The Flames Now Approaching the Famous Big Trees of Calaveras.

RAGING IN OTHER QUARTERS.

Forests Near Santa Cruz Are Again Blazing-Great Damage in All Directions.

ANGELS CAMP, CAL., Oct. 18 .- The fire in the timber-belt is still raging. About seventy-five men went up to-day to aid the Utica Mining Company, whose flume is burning. Four dollars a day is being offered for help. It is impossible to ascertain the extent of the loss at this time, but it will be immense. As the forest is as dry as tinder it will be difficult to control the

The last telephone message, received at 2 o'clock this afternoon, said several sections of the company's monster flume had already fallen. The Utica company had only sufficient water to run its mine to the 25th inst., but if the flume is destroyed to mediately closed down.

McKay's sawmill is now in immediate danger of destruction, but Manuel's lumber-plant, which it was thought would go vesterday, was saved. Superintendent T. J. Lane of the Utica mine is personally directing the forces against the fire, as the work is dangerous. Physicians are at hand and loads of provisions and other necessities have been sent up. The fire is said to be rapidly approaching the famous Calaveras big trees. This whole section of country is enveloped in dense clouds of smoke and the sun has been practically obscured all day, while the stars cannot be seen to-night.

FIRES AROUND SANTA CRUZ. Magnificent Groves and Miles of Fences Leveled by the Flames.

SANTA CRUZ, CAL., Nov. 18 .- For the past few days forest fires have been raging in the mountains of this county. The flames are shooting upward in many secflames are shooting upward in many sections, and to-day the smoke was so dense that the entire Santa Cruz range was hidenced in this county in November, resulting partially from the heat sent out by the swept over considerable brush and timber land. The flames could be plainly seen from town.

The largest fire is at Vine Hill, where acre after acre of the finest timber land has been burned over. Much of the timber was on the Jarvis property, and the fire encroached upon the fine vineyard. Men have been at work fighting the flames since Friday to save the vineyards in this section. The fire on the ranch of John. Eaton at Scotts Valley is also a fierce one. MERRY WAR ON RATES.

One-Dollar Fares From Portland to San Francisco Appear to Be in Sight.

PORTLAND, Or., Nov. 18.-The rate war between the Oregon Railway and Navigation Company and the Southern Pacific is progressing merrily. To-morrow. is the steamer and Shasta special day, and both companies are knifing schedules for business. The bookings at both the railroad and steamship offices indicate that the public is enjoying the situation, and a Flaming yellow posters are all over town, announcing that for $10 a man could get a first-class passage to California by rail, and for just half that sum he could go first class by steamer, including, of course, his meals and berth, and by steerage could leave town for $2.50. The train rate inleave town for $250. The train rate includes sleeping accommodations only. The Navication Company is ready to take up any bluff made by the railroad, and, judging from the looks of things to-day, the war is on until some one cries for quarter. It is not altogether improbable that the rates may be cut until it is possible to get a steerage berth to San Francisco for $1.

SANTA ROSA'S SENSATION.

Mary E. Nordin Accuses Her Husband of Being a Bigamist. SANTA ROSA, CAL., Nov. 18.—Mary E. Nordin, the plaintiff in the Agua Caliente Springs litigation of Nordin vs. Nordin, filed an amendment to the complaint to-day in which are some new developments of a sensational character. Mrs. Nordin first says that she gave a deed to the property in dispute simply for deed to the property in dispute simply for the real estate and not for any of her per-sonal property. She states that in the month of October, 1882, the defendant, John A. Nordin (her husband) was known by the name of John A. That an exciting rush did not occur was due to the manner in which the reservation was thrown open and to the uncertainty existing as to whether it really was to open to-day. I do not say that any sweeping change will be made, but there are a great many places that can be filled by Democrats just as well as by Republicans. SANTA ANA RACES. Preparations for the National Circuit Bicycle Events.

SANTA ANA, CAL., Nov. 18 .- Active preparations are being made for the national circuit bicycle meet in this city on the 27th and 28th insts. The track is in excellent condition, and the records already made upon it prove it to be one of the fastest in the State. There will be may expect some excellent sport unless the weather should be unfavorable.

Among the prominent racing men who will be here are Bald, Cabanne, Sims, Titus, Cooper, Maddox, Bliss and Murphy. Southern California will be represented by such well known riders as Mc-Crea, Lacey, Edwards, Ulbricht and Castle-man, all of whom are said to be in great racing form. The programme of races and prizes is as follows:

MRS. FOLLIS DEAD.

