coming to this city to hold a conference with the local executive officials of the railway.

Matters connected with the maintenance and operation of the Southern Pacific Railway will be considered, including the speed of through trains over the Sunset route, and the introduction of two new vestibule trains, beginning November 1, between San Francisco and New Orleans.

A plan has been arranged to run two trains every week during the winter each on a limited time schedule. Already eight Pullman sleeping-cars, two dining-cars and four lounge-cars have been received from the Pullman works for this service.

"SOCIALISM OF CHRIST."

An Interesting Discourse Delivered by Mrs. Llewellyn Haskell.

Institute of Applied Christianity Discussed the Socialism of Christ.

Mrs. Llewellyn Haskell, a prominent member of the First Congregational Church of San Rafael, an institution that prides itself upon being the purest democracy of that town, was the chief speaker at the Institute of Applied Christianity last evening. Her theme was "The Socialism of Christ," and a comparison was made between what she styled the Mosaic and the Christ methods.

In the absence of the president W. W. Chase presided. Mrs. Haskell said there were two methods of social reform—the Mosaic and the Christ method. The Mosaic method strove to bring men into righteousness by coercion. It was a making clean outside, while all within was unclean. It failed to bring men into conformity with divine law. Moses said, "Thou shalt not kill." Christ said, "If thou hast anger in thy heart toward thy brother thou art in danger of judgment." The Mosaic law tried to correct externals, but of what use is the correction of externals when the heart is a source of defilement? Respecting inheritance of lands the Mosaic law made restrictions. Christ refused to do so, but he taught what riches were. The lecturer continued:

Christians agree, in these times of trial, that we need purity, godliness and unselfishness. The only way to the means of it is through the Mosaic method. We have tried to legislate men into heaven. I am sure we are ready to adopt the Christ method. The next few years will reveal great changes. People are studying the Bible as never before because it is the key to the social problem. In a few years the group of men and women who are studying with a view to solving that problem will join their efforts. Their purpose is the same and in time they will adopt the same method and that will be the Christ method.

In conclusion she said the Institute of Applied Christianity was one of these groups and that it would become, with God's blessing, a mighty force. Some one in the audience stated that he thought it a mistake to "patch up" and try to "patch up" the Mosaic law and adapt yourself to the edition thus revised. He was of the opinion that the teachings of Christ should be followed to the exclusion of those of Moses. He raised the question whether by making social relations what they are all are not heretics.

Captain Cook said he had once been elected to the office of Police Judge, and felt the necessity of cultivating an acquaintance with Blackstone as a preparation for the duties of that office. He read until he came to the statement that law must not be so interpreted as to interfere with substantial justice. Then he closed the book and was satisfied. He frequently reminded the lawyers of that statement, which, in his opinion, covers more than purely legal cases. He had come to the conclusion that applied Christianity is the only kind worth anything.

Rev. E. J. Dupuy thought the trouble in the past and present lay not in the laws but in the spirit of the men whose duty it was to execute or enforce them.

Rev. J. W. Ozuan expressed the belief that the world has not yet come up to the grade of Moses, who was thousands of years ahead of his times. He regarded him as the grandest all-round man of Old Testament times. His teachings may not all be applied to the nineteenth century problems, because they were intended for a stolid people, who were only to be controlled by a firm grasp.

J. C. Smith advocated a wider reading of the Bible, and that church members read fewer of those works than do people outside the church. He thought it quite possible to study the Bible too much, or to attempt too literal an interpretation of it.

THE ALASKAN BOUNDARY.

Great Britain Has Modified Her Claim to American Territory.

MILL-OWNERS ENJOINED.

Glacier Bay Is Not Wanted.

England Will Kindly Be Satisfied With All the Seaports of That Region.

The British Government has backed down somewhat from its position on the question of the Alaskan boundary. It generally acknowledges that Glacier Bay, Fort Wrangell and Juneau City belong to the United States, but it clearly shows its hand by insisting on its claim to Taku Inlet and to the estuaries of the Chilkoot and Chilkat rivers, which are the only ports on the Alaskan coast and through which all the trade of that region must pass.

