

HAD ONLY TO GALLOP.

Crescendo Took the Palo Alto Stake From an Ordinary Field.

WAS AN ODDS ON FAVORITE.

Starting Favorite, Logan the Traveler Finished Behind Imported Miss Brummel.

The Palo Alto stake was the feature of the programme the closing day at the Bay District track. The original conditions of the stake, which was worth $1500 to the winner, were framed for two-year-olds, but exigencies arose preventing the event being run during the year just passed, so the starters in yesterday's race, although in reality three-year-olds, were weighted by the handicapper according to the two-year-old scale of weights for the month of December. There were eight starters, five carried to face the flag, the distance being over the short six-furlong course. Naglee Burke's crack colt, Crescendo, carrying 107 pounds, was an odds on favorite; the big chestnut going to the post 7 to 10, considering the lot opposed to him, seemed a very liberal price. Good long odds were laid against the others; Miss Maxim, Kamsin, Argentine and Joe K being fancied in the order named. Good judges said it was simply a matter of how far Crescendo would win by, and such proved the case. Mr. Ferguson met with better success than with his fields in the stakes previously run, outpacing them in fine order. Mount McGregor II went to the front with a fine showing of speed, turning into the stretch with a commanding lead of two lengths. The favorite, who had been gradually moving up from fifth position, was at this juncture third. He indulged the Burns & Waterhouse youngster with the lead until well on toward the wire, when he romped past him and won easily by a length in the last time of 1:12. Argentine, the Santa Anita stable entry, finished in third place. The attendance was only fair, and in the ring the betting was at all appearances the lightest of the week. Favorites captured but two of the six events. The opening race for three-year-olds at five furlongs was taken in a common canter by La Mascota, starting at 4 to 1 in the betting. The 2 1/2 to 1 favorite, Pearson, finished in the place, with Myrtle H third. The El Priero stable's black horse Bueno was backed down from 7 to 5 to even, and took the next event on the card, a seven-furlong run, in the easiest possible fashion, although on the outside of the field until the stretch was reached. The second choice, Adam, was a good third. The big bump of the day occurred in the start-seechase. Besto went into the start-seechase as a 6 to 5 favorite, with Colonel Weightman almost as heavily backed second choice. The Lark was well played at the fourteenth odds, but met disaster at the fourth jump. When the field was sent into the Cañon, on the 30 to 1 shot Gold Dust, was over the first jump in front, and leading the entire route won handily, four lengths before Colonel Weightman. Besto ran an unaccountably bad race, finishing in third place. The mile and a sixteenth purse race saw Logan, the 11 to 10 choice, go down in defeat before the prowess of Mr. Macdonough's English import, Miss Brummel. The latter was a heavily played second choice, the 2 1/2 to 1 post against her being quickly cut to 2. The filly passed

Fred Gardner, who was out in front, before half the distance had been covered, and although Logan was hard ridden through the stretch the three-year-old beat him out a length and a half, in the last time of 1:47. The roan mare Emma D was again made a hot favorite in the last race of the day, a short six-furlong sprint. Although such good sprinters as Don Gara, Hymn, Mober and Emprer of Norfolk were starters, they were overlooked in the rush to back the roan sprinter. The race apparently simulated down to a drive in the stretch between Hiram Arzo, Emma D and Don Gara, who were heads apart forty yards from the wire, when Lloyd brought Hymn up on the outside and won handily by a length. Hymn was placed second, with the favorite in third place. The winner had 12 to 1 against him at post time.

SCOTTISH RITE MASONRY. The Annual Communication Was Begun Yesterday in the Temple. GRATIFYING REPORTS MADE. The Election of Officers to Be Held To-Day—A Banquet in the Evening.