The Well-Known Philanthropist Passes Away After a Short Illness. Mrs. Annie Follis, the wife of Richard H. Follis and sister of the late millionaire James C. Flood, died yesterday at her home at 2230 Washington street. The lady had been ill since last Thursday, with what appeared to be apoplexy, and consequently her death was not unex- obtainable. pected.

The attack was sudden, paralyzing her right side, and at the same time she lost her power of speech. Dr. P. de Vecchi was called at once and on Friday he expressed the belief that Mrs. Follis would recover, unless a relapse should occur. The efforts of the physician were of no avail and the lady passed quietly away.

Mrs. Follis had an extensive circle of friends and acquaintances. During the past few years she devoted her entire time and attention to charity, and she is well known in the homes of many poor people, who will grieve when they hear she has passed away.

Deceased is the mother of Fred, James, Richard, Lillian and Clarence Follis and Mrs. Paolo de Vecchi. She was born in New York and was 57 years of age. The interment will be private.

GOOD TIMBER FOR WASHINGTON.

The Executive Committee Has the Best Men on the Coast From Which to Select.

However much may depend upon the strength exhibited by San Francisco in the convention project there is something very encouraging about the way the country is standing in and lending its assistance. From the northern to the southern part of the State there is an evident desire on the part of the people to do all in their power to increase the fund and thus give our committee, soon to go on to Washington, sufficient assurance that any amount of money demanded of them by the National Committee will be forthcoming at the right time.

There is no doubt about the sum being gathered together within twenty-four hours after the committee makes its wants known to our representatives. As in all cases of a similar nature there are some men who absolutely refuse to put up a dollar, and they can well afford it. These individuals are so scarce, however, that they have no particular weight, and are mere specks among the great mass of liberal, country-loving, patriotic men who are ever ready to band together for the common good. Secretary Litchfield of the finance committee has found a few of these people, and in some cases they are the ones who will be most benefited.

Yesterday the executive committee of the committee on promotion met at its rooms in the Chronicle building and drafted the following letter, which is to be sent to each member of the committee located in different parts of California:

OFFICES OF THE EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE ON NATIONAL REPUBLICAN CONVENTION, ROOMS 100 AND 101, CHRONICLE BUILDING. SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Nov. 18, 1895.

Dear Sir: I have the honor to inform you that in accordance with the resolution adopted at the meeting of the promotion committee, held in this City November 14, you have been on the reservation looking for trouble for ample and excellent accommodations for appointed a member of said committee to rep resent your county. The benefit to every section of the State to be derived from holding the Republican National Convention in San Francisco is now fully realized by all Californians, irrespective of political faith. While the executive work is in the hands of competent and energetic citizens of this City the members of the committee on promotion are expected to do their full share toward attaining the success of this

You are therefore urgently requested to immediately call a meeting of the citizens of your county for the purpose of taking such action as may assist in securing to San Francisco the Republican National Convention of 1896. Communications addressed to the executive committee of the promotion committee, room 100, Chronicle building, San Francisco, will receive prompt attention. Yours respectfully,

The regular executive committee held an executive session yesterday, with Wendell

Easton in the chair, and discussed the plans touching on the question of sending delegates to Washington to influence the National committeemen in favor of selecting San Francisco as the next convention city. They have had presented to them a great many names of gentlemen who offer to volunteer their services and time in this matter. It will be necessary to select the very best timber for this work, and the result of their deliberations will probably be ready for publication to-day. There is certainly a very generous spirit apparent

Can Be Greatly Improved at a Reason able Expense. "If the National Convention comes to this City, and I hope it will." said Asa R. Wells yesterday while in the Mechanics' Pavilion, "this will be the building in which it will meet, but there will have to be some change made, so that the voices can be heard in every part of the building. If the arch is sheathed with quarter-inch redwood stuff, it will cover the many beams that now break the sound wave and form a sounding-board that will carry the sound of a low voice from one end of the building to the other. The statement that the acoustics are not what they should be amounts to nothing, for that can be arranged with but very little trouble."

