

PORTLAND HAS A GAY SVENGALI.

A San Francisco Woman the Victim of a Cruel Hypnotist.

SENDS LETTERS TO MEN.

Marriage Proposals Made to Six of the Male Sex in One Evening.

ARRESTED AS A BLACKMAILER.

Released From the Spell After Scandalous Conduct Had Brought Her to Prison.

PORTLAND, Or., May 29.—About a month ago Miss Helen Beatrice Helwig came to Portland from San Francisco on a visit to friends, intending to remain the greater part of the summer, but last Monday she returned to her Golden Gate home a much sadder young woman than when she left it.

Miss Helwig, during the first fortnight of her visit here, was in the most cheerful frame of mind, making friends of all who met her. She was an accomplished musician and conversationalist, and knew something about almost everything.

After Miss Helwig had been here two weeks a decided and unaccountable change came over her. She seemed to have an aversion to the society of her own sex and, what was worse, her friends were greatly shocked in observing the boldness with which she courted nearly all the male visitors to the house in which she was a guest.

About this time several well-known business men received impassioned letters signed "Helen Beatrice," in which the writer declared her unquenchable love in the most poetic prose for the addressee. Most of the recipients of these love-laden missives are married men; but one of "Helen Beatrice's" objects of affection—a capitalist—innocently got himself into an exceedingly unpleasant domestic snarl by not destroying "Helen's" letter at once after reading it.

The innocent capitalist was in a pretty mess from which he was unable to extricate himself for a day or two. At last, though, he remembered that in her note "Helen Beatrice" solicited him to reply through the general delivery at the post-office. Then the idea suggested itself to him that he take Chief of Police Minto into his confidence and thus attempt to establish the identity of the person having brought him all this trouble.

The Chief put Detective Welch on the job, and two days after Welch received the assignment he saw a well-dressed young woman step up to the general delivery window and ask:

"Anything for Miss Helen Beatrice, please?"

The capitalist's decoy letter was handed to her, and as she stepped from the Federal building onto Morrison street she was joined by a young man named Frank Zoe Robbins, living on the East side. To Detective Welch, Miss Helwig's correspondence appeared in the light of a blackmailing scheme, and on Fifth and Morrison streets he politely invited the couple to accompany him to the office of the Chief of Police.

"During the interview of the couple in Chief Minto's office," said Detective Welch, "a disclosure was made, throwing the responsibility of Helen Beatrice's conduct, who really was Miss Helwig, upon Robbins. The latter is a member of the Portland Hypnotic Club and also a friend of the family Miss Helwig was visiting. At her request he one evening escorted her to a meeting of the club, where, after experimenting upon the girl for about fifteen minutes, Robbins discovered her to be a very pliable subject.

As a matter of amusement and nothing more—but it was a cruel pastime—Robbins exercised his influence over Miss Helwig, and in twenty-four hours he metamorphosed her from a dignified, intelligent young woman into a promiscuous "man-courter."

Chief Minto, satisfying himself that this was the true status of this peculiar case, ordered Robbins, under penalty of severe punishment, to release Miss Helwig from the influence of his hypnotic power. Robbins agreed to this, but it was two days thereafter before Miss Helwig was restored to her normal frame of mind. When advised of what she did under the hypnotic influence she grew hysterical with shame, and the following night returned to San Francisco almost heartbroken.

In conclusion, Detective Welch said that the aggrieved capitalist and his suspecting wife were invited to the interview of the hypnotist and his poor victim, which resulted in a complete reconciliation in the family of the capitalist.

OFFENDS SEATTLE VETERANS.

The Monterey's Commander Refuses to Attend Memorial Services.

SEATTLE, Wash., May 29.—Captain Ludlow of the United States coast defense vessel Monterey, now in this port, declined the invitation of the local committee of the Grand Army of the Republic to participate in to-morrow's (Memorial day) exercises. Captain Ludlow spoke for his subordinates as well as himself. As a consequence he is being severely criticized by Grand Army men and others. In a public letter Major S. W. Clark concludes his caustic comment on Captain Ludlow's action with this declaration: "It will be ascertained in due time if his course meets with approval from his superiors in Washington City."

PACIFIC GROVE ACCIDENT.

Miss Orvis of Chicago Thrown From a Carriage and Seriously Injured.

PACIFIC GROVE, CAL., May 29.—While riding from Monterey to Pacific Grove this afternoon Miss Amy Orvis of Chicago, 20 years old, lost control of her spirited horse, which ran a distance of two miles toward the depot. There the animal's course was checked so suddenly that the young woman was thrown to the ground. She was picked up in an unconscious condition by J. Donovan and carried to the depot. The physician who was called in discovered that she had sustained serious injuries internally. Several men assisted in carrying her to the home of Mr. Gofley, where at a late hour tonight she was said to be in a most critical condition.

SUIT FOR A FRESNO ESTATE.

Heirs of Samuel Simon Begin an Action Involving Ten Thousand Acres of Land.

FRESNO, CAL., May 29.—The suit of Mrs. Henry Simon and two children and Mrs. Samuel Simon and son, Jefferson Martin, against E. and S. I. Simