SUICIDE OF A PRINTER.

Thomas J. Foard's Self-Inflicted Death From Suffocation.

Thomas J. Foard, a veteran printer who had worked on nearly all the local papers for the past ten years, was found dead in bed at his lodgings, 425 Kearny street, yesterday morning.

Letters to the Coroner and His Friends Tell the Reasons for the Deed.

Thomas J. Foard, a veteran printer who had worked on nearly all the local papers for the past ten years, was found dead in bed at his lodgings, 425 Kearny street, yesterday morning.

Oh, moon-nooning, pallid and sad! Is there no cooling balm, No soothing balm, To make the weary glad?

Oh, sovereign sleep! Press thy little kisses now Upon my forehead, my brow, Seal with thy lip these eyes: Drown in their joys these sighs.

My twin sisters—Night and Sleep— Entold me in your arms, There safe from all that harms, My twin sisters—Night and Sleep— Must I still longer grieve, still longer weep?

Members of the Typographical Union of San Francisco will attend to the burial of the "boys" who died in the explosion of the Pacific Coast steamer...

In youthful days, in old age 'Tis food and drink our thoughts engage; My twin sisters—Night and Sleep— What more than food and drink is wage?

And thus doth our soul beguine Our mortal coil. THOMAS J. FOARD.

The deceased also left the following note, addressed to Secretary Benoist of Typographical Union No. 21:

Will you see to it that one more old veteran is put away in the same manner as I have just paid it, and you will find in my room a nice cante and umbrella, which I give you in payment.

Foard was a brother of J. McDonough Foard, editor and proprietor of the old Golden Era magazine, which has a place in the literary history of California.

Foard was 68 years of age and a native of Maryland. He was first at the attempt at suicide, as he was found asphyxiated in the same room several months ago. The body was taken to the Morgue.

THE NEW JUNIOR WARDEN. Flourishing Condition of the Order in the State—New Lodges in the South.

The principal officers of the Grand Lodge of Free Masons now in session in this city were elected yesterday afternoon.

MASONIC GRAND LODGE.

Edward Myers Preston of Nevada City Elected Grand Master.

Some of them are larger than the lodge which I represent. Masonry has never flourished anywhere else in the State as it has in Los Angeles.

There are fifty members in Laurel Lodge," he said, "and they are all full of enthusiasm. Masonry in that section is both popular and prosperous. Our lodge is not an old one, but has been doing good work ever since its inception, and we have no reason to be ashamed of the showing we are now able to make. We are still going forward and we feel that we have a right to hope for further success from Laurel Lodge in the future."

Keystone Lodge No. 161 of Milton, California, was represented by P. Robertson, grand master, and Horace Allen, master. Mr. Robertson was greatly impressed with the harmony maintained at this convention.
