

DEATH OF DR. G. C. ZEYN.

A Young Surgeon Well Known in This City and Alameda.

THE BODY TO BE CREMATED.

Dr. Zeyn Was Recognized as One of the Most Skillful Young Men in His Profession.

ALAMEDA, CAL., May 9.—Dr. Gustav C. Zeyn died this morning at 7 o'clock at his residence, 620 Railroad avenue.

He became seriously ill. His life was despaired of, but as he improved somewhat and had the best of medical skill and the assistance of expert nurses it was hoped he would ultimately recover.

Dr. Zeyn was a native son, born in Anaheim, Cal., thirty-three years ago.

He came to Alameda when he was 18 years old, living since that time with his aunt, Mrs. Dorothea Wonneburg, at 620 Railroad avenue.

He attended the West End public school and taking a course in Heald's Business College he entered Toland Medical College, receiving his diploma with honors in 1889.

Dr. Zeyn was a member of the City and County Hospital of San Francisco and the Receiving Hospital.

Dr. Zeyn's father and sister, who had been summoned from Anaheim, arrived before the physician's death.

Dr. Carpenter declares the Monthly Dairy Bulletin a success.

ALAMEDA, CAL., May 9.—This city's claim to having the best milk supply in the State has been strengthened by the Health Board's published report for the month of April.

The record of the April tests is as follows:

Table with columns: Name, Condition, Fat, Sugar, Acid, Total Solids. Lists various dairies like Alameda, Alder, Anderson, etc.

Dr. Carpenter, the veterinary inspector, says that the dairymen pay much more attention to the work of the Board of Health than they did before a public bulletin was issued.

Lincoln Avenue Sale. ALAMEDA, CAL., May 9.—The remainder of the lots designated for the assessments for the opening of Lincoln avenue were sold this morning by Street Superintendent Fremont to David Hirschfeld for $3241.32.

Has No License. OAKLAND, CAL., May 9.—Secretary Schafer of the Board of Health discovered week numerous communications have been received of the various committees asking for information regarding the town, its accommodations and its attractions.

Haywards is one of the prettiest towns in Alameda County, and deserves all that was said about it at Vallejo last year by the delegates who succeeded in capturing the Grand Council of this year.

Only one thing is lacking that was promised, and that is the fruit. This, however, is not the fault of the Haywards' folk, for the Grand Council is usually held in August, and the early date of this year is the result of the National Council held at Denver two months ago.

Haywards is setting an example regarding the parade that is worthy of being followed in every town in the State.

The whole town has made it their opportunity to show what Haywards can do and all are working to make it one big success.

All the business houses will decorate and for the day of the great parade the town will be given over to festivity.

Several of the local secret societies will take part in the parade, including the Native Sons, Woodmen, Foresters and the Portuguese Union.

The fire department will make a particularly fine showing.

The Haywards Council will be headed by a drum corps which has just been organized, consisting of Manuel Rogers, Ralph Jessup, Ernest Bridge, Frank Marshall, Manuel Rigg, Johnnie Pann and others.

All the residents have mutually agreed that the town shall present as neat an appearance as possible and every stray weed and trunk of grass turf is being removed and paint is being lavishly used.

The committee on parade has completed its programme for the grand parade. It is as follows:

FIRST DIVISION. Mounted Platoon of Police. Chief of Police, W. J. Ramago. Grand Marshal, George Taft.

OAKLAND, CAL., May 9.—The delegates from this city to the State Prohibition Convention to be held next week at Stockton are: Charles Chester, F. W. Sawyer, Mrs. A. B. Tynnot, Miss M. E. Thompson, Joseph Humphrey, J. L. Hieber, Mrs. H. W. Stowe, Mrs. Mary Smith, R. W. W. McCargar, Dr. Stark, alternates, C. N. Campbell, J. P. Hays, Mrs. Charles Chester, J. E. Wagon, C. R. McDonald, P. J. Bussell, C. C. McGee, W. H. Bone, Dr. H. C. Dukes, E. S. Arnold, A. P. Parker.

The delegation will leave Tuesday and return Friday in time to attend the John G. Woolley rally Friday evening at Hamilton Hall.

PREPARING FOR THE DELEGATES.

Grand Council of Y. M. I. Will Be Royally Welcomed.