THE SITUATION IN PITTSBURG. Several Factions Are Likely to Spoil the Cooking. PITTSBURG, Pa., Nov. 18.-It is be coming daily more evident that even had this city no rivals for the National Convention Senator Quay would have to fight sion of some very muscular young men, who will be ready to meet other athletes at their to get it here. A show of working to secure it is being made by the local politicians, who are mostly combine men, to be NO BRANCHES. sure, but the Quay people are not back ward in saying that the effort ends in show. The subscriptions of $65,000 are at an end apparently, and ex-Postmaster

James S. McKean, chairman of the finance committee, has ceased to hustle for any more. "I've done my share," said he, 'and I'm through."

little more Magee than otherwise, and his Heavy Convention Work Will statement is taken as a fair indication of bow apathetic the politicians here are. None of the Quay leaders are in the city now to hustle things along, and the interest of the Magee people is perfunctory.
This town is pretty well under Mr. Magee's thumb, but the general opinion is that he would certainly let any other city have the convention with a struggle. Quay is in Florida, hunting for complete rest, Lieutenant-Governor Walter Lyon is in Atlanta with the State commission, and Senator Arthur Kennedy is busy helping to Lexow Philadelphia. These men are Quay's leaders in Allegheny County, and every day they are absent valuable time for hustling along the convention enthusiasm is being lost. There is no excitement at all on that score and convention talk is laid aside. The hog combine is perfectly willing that the question should not be agitated. They believe implicity that for it to come here would greatly add to Quay's prestige, which they cannot afford under any circumstances.

Everybody believes, though, that Senator Quay is very much in earnest when he says that he wants Pittsburg to have the convention, and nobody doubts that he will turn all his energies toward getting it. But when he goes down to Washington next month to argue with the National committeemen he is liable to find the Magee wing of the Pennsylvania Republican party is quietly declaring that Pittsburg cannot handle the convention; that she has inadequate accommodations, and that the delegates will have to run their chances of being packed into boardinghouses when the hotels shall have been packed. The hostility of the hog combine to Senator Quay will play an important part in Pittsburg's fight for the National

CALL correspondent learns to-night that Democrats high in the councils of the party have resolved to make a determined effort to take the National Democratic Convention to New York. This agrees entirely with what Chairman Harrity said a week ago. He expressed the belief that the convention would be held in New York City, and said, furthermore, that the National Committee would meet here January 2 to decide the time and place for holding it. He said yesterday he thought it would meet in New York the last of June or early in July, as a short campaign was desirable. This statement was made immediately after Mr. Harrity had talked with President Cleveland at the White House, and the presumption is that Cleveland, Whitney and Lamont are in the deal to take the convention to the metropolis. The Democrats believe that if they can hold their convention there they will be able to better influence the delegates to "resolute" for gold money.

WILLIAM SEATON MISSING.

Huntington's Nephew Declines to Pay Alimony or Saw Wood.

The fire on the hearth of E. M. Morgan, the attorney, has gone slowly out, and there remains nothing but a heap of cold gray ashes for the servant to throw into the back yard. He had expected that this week would be one of bright fires and cozy warmth, for he had hired William Seaton, the nephew of Collis Huntington, to saw wood for him; but Seaton went on strike, and the Morgan fires have flickered out.

and the Morgan fires have flickered out.

Morgan, who is attorney for Mrs. Seaton in her suit for divorce, had taken pity upon Seaton's idle condition and his plaintive demands to be allowed to labor for his bread, and had offered him employment. Seaton had to pay his wife and child $35 a month alimony, but not being able to find any work in his line he did not pay. It was then that Morgan conceived the bright idea of employing the industrious Seaton at his own woodpile, and thereby provide his own woodpile, and thereby provide the defendant with work, his client with alimony and his hearth with blazing back logs. He would pay $3 a day, and would furnish the wood and saw; so under the gentle persuasion of an order of court Seaton agreed to appear yesterday morning. He protested vehemently, as he did not think the work fit for him. His trade is think the work fit for him. His trade is the picking of the blossoms of a century plant during the blooming season, and during the time between crops he naturally finds himself idle. He said, however, he would try the job.

At half-past 1 o'clock he appeared before Judge Hunt with Dr. W. S. Gibeson, Dr. E. H. Mattner and Dr. Thomas R. Jaynes. They all agreed under oath that hernia, which Seaton said he was suffering from, was not a disease to prevent an industri-ous man from sawing wood, and Mr. Morgan submitted a concurring opinion. Then his Honor ordered that in view of all the facts presented it was plain that the non-sawing defendant was guilty of contempt, not of or for the forty-cord wood contempt, not of or for the forty-cord wood pile in Mr. Morgan's back yard, but for the court which ordered him to reduce it it to kindling wood, and so Mr. Seaton was ordered to jail for five days from the time of his arrest. But Mr. Seaton could not be found. Deputy Sheriffs anxiously sought for him to bestow upon him this latest gift of court and counsel, but it was finally decided that Uncle Collis had given him a pass to Mexico, where, it is said, he may find a grove of century plants where he can ply his trade.
