

AGAIN IN STOCKTON.

Governor Budd's Jaunt on the Polliwog at End.

IN VERY GOOD NATURE.

Will Leave for Sacramento To-Day to Attend to State Affairs.

POLITICIANS STILL AT SEA.

The Executive's Arrival at the San Joaquin Metropolis Was Unheralded.

STOCKTON, CAL., Sept. 24.—Governor Budd returned to Stockton this afternoon. He quietly left the Polliwog, in tow of Captain Acker's launch, and made an anchorage in McLeod's Lake that evening. The Governor's particular friend, Oscar Marshall, did not know he was in the city until he ran across him on the street. Mrs. Budd and Miss Todman were driven to the Governor's private residence, but the executive walked uptown and was soon on a street corner surrounded by friends. There was no politics or State affairs discussed. It was all fishing yarns and stories of river life.

"This is the first time I have been 100 yards from the boat in three weeks," remarked the Governor to a friend.

Mr. Budd finally broke away and started down the street toward the Globe foundry, where he has a new engine in course of construction for his launch, in which he takes great interest. He was tanned by his three weeks' life on the water and walked with a step that does not belong to a sick man. "How do, Jim?" were the greetings on the street, and the return was, "Hello, Jack," or "Hello, Billie," as the case might be.

"I'm going to Sacramento in the morning," said the Governor, "just to show the folks that I am very much alive. We had a pleasant trip, and it has done me a world of good."

The Governor will be on hand at Sacramento to receive Senator White and the Congressional delegation now inspecting the rivers and harbors of the State. If able he will probably make a short trip with the delegation. After disposing of any pressing official business on his desk for a few days on private business.

Harbor Commissioner Calver was not on hand to assist the Governor over the gangplank, but many local politicians would have been on hand had not the executive's party stolen a march on everybody.

STRUCK BY A TRAIN.

Narrow Escape of Musician Berlin From Death.

STOCKTON, CAL., Sept. 24.—D. N. Berlin, the musical instructor, had a miraculous escape from death this morning. The aged musician was struck by a switch engine on Sacramento street and was thrown fully fifteen feet. Fortunately he was hurled at a slight angle from the track and as the engine passed on he lay just far enough away from the iron rails to escape the wheels of the locomotive.

GUARDING AGAINST CHOLERA.

Stockton Officials to Purge the City of Unhealthful Nuisances.

STOCKTON, CAL., Sept. 24.—A meeting of the City Board of Health was held this evening for the purpose of taking such precautions as were recently recommended by the State board for the protection of cities from the cholera plague. The officials were asked to make a careful investigation of the sanitary condition of the city and abate any nuisances that may be found.

WELCOMED TO PASADENA.

Citizens Tender a Reception to Bishop Warren of Denver.

PASADENA, CAL., Sept. 24.—The seats were removed from the auditorium of the M. E. church this evening, and the edifice lavishly decorated with palms and roses for the formal reception to Bishop H. W. Warren, as an appropriate opening of the Southern California conference of the M. E. church. A reception committee, including T. C. Hoag, G. E. McHarrie, F. S. Wallace and Mesdames Parker and Johnson, received the guests, who numbered about 600.

STEAMSHIPS TO REDDING.

Members of Congress Shown the Need of Opening the Sacramento.

Shasta County's Wants Aired Before a Party of Distinguished Visitors.

REDDING, CAL., Sept. 24.—The diversified industries of Shasta County were never before given such an airing before a party of distinguished gentlemen as they were to-day, when Senators Stephen M. White and George C. Perkins and Congressman Hilborn and Barham were taken by members of the Redding Board of Trade over this city and on a tour of inspection to the Sacramento River and Keswick, a point on the river twelve miles above Redding, where the mammoth smelting plant of the Mountain Mining Company is being built.

