Three Indians Charged With Killing Mrs. Sandrock.

CAPTURED AT DESCANOS.

The Shirt and Boots of One of Them Were Covered With Blood.

STRONG EVIDENCE OF GUILT.

Officers Confident That Two of the Trio Committed the Murder.

SAN DIEGO, CAL., Oct. 7.—Three Indians, supposed to be the murderers of Mrs. Anne Sandrock, in Mission Valley, Saturday, were captured at Descanso, forty miles east of this city, this morning, and officers arrived there to-night to bring them to this city. It is believed that two of them are the murderers, and that the third met them last night.

Two rode a sorrel horse, and gave their names as Captain Adames, Campo and Juan de Laguna rancheria. The third is Valentine, also of Laguna.

The arrest was made by John Coombes of Descanso, who notified the officers and searched the prisoners in the meantime. On Captain Ross was found a shirt spattered red with blood, and blood was also found on his boots. The latter were heavy and bore extra heavy nails on sole and heel. This is regarded as important, as Mrs. Sandrock had a wound on her breast appearing to have been made by the heel of the murderer as he stood over her and cut her throat.

Valentine was the only one of the party who would talk. He says he met the others at Conijos, below Descanso, and passed the night with them. They would not talk much with him, but conversed together. They had admitted having been in Mission Valley Saturday. Valentine answers the description of the man seen with Ross and Juan, but later advised as to the effect that the man was seen going rapidly toward the Julian country this afternoon.

Coombes tried to get a story out of Captain Ross and Juan, but they were sullen and would not utter a word. He telephoned to the officers that they presented every evidence in manner and appearance of being guilty.

No money was found on them, but Valentine carried several dollars. About $20 is believed to have been taken from Mrs. Sandrock's store.

Sheriff Jennings arrested an Indian named Mesa this evening on suspicion. He was missing from Rancheria in Mission Valley at the time the murder and fails to give an account of himself.

MOURNED AT VALLEJO.

Death of Charles Daly, the Master Joiner at the Navy Yard.

VALLEJO, CAL., Oct. 7.—The death of Charles Daly this morning surprised no one, although the announcement caused deep regret. For several years Mr. Daly had suffered from diabetes, and for the past twelve months he had been confined to his house.

Charles Daly was a native of New York and had nearly attained his fifty-sixth year. He had been a resident of Vallejo for about a quarter of a century and during that time held many positions of honor and trust. About twenty years ago Mr. Daly was elected Marshal of this city, and on two different occasions for periods of one year he held the position of foreman of the Marine and Navy yard. He was a Mason of high standing, belonging to Naval Lodge, chapter and commandery, and holding at different times the highest offices in each of them. It is said Mr. Daly was one of the best informed Masons on the Pacific Coast. He was City Clerk of Vallejo for a time and was long prominent in Fire Department matters, being for years an active member of Hook and Ladder Company No. 1, and serving as secretary of the Board of Fire Delegates.

The funeral will take place here Wednesday under Masonic auspices.

RIVERSIDE COUNTY APIARIES.

Profitable Returns From the Honey-Gatherers' Work of the Season.

WINCHESTER, CAL., Oct. 7.—The apiarists of Riverside County are well satisfied with their season's work, their stands having yielded on an average of from 200 to 300 pounds of honey.

J. E. Harper, who has a ranch in St. Johns Canyon near Winchester, has harvested nine and a half tons of honey from seventy-four stands of bees, being an average of 266 pounds to the stand. Besides that he has now 154 stands, his apiary having more than doubled during the season. In the spring these bees were worth $3 a stand, or a total of $222. He has, therefore, made $234 as representing the value of the new swarms, and putting the honey at only 4 1/2 cents per pound, he will get besides $555 for his labor.

The year throughout Southern California has been marked by very exceptional circumstances encouraging to bee men after the hard luck of last season.

WAR ON LAND MONOPOLY.

Members of the League Will Work to Alter Present Conditions.

TEXT OF THE RESOLUTIONS.

Deposit of Debris in the Streams to Be Fought—Sacramento River Navigation.

MARYSVILLE, CAL., Oct. 7.—The Sacramento Valley editors were entertained and instructed this forenoon. In carriage provided by the hospitality of citizens they were conveyed across Feather River to the famous orchards of Sutter County. Among the enterprises inspected in Marysville were the cannery, the woolen mills and the winery. The levee acres was not the measure of wealth. Fifty acres in San Francisco County was worth more than all the acres of Colusa.

Raleigh Barcar did not insist on the adoption of the limitation and offered as an amendment that "the papers of the valley battle against land monopoly to the end that it be more speedily crushed." The amendment was accepted.

The most animated speeches of the session related to the sum of $1000, which the law allows each county, through its Board of Supervisors, to expend for advertising. The sentiment of the discussion was strongly against the publication of pamphlets. It was also against boom editions of the San Francisco dailies, which often contained the chief feature of the editions the pictures of county officers. Extra copies of these were yet stored away under county courthouses.

The money spent for such booming had been thrown away. Propositions were advanced that the league should authorize its newspaper membership in each county to apply to Boards of Supervisors and request that the sum authorized by law be given to the local press for special articles setting forth the resources of the Sacramento Valley in general, and the county in particular.

Raleigh Barcar of Vacaville, in speaking of the right of Supervisors to appropriate the money for advertising, said it had been sustained by court decisions on the ground that it was expended to invite immigration to the country. That was the purpose of the Legislature in framing the law.

In the discussion Messrs. Sherwood, Morris, Ed Leake, F. W. Johnson, Barcar, Willie, Downer, Woodson, Green, Ellis, Pennycook, Larkin, Mrs. Hustin and others participated. Finally it was re-
