

Subscription rates for The San Francisco Call, including daily, weekly, and monthly options, and business office information.

THE BETTER PLAN.

Although it is not conceivable that any good citizen of San Francisco would cherish any feeling of jealousy if the management of the fight to bring the Republican National Convention to this city had been led by the Republican League Club, still it is regrettable that the club should refuse to accept the direction of the affair and make it a popular movement.

AROUND THE CORRIDORS.

Colonel Sutherland is still telling stories on his friends at the Palace Hotel. His latest is Captain Hulse, the mining man.

THE PRESS AND DURRANT.

Durrant, whether acquitted or convicted of the crime of which he stands accused, has been subjected to an extraordinary ordeal.

ENGLAND AND VENEZUELA.

There is no doubt that Great Britain and Venezuela will come to terms by peaceful arbitration, to the mutual satisfaction of both.

SOURCE OF SECRET SMILES.

"What would you do, miss, if I should attempt to give you a kiss?" "I should certainly set my face against it, sir."—Albany State.

TWO STORIES BETTER THAN ONE.

If California is to hold her prestige as a fruit-growing State some of our real estate exchanges must furnish us with a story to match that of New Haven, which claims to have successfully grafted an apple twig on a grape vine and is now raising good apples and good grapes on the same vine.

INTEGRITY IN FRANCE.

Again has France been shaken to the center by one of those official scandals which produce ministerial crises in that nervous nation.

A HUMILIATING SCENE.

An extraordinary spectacle is presented in this country, with its Government "for the people" and "by the people," in the attitude of supplication with which the representative of a great body of merchants of San Francisco begs the assembled representatives of railroads running between Chicago and Utah to make such rates in Utah as will be fair to the merchants of California and not discriminate against the interests of Chicago.

THE JACKPOT GROWS.

If the people of San Francisco display sound business judgment they may secure the National Republican Convention at small expense to themselves.

GOOD FOR MORE.

Metropolitan journalism is evidently a profitable business, and the public spirit of the shining lights in that field is often shown.

ONE HOUR OF BLAINE.

It pleased the Examiner yesterday to give about a column and a half of its editorial space to an attempt at showing that Blaine's management of our foreign affairs was not more intelligent, vigorous or patriotic than the mismanagement of them by the Cleveland regime.

SCHOOL VACATIONS.

The institution of school vacations dates back considerably further than has been assumed. Vacations were first introduced in old Hellas, and Anaxagoras, the philosopher, was the founder of the custom.

TO WARM UP THE FRIGID NORTH.

It is rumored that the people of a city not a thousand miles from Minneapolis are to be regaled with choice chicken tamales this winter.

IT IS A DESCENT FOR THE STAGE.

Certain newspapers of California are wearisome in their drooping over the Douglas case, and it is a descent for the English aristocracy as if it were a descent for this woman to appear in a drama.

A GOOD WORD FROM UTAH.

We hope San Francisco will get the Republican National Convention. She would provide us with a most agreeable and comfortable and make them with ample accommodations and want to remain forever.

ON THE WAY OF PROSPERITY.

Just keep your eye on Oakland and watch it move along when the canals on both sides of the river are in working order.

