

A SENSATION IN COURT.

An Attorney in the Hale & Norcross Suit Objects to Testimony.

HE SAID THE WITNESS LIED.

Both Are Threatened With Fines for Contempt—An Old Story Revived.

A sensation cropped up in the Hale & Norcross suit, which is on hearing in Department 4 of the Superior Court, after being sent back by the Supreme Court for a readjustment of the accounting.

H. W. Tangerman, superintendent of the West Consolidated Virginia Mining Company, witness for plaintiff, was being cross-examined by W. E. F. Deal, one of the attorneys for the defense.

The attorney was crowding the witness hard regarding alleged irregularities while employed as a collector for a limer mine in Nevada and as a mining man in Colorado.

Tangerman acknowledged that he was indicted in the latter State, charged with stealing, but said that he was acquitted.

The court yesterday, upon the objection of plaintiff's attorney, finally shut off further examination under this heading, leaving the witness in a peculiar situation as to his veracity.

It was after giving an opportunity to the witness to explain his connection with the alleged crookedness, and during the narrative told what he considered was the reason of Attorney Deal's animus in attempting to impeach his testimony in the cross-examination.

His statement was to the effect that Deal had offered him a commission for the performance of certain work, which is unprofessional and against the law.

This startling and unusual statement by the witness was "carrying the war into Africa" with a vengeance, and the quiet courtroom awoke to a realization that something unusual was going to happen.

Mr. Deal was on his feet in an instant when not only an objection, but a loud protestation and an emphatic demand for protection as an officer of the court.

"I am not on the witness-stand, your Honor," he shouted, "but I say that man has lied and he knows that he is deliberately lying. I was not an attorney in that case."

The now thoroughly angry attorney made a menacing rush toward the witness-stand and was met by the Deputy County Clerk, who stood between him and Tangerman.

Officers were taking a hostile hue, and the principals of the great mining fight were beginning to take a newer interest in the case.

Evan Williams, superintendent of the Nevada mill, where the assays of ore were made, leaned forward in his chair; H. M. Levy, president of the Hale & Norcross mine, whose work was commented upon by the Supreme Court.

however, that legally or not they had obtained something, nevertheless, and so they were convicted. The Supreme Court to which an appeal was taken went further.

The order, it said, was made out payable to bearer, and in hands other than Indian would have been an engine of fraud, consequently the order was a forgery and the braves must pay the piper.

REV. A. J. WELLS ACCEPTS.

He Will Take Charge of the Second Unitarian Church.

Rev. A. J. Wells signified his acceptance of the call extended by the trustees of the Second Unitarian Church of this City by a telegram yesterday.

The final step of the process of regularly installing him as pastor will be taken by the congregation's ratifying the course of the trustees by vote.

He is the immediate successor of Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Leslie W. Sprague, who are now in charge of the Unitarian Church of Chattanooga, Tenn.

POPPIER TO THE FRONT.

Max Suddenly Bobs Up Again as One of the Junta Leaders.

The Occidental People Will Let the New Primary Committee Take Care of Vacancies.

The latest Junta news is that Max Popper is an anti-Buckley leader again. He was up at the headquarters in the Flood building last night for the first time in three or four weeks, and he consulted with man after man in the back room, just like Gavin McNab.

Popper started in in that active way when the pot began to boil, and then he quit so suddenly as a light goes out, and took the attitude of a disinterested and somewhat weary spectator.

The cause of his disaffection was in some way closely connected with the prominent and controlling position in this combination of Rainey, Daggett and Lanigan, to all of whom he is a bitter enemy.

The Buckleites are forging actively ahead in preparing for their regular primary on January 4 and in strengthening and fortifying their position.

That committee of twenty-five to engineer the primary election is being prepared by Chairman Rothschild in connection with other leaders, and will probably be announced to-day.

Mr. Rothschild yesterday consulted with Judge Maguire about the composition of the committee, and Mr. Maguire and his friends will give extensive consideration in spite of any disgust with the inharmonious situation that Maguire may feel.

This committee will take practical charge of the party machine as soon as appointed, and will be called for by the general committee, which will be called for some night this week, it will have important reports and recommendations to make to the general body.

The Junta is trying to appear quiescent. The next meeting, which was present, committee is not talked about, and there is no gossip as to when it will occur.

"We are doing nothing now because there is nothing to do," said Sam Braubhart yesterday. "We forced the fight, got the other side where we wanted them, and now we are letting them have things their own way."

"BINDERS" AT WAR.

Chinese Take the Law Into Their Own Hands and Get Into Jail.

Another highbinder war is impending in Chinatown. There was a slight outbreak yesterday morning. It was renewed last night on Dupont street, where some dozen "binders" attacked a single man who defended himself ably till help arrived.

Sergeant Davis and his squad began gathering in the attacking highbinder without delay. They put a full baker's dozen of them behind the bars at the California-street station before 10 o'clock, and took from them nearly a bushel of long-barreled Colt's revolvers, knives, razors, sharp-pointed scissors and other implements of warfare.

WEALTH AND BEAUTY WED.

A Young and Pretty Telegraph Operator Is United to a Millionaire.

ST. HELENA'S RECENT ROMANCE

A Hurred and Quiet Ceremony That Even the Local Papers Were Ignorant Of.

The weddings of millionaires are usually reported even to the minutest particulars. An exception occurred recently at St. Helena. One of Napa County's wealthiest young men was married there a fortnight ago. He was married to a beautiful and talented young lady well known in this City, but not a line has up to this time been printed about the wedding, and when a few of the young lady's friends were asked about it yesterday they were surprised to learn it had happened.

The groom was George Rutherford, a handsome young fellow of 22, whose home is in Napa County. He is a millionaire, having been made such by the death of his father some years ago. His property includes among other things most of the town of Rutherford and one of the best-appointed estates in California.

The bride was Miss Lulu Worrell, a blonde of 18, who was for some time a telegraph operator in this City. The young lady was born in Napa County, near St.

Helena, where her parents owned a vineyard and were fairly well-to-do. As she grew up her beauty of face and disposition won the affections of her boyish neighbor, George Rutherford, who was her particular cavalier from the time she was 8 years old.

They at last came to that stage known as "grown up." They were still great friends, but not sweethearts. The girl became a young lady. She was the center of an ever-widening circle of friends, who admired her as much for her firmness as for her winning ways.

According to yesterday's testimony Murray kept a saloon in this City in 1892. Fred Marsh proposed to him the counterfeiting venture, and they, with the assistance of Abatti, Visconte and others, went into the business extensively and became known eventually as the "North Beach gang."

Murray was the first witness examined for the Government and the questioning consumed the day. Attorney Campbell objected vigorously to some of his evidence, but Judge Morrow overruled him.

Attorneys Joseph Campbell and E. S. Pillsbury had made some strong objections to the prosecution putting on the stand C. M. Murray and Fred Marsh, the two accomplices, as it is supposed, of Howell, but Judge Morrow delivered an opinion early in the day allowing them to be examined in consideration of the principle that the question of whether they were accomplices or not would be one for the jury to determine.

His pardon was based upon a recommendation emanating from the United States District Attorney's office at the urgency of Secret Service Agent Harris. It was Harris' scheme to use Murray and Marsh against Howell and produce evidence that would convict this time.

Miss Worrell became a telegraph operator they were not surprised and only regarded her the more highly.

She was hardly 16 when she came to San Francisco to work for the Western Union Telegraph Company. Her form and face were mature. She was most attractive for, though her skin was dark, her hair was of a decided blonde hue.

Miss Worrell regarded him as a very dear friend, though it was as such that she corresponded with him when he was in the United States. Later she was put in charge of the office at Twenty-third avenue, East Oakland. All this time she lived with relatives in this City.

Mr. Rutherford was most of the time in Napa County, engaged in the vineyard, "to the bay," and he usually brought a team of steppers with him by boat, and would spend a few jolly days with his old-time friend. The young people corresponded, but they rarely met.

Then a young telegraph operator appeared on the scene. This was "Jack" Connors, a good-hearted, bright-eyed, jovial fellow, who succumbed at once to the charms of the girl from Napa. They "kept company" for some time, but there was no engagement, though Connors was much infatuated.

AUBURN AND REDDING COME IN

Now Is the Time for All Who Want to Assist to Come In and Show Their Sincerity.

Now is the time for all those who mean business to come to the front and show their depth of sincerity by lending a helping financial hand to the plan of securing the next Republican Convention. Our delegates to Washington, in whose hands the work of working on the National Committee has been placed, are about to drive the last spike for the City and the coast.

The finance committee has succeeded in securing signatures to the amount of $100,000 in San Francisco alone, and the returns from the interior indicate something in the neighborhood of $50,000 more.

No movement was ever inaugurated in this State that brought forth such good results as the present one, and even if the desired result is not reached it will have had the effect of showing Californians that the State is a unit on all propositions for its good.

The National Committee meets in Washington on the 10th of December, and it is necessary that by that time California has marshaled her strength in good order, ready for the fight that is bound to occur there. Pittsburg, Chicago and New York are after the same prize that we desire, and it is likely that a very lively struggle will be waged for the plum.

In order that the men who have indicated their faith in the movement should have an understanding of what is expected of them, Wendell Easton yesterday sent out the following communication to all those who had offered to assist in the work that cannot be carried on without funds:

Dear Sir: The executive committee in charge of the movement to secure the Republican National Convention for San Francisco beg to report most satisfactory progress. Our work is well in hand and interest throughout the State awakened.

