AN ULTRA-HONEST CYCLIST.

The Town of San Leandro to Wage Its First Fight Against a Corporation.

OAKLAND OFFICE SAN FRANCISCO CALL, 908 Broadway, Dec. 15.

A more novel squabble could hardly be conceived than that now agitating Oakland's political coteries. Certain members of the body politic are putting themselves on record as being strongly opposed to a moderate tax levy. For years the very cliques that are now predicting all sorts of calamities before the end of the fiscal year have been declaiming against the raids on the treasury made by the other fellows.

On the other hand, it is stated that the Mayor was influenced by the bankers and large capitalists to keep the tax levy low. The circumstances which surround the present movement have never been made public. The origin of this movement came about in this way. Thomas Prather and J. West Martin called on the Mayor when the tax levy was being considered.

It was then decided to form a civic federation to see that there were no leaks that could be stopped in the city treasury, and to protect the interests of taxpayers in general. The movement which has been kept a secret, but the organization claims to be a very powerful one and scouts the idea that it is interested in politics or in anything but protecting its dollars from the hands that have thrived on the city treasury for years past.

There is to be an election at San Leandro to-morrow that is being watched with much interest by many cities and towns in Alameda County. The election is for the purpose of deciding whether or not to bond the town for the purpose of establishing a municipal electric-light plant.

As the town is now paying $1800 each year for gas lighting there is a strong tendency to doubt the economy of the proposition. The plant that is to be erected will not only light the town, but also supply illumination to private houses, and thus make a considerable saving. But the advocates are undoubtedly too rosy, it is evident that under existing circumstances San Leandro can save money by doing her own lighting.

George S. Lohr of the Acme Club must certainly be classed as an honest man. George recently rode across the continent on a bicycle. He arrived at New York safely, and as a fact his wheel was built of tires, rims, felloes, pedals and a frame. No sooner had he arrived at New York than representatives of different makers tried to make him prevaricate. They wanted him to say that his tires had never been scratched, his rims had never warped, that the spokes had jumped two feet from their positions, but that George could not do it. He said: "Gentlemen, I have written an account of my trip, and some of the most interesting parts of it relate to the many punctures, broken spokes and other accidents which I have had."

One of the meanest things that have been done at the county buildings for some time is the circulation of the story that Auditor Whidden is about to resign in favor of ex-County Clerk Crane. There is as much animus evinced in the statement as in the gratuitous choice of his successor. It is done, of course, for the purpose of influencing the charges of forger against Mr. Whidden, and for the purpose of making it appear that the old courthouse ring is manipulating things for Whidden and thus add to his discredit. Anybody who knows the tactics of the old ring will not be surprised to find them expose their hand. Mr. Whidden's case is before the courts, and although the Alameda Superior Courts in cases where politicians are concerned are not noted for dispassionate judgment, it is striking against Whidden are not those who have any cause to complain of the snail-like progress of justice in Oakland.

FUNCTIONS OF A CHURCH.

OAKLAND, CAL., Dec. 15.—Rev. Philip Oakleaf preached to a large audience this evening at the Twentieth-street Baptist Church on the position of the church in regard to moral, social and political reforms. The speaker said: "The church does not exist as a labor bureau or a social settlement, as a temperance propaganda or an institute of philanthropy, yet if it is not active in the work of turning this world into more of a paradise and less of a hell it is shrinking against Whidden. The Bible is read more than it has ever been."

OAKLAND, CAL., Dec. 15.—The pupils of the California Institute for the Deaf and Dumb and Blind at Berkeley gave their annual sacred concert in the auditorium of the institution this afternoon at 8 o'clock. The nature of the programme was the rendition of "The Holy City," with piano and organ accompaniment by the Misses Mast and Smith and Mr. Feissner. So well was this production rendered that the audience could not retain themselves and burst out with a loud round of cheering, which continued until the singers made their second appearance.

THE POPE'S INFALLIBILITY.

Rev. Peter C. Yorke Delivers an Able Address at Berkeley.

FOR THE BENEFIT OF A CONVENT.

He Makes a Plain Statement of This Catholic Doctrine Before a Large Audience.

BERKELEY, CAL., Dec. 15.—Father Yorke, Chancellor of the archdiocese of San Francisco, delivered an address this evening at St. Joseph's Church, Berkeley, on "The Infallibility of the Pope," in the nature of a benefit to St. Joseph's Convent.

He preluded his address with a review of the occasion when 800 Bishops gathered at Rome in 1870 for the purpose of first defining the "Infallibility of the Pope." "It has always been the doctrine of the church," said he, "to speak without an error. This statement has been, as it were, a challenge to the world. This dogma of infallibility has been a cross to many outside the church, and been used as a tool by men who wished to put the church in a bad light."