Give your coin a chance to distinguish itself. Peace hath her victories, but war has all the spoils. Has grim-visaged Buckley smoothed his wrinkled front? The Nation watches to see how San Francisco will do it. It looks as if the Durrant case might end in a surprise party. If you wish to see a Presidential convention, catch on and pull for it. If China takes any interest in the proposals to regenerate her she doesn't show it. It would be truly Californian to have that $100,000 in sight before the week closes. Keep a little lookout all the time lest the lottery fiends try to get their work in again. The movement for the National Convention has certainly started in the style that gets there. It is hard to tell whether Corbett and Fitzsimmons are sparring for wind or free advertising. Probably when Sherman's book is published we will find out it isn't a mystery story after all. If Cleveland wishes to make his message sensational all he will have to do is to write a confession. Let Chicago consider how beautiful Boston looks in the attitude of joining hands with San Francisco. Suppose the Turks should give the Sultan the grand shake and set up for reform within the prairie, then what? We are capable of making a National convention as instructive as an exposition and as attractive as a carnival. Fortunately the Monroe doctrine was born before this administration and will have no trouble in surviving it. If there be any Kentucky colonel in the City, he may sample our milk without a sludder; there is no water in it. Prairie fires in Oklahoma may injure the fall hay crop, but nothing can ever scorch her stock of newly made grass widows. According to reports from Maryland Gorman has registered nearly every dead man in the State and intends to vote them. First the milkmen, then the laundrymen and now the butchers. How many more must we overtake to purify the town? A Kansas orator is quoted as having recently said of Ingalls: "Up he stuck, and in the very vepnes of his stocktitude he fell." It is rather rough that Corbett should have to put up $100 alimony every week and then not be allowed to take it out of anybody's hide. If there were not so many able leaders ahead of him, the Republican party Mayor Pingree of Detroit might be counted on as a coming man. It is doubtful if the Czar and the Kaiser themselves could read the reports about their projects and then tell what they intended to do. The only wonder is that Dallas and Hot Springs have not each of them set up a claim for a National convention as a reward of virtue. It is claimed that upward of 15,000 names have been fraudulently added to the list of registered voters in Baltimore and in the voting of every name there is seen something of the fine Italian hand of Mr. Gorman. As the Government officials claim to have discovered a lot of bogus silver certificates manufactured in Italy and sent to New York in macaroni boxes, it is evident that even the home counterfeit industry needs protection. Because he has been snubbed by a ballet-girl, warned off the grass and arrested for bicycling, Marlborough has been ungratefully enough to forget that he got a free pass on the Vanderbilt roads without having to interview Chauncey Depew. According to Bishop Ludden of New York, Syracuse is in a worse condition than the wicked metropolis. He is quoted as saying: "I have come to the conclusion that this is a ring-ridden city. It is tightly clinched in the mouth of the ring; it is misgoverned, mismanaged, and corruption permeates." The people of Syracuse should come west and grow up with an honest country.

THE CALL SPEAKS FOR ALL.

Give your coin a chance to distinguish itself.

Peace hath her victories, but war has all the spoils.

Has grim-visaged Buckley smoothed his wrinkled front?

The Nation watches to see how San Francisco will do it.

It looks as if the Durrant case might end in a surprise party.

If you wish to see a Presidential convention, catch on and pull for it.

If China takes any interest in the proposals to regenerate her she doesn't show it.

It would be truly Californian to have that $100,000 in sight before the week closes.

Keep a little lookout all the time lest the lottery fiends try to get their work in again.

The movement for the National Convention has certainly started in the style that gets there.

It is hard to tell whether Corbett and Fitzsimmons are sparring for wind or free advertising.

Probably when Sherman's book is published we will find out it isn't a mystery story after all.

If Cleveland wishes to make his message sensational all he will have to do is to write a confession.

Let Chicago consider how beautiful Boston looks in the attitude of joining hands with San Francisco.

Suppose the Turks should give the Sultan the grand shake and set up for reform within the prairie, then what?

We are capable of making a National convention as instructive as an exposition and as attractive as a carnival.

Fortunately the Monroe doctrine was born before this administration and will have no trouble in surviving it.

If there be any Kentucky colonel in the City, he may sample our milk without a sludder; there is no water in it.

Prairie fires in Oklahoma may injure the fall hay crop, but nothing can ever scorch her stock of newly made grass widows.

According to reports from Maryland Gorman has registered nearly every dead man in the State and intends to vote them.

First the milkmen, then the laundrymen and now the butchers. How many more must we overtake to purify the town?

A Kansas orator is quoted as having recently said of Ingalls: "Up he stuck, and in the very vepnes of his stocktitude he fell."

It is rather rough that Corbett should have to put up $100 alimony every week and then not be allowed to take it out of anybody's hide.

If there were not so many able leaders ahead of him, the Republican party Mayor Pingree of Detroit might be counted on as a coming man.

It is doubtful if the Czar and the Kaiser themselves could read the reports about their projects and then tell what they intended to do.

The only wonder is that Dallas and Hot Springs have not each of them set up a claim for a National convention as a reward of virtue.

It is claimed that upward of 15,000 names have been fraudulently added to the list of registered voters in Baltimore and in the voting of every name there is seen something of the fine Italian hand of Mr. Gorman.