The party arrived this morning from San Francisco and was met at the depot by members of the Board of Trade. At Red Bluff it was joined by Captain J. H. Roberts the well-known river navigator, who accompanied the visitors in order that they might be given a clear understanding of what could be done toward river navigation to this point, that being the chief object of their coming.

After luncheon the visitors mounted carriages, and the tour of sight-seeing began. They were first driven over the city, shown the various points of interest, and then taken to the river, which was thoroughly inspected from the Redding free bridge to a point two and a half miles below. Captain Roberts imparted valuable information all the way down, the senators and congressmen asking a number of questions, and visions of puffing steamboats, heavy adu barges and busy wharf scenes floated before the gaze of the Redding contingent.

Two and a half miles below the free bridge is a rifle, which the report of Major Hester says is almost impossible to overcome, but a plain statement of facts by Captain Roberts, together with a personal inspection of the rifle, was sufficient to convince the Senators and Congressmen that it would not be a hindrance to the Government to remove that trifling obstruction, and give the people of Northern California river navigation to Redding.

From the river the party was driven over the scenic river road to the new town of Keswick. Keswick is located at the mouth of Spring Creek, on the Sacramento River, twelve miles from Redding and seventeen miles by the new railroad survey from the Iron Mountain mine. Here is being erected the large smelter of the Mountain mines. The visit was made in invitation of Charles W. Fielding, one of the English company owning the mines, and was arranged with the intent of showing the great amount of freight the Mountain mines would transport by water should the Sacramento be made navigable to the point. A visit to the greatest copper mine on earth was perhaps a fitting close to the great amount of freight the Mountain mines would transport by water should the Sacramento be made navigable to the point.

The party was also piloted through the underground works of the mine. Three levels were visited, and the mode of operating the many appliances and pieces of machinery was explained by the guides. The party returned to Redding at 6:30 this evening, and an impromptu reception was given the visitors. Brass bands were out to-night and the strangers were serenaded in their rooms at the depot hotel. The party spoke favorably of the practicability of opening the river to navigation to Redding, and the result of their visit to-day is looked forward to with confidence by the people here.

SAN DIEGO GOLD GIVEN.

Swelling the Fund for the Fight Against the Wright Act.

Its Opponents Take Action Looking to the Engagement of Joseph H. Choate.

SAN DIEGO, CAL., Sept. 24.—A. J. Condee, County Clerk of Riverside County, and George H. Maxwell, an attorney of San Francisco, have been several days representing a State organization formed for the purpose of contesting the Wright act before the Supreme Court and securing a decision on its unconstitutionality if possible.

Almost every irrigation district in the State is said to have contributed to a fund to employ eminent counsel to argue against the Wright act. Large property-holders in irrigation districts and especially those who are non-residents and therefore liable to property assessments without a vote, have been most liberal in supplying funds to make a bitter fight.

Several meetings of representatives of the Linda Vista, Jamacha, Fall Brook and other districts in the county have been held here, and an executive committee consisting of Captain J. H. Barbour, J. E. Boal and Carlos Olvera was appointed to take charge of San Diego County's part in the fight.

The committee met to-night and San Diego's share toward a fund to employ counsel was put up in gold coin. J. E. Boal, manager of the San Diego Land and Town Company, was named as San Diego County's representative to co-operate with the general committee of Southern California, and he will go to Los Angeles tomorrow with the gold.

Messrs. Condee and Maxwell announce that the action taken to-night assures the employment of Joseph H. Choate of New York as chief counsel to contest the Wright law, and against him will be pitted John F. Dillon on behalf of the holders of irrigation district bonds. L. Rhodes, ex-justice of the State Supreme Court, is also retained by the bondholders, and to-night John D. Works of this city, also ex-justice of the State Supreme Court, was engaged to represent San Diego County contestants against the Wright act.

Other attorneys employed to sustain the act are C. C. Wright, father of the act, R. Terry right and Sam F. Smith. Against them will be Lee & Scott of Los Angeles, who fought the Fall Brook case, Judge T. B. Bond of Modesto and George H. Maxwell, representing the contestants in the central irrigation districts of the State.