"Many people believe that when we say the Pope is infallible we mean that he is without sin. Infallibility is not sinlessness. It does not in any sense mean that the Pope is without sin. We will frankly acknowledge that bad men have been foisted into the church, but history will show that there have been only three or four that may be called bad Popes out of the entire number who have been at the head of the church. Was there not a Judas among the twelve Apostles? By infallibility—let me emphasize it—we do not mean sinlessness. The Pope is like unto us all—a human being. He, like us, has to receive absolution."

"Religion to the Christian means revelation. It means that God has spoken to man. All men will acknowledge that there is a great first cause. Dealing with our life as it is we ask ourselves if God has ever spoken to man. Every adherent of religion believes that God, or the great first Cause, has spoken to him. He has sent us a message and outlined rules for us to follow. This is the Christian religion. All mankind acknowledge this. Suppose that we have a revelation, and that God has given us that revelation, will then ask ourselves what that revelation really is. Each man must make it out for himself. This, I say, is the Christian religion."

"Father Yorke then spoke of the scores gathered round the honored remains of the deceased to-night, as he lay in his coffin, still wearing that proud expression of countenance that distinguished the family in life."

"The widow of the deceased does not know what possessions are still held by the family. There has been considerable litigation during the past few years and Jose Castro died in 1890 sick to attend to it, and his children do not know how their stand in regard to the partition of the San Pablo rancho last March. They were given to understand that some part of it was awarded to them, but it is very evident that they do not know at this time whether there is an inheritance for them or not."

"The funeral will be held to-morrow from the Castro residence at North Temescal."

DR. GOODWIN ON LAWYERS.

The Methodist Divine Talks of Attorneys, Politicians and Monopolists.

Dr. W. B. Goodwin, pastor of the California-street Methodist Church, again applied the measure of the golden rule to attorneys, politicians and monopolists last evening. "For this purpose the Son of God was manifested, that he might destroy the works of the devil," was the reverend gentleman's text.

"Whatever else may be charged against Christianity it cannot be said that it makes the world worse," he said. "It has made the world better, but in its work of reform it has encountered many allies of the chief devil."

"If we could only bring the two classes—politicians and lawyers—to an observance of the golden rule, to see that the needs of society are paramount to individual interests, the kingdom of God would come, and that right quickly."

"There is another class that comes under the divine condemnation—the money-lenders and monopolists. When I walked the streets of the town of Pulman and realized the greed of the monopoly that controlled the district, the men who were working against Whidden are not those who have any cause to complain of the snail-like progress of justice in Oakland."

"The coming Christmaside will be the brightest of the ages. The church, the Sunday-school, the young people are at the work of turning this world into more of a paradise and less of a hell it is shrinking against Whidden. The Bible is read more than it has ever been."

THE AMALGAMATED POSTOFFICE.

Hilborn's Bill Asks for More Money Than Is Needed or Desired.

Fine Annual Number of the "Daily Argus"—Alameda Ladies at the Oakland Exposition.

ALAMEDA, CAL., Dec. 15.—The bill introduced in Congress by Representative Hilborn to provide an appropriation of $200,000 for a public building in Alameda surprised many residents of this place. A building to cost that amount is not needed and not expected in Alameda, and it is understood pretty well that the money is not obtainable. A building that would cost, together with its site, $50,000 would be ample. All the uses to which it would be put would be a Postoffice, and very good quarters for that purpose are now obtained for $50 a month. It looks as though the bill was introduced without much expectation of its coming to anything, whereas, if the amount that would suit the situation was asked it might be forthcoming, as Congress is so inconsiderate.

Burial of Hugo Schroeder. ALAMEDA, CAL., Dec. 15.—The funeral of Hugo Schroeder took place this morning at 9:30 o'clock. The service of the Odd Fellows was rendered in their lodge room, and their was a large attendance of friends of the deceased. A male quartet rendered appropriate music and Mrs. Walt sang a solo. The remains were taken to the Odd Fellows' crematory, San Francisco, where they were cremated.

The funeral of Eugene Borromeo took place at 10:30 o'clock from St. Joseph's Church. Deceased was an active fireman, and a delegation from the department, headed by the chief, formed a guard of honor.

A Holiday Edition. ALAMEDA, CAL., Dec. 15.—The Alameda Daily Argus will issue its annual number Saturday. It will consist of sixteen large pages, eight columns to a page, printed on fine-surfaced paper and embellished with more than 100 half-tone engravings of Alameda scenes, houses and persons. Alameda will be written up from every point of view, the heads of the several municipal departments contributing articles on the subjects on which they are respectively so well qualified to treat.

Alameda Literary Ladies. ALAMEDA, CAL., Dec. 15.—Two Alameda ladies will act the part of hostesses of the Alameda County Writers' booth at the Oakland Exposition—Mrs. Hester A. Dickinson Wednesday night and Mrs. Elizabeth Birkmaier Thursday evening. Alameda will make a very considerable showing in this department, numbering among her residents several ladies who have attracted attention in the world of letters.

Brief Items of Interest. The vesper service announced to be held at the Unitarian church yesterday was omitted because of the death of C. H. Shattuck, a prominent member of the Unitarian Society.