Concerning Alaskan matters no man on the Pacific Coast can speak with more authority than Professor Davidson, who has been cooly and barefacedly they have been cheated.

Professor Davidson states that the United States Coast and Geodetic Survey has this season three parties working on the Alaskan boundary in the vicinity of Portland Canal.

Mill-owners are enjoined by Fish Commissioners protecting Trout Streams From Saw-dust.

The Board of Fish and Game Commissioners has renewed its fight against the dumping of debris into the trout streams of the State, and in future will redouble its efforts to keep the waters clear. The repeated infractions of the law against dumping sawdust into the streams has led the commission to place patrols at points where lumber-mills are most numerous, and the result has been detection in a number of cases.

The attorneys of the board will attempt a new mode of procedure in the cases recently brought up and will ask the court for an injunction against the mill-owners instead of trying to convict them on a misdemeanor charge.

During the past week injunctions were sued out in the Superior Court at Sacramento to restrain the Truckee Lumber Company and State Ice Mill Company from dumping any more sawdust into the Truckee River, and the cases will be pushed to a speedy conclusion to prevent further operations of this kind.

Since the laws regulating the dumping of sawdust were passed the fishing in some of the rivers that had about been ruined has vastly improved, and the Commissioners have decided that there shall be no return to the old order of things. The opinion of the court in the matter of the Truckee River concerns is looked forward to with considerable interest by sportsmen, as, should the injunction be dissolved, the result be the destruction of one of the best streams in all the southern towns.

The Commissioner Emeric, who has been fishing at White Rock Lake for a week past in company with Frank H. Gould, has returned, and reports the fishing better than ever was in that locality. The fish averaged large, and were in fine condition.

The deputy recently sent by the commission to the breeding grounds of the ducks in the San Joaquin Valley to protect the fappers from the attacks of the hunters has returned with the information that the young ducks have left their accustomed haunts, and that while he followed several parties who were doubtless out to kill fappers, none were destroyed because none were found.

ADVENT OF RABBI FRYER.

He Is Expected to Arrive Here by the Tenth of September.

Interesting Facts Concerning the Young and Highly Talented Theologian.

According to a letter just received from Julius Fryer, the new rabbi of the Congregation Ohabei Shalom, he will arrive in this city about the 10th of September. He will in all probability deliver his initial sermon on Saturday, September 14, in the temporary synagogue on Bush street, near Laguna. His formal installation as rabbi will take place at this time, and he will deliver the dedicatory prayer.

Four rabbis of sister congregations will participate in the ceremonies, and the occasion will be one of the most notable in local Jewish history. The rabbis who are expected to take part in the exercises are Drs. Voorsanger, Levy, Friedlander and Nieto.

From present indications every seat in the edifice will be taken for the coming holidays. Although the contractor had agreed simply to have the interior in readiness for occupancy by the holidays, which begin at sundown on the evening of NERVOUS DEBILITY of every kind, name them in great numbers, and the recent rivalry between the steamship companies and the falling of a steamer passage to $9 has filled the islands with coolies from Japan. As soon as the learn to speak the English language, which is only a matter of a comparatively short time, these shrewd fellows, they leave the islands and make their way to the British Columbia, Oregon and Puget Sound ports.

They are enabled to jump their contracts, because the sugar-planters have no use for them after they have become better posted upon the possibilities of improving their financial and social condition. They grow discontented and quarrelsome on the plantations, and their room is to be offered to their company, especially when their room may be soon filled at $9 per steamer fare with more ignorant and more humble substitutes. This accounts for the thousands who are entering the Pacific Coast States every month. For all the large numbers who leave the islands the influx is much greater than the exodus, and the Hawaiian republic is powerless to stop the immigration.

Mr. Fitzgerald's informant states that when the time arrives for Japan to formally demand of Hawaii the restoration of Japanese to the right to vote there will surely be trouble, and the little republic will run itself upon the big republic for protection. This situation at the islands is regarded as serious, especially as the new republic would be powerless to save itself in the least. If it should happen that the Hawaiian would refuse to interfere, there is no doubt but that England would go to its rescue to save it from the Asiatics.