As the Government officials claim to have discovered a lot of bogus silver certificates manufactured in Italy and sent to New York in macaroni boxes, it is evident that even the home counterfeit industry needs protection.

Because he has been snubbed by a ballet-girl, warned off the grass and arrested for bicycling, Marlborough has been ungratefully enough to forget that he got a free pass on the Vanderbilt roads without having to interview Chauncey Depew.

According to Bishop Ludden of New York, Syracuse is in a worse condition than the wicked metropolis. He is quoted as saying: "I have come to the conclusion that this is a ring-ridden city. It is tightly clinched in the mouth of the ring; it is misgoverned, mismanaged, and corruption permeates." The people of Syracuse should come west and grow up with an honest country.

Because he has been snubbed by a ballet-girl, warned off the grass and arrested for bicycling, Marlborough has been ungratefully enough to forget that he got a free pass on the Vanderbilt roads without having to interview Chauncey Depew.

According to Bishop Ludden of New York, Syracuse is in a worse condition than the wicked metropolis. He is quoted as saying: "I have come to the conclusion that this is a ring-ridden city. It is tightly clinched in the mouth of the ring; it is misgoverned, mismanaged, and corruption permeates." The people of Syracuse should come west and grow up with an honest country.

Because he has been snubbed by a ballet-girl, warned off the grass and arrested for bicycling, Marlborough has been ungratefully enough to forget that he got a free pass on the Vanderbilt roads without having to interview Chauncey Depew.

According to Bishop Ludden of New York, Syracuse is in a worse condition than the wicked metropolis. He is quoted as saying: "I have come to the conclusion that this is a ring-ridden city. It is tightly clinched in the mouth of the ring; it is misgoverned, mismanaged, and corruption permeates." The people of Syracuse should come west and grow up with an honest country.

Because he has been snubbed by a ballet-girl, warned off the grass and arrested for bicycling, Marlborough has been ungratefully enough to forget that he got a free pass on the Vanderbilt roads without having to interview Chauncey Depew.

According to Bishop Ludden of New York, Syracuse is in a worse condition than the wicked metropolis. He is quoted as saying: "I have come to the conclusion that this is a ring-ridden city. It is tightly clinched in the mouth of the ring; it is misgoverned, mismanaged, and corruption permeates." The people of Syracuse should come west and grow up with an honest country.

Because he has been snubbed by a ballet-girl, warned off the grass and arrested for bicycling, Marlborough has been ungratefully enough to forget that he got a free pass on the Vanderbilt roads without having to interview Chauncey Depew.

According to Bishop Ludden of New York, Syracuse is in a worse condition than the wicked metropolis. He is quoted as saying: "I have come to the conclusion that this is a ring-ridden city. It is tightly clinched in the mouth of the ring; it is misgoverned, mismanaged, and corruption permeates." The people of Syracuse should come west and grow up with an honest country.

Because he has been snubbed by a ballet-girl, warned off the grass and arrested for bicycling, Marlborough has been ungratefully enough to forget that he got a free pass on the Vanderbilt roads without having to interview Chauncey Depew.

According to Bishop Ludden of New York, Syracuse is in a worse condition than the wicked metropolis. He is quoted as saying: "I have come to the conclusion that this is a ring-ridden city. It is tightly clinched in the mouth of the ring; it is misgoverned, mismanaged, and corruption permeates." The people of Syracuse should come west and grow up with an honest country.

Because he has been snubbed by a ballet-girl, warned off the grass and arrested for bicycling, Marlborough has been ungratefully enough to forget that he got a free pass on the Vanderbilt roads without having to interview Chauncey Depew.

According to Bishop Ludden of New York, Syracuse is in a worse condition than the wicked metropolis. He is quoted as saying: "I have come to the conclusion that this is a ring-ridden city. It is tightly clinched in the mouth of the ring; it is misgoverned, mismanaged, and corruption permeates." The people of Syracuse should come west and grow up with an honest country.

Because he has been snubbed by a ballet-girl, warned off the grass and arrested for bicycling, Marlborough has been ungratefully enough to forget that he got a free pass on the Vanderbilt roads without having to interview Chauncey Depew.