WELCOMED TO PASADENA.

Citizens Tender a Reception to Bishop Warren of Denver.

PASADENA, CAL., Sept. 24.—The seats were removed from the auditorium of the M. E. church this evening, and the edifice lavishly decorated with palms and roses for the formal reception to Bishop H. W. Warren, as an appropriate opening of the Southern California conference of the M. E. church. A reception committee, including T. C. Hoag, G. E. McHarrie, F. S. Wallace and Mesdames Parker and Johnson, received the guests, who numbered about 600.

The guests were opened by a few words of welcome from Mayor J. S. Cox on behalf of the citizens. The Mayor was followed by Judge M. C. Hester, who extended a welcome upon behalf of the members of the church and members of the M. E. church. He said that the people were cognizant and appreciative of the honor of having the conference here; spoke of the cosmopolitan character of those making up the membership of the church in Pasadena, and referred at length to the great work accomplished since the church was established upon a spot which less than twenty years ago was a sheep ranch. The membership of the Pasadena church was now, he said, 1000; the church property fully paid for, free of incumbrance and worth $50,000, and a new church was projected and will be built. Judge Hester paid a handsome tribute to the late Marion McKelley Boyd and referred eloquently to the great work being done by the body of ministers and laymen.

SCOTT'S VALLEY FIRE.

Forest Flames Spread to the Groves of the Canyon.

CHECKED AT SANTA CRUZ.

A Desolate Waste Marks the Path of the Destroying Torrent.

BIG TREE GROVE NOT BURNED.

The Report of Its Destruction Was Erroneous—Some of the Losers.

SANTA CRUZ, CAL., Sept. 24.—The immense forest fire which has been raging in this county since Saturday morning is now under control, although it is still burning in some of the gulches and canyons, and men are still at work fighting the flames. The greatest damage is now being done in Scotts Valley, a vineyard and fruit region, where a large area is ablaze. The fire-fighters have thus far been unable to check the flames in this canyon.

The fire has proved a most disastrous one. It started at Gold Gulch, near Felton, and soon reached Rincon, three miles below, and burned everything in its path. It then went through the canyons with fearful rapidity, leaving in its track a desolate waste. The virgin forest, with its beautiful redwood, fir, madrone, laurel and other native trees with its thick undergrowth and lovely vines, was stripped, and all that remains for miles around are the blackened trunks of the redwood. The large fir trees were burned to the ground—even the stumps remaining. The view from the tops of the mountains, which on last Friday was as beautiful as one could wish to see, is now one of awful desolation and waste.

The heaviest loser by the fire is Henry Cowell. Thousands of acres of timber on his land have been swept away and he has lost thousands of cords of wood. A report that the loss in his case falls upon the woodchoppers and not upon Cowell is erroneous. The woodchoppers take contracts for cutting a certain amount of wood in a season. At each monthly payment they draw a portion of their pay on account and are not required to run the risks for a whole season, as reported. The fact that some of the choppers have been cutting continuously for thirty years is of itself a refutation of the report that they are discriminated against in this manner.

Not many ranchers have lost by the fire, although a man named Curtis had his home burned. The fire surrounded the ranch of Emil Meves, near Cave Gulch, and he fought fire for thirty-six hours steadily, and by persistent effort saved his house and barn. The bridge leading across the canyon to his home was also burned, and the fruit in his fine orchard is a complete loss. All the orchardists on the Ben Lomond road west of Cave Gulch are heavy losers on account of the intense heat injuring the fruit on the trees.

Although the fire is not burning along the Big Tree road at present the Southern Pacific is keeping a good watch over its tracks, as the large boulders and burning logs roll down the mountain sides and are apt to destroy property.