PROGRAMME OF PARADE

The Town Actively Preparing for the Coming Week's Ceremonies.

MANY ORDERS TO BE IN LINE.

Every Promise Made at Vallejo Will Be Kept With One Exception.

HAYWARDS, CAL., May 9.—One week from next Monday the Grand Council of the Young Men's Institute will convene at Haywards. During the past week numerous communications have been received of the various committees asking for information regarding the town, its accommodations and its attractions.

Haywards is one of the prettiest towns in Alameda County, and deserves all that was said about it at Vallejo last year by the delegates who succeeded in capturing the Grand Council of this year.

Only one thing is lacking that was promised, and that is the fruit. This, however, is not the fault of the Haywards' folk, for the Grand Council is usually held in August, and the early date of this year is the result of the National Council held at Denver two months ago.

Haywards is setting an example regarding the parade that is worthy of being followed in every town in the State.

The whole town has made it their opportunity to show what Haywards can do and all are working to make it one big success.

All the business houses will decorate and for the day of the great parade the town will be given over to festivity.

Several of the local secret societies will take part in the parade, including the Native Sons, Woodmen, Foresters and the Portuguese Union.

The fire department will make a particularly fine showing.

The Haywards Council will be headed by a drum corps which has just been organized, consisting of Manuel Rogers, Ralph Jessup, Ernest Bridge, Frank Marshall, Manuel Rigg, Johnnie Pann and others.

All the residents have mutually agreed that the town shall present as neat an appearance as possible and every stray weed and trunk of grass turf is being removed and paint is being lavishly used.

The committee on parade has completed its programme for the grand parade. It is as follows:

FIRST DIVISION. Mounted Platoon of Police. Chief of Police, W. J. Ramago. Grand Marshal, George Taft.

OAKLAND, CAL., May 9.—The delegates from this city to the State Prohibition Convention to be held next week at Stockton are: Charles Chester, F. W. Sawyer, Mrs. A. B. Tynnot, Miss M. E. Thompson, Joseph Humphrey, J. L. Hieber, Mrs. H. W. Stowe, Mrs. Mary Smith, R. W. W. McCargar, Dr. Stark, alternates, C. N. Campbell, J. P. Hays, Mrs. Charles Chester, J. E. Wagon, C. R. McDonald, P. J. Bussell, C. C. McGee, W. H. Bone, Dr. H. C. Dukes, E. S. Arnold, A. P. Parker.

The delegation will leave Tuesday and return Friday in time to attend the John G. Woolley rally Friday evening at Hamilton Hall.

Young Men's Organize. OAKLAND, CAL., May 9.—The Young Men's Central Prohibition Club is organized last night with J. W. Stetson as president, W. P. Powers secretary and J. F. Cronin as treasurer.

The intention is to keep clear of all factional entanglements and expect to have enrolled many members in a short time.

May Mean a Call. OAKLAND, CAL., May 9.—Rev. Edwards Davis of the Central Christian Church will preach to-morrow morning at the First Church in the city.

Several weeks ago that congregation was surprised by the resignation of its pastor, R. M. Campbell. This immediate invitation amounts practically to a call. It is not considered likely that any inducements will be sought by Mr. Davis to leave his splendid Oakland congregation.

Opening of the Avenue, and the other parties to the agreement—Messrs. G. T. Wright and J. W. Goodwin, attorneys for the commissioners—after their investigation had expressed the wish for the postponement of the sale till next Thursday.

Mr. Hirschfeld, however, insisted that the sale should proceed, and he became the purchaser. In order to redeem this property the Cohen family will have to pay 60 per cent penalty.

The Relay Race. ALAMEDA, CAL., May 9.—Anderson's University Academy students won the twenty-five mile relay race this morning from the Alameda High School.

The Alameda High School only got in ahead of the A. U. A.'s by two-fifths of a second in the first relay. In the other four they were behind. The time made by each rider was as follows:

L. Rank, 16 min. 46 3/5 sec.; R. Ferguson, 16 min. 44 sec.; I. Gutte, 16 min.; W. Geissler, 15 min.; Goodfellow, 14 min.

Several of the local secret societies will take part in the parade, including the Native Sons, Woodmen, Foresters and the Portuguese Union.

The fire department will make a particularly fine showing.