According to Bishop Ludden of New York, Syracuse is in a worse condition than the wicked metropolis. He is quoted as saying: "I have come to the conclusion that this is a ring-ridden city. It is tightly clinched in the mouth of the ring; it is misgoverned, mismanaged, and corruption permeates." The people of Syracuse should come west and grow up with an honest country.

Because he has been snubbed by a ballet-girl, warned off the grass and arrested for bicycling, Marlborough has been ungratefully enough to forget that he got a free pass on the Vanderbilt roads without having to interview Chauncey Depew.

According to Bishop Ludden of New York, Syracuse is in a worse condition than the wicked metropolis. He is quoted as saying: "I have come to the conclusion that this is a ring-ridden city. It is tightly clinched in the mouth of the ring; it is misgoverned, mismanaged, and corruption permeates." The people of Syracuse should come west and grow up with an honest country.

Because he has been snubbed by a ballet-girl, warned off the grass and arrested for bicycling, Marlborough has been ungratefully enough to forget that he got a free pass on the Vanderbilt roads without having to interview Chauncey Depew.

According to Bishop Ludden of New York, Syracuse is in a worse condition than the wicked metropolis. He is quoted as saying: "I have come to the conclusion that this is a ring-ridden city. It is tightly clinched in the mouth of the ring; it is misgoverned, mismanaged, and corruption permeates." The people of Syracuse should come west and grow up with an honest country.

Because he has been snubbed by a ballet-girl, warned off the grass and arrested for bicycling, Marlborough has been ungratefully enough to forget that he got a free pass on the Vanderbilt roads without having to interview Chauncey Depew.

According to Bishop Ludden of New York, Syracuse is in a worse condition than the wicked metropolis. He is quoted as saying: "I have come to the conclusion that this is a ring-ridden city. It is tightly clinched in the mouth of the ring; it is misgoverned, mismanaged, and corruption permeates." The people of Syracuse should come west and grow up with an honest country.

Give your coin a chance to distinguish itself. Peace hath her victories, but war has all the spoils. Has grim-visaged Buckley smoothed his wrinkled front? The Nation watches to see how San Francisco will do it. It looks as if the Durrant case might end in a surprise party. If you wish to see a Presidential convention, catch on and pull for it. If China takes any interest in the proposals to regenerate her she doesn't show it. It would be truly Californian to have that $100,000 in sight before the week closes. Keep a little lookout all the time lest the lottery fiends try to get their work in again. The movement for the National Convention has certainly started in the style that gets there. It is hard to tell whether Corbett and Fitzsimmons are sparring for wind or free advertising. Probably when Sherman's book is published we will find out it isn't a mystery story after all. If Cleveland wishes to make his message sensational all he will have to do is to write a confession. Let Chicago consider how beautiful Boston looks in the attitude of joining hands with San Francisco. Suppose the Turks should give the Sultan the grand shake and set up for reform within the prairie, then what? We are capable of making a National convention as instructive as an exposition and as attractive as a carnival. Fortunately the Monroe doctrine was born before this administration and will have no trouble in surviving it. If there be any Kentucky colonel in the City, he may sample our milk without a sludder; there is no water in it. Prairie fires in Oklahoma may injure the fall hay crop, but nothing can ever scorch her stock of newly made grass widows. According to reports from Maryland Gorman has registered nearly every dead man in the State and intends to vote them. First the milkmen, then the laundrymen and now the butchers. How many more must we overtake to purify the town? A Kansas orator is quoted as having recently said of Ingalls: "Up he stuck, and in the very vepnes of his stocktitude he fell." It is rather rough that Corbett should have to put up $100 alimony every week and then not be allowed to take it out of anybody's hide. If there were not so many able leaders ahead of him, the Republican party Mayor Pingree of Detroit might be counted on as a coming man. It is doubtful if the Czar and the Kaiser themselves could read the reports about their projects and then tell what they intended to do. The only wonder is that Dallas and Hot Springs have not each of them set up a claim for a National convention as a reward of virtue. It is claimed that upward of 15,000 names have been fraudulently added to the list of registered voters in Baltimore and in the voting of every name there is seen something of the fine Italian hand of Mr. Gorman. As the Government officials claim to have discovered a lot of bogus silver certificates manufactured in Italy and sent to New York in macaroni boxes, it is evident that even the home counterfeit industry needs protection. Because he has been snubbed by a ballet-girl, warned off the grass and arrested for bicycling, Marlborough has been ungratefully enough to forget that he got a free pass on the Vanderbilt roads without having to interview Chauncey Depew. According to Bishop Ludden of New York, Syracuse is in a worse condition than the wicked metropolis. He is quoted as saying: "I have come to the conclusion that this is a ring-ridden city. It is tightly clinched in the mouth of the ring; it is misgoverned, mismanaged, and corruption permeates." The people of Syracuse should come west and grow up with an honest country.