The clouds of smoke which have been hovering over this city for the past four days have now cleared away. Regular travel is again resumed on the Felton and Big Tree road, and the stages are making their regular trips. It is not the beautiful drive that it once was, but a large portion of it shows the work of the fire, and it will be a number of years before there will be a new growth of timber, and then it will not be the grand trees that have stood for ages.

The report that the Big Tree grove, which is one of the most beautiful groves in the State, and has been visited by people of prominence from all over the world, had been swept out of existence is unfounded, as the grove was at least two miles from the fire, and separated from it by a large strip of cleared land and the San Lorenzo River.

SANTA MONICA, CAL., Sept. 24.—Forest and stable fires have been raging in every direction in the immediate neighborhood for the past forty-eight hours. The only damage done up to date is the loss of some young trees and a few stacks of straw of little value. Fears are entertained that the fire may get into some of the inhabited canyons and there destroy the homes of residents.

SEARSVILLE ESTATE CASE.

Strife Over the Vast Lux Property Will Commence To-day.

REDDING, CAL., Sept. 23.—It is quite evident that a pretty fight will occur over the Miller & Lux partnership controversy in the Superior Court to-morrow. The removal of Jessie Sheldon Potter as administrator of the estate and the appointment of James Crowe of Redwood City as special administrator will then be the issue. There is likely to be a protracted struggle to maintain or secure a foothold in connection with this estate, representing as it does many millions. Curiously enough, the sensational affidavit that was filed to effect the removal of Potter is almost lost sight of in the one predominant question, "Who is it that is trying to get in?"

For several days past there has been a fitting to and fro between here and the City of attorneys and others interested in legal matters affecting this estate. It is thought that at least ten prominent law firms will be represented in court on Thursday.

GRANTS STATION MURDER.

Body of a Stranger Found on a Railroad Track.

ALBUQUERQUE, N. MEX., Sept. 24.—

The body of an unknown man, who had evidently been murdered for his money, was found on the railway track near Grants station, about fifty miles west of Albuquerque, this morning. The man was about 50 years of age, 5 feet 8 inches tall and weighed about 160 pounds; had a gray beard, and head partly bald. From his clothing, evidently new and bearing the mark of Albuquerque dealers, it is thought he had come to the fair or irrigation Congress from Arizona or California and was on his way back, or was possibly an Eastern delegate who was making a trip to the West before going home. In the pockets were found two or three railroad folders and a copy of the Detroit Free Press of the 8th. A settlement will probably be made with the murderers or the identity of the man.

SUE A PETALUMA WIDOW.

SANTA ROSA, CAL., Sept. 24.—Mrs. Mary J. Pierce, executrix of the estate of Will Pierce, the young capitalist who lost his life in Petaluma last spring while repairing an electric light wire, by accidentally touching a live wire, was sued here and in Marin County to-day by Sam Jewell and twenty-seven others. The plaintiffs allege ownership in 2100 acres in Marin County and a number of town lots in Petaluma, Sonoma County. They ask that the court quiet title to their interests, which range in value from an eighteen to a thirty-second part of the estate. The total value of the property is nearly $100,000.

NOW IN PORTLAND'S JAIL.

Duelist Ausplund Arrested for Shooting Duelist Holmes.

PORTLAND, ORE., Sept. 24.—Dr. Andreas A. Ausplund, recently engaged in an impromptu duel with Dr. H. R. Holmes, because the latter refused to sign a retraction of an aspersion upon the character of Mrs. Dr. Chambers of the Portland Hospital, was arrested this afternoon on a bench warrant from the Criminal Court. Up to a late hour he had not furnished $500 bonds.

The finding of an indictment against Ausplund seems to settle the responsibility on him. Considerable evidence was heard by the grand jury to confirm the belief that Ausplund was the aggressor, inasmuch as he went to Holmes' office with a written retraction in one pocket and, presumably, a revolver in the other.

OREGON METHODISTS.