The Haywards Council will be headed by a drum corps which has just been organized, consisting of Manuel Rogers, Ralph Jessup, Ernest Bridge, Frank Marshall, Manuel Rigg, Johnnie Pann and others.

All the residents have mutually agreed that the town shall present as neat an appearance as possible and every stray weed and trunk of grass turf is being removed and paint is being lavishly used.

The committee on parade has completed its programme for the grand parade. It is as follows:

FIRST DIVISION. Mounted Platoon of Police. Chief of Police, W. J. Ramago. Grand Marshal, George Taft.

OAKLAND, CAL., May 9.—The delegates from this city to the State Prohibition Convention to be held next week at Stockton are: Charles Chester, F. W. Sawyer, Mrs. A. B. Tynnot, Miss M. E. Thompson, Joseph Humphrey, J. L. Hieber, Mrs. H. W. Stowe, Mrs. Mary Smith, R. W. W. McCargar, Dr. Stark, alternates, C. N. Campbell, J. P. Hays, Mrs. Charles Chester, J. E. Wagon, C. R. McDonald, P. J. Bussell, C. C. McGee, W. H. Bone, Dr. H. C. Dukes, E. S. Arnold, A. P. Parker.

The delegation will leave Tuesday and return Friday in time to attend the John G. Woolley rally Friday evening at Hamilton Hall.

PEARSON AS A MASCOT.

He Unseated His Arch-Enemy Wilson at the Recent Convention.

WOODCRAFT GAMES.

Annual Reunion and Picnic of the Order in Alameda County Held To-Day.

OLD TROUBLES ARE REVIVED.

The Orator Says the Success of the Primary Men Was Due to His Color.

OAKLAND OFFICE SAN FRANCISCO (CAL.), 908 Broadway, May 9. } Thomas Pearson, the colored orator, says he is the mascot of the colored wing of the Republican party in the county.

There is likely to be further trouble over the unseating of the appointed delegates at Sacramento and the seating of those elected at primaries in this county.

The interest is now centered in the colored voters of the Republican party, and has revived the old feud between the two wings of the Afro-American four hundred in this city.

It all comes from the fact that J. B. Wilson was forced to vacate his seat in favor of Thomas Pearson. J. B. Wilson is the editor of an organ of the race published in San Francisco, and a few months ago he printed some remarks that led to a case of libel in the Police Court.

The whole of the colony in Oakland was interested in the event, and although the Judge found the editor guilty at the first trial a jury acquitted him on the second.

The many other things said and done in the court widened the breach, and when politics became active the two leaders each appeared at the head of their respective parties and demanded recognition.

Their mutual enmity was gratified, J. B. Wilson who lives in the Fifth Assembly District, was one of the delegates appointed to the Sacramento convention. He was especially jubilant over the fact that the State Central committee recognized the appointed delegates, and launched long and loudly at his conferee's plight.

Thomas Pearson was the colored delegate elected for the Forty-eighth Assembly District, and is a staunch supporter of primaries. He went to Sacramento feeling rather blue, but he jumped six feet in the air when he heard the report of the committee on credentials.

The appointed delegates were in the seats set apart for Alameda County, and they were loth to vacate them.

Mr. Pearson sent a messenger to J. B. Wilson to tell him that the primary men wanted his seat. Mr. Wilson was highly displeased and Mr. Pearson was radiant with jubilation.

Since that time Mr. Pearson has been telling of the incident all over town, and Mr. Wilson is anxious to stop him, but so far has not succeeded.

"Very funny thing," said Mr. Pearson to-night. "It was a cold day in Sacramento, and I was tickled to see my old friend in my seat. He had just warmed it nicely for me. I sat down with great pleasure. I tell you I'm the wisest of the colored Republicans of Alameda County. I always come up smiling, and the best thing the primary men ever did was to put me on their ticket."

BERKELEY, CAL., May 9.—To-day was class day at the State University and the occasion was elaborately celebrated.

The members of the graduating class appeared in costume, the ladies wearing white from head to foot and the gentlemen sporting black plug hats and white duck trousers.

The sophomores of the year just passed wore their new junior plugs, adorned with various selections from the college yell and the '98 class yell, together with "skull and cross bones," in honor of the Bourdon "rush" victory of the class of '98.