The Grand Consistory of Masters of the Royal Secret Thirty-second degree of the Ancient and Accepted Scottish Rite of Freemasonry, in and for the State of California held its twenty-sixth annual communication at the Masonic Temple in this City yesterday. The consistory was opened in full form at 1 p. m. Henry A. Cline, thirty-third grand master, presiding. Over 100 were in attendance. The minutes of the last annual communication and subsequent special communications were read and approved. Petitions for degrees were received and referred to the appropriate committees. Grand Master Henry A. Cline delivered his annual address, which was received with much gratification. He said that it afforded him great pleasure to state that the Scottish Rite was in a more prosperous and he understands why he lost his money. In the poolrooms he may be betting after the race is over. A prominent officer of the association, controller and secretary, the information and going more into details, said: I want this understood: We are not fighting anybody; it is simply to protect the racing business. The association is running the race track not only for its own interests, but for the horsemen, the breeders and the honest sportsmen, and it does not purpose to encourage anything that the people of San Francisco seem to be strongly opposed to.

THE FAIR SEX WILL BE ADMITTED WITHOUT CHARGE, IT BEING POPULAR LADIES' DAY. The picturesque new course of the Pacific Coast Jockey Club at Ingleside will be thrown open to the public again to-day, after a cessation of two weeks' racing, and racegoers will once more see some high-class fields face the flag. The occasion will also be ladies' day, and fair lovers of the "sport of kings" be admitted to the course free of any admission charge. The programme is an excellent one. Not the least attractive feature of the card is the event for the "leppers," a mile and a quarter handicap hurdle race, with the best jumpers on the track sporting silk. During the temporary lull in racing at the new track many improvements have been made about the grounds. The exits to the main entrance have been widened, being run by an unnecessary crushing or jostling in the hurry to reach the turnstiles. Additional fencing has been put on the outlying ground. A costly gas plant will furnish the illumination for the dining, restaurant, bar, offices and storerooms. The inner track is also about completed. Superintendent Allen having expressed the opinion that by Saturday of the present week the track will be ready to receive the public. Professor Huber's band of music will furnish the music, which is a most attractive feature of racing. Secretary Leake states there will be no trouble over the transportation facilities, the electric railway company having added two new engines to the power-house. Starter James F. Caldwell has entirely recovered from his late indisposition and will endeavor to uphold his reputation as the "Prince of American Starters."

Residents of Folsom Street to Ask for Their Appropriation. The Street Committee at Last to Consider the Advisability of Using Bitumen. Residents along Folsom street are waiting the result of to-day's session of the Street Committee of the Board of Supervisors with great anxiety. For months they have been holding mass-meetings and passing resolutions to convince the Board of Supervisors that the street should be repaved with bitumen from end to end. In this they have partially succeeded. The members of the board have said they thought it was advisable to have the street repaved with bitumen, but they have added that they could not afford the expense. It is to convince them that the expenditure is not only necessary but is really due that a committee of seven goes before the street committee at 10 o'clock to-day. This committee consists of James D. Phean, Dr. T. A. Rottazzi, Harvey Somers, George A. Raabe, Henry D. Russ, A. B. McGuire, S. Samuels, T. Schwartz and G. L. Center, who will be accompanied by their attorney, George D. Shadburne, who will make the chief plea. The other gentlemen will add their voices in strengthening the arguments. "Nothing has been done for Folsom street since it was accepted thirty years ago," said G. L. Center, one of the committee men last night. "It is practically worn out. It has settled from eight to six inches below the official grade and is in so bad a condition that repairing will do it no good. It must be made over entirely. To repave it with bitumen from end to end would cost $25,000. This would be so much money thrown away, for in a short period the pavement would be as bad as ever. This is what we want to convince them of. The new streetcar track will, of course, be built on the official grade. This will necessitate the building up of the street, and the Supervisors owe it to this side of Market street to do the work well. "Even if the City did not owe the $20,000 to us for the repairs it has left undone on Folsom street it ought to grant us what we ask. Up to date it has given the region south of Market practically nothing for its streets. We have $20,000 worth of taxable property and half the population of the City, yet last year we received practically but $500. Of this amount $200 was for a sewer on Fifteenth street and $1500 for an sewer on Columbia square. "I am afraid we will meet our Waterloo, though," he added. "The board must recognize the practical necessity of what we are asking, and they want to use the money for something else. I decided that what we will have to wait another year for a new tax levy."