THE CALL SPEAKS FOR ALL.

Give your coin a chance to distinguish itself.

Peace hath her victories, but war has all the spoils.

Has grim-visaged Buckley smoothed his wrinkled front?

The Nation watches to see how San Francisco will do it.

It looks as if the Durrant case might end in a surprise party.

If you wish to see a Presidential convention, catch on and pull for it.

If China takes any interest in the proposals to regenerate her she doesn't show it.

It would be truly Californian to have that $100,000 in sight before the week closes.

Keep a little lookout all the time lest the lottery fiends try to get their work in again.

The movement for the National Convention has certainly started in the style that gets there.

It is hard to tell whether Corbett and Fitzsimmons are sparring for wind or free advertising.

Probably when Sherman's book is published we will find out it isn't a mystery story after all.

If Cleveland wishes to make his message sensational all he will have to do is to write a confession.

Let Chicago consider how beautiful Boston looks in the attitude of joining hands with San Francisco.

Suppose the Turks should give the Sultan the grand shake and set up for reform within the prairie, then what?

We are capable of making a National convention as instructive as an exposition and as attractive as a carnival.

Fortunately the Monroe doctrine was born before this administration and will have no trouble in surviving it.

If there be any Kentucky colonel in the City, he may sample our milk without a sludder; there is no water in it.

Prairie fires in Oklahoma may injure the fall hay crop, but nothing can ever scorch her stock of newly made grass widows.

According to reports from Maryland Gorman has registered nearly every dead man in the State and intends to vote them.

First the milkmen, then the laundrymen and now the butchers. How many more must we overtake to purify the town?

A Kansas orator is quoted as having recently said of Ingalls: "Up he stuck, and in the very vepnes of his stocktitude he fell."

It is rather rough that Corbett should have to put up $100 alimony every week and then not be allowed to take it out of anybody's hide.

If there were not so many able leaders ahead of him, the Republican party Mayor Pingree of Detroit might be counted on as a coming man.

It is doubtful if the Czar and the Kaiser themselves could read the reports about their projects and then tell what they intended to do.

The only wonder is that Dallas and Hot Springs have not each of them set up a claim for a National convention as a reward of virtue.

It is claimed that upward of 15,000 names have been fraudulently added to the list of registered voters in Baltimore and in the voting of every name there is seen something of the fine Italian hand of Mr. Gorman.

As the Government officials claim to have discovered a lot of bogus silver certificates manufactured in Italy and sent to New York in macaroni boxes, it is evident that even the home counterfeit industry needs protection.

Because he has been snubbed by a ballet-girl, warned off the grass and arrested for bicycling, Marlborough has been ungratefully enough to forget that he got a free pass on the Vanderbilt roads without having to interview Chauncey Depew.

According to Bishop Ludden of New York, Syracuse is in a worse condition than the wicked metropolis. He is quoted as saying: "I have come to the conclusion that this is a ring-ridden city. It is tightly clinched in the mouth of the ring; it is misgoverned, mismanaged, and corruption permeates." The people of Syracuse should come west and grow up with an honest country.

Because he has been snubbed by a ballet-girl, warned off the grass and arrested for bicycling, Marlborough has been ungratefully enough to forget that he got a free pass on the Vanderbilt roads without having to interview Chauncey Depew.

According to Bishop Ludden of New York, Syracuse is in a worse condition than the wicked metropolis. He is quoted as saying: "I have come to the conclusion that this is a ring-ridden city. It is tightly clinched in the mouth of the ring; it is misgoverned, mismanaged, and corruption permeates." The people of Syracuse should come west and grow up with an honest country.

Because he has been snubbed by a ballet-girl, warned off the grass and arrested for bicycling, Marlborough has been ungratefully enough to forget that he got a free pass on the Vanderbilt roads without having to interview Chauncey Depew.

According to Bishop Ludden of New York, Syracuse is in a worse condition than the wicked metropolis. He is quoted as saying: "I have come to the conclusion that this is a ring-ridden city. It is tightly clinched in the mouth of the ring; it is misgoverned, mismanaged, and corruption permeates." The people of Syracuse should come west and grow up with an honest country.

Because he has been snubbed by a ballet-girl, warned off the grass and arrested for bicycling, Marlborough has been ungratefully enough to forget that he got a free pass on the Vanderbilt roads without having to interview Chauncey Depew.

According to Bishop Ludden of New York, Syracuse is in a worse condition than the wicked metropolis. He is quoted as saying: "I have come to the conclusion that this is a ring-ridden city. It is tightly clinched in the mouth of the ring; it is misgoverned, mismanaged, and corruption permeates." The people of Syracuse should come west and grow up with an honest country.

Because he has been snubbed by a ballet-girl, warned off the grass and arrested for bicycling, Marlborough has been ungratefully enough to forget that he got a free pass on the Vanderbilt roads without having to interview Chauncey Depew.

According to Bishop Ludden of New York, Syracuse is in a worse condition than the wicked metropolis. He is quoted as saying: "I have come to the conclusion that this is a ring-ridden city. It is tightly clinched in the mouth of the ring; it is misgoverned, mismanaged, and corruption permeates." The people of Syracuse should come west and grow up with an honest country.

Because he has been snubbed by a ballet-girl, warned off the grass and arrested for bicycling, Marlborough has been ungratefully enough to forget that he got a free pass on the Vanderbilt roads without having to interview Chauncey Depew.

According to Bishop Ludden of New York, Syracuse is in a worse condition than the wicked metropolis. He is quoted as saying: "I have come to the conclusion that this is a ring-ridden city. It is tightly clinched in the mouth of the ring; it is misgoverned, mismanaged, and corruption permeates." The people of Syracuse should come west and grow up with an honest country.

Because he has been snubbed by a ballet-girl, warned off the grass and arrested for bicycling, Marlborough has been ungratefully enough to forget that he got a free pass on the Vanderbilt roads without having to interview Chauncey Depew.

According to Bishop Ludden of New York, Syracuse is in a worse condition than the wicked metropolis. He is quoted as saying: "I have come to the conclusion that this is a ring-ridden city. It is tightly clinched in the mouth of the ring; it is misgoverned, mismanaged, and corruption permeates." The people of Syracuse should come west and grow up with an honest country.

Because he has been snubbed by a ballet-girl, warned off the grass and arrested for bicycling, Marlborough has been ungratefully enough to forget that he got a free pass on the Vanderbilt roads without having to interview Chauncey Depew.

According to Bishop Ludden of New York, Syracuse is in a worse condition than the wicked metropolis. He is quoted as saying: "I have come to the conclusion that this is a ring-ridden city. It is tightly clinched in the mouth of the ring; it is misgoverned, mismanaged, and corruption permeates." The people of Syracuse should come west and grow up with an honest country.

Because he has been snubbed by a ballet-girl, warned off the grass and arrested for bicycling, Marlborough has been ungratefully enough to forget that he got a free pass on the Vanderbilt roads without having to interview Chauncey Depew.

According to Bishop Ludden of New York, Syracuse is in a worse condition than the wicked metropolis. He is quoted as saying: "I have come to the conclusion that this is a ring-ridden city. It is tightly clinched in the mouth of the ring; it is misgoverned, mismanaged, and corruption permeates." The people of Syracuse should come west and grow up with an honest country.

Because he has been snubbed by a ballet-girl, warned off the grass and arrested for bicycling, Marlborough has been ungratefully enough to forget that he got a free pass on the Vanderbilt roads without having to interview Chauncey Depew.

According to Bishop Ludden of New York, Syracuse is in a worse condition than the wicked metropolis. He is quoted as saying: "I have come to the conclusion that this is a ring-ridden city. It is tightly clinched in the mouth of the ring; it is misgoverned, mismanaged, and corruption permeates." The people of Syracuse should come west and grow up with an honest country.

Because he has been snubbed by a ballet-girl, warned off the grass and arrested for bicycling, Marlborough has been ungratefully enough to forget that he got a free pass on the Vanderbilt roads without having to interview Chauncey Depew.

According to Bishop Ludden of New York, Syracuse is in a worse condition than the wicked metropolis. He is quoted as saying: "I have come to the conclusion that this is a ring-ridden city. It is tightly clinched in the mouth of the ring; it is misgoverned, mismanaged, and corruption permeates." The people of Syracuse should come west and grow up with an honest country.

Give your coin a chance to distinguish itself. Peace hath her victories, but war has all the spoils. Has grim-visaged Buckley smoothed his wrinkled front? The Nation watches to see how San Francisco will do it. It looks as if the Durrant case might end in a surprise party. If you wish to see a Presidential convention, catch on and pull for it. If China takes any interest in the proposals to regenerate her she doesn't show it. It would be truly Californian to have that $100,000 in sight before the week closes. Keep a little lookout all the time lest the lottery fiends try to get their work in again. The movement for the National Convention has certainly started in the style that gets there. It is hard to tell whether Corbett and Fitzsimmons are sparring for wind or free advertising. Probably when Sherman's book is published we will find out it isn't a mystery story after all. If Cleveland wishes to make his message sensational all he will have to do is to write a confession. Let Chicago consider how beautiful Boston looks in the attitude of joining hands with San Francisco. Suppose the Turks should give the Sultan the grand shake and set up for reform within the prairie, then what? We are capable of making a National convention as instructive as an exposition and as attractive as a carnival. Fortunately the Monroe doctrine was born before this administration and will have no trouble in surviving it. If there be any Kentucky colonel in the City, he may sample our milk without a sludder; there is no water in it. Prairie fires in Oklahoma may injure the fall hay crop, but nothing can ever scorch her stock of newly made grass widows. According to reports from Maryland Gorman has registered nearly every dead man in the State and intends to vote them. First the milkmen, then the laundrymen and now the butchers. How many more must we overtake to purify the town? A Kansas orator is quoted as having recently said of Ingalls: "Up he stuck, and in the very vepnes of his stocktitude he fell." It is rather rough that Corbett should have to put up $100 alimony every week and then not be allowed to take it out of anybody's hide. If there were not so many able leaders ahead of him, the Republican party Mayor Pingree of Detroit might be counted on as a coming man. It is doubtful if the Czar and the Kaiser themselves could read the reports about their projects and then tell what they intended to do. The only wonder is that Dallas and Hot Springs have not each of them set up a claim for a National convention as a reward of virtue. It is claimed that upward of 15,000 names have been fraudulently added to the list of registered voters in Baltimore and in the voting of every name there is seen something of the fine Italian hand of Mr. Gorman. As the Government officials claim to have discovered a lot of bogus silver certificates manufactured in Italy and sent to New York in macaroni boxes, it is evident that even the home counterfeit industry needs protection. Because he has been snubbed by a ballet-girl, warned off the grass and arrested for bicycling, Marlborough has been ungratefully enough to forget that he got a free pass on the Vanderbilt roads without having to interview Chauncey Depew. According to Bishop Ludden of New York, Syracuse is in a worse condition than the wicked metropolis. He is quoted as saying: "I have come to the conclusion that this is a ring-ridden city. It is tightly clinched in the mouth of the ring; it is misgoverned, mismanaged, and corruption permeates." The people of Syracuse should come west and grow up with an honest country.

THE CALL SPEAKS FOR ALL.

Give your coin a chance to distinguish itself.

Peace hath her victories, but war has all the spoils.

Has grim-visaged Buckley smoothed his wrinkled front?

The Nation watches to see how San Francisco will do it.

It looks as if the Durrant case might end in a surprise party.

If you wish to see a Presidential convention, catch on and pull for it.

If China takes any interest in the proposals to regenerate her she doesn't show it.