PORTLAND, ORE., Sept. 24.—The annual conference of Methodists of Oregon will begin here to-morrow morning. Many delegates arrived to-day and committees were kept busy receiving them. Bishop Bowman will open the conference and preside over the deliberations. The preliminary work of the committees was completed to-day and the delegates are prepared for the conference. They will show a very successful year's work.

One of the important questions to come before the meeting will be the admission of women to the ministry. The women were victorious in the annual congress at Seattle, and it is believed they will be admitted here.

DISAPPEARED FROM PORTLAND.

PORTLAND, ORE., Sept. 24.—Victor Kirchner, a collector, has disappeared from this city, leaving a wife and three children on the East Side in need.

Kirchner came here from San Francisco six months ago. He was a civil engineer, but failed to secure employment. He engaged in the collection business some time ago, but poor business made him despondent, and his friends think he has become mentally unbalanced. It is said his accounts with clients are all right. Kirchner is a graduate of Freiberg University, and is about 40 years of age. His wife does not think he committed suicide.

PORTLAND DAMAGE SUIT.

PORTLAND, ORE., Sept. 24.—In the United States Court to-day Judge Bellinger handed down a decision in the case of Balfour, Guthrie & Co. against the British ship Invermark. The Invermark brought a cargo of cement to this port. Balfour, Guthrie & Co. claimed damages because the cargo had been damaged by water, which forced its way through the deck and saturated the cement.

The court held that the deck had not been properly calked before sailing, and decided that Balfour, Guthrie & Co. were entitled to $1800 damages and Davis & Cowell to $1500.

AN PING TO BE DEPORTED.

PORTLAND, ORE., Sept. 24.—United States Judge Bellinger decided this morning that ex-convict Ah Ping was not legally in this country, as he had failed to comply with the law in regard to registering. The court also held that the fact that Ah Ping was in the penitentiary and could not, therefore, register within the time fixed by the amendment of the extension of the Geary act, was not a sufficient defense for the failure to register. It was ordered that Ah Ping should be deported, and he will accordingly be sent out of the country.

MADE A RICH HAUL.

San Bernardino Business Men Duped by a Swindler.

RAISED MANY ORDERS.

Figures Cleverly Erased and Increased Amounts Substituted.

WORKED IN A BROAD FIELD.

Merchants All Over Southern California Thought to Have Been Defrauded.

SAN BERNARDINO, CAL., Sept. 24.—About half the merchants in town have been victimized in sums of from $2 to $9 by a new process. Orders which they gave to have their names printed in black capitals and then classified in three places in the "Continental Commercial Register" were raised from $1 to from $3 to $10.

Last February a very sleek, gentlemanly canvasser got these orders and filled out the blanks with what appeared to be an indelible pencil. To-day W. B. Shuman of San Francisco, representing a collection bureau, arrived here and presented the raised orders for collection. Some were paid and some refused. Shuman was detained by the police for two hours until the swindled merchants could see the District Attorney. He advised them that there was no law to cover the case.

Shuman claims that these orders were sent to his bureau for collection, but there is one suspicious circumstance which tends to prove that he knew the orders were crooked. He invariably refused to return the signed order when it was paid, but defaced it by tearing off the signature, claiming that he needed it for settlement with his clients, the directory people. He gave a receipt signed in pencil with his initials only. He made a clean-up of over $100 here and left for Colton this afternoon.

It is supposed that the original canvasser covered the town in Southern California. The work is clear, as there is absolutely no mark of erasure. Evidently the words "one dollar" were written with an ordinary pencil originally, then erased and "five dollars" written with an indelible pencil. No one here has seen a copy of the "Continental Commercial Register," and nothing is known as to its genuineness. Possibly the original canvasser raised the orders in order to secure increased commissions from the publishers, if such publishers exist.

"DIAMOND GEORGES" CLAIM.