NG NEWS TO POOLROOMS. Ingleside Track Has Taken a Determined Stand Against Them. Not a Place in the State to Get the Information by Telephone or Telegraph. The telegraph wire connecting the track with the City has been leased by the club and hereafter it will be private and operated by a man in the employ of the Ingleside authorities. The telephone, Mission street, was put in at the track especially for the club and at no time has it been under the control of the telephone company. By absolute restrictions placed upon these two means of rapid communication the association will strike a hard blow at downtown poolrooms with the accompaniment of women and youthful gamblers. Edward Corrigan, one of the directors of the Pacific Jockey Club, said last night: "The substance of our arrangement is this: the entries to Ingleside track won't be furnished to any poolroom in the State. Hereafter they have been taking the information telegraphed to Stockton and sending it back here immediately by telephone. This is what we will do. We will get quite a revenue if we saw fit to furnish the poolrooms with the news. I don't know how long this arrangement will last. The chances are it will be in effect quite a while. It is one thing, the people are not going to be cursing the racetrack for what is doing it. The dives downtown. Our object is just to keep the track clean and free from the evil effects of poolrooms. When a man bets at the racetrack he sees the race

endar in regard to their cases. That is a fair and equitable proposition, but they won't agree to it and continue to carry on their business. The result is that we will continue to arrest them and I am prepared to give them a trial every day. "Ninety or 95 per cent of the citizens want these places closed and only 5 or 10 per cent want them kept open. It is therefore the duty of the police backed up by the law, to see that they are kept closed when it is unlawful to keep them open."

A TRAVELER ROBBED. The Thrilling Experience of A. H. Brownley With Footpads—Lost $500 in Checks. A. H. Brownley of London, Canada, arrived here last night, after an exciting experience at Santa Monica with footpads, during which he lost $500 in checks issued to him by the American Express Company. He had some $3000 more in checks in his pockets from the same company, but luckily the thieves did not have time to secure them. As for his greenbacks and gold, he had a good lot of both, but he had fortunately given it into the keeping of his wife a few moments before. She had gone for a walk with their little son. Mr. Brownley is at the Russ House. He was here a week ago, when he first arrived from Canada. As he was having his money and other valuables put in the safe of the first night he noticed a middle-aged man anxiously watching him. On the same day he went into conversation with him. At Santa Monica he went with Mr. Brownley for a stroll on the beach. They fell in with a tall, gaunt man, who said he was from Kentucky, and had brought horses to California to sell. Suddenly he drew a big revolver and told Brownley to hand over his money. He had but 15 cents in cash and showed it. "You've got more," said the big man. "Get out that pocketbook." Brownley had to produce it. The other man obligingly assisted in handling its contents. Ten checks, each for $50, were taken, and Brownley was compelled to use a fountain pen which they saw in another pocket in signing them. Then the thieves started to run away with them. Brownley had a revolver and was just on the eve of pulling it when a third man, evidently a confederate, arrested them. The latter soon let him go and all escaped. The checks were numbered from 611,680 to 611,690 inclusive. They were issued at London, in Canada, and Brownley has notified California authorities and telegraphed to Canada stopping their payment. He has had no clew to the thieves since he was robbed. He is on his way to New Zealand.

JORGENSEN RECEPTION. A Brilliant Studio Affair Given in Honor of W. J. Batchelder and His Bride. The studio of Chris Jorgensen, on Montgomery and California streets, was ablaze with lights from Japanese lanterns last night. The rooms were decorated beautifully and at least 200 of the leading people of the art and social world had gathered to a musical and reception given in honor of W. J. Batchelder and his bride by Mr. and Mrs. Jorgensen. There was a particularly enjoyable musical programme. Among those participating were: The Double Cleff Quartet, Mrs. Fine, Mrs. Dewing, Miss Wilcox and Mrs. Birmingham; the Brass Club Quartet, Messrs. Colby, Batchelder, Tilton and Tucker; Arthur Regensberger, cello solo; Bernard Mollenhauer, violin solo, and vocal solos by George McBrine, S. Homer Henley, Mrs. Henley, Alfred White, Miss Morse, Harry Melvin, Chris Jorgensen and Mrs. Batchelder, J. Fletcher Tilton accompanying. LEDGERS, journals, cashbooks, memoranda and diaries for 1896. Prices right. Sanborn, Vail & Co.