SUFFRAGE WORKERS BUSY.

Rev. Anna Shaw Will Make a Lecturing Tour Through the State.

STATE ORGANIZER'S REPORT.

Mrs. Hester A. Harland Will Canvas Northern California Next Month.

Rev. Anna H. Shaw, the idol of California woman suffragists, will open the campaign against the offending word "male" in the State constitution by an address before a mass-meeting at Golden Gate Hall on the 26th prox.

The joint committee, composed of officers and the board of management of the State Woman Suffrage Association and officers of the constitutional amendment campaign committee, have been working quietly, but none the less effectively, by reason of that fact. There have been frequent executive sessions of the committee at the home of the president of the State Association, Mrs. A. A. Sargent, at 1630 Folsom street, and the result of those sessions is a clearly defined plan of campaign.

Mrs. Hester A. Harland, the young lady who was appointed State organizer, has returned to the City from her work in the south, and a special meeting of the committee was held yesterday for the purpose of hearing her report. She has been successful in preparing the way for organization by correspondence and through visits to many of the southern towns.

She has addressed many clubs and enlisted the interest of a number of representative women in the various towns visited. She expressed the warmest gratitude for the cordial reception accorded to her by the people and press everywhere in the south. A suffrage club of thirty-five members was organized recently amid much enthusiasm in Santa Barbara. Arrangements have been made for speedy organization at Ventura and Santa Paula. She will leave in a few days for Napa and Vallejo, afterward making a thorough canvass of the northern part of the State, visiting all the towns in that section on railroad lines. The purpose of her canvass will be twofold, booking Miss Shaw for lectures and organization of clubs auxiliary to the State association.

Mrs. Shaw will remain in California at least six weeks, and during her lecturing appointments will be included Sacramento, Stockton, Bakersfield, Chico, Marysville, Vallejo, Napa and St. Helena.

The plan of the joint committee is to make a thorough canvass of the State. This fall and make a complete organization of woman suffrage forces. Miss Shaw will be the only speaker this fall, but early next year there will be a large number of prominent names slated for final work.

An amendment to section 1 of article 2 of the constitution of California, in relation to the right of suffrage, was adopted by the last Legislature. This applies the educational test to all would-be voters. The ladies ask that the "objectionable word male" be eliminated from that amendment, which is to be voted upon that day.

The utmost urgency is said to prevail among the suffrage workers of the State. Old differences have been adjusted and the ladies feel confident that they are pressing on to victory.

Meanwhile conferences are held weekly at Mrs. Sargent's home, 1630 Folsom street, the headquarters of the suffrage workers.

HAWAII IN GREAT DANGER.

She Fears the Victorious Ironclads of the Japanese Navy.

A Very Serious Situation Growing Out of the Cooly Labor Question.

Labor Commissioner E. L. Fitzgerald has received from a reliable source information of rather a startling nature, because it forebodes trouble between two, or possibly three, nations. That the present Hawaiian Government has been sorely troubled over the Japanese question is well known. When the republic came into existence the first thing done was to deprive the Japanese and Chinese cooly laborers of the right of suffrage. This action, of course, found no favor with Japan, but as she had a war with China on her hands she only protested.

Japan now demands re-enfranchisement for her citizens in the Hawaiian republic and will back her request with her victorious ironclads. The Provisional Government will appeal to the United States for protection, and the race question in the islands grows complicated. Japan, flushed with her success in the Orient, will not hesitate to defy Uncle Sam and his yet untried new cruisers.

There is a new law in the islands that permits the planters to import cheap laborers, but of every hundred 20 per cent must be Portuguese. The Japanese, under three-year contracts, have been flocking there in great numbers, and the recent rivalry between the steamship companies and the falling of a steamer passage to $9 has filled the islands with coolies from Japan. As soon as the learn to speak the English language, which is only a matter of a comparatively short time, these shrewd fellows, they leave the islands and make their way to the British Columbia, Oregon and Puget Sound ports.