All day the new juniors gathered in groups and held hat-swinging races, and by night there were but few words of plugs left without many marks of hard usage.

The new sophomores, freshmen until to-day, wore mortar-boards and practiced singing the song they have hitherto denigrated, "The John Sophomore."

The exercises in commemoration of the day began at 10:30 o'clock this morning at "Founders' Rock." A slab of Tennessee marble has been placed in the rock by the class of '96, and on it, engraved in gold letters, are the words "Founders' Rock, May 16, 1860. Inscribed May 9, 1896."

The rock is one on which the trustees of the old College of California met when they dedicated the grounds chosen as a site for the State University on August 17, 1860.

The senior class, led by the university band and followed by many visitors, gathered around the rock and listened to addresses by Galen M. Fisher '96, Dr. E. S. Wiley of San Francisco and President Kellogg.

After the exercises at Founders' Rock the class pilgrimage took place under the leadership of the U. C. band. Raymond J. Russ made a brief address at the Chemistry building, Benjamin L. Hamman spoke the farewell to the Library building for the class, and at North Hall a speech was made by Arthur W. North.

Over 6000 people gathered in the natural amphitheater behind the Chemistry building, known as "Ben Weed's Amphitheater."

The exercises opened with an address of greeting by A. C. Wreckoff, president of the class of '96, after which John L. Whitcomb read the class history.

The class prophecies were read by Frank L. Argall, Miss Ethel R. Farnham and Willard D. Thompson.

The next event was the "Arrival of Farmer Sinkins," whose wife accompanied him. The two who were Ned Blake and George Noble, proceeded to dispense fantastic and suggestive presents to members of the graduating class.

There were some hard hits in the gifts offered and some amusing incidents were created.

The class-day poem, "To the University of California," was by Miss Bertha T. Bradley, daughter of Professor C. B. Bradley.

The class committee in charge of to-day's celebration was as follows: Forenoon—Martin O. Flaherty, Albert O. Warner, Joseph C. Conner, Miss Ada G. Little, Miss Mabel Symmes; afternoon—Raymond J. Russ, Phillip L. Bush, F. Herbert Dam, Galen M. Fisher, Lou D. Whipple, Miss Ethel R. Farnham.

Nearly all the Greek-letter fraternities, according to the usual custom, entertained their friends at luncheon.

The general criticism offered with relation to the afternoon performance in the amphitheater was that they did not approach in excellence the exercises of last year, when more of a spectacular show was presented.

The class of '96 had a grand banquet at the University House raised through the graduating assessment decided to turn over the surplus to the Le Conte fellowship fund.

Berkeley, CAL., May 9.—Berkeley's

PEARSON AS A MASCOT.

He Unseated His Arch-Enemy Wilson at the Recent Convention.

WOODCRAFT GAMES.

Annual Reunion and Picnic of the Order in Alameda County Held To-Day.

OLD TROUBLES ARE REVIVED.

The Orator Says the Success of the Primary Men Was Due to His Color.

OAKLAND OFFICE SAN FRANCISCO (CAL.), 908 Broadway, May 9. } Thomas Pearson, the colored orator, says he is the mascot of the colored wing of the Republican party in the county.

There is likely to be further trouble over the unseating of the appointed delegates at Sacramento and the seating of those elected at primaries in this county.

The interest is now centered in the colored voters of the Republican party, and has revived the old feud between the two wings of the Afro-American four hundred in this city.

It all comes from the fact that J. B. Wilson was forced to vacate his seat in favor of Thomas Pearson. J. B. Wilson is the editor of an organ of the race published in San Francisco, and a few months ago he printed some remarks that led to a case of libel in the Police Court.

The whole of the colony in Oakland was interested in the event, and although the Judge found the editor guilty at the first trial a jury acquitted him on the second.

The many other things said and done in the court widened the breach, and when politics became active the two leaders each appeared at the head of their respective parties and demanded recognition.

Their mutual enmity was gratified, J. B. Wilson who lives in the Fifth Assembly District, was one of the delegates appointed to the Sacramento convention. He was especially jubilant over the fact that the State Central committee recognized the appointed delegates, and launched long and loudly at his conferee's plight.

Thomas Pearson was the colored delegate elected for the Forty-eighth Assembly District, and is a staunch supporter of primaries. He went to Sacramento feeling rather blue, but he jumped six feet in the air when he heard the report of the committee on credentials.