GOVERNOR JONES SICKING. The Popular Executive of Nevada Critically Ill at the Palace. He Is Said to Be Afflicted With Serious Stomach Disease—Something of His Record. Governor John E. Jones of Nevada, who for many weeks has been ill at the Palace Hotel, has had a relapse. It is doubtful if he recovers. Some ailment only vaguely defined as stomach trouble was said in the earlier stages of his sickness to bother him. This was the Governor's belief himself in talking about it not long ago. He grew better for a time and was able to be out a day now and then. Once he thought he would be able to return to Nevada. But a few days ago he grew worse again. The pallor of his countenance, which had been noticed all along, increased, and he took to his bed, where he now lies in a critical condition. Dr. J. O. Hirschfelder and Dr. C. M. Richter are at almost constant attendance. Other physicians consulted with them in the Governor's room yesterday. Mrs. Jones is with the Governor, as she has been all along. Strict orders have been given to admit no one, so ill is the patient. It is stated now that the ailment is cancer of the stomach. Whatever it is it is evident his case is serious. For a time last night he was said to be very low. There is much interest in his case among the Nevada people now here and the many others who were the first State official in Nevada in 1892 to cast his future with the silver party when the fight began for free coinage. He was State Surveyor-General at the time, finishing his second term. The silver party raised its standard in the eastern part of the State, and a call was made for supporters of the white metal from all quarters. Governor Jones, who had lived most of his life in Nevada, immediately announced that he was for free coinage against any party, State or section; that it was the logical stand for Nevadans to take against the old parties, and that he wanted to be recognized as a member of the party that protected the State's greatest product. The result was that the silver party, at the Nevada State Convention, nominated him for Governor, and he was elected by an overwhelming majority. The two old parties (Republican and Democratic) were buried in an avalanche of votes, and the State capital was filled with silver men. Previous to that Mr. Jones had been a Republican, but laterly put silver before everything else, believing it to be the ultimate salvation of the Sagebrush State. His record as a Governor has been of the conservative and deliberate order, and his judgment on all State matters is considered safe and diplomatic at the same time. His reputation for honesty has been an object lesson for younger politicians and his promises were never broken. A remarkable thing about Governor Jones is his practical knowledge of the earlier training that make men capable heads of government.

GEORGE J. HOBE, FOR TWENTY-FOUR YEARS THE SCOTTISH RITE'S GRAND REGISTRAR.

condition than ever before. This was due in part to the great increase in the attendance and the perfect harmony that has prevailed among the members, and among the lodges. The grand master on this point reported that during the past year no complaints have been made by the subordinate lodges for the committee of jurisprudence to work upon. The increase in the membership has been remarkably large and the grand master predicted a most successful year in 1896. All of the officers and members he said have made special efforts to carry out the work laid out by the last convocation and it is to their assistance that such a gratifying condition of affairs is due. Grand Registrar George J. Hobe presented his report, which was as gratifying as that of the grand master. He has held the position for twenty-four years and in concluding his statement added that at no time had the Scottish Rite been more prosperous. The report of the grand treasurer, Samuel Levy, showed the financial statement to be as satisfactory as could be desired. The reports were referred to the committee on finance. Careful attention was paid to the reading of the returns from the subordinate bodies. W. Frank Pierce, thirty-third degree, active inspector-general, reported that during the year he had established Lodges of the fourth, fourth-degree, in Sacramento, Redlands, Pasadena and San Diego. The meeting adjourned to meet this morning at 10 o'clock, when the reports of the several committees will be read. The annual election of officers will be held in the afternoon. After conferring the thirty-second degree, full form, in the evening, a banquet will be held.