The finance committee report that there will be a total of $150,000 to $200,000 in this City, and the reports from the interior insure another $50,000; actual subscriptions in hand to-day, $100,000.

All remittances can be addressed to the rooms of the executive committee, Nos. 100 and 101, Chronicle building, which will be deposited at once with the treasurer, Louis Sloss Jr., and only paid out on drafts signed by the chairman or vice-chairman and countersigned by the secretary of this committee.

All unused funds, after this preliminary work is completed, will be at once returned to the voluntary subscribers in proportion to their subscriptions.

It is desirable that we should have responses as early as possible. The committee will acknowledge when it ascertains the condition of this preliminary subscription fund. Respectfully yours, Executive Committee.

WENDELL EASTON, Chairman.

Yesterday the chairman of the promotion committee, Albert Castle, received letters of acknowledgment from General Chapman of the north and Mayor Frank Rader of the south, who were appointed as delegates to the National Committee meeting. They will go on to Washington in a few days. General Friedrich Leister.

REDDING IS READY.

A Meeting Held in Which She Pledged Herself.

REDDING, CAL., Nov. 25.—The Republicans of this city held a meeting to-night to devise means of assisting the State Central Committee to capture the next Republican National Convention for San Francisco.

Whereas, We believe that it is to the best interests of the people of California, and will voice a freer expression of the people of the United States regarding the choice of a candidate for President, that the next National Republican Convention be held in San Francisco, Resolved, By the citizens of Shasta County in mass-meeting assembled this 25th day of November, 1895, that the holding of said convention in San Francisco will be conducive to the prosperity of the State of California at large by bringing within its confines the ablest men of the Nation, showing to them not only our legislative needs and necessities, but also displaying to them our great natural advantages to the end that they may be more generally understood.

MURRAY AGAINST HOWELL

He Was One of the Main Operators of the North Beach Gang.

The Strongest Evidence That Has Yet Been Found Against the Stockton Man.

The Government scored another point yesterday in the Howell counterfeiting case on trial in the United States District Court, and with this success it may be said that the trial has begun in earnest.

Attorneys Joseph Campbell and E. S. Pillsbury had made some strong objections to the prosecution putting on the stand C. M. Murray and Fred Marsh, the two accomplices, as it is supposed, of Howell, but Judge Morrow delivered an opinion early in the day allowing them to be examined in consideration of the principle that the question of whether they were accomplices or not would be one for the jury to determine.

WHEN OTHERS FAIL CONSULT

THE MOUNTAIN TOWN IS SENDING ITS ASSISTANCE.

AUBURN, CAL., Nov. 25.—Citizens of Placer County in a non-partisan mass-meeting to-day passed resolutions favoring the bringing of the National Republican Convention to San Francisco and selected a finance committee to immediately solicit subscriptions.

Hon. J. H. Neff called the meeting to order and Judge Prewett was selected as chairman and Edwin F. Wright chosen secretary.

Messrs. D. W. Lubbeck, G. W. Armstrong and J. F. Felt were appointed a committee on subscriptions. Following resolutions were passed:

WHEREAS, The lack of knowledge on the part of prominent men of both the leading parties of the Atlantic and Mississippi Valley States of the interests and needs of the Pacific Slope section of our common country results many times in the failure of needed legislation for this section; and whereas, the near approach of a Presidential campaign in 1896 reminds us of another possible opportunity of impressing the leading men of both great parties of the importance of our State as an integral portion of the Nation by naming of our metropolis, San Francisco, as the city in which the National convention can be held, therefore it is

Resolved, By citizens of Placer County in non-partisan mass-meeting assembled, that we are fully aware of the importance of securing the designation of San Francisco as the city in which the National Republican Convention should be held, and that in every way possible we pledge ourselves to aid in securing the desired result, believing it to be no more than a deserved recognition of the importance of our section.

IS CHICAGO ASLEEP?

She Must Get In Soon or Not at All.

CHICAGO, ILL., Nov. 25.—William J. Campbell, the Illinois member of the National Republican Committee, returned to-day from his visit to Washington. He had a long conference with J. Irving Pearce, who has taken the initiative in working for the National convention prize to be awarded Chicago.

Although neither gentleman would disclose the information which Mr. Campbell no doubt brought with him from his fellow-committeemen in Washington, it was learned that Mr. Campbell told the chairman of the Chicago committee that immediate action of definite character must be taken by Chicago's business men, and a guarantee payment of at least $70,000 made to the National Committee before the claims of this city could be considered.

It is understood that a meeting of the business men's committee will be held at once.