The appointed delegates were in the seats set apart for Alameda County, and they were loth to vacate them.

Mr. Pearson sent a messenger to J. B. Wilson to tell him that the primary men wanted his seat. Mr. Wilson was highly displeased and Mr. Pearson was radiant with jubilation.

Since that time Mr. Pearson has been telling of the incident all over town, and Mr. Wilson is anxious to stop him, but so far has not succeeded.

"Very funny thing," said Mr. Pearson to-night. "It was a cold day in Sacramento, and I was tickled to see my old friend in my seat. He had just warmed it nicely for me. I sat down with great pleasure. I tell you I'm the wisest of the colored Republicans of Alameda County. I always come up smiling, and the best thing the primary men ever did was to put me on their ticket."

BERKELEY, CAL., May 9.—To-day was class day at the State University and the occasion was elaborately celebrated.

The members of the graduating class appeared in costume, the ladies wearing white from head to foot and the gentlemen sporting black plug hats and white duck trousers.

The sophomores of the year just passed wore their new junior plugs, adorned with various selections from the college yell and the '98 class yell, together with "skull and cross bones," in honor of the Bourdon "rush" victory of the class of '98.

All day the new juniors gathered in groups and held hat-swinging races, and by night there were but few words of plugs left without many marks of hard usage.

The new sophomores, freshmen until to-day, wore mortar-boards and practiced singing the song they have hitherto denigrated, "The John Sophomore."

The exercises in commemoration of the day began at 10:30 o'clock this morning at "Founders' Rock." A slab of Tennessee marble has been placed in the rock by the class of '96, and on it, engraved in gold letters, are the words "Founders' Rock, May 16, 1860. Inscribed May 9, 1896."

The rock is one on which the trustees of the old College of California met when they dedicated the grounds chosen as a site for the State University on August 17, 1860.

The senior class, led by the university band and followed by many visitors, gathered around the rock and listened to addresses by Galen M. Fisher '96, Dr. E. S. Wiley of San Francisco and President Kellogg.

After the exercises at Founders' Rock the class pilgrimage took place under the leadership of the U. C. band. Raymond J. Russ made a brief address at the Chemistry building, Benjamin L. Hamman spoke the farewell to the Library building for the class, and at North Hall a speech was made by Arthur W. North.

Over 6000 people gathered in the natural amphitheater behind the Chemistry building, known as "Ben Weed's Amphitheater."

The exercises opened with an address of greeting by A. C. Wreckoff, president of the class of '96, after which John L. Whitcomb read the class history.

The class prophecies were read by Frank L. Argall, Miss Ethel R. Farnham and Willard D. Thompson.

The next event was the "Arrival of Farmer Sinkins," whose wife accompanied him. The two who were Ned Blake and George Noble, proceeded to dispense fantastic and suggestive presents to members of the graduating class.

There were some hard hits in the gifts offered and some amusing incidents were created.

The class-day poem, "To the University of California," was by Miss Bertha T. Bradley, daughter of Professor C. B. Bradley.

The class committee in charge of to-day's celebration was as follows: Forenoon—Martin O. Flaherty, Albert O. Warner, Joseph C. Conner, Miss Ada G. Little, Miss Mabel Symmes; afternoon—Raymond J. Russ, Phillip L. Bush, F. Herbert Dam, Galen M. Fisher, Lou D. Whipple, Miss Ethel R. Farnham.

Nearly all the Greek-letter fraternities, according to the usual custom, entertained their friends at luncheon.

The general criticism offered with relation to the afternoon performance in the amphitheater was that they did not approach in excellence the exercises of last year, when more of a spectacular show was presented.

The class of '96 had a grand banquet at the University House raised through the graduating assessment decided to turn over the surplus to the Le Conte fellowship fund.

Berkeley, CAL., May 9.—Berkeley's

PEARSON AS A MASCOT.

He Unseated His Arch-Enemy Wilson at the Recent Convention.

WOODCRAFT GAMES.

Annual Reunion and Picnic of the Order in Alameda County Held To-Day.

OLD TROUBLES ARE REVIVED.

The Orator Says the Success of the Primary Men Was Due to His Color.

OAKLAND OFFICE SAN FRANCISCO (CAL.), 908 Broadway, May 9. } Thomas Pearson, the colored orator, says he is the mascot of the colored wing of the Republican party in the county.

There is likely to be further trouble over the unseating of the appointed delegates at Sacramento and the seating of those elected at primaries in this county.

The interest is now centered in the colored voters of the Republican party, and has revived the old feud between the two wings of the Afro-American four hundred in this city.

It all comes from the fact that J. B. Wilson was forced to vacate his seat in favor of Thomas Pearson. J. B. Wilson is the editor of an organ of the race published in San Francisco, and a few months ago he printed some remarks that led to a case of libel in the Police Court.

The whole of the colony in Oakland was interested in the event, and although the Judge found the editor guilty at the first trial a jury acquitted him on the second.

The many other things said and done in the court widened the breach, and when politics became active the two leaders each appeared at the head of their respective parties and demanded recognition.

Their mutual enmity was gratified, J. B. Wilson who lives in the Fifth Assembly District, was one of the delegates appointed to the Sacramento convention. He was especially jubilant over the fact that the State Central committee recognized the appointed delegates, and launched long and loudly at his conferee's plight.

Thomas Pearson was the colored delegate elected for the Forty-eighth Assembly District, and is a staunch supporter of primaries. He went to Sacramento feeling rather blue, but he jumped six feet in the air when he heard the report of the committee on credentials.

The appointed delegates were in the seats set apart for Alameda County, and they were loth to vacate them.

Mr. Pearson sent a messenger to J. B. Wilson to tell him that the primary men wanted his seat. Mr. Wilson was highly displeased and Mr. Pearson was radiant with jubilation.

Since that time Mr. Pearson has been telling of the incident all over town, and Mr. Wilson is anxious to stop him, but so far has not succeeded.

"Very funny thing," said Mr. Pearson to-night. "It was a cold day in Sacramento, and I was tickled to see my old friend in my seat. He had just warmed it nicely for me. I sat down with great pleasure. I tell you I'm the wisest of the colored Republicans of Alameda County. I always come up smiling, and the best thing the primary men ever did was to put me on their ticket."

BERKELEY, CAL., May 9.—To-day was class day at the State University and the occasion was elaborately celebrated.

The members of the graduating class appeared in costume, the ladies wearing white from head to foot and the gentlemen sporting black plug hats and white duck trousers.

The sophomores of the year just passed wore their new junior plugs, adorned with various selections from the college yell and the '98 class yell, together with "skull and cross bones," in honor of the Bourdon "rush" victory of the class of '98.

All day the new juniors gathered in groups and held hat-swinging races, and by night there were but few words of plugs left without many marks of hard usage.

The new sophomores, freshmen until to-day, wore mortar-boards and practiced singing the song they have hitherto denigrated, "The John Sophomore."

The exercises in commemoration of the day began at 10:30 o'clock this morning at "Founders' Rock." A slab of Tennessee marble has been placed in the rock by the class of '96, and on it, engraved in gold letters, are the words "Founders' Rock, May 16, 1860. Inscribed May 9, 1896."

The rock is one on which the trustees of the old College of California met when they dedicated the grounds chosen as a site for the State University on August 17, 1860.

The senior class, led by the university band and followed by many visitors, gathered around the rock and listened to addresses by Galen M. Fisher '96, Dr. E. S. Wiley of San Francisco and President Kellogg.

After the exercises at Founders' Rock the class pilgrimage took place under the leadership of the U. C. band. Raymond J. Russ made a brief address at the Chemistry building, Benjamin L. Hamman spoke the farewell to the Library building for the class, and at North Hall a speech was made by Arthur W. North.

Over 6000 people gathered in the natural amphitheater behind the Chemistry building, known as "Ben Weed's Amphitheater."

The exercises opened with an address of greeting by A. C. Wreckoff, president of the class of '96, after which John L. Whitcomb read the class history.

The class prophecies were read by Frank L. Argall, Miss Ethel R. Farnham and Willard D. Thompson.

The next event was the "Arrival of Farmer Sinkins," whose wife accompanied him. The two who were Ned Blake and George Noble, proceeded to dispense fantastic and suggestive presents to members of the graduating class.

There were some hard hits in the gifts offered and some amusing incidents were created.

The class-day