SAN BERNARDINO, CAL., Sept. 24.—Suits were begun to-day by George Simon, a German miner known all over Southern California as "Diamond George," against James B. and William McFarney and their sister, Mrs. Carrie Harrington, for one-half interest in the famous Desert Queen mine. Simon alleges that he and the McFarney boys were equal partners as prospectors, and that he furnished one-half the money for the development of the property. He also sues for one-half the output of the mine, which he claims has been $30,000 net above expenses.

This is the second suit brought within the week for an interest in the property, with Charles Marshall, the convicted murderer in San Quentin, to hear from. The litigation over the mine promises to be quite as interesting as the rich ore taken from it.

Crusade Against Gambling.

SAN BERNARDINO, CAL., Sept. 24.—A Society for the Prevention of Crime was organized to-day, with the avowed purpose of seeing that all laws of city and State are enforced and that officials are made to do their duty. A sudden influx of the gambling fraternity and two prominent young men guilty of felony, in consequence of gambling, is the cause of the movement.

To Locate the Boundary.

SAN BERNARDINO, CAL., Sept. 24.—Supervisors Shaver of Riverside and Planting Canaigre.

SAN BERNARDINO, CAL., Sept. 24.—

Work was commenced at Rialto by the Western Canaigre Company of Chicago this morning. This company is planting 8000 acres of land to canaigre. It bought out the collapsed Semi-tropic Company, which built Rialto, and it will take months to complete the work. The surveyors demand the legal compensation of $10 a day, making the survey very expensive. If the Supervisors refuse to have the work done the court will order it.

TO BE BUILT AT SEATTLE.

SEATTLE, WASH., Sept. 24.—United States Senator W. C. Squire received a telegram from Secretary of the Navy Herbert to-day stating that the Seattle Drydock and Shipbuilding Company had been awarded the contract for building one of the Government's new torpedo-boats. The contract price is $160,000, and Puget Sound firm is to be used in the construction of the boat.

Suicide Near Vallejo.

VALLEJO, CAL., Sept. 24.—Just before the down overland train reached the crossing between Fairfield and Suisun, above here, a man threw himself upon the track and the cowcatcher of the locomotive crushed his head. Engineer Ingles saw the man, but could not stop soon enough. The suicide was James Smith of Fairfield, who recently achieved notoriety in the murder trial of John Marshall, for the killing of C. E. Agee, near Dixon. Smith was the juror who called upon himself great condemnation by holding out alone for acquittal till the jury compromised on manslaughter. His notoriety was augmented by the fact that Smith was seen at an improper time in conversation with the defense's attorneys. District Attorney Devlin intended to have Smith cited for contempt of court. This and the strong feeling against him had made him so gloomy lately that many do not express surprise at the act.

Smith was wealthy, and the father of grown children.

SANTA BARBARA'S FLIGHT.

SANTA BARBARA, CAL., Sept. 24.—Santa Barbara has an extraordinary case of dementia in the person of Mrs. Helen Buernheim, the wealthy German widow who gave herself up to the City Marshal a few weeks ago, charging herself with a arson in having set fire to her own house a few nights previous. Mrs. Buernheim to-day underwent a thorough and searching examination at the hands of the City Physician and other officials. She answered every question put to her in the clearest and most sensible manner, and it all ways so demonstrated her mental balance that she was promptly acquitted of the suspicion of insanity.

But when she was told that she was free to leave the grated chamber in which she has spent the past few weeks she absolutely refused to do so, and the county finds itself in the peculiar condition of having a prisoner forced upon its hospitality.

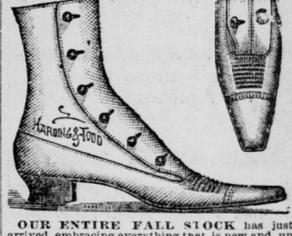

Slashed Himself While Delirious.

FRESNO, CAL., Sept. 24.—Mike Murray, a patient at the County Hospital, slashed himself horribly in the throat and chest with a knife while in a delirious condition last night. He will probably die.
