The heavy fog that enveloped the course and obscured a view of the horses lifted after the first race at Ingleside had been decided yesterday and the drizzling rain and stiff sou'easter that followed constituted about the nastiest racing weather experienced during the past wet season.

PREPARING FOR BONDS.

First Official Step Taken to This End on Behalf of the Valley Road.

A Special Meeting called for June 16, to Consider an Issue of $6,000,000 Worth.

In the notice issued to the stockholders of the San Francisco and San Joaquin Valley Railway yesterday to attend a meeting on June 16 next, the first official step was taken that will in all probability lead to the issuance of $6,000,000 worth of bonds to raise the money necessary to complete the construction of the road from this city to Bakersfield.

At a joint meeting held last Tuesday between the directors and trustees of the company a sub-committee was appointed to devise the best plan for raising this amount of money.

No meeting of this committee has yet been held, and no definite plan has therefore been decided upon to present to the stockholders.

Notice is hereby given, by order of the board of directors of the San Francisco and San Joaquin Valley Railway company, that a meeting of the stockholders of said company has been called by said board, to be held on Tuesday, the 16th day of June, 1896, at 3 o'clock in the afternoon, at the principal place of business of said company, at the building where the said board of directors usually meets, namely, at the office of said company, No. 221 Market street, in the city and county of San Francisco, in the State of California; that the object of said meeting is to consider and act upon the proposition that said company create a bonded indebtedness of six million dollars ($6,000,000) in gold coin of the United States for the purpose of raising money to complete the construction and equipment of the railroad of the company from the city and county of San Francisco to the town of Bakersfield, in the county of Kern, State of California, and to purchase and pay for any other property within the purpose of said company, and to secure the bonded indebtedness so proposed to be created by a mortgage or trust deed upon the railroad and real estate and other property of said company now owned or hereafter to be acquired by said company.

By order of the board of directors of the San Francisco and San Joaquin Valley Railway Company.

SUNDAY COURSING.

Results of the Stake at the Ocean View and Newark Parks Yesterday.

Two interesting coursing meetings were held Sunday, one at Ocean View and the other at Newark. At the former resort two stakes were run to a finish, Cottage Boy winning the regular stake after a short run with Maggie, in which the latter lost by the vertic fluke after overshooting his hare by several yards.

The consolation went to Captain Morse, who beat Electric handily in the final.

At Newark, the meeting of the Interstate Coursing Club brought out a large crowd. Flying Buck won the first prize, San Joaquin the second and Nellie Conroy the third.

A twenty-four-dog stake at $10 entrance will be decided at Ocean View on Sunday next.

According to the ordinance it was a class of having lottery tickets in their possession, and that of course was contrary to all principles of law and justice.

The San Francisco lottery ordinance is the same as the Los Angeles ordinance, and has the same identical clause as the one. So the decision has been quoted in the local Police courts with the effect of compelling prosecuting officers to dismiss Chinese accused of having lottery tickets in their possession.

"We are compelled to dismiss Chinese charged with having lottery tickets," he said. "We have to show that the man was actually selling tickets or was participating in the lottery for his own hope for a conviction."

"I don't think we can do anything till the Legislature meets. The Board of Supervisors cannot make an ordinance any stronger than the one now on file. This clause nullifies it. The police are doing everything in their power to stop the traffic, but it seems utterly impossible to convict a Chinese."

"The criminal element is taking advantage of this Supreme Court decision on this clause of the lottery ordinance to make it apply to the ordinances relating to carrying vulgar tools and concealed weapons. The same clause appears in each ordinance, so that the claim is made that a man cannot be convicted of carrying burglar's tools. The burden of proof according to the ordinance would rest on the State."

"The same applies to the charge of carrying concealed weapons. A test case may be made to try if the Supreme Court will not look upon these ordinances as it has done with the lottery ordinance."

Keoper Bury of the Agnews Asylum and an Inmate Have a Good Time in the City.

J. M. Bury, one of the keepers at the Agnews Insane Asylum, came to the city on Saturday night with Frank L. Piffer, one of the inmates. Piffer had been allowed to pay a visit to his friends, who live at Black Point.

About 11:30 o'clock Saturday night Piffer was arrested in a saloon on Pacific street by Policemen Cavanagh and Special Officer M. Sullivan. He was very drunk, and his face was bleeding from several cuts.

Bury had a man accompany him to the California-street police station. He was not sober, and his mouth was bleeding. When he said he was an official at the insane asylum and that Piffer was one of the inmates the officers at the station did not believe him, and threatened to lock him up unless he left, which he did.

When Piffer, who had been taken to the City Prison, awoke Sunday morning he complained that he had been robbed on Saturday night of his watch and chain. He said he and Bury had a good time, and the only thing he regretted was losing his watch.

Sunday afternoon Bury called at the City Prison, and Captain Johnson gave him permission to take Piffer away with him.

To Broaden Socialism.

Morrison I. Swift Points the Way to Establish One Great Party.

Morrison I. Swift of Berkeley lectured to the local socialists Sunday night at 26 O'Farrell street.

He blamed the socialists for the narrow inefficiency of their past policy in abusing those that have not seen the fairness and broadness of socialism. He urged that no party should be forced to assume the defensive because of attacks, but that socialists should go to the different parties and explain socialism to them and encourage the thoughtful, who would of necessity be convinced of the merits of the principles; to unite in forming a broad socialist party, that the lecturer predicts will start with the present socialists unattached. To any party, be strengthened by the socialistically inclined of the Labor party and of the People's party, and after absorbing the minor parties, be ready to include the Republicans and Democrats. Two policies that he declares are doomed to break, as was the case in England, on the capital and labor questions.

Socialism should not be a class movement and dissipate its strength. It cannot be identified with any organization or with any organizations; it is for man.

Fought for the Balloon.

Seven belligerent residents of the Mission with an eye to business took possession of the balloon that fell near Sixteenth street Sunday afternoon and started with it for the park, threatening to exterminate the three luckless men that had been hired by the servant to recover his property after his parachute leap.

With stones and clubs they defended their capture, and a policeman who had been acknowledged his helplessness and left the discomfited three to follow at a safe distance all the way to the city hall.

The men failed to get their expected reward, and went away vowing that the next time they would not be so easily duped. They immediately thereafter more excitedly made it useless even for patchwork.

Some persons, eager to see the conclusion of the log-rolling contest in the afternoon, pushed from their seats in the pavilion, leaving their infant and unfinished glasses on a table, with the result that there was almost immediately thereafter more excitement on the floor than on the little lake, as the log overturned the table.

In 1874 a church mission was established for the benefit of the deaf mutes of the United States.

NO LAW FOR LOTTERIES.

Supreme Court Decision Lets the Evil Thrive in San Francisco.

Chinese lotteries are now running in San Francisco on a more extended scale than ever before, and agents for the gambling concerns are buying their trade openly without fear of police or courts.

Such a radical change has been brought about by a recent decision of the Supreme Court of California under which it is now no crime to be caught with lottery tickets in one's possession. Lottery ticket agents and dealers may carry on their business as if it were a legitimate branch of trade, and there is no law to punish them.

A test case was made in Los Angeles by the attorneys of Ah Ling, a Chinese, arrested for an alleged violation of the lottery ordinance. Ah Ling had been an agent for Chinese lotteries and when the police arrested him he had several tickets in his spacious pockets. He was tried and convicted. An appeal was taken to the Supreme Court of California with the result the defendant was acquitted. A clause in the ordinance which read, "Unless said possession shall be shown to be innocent or for a lawful purpose," settled the question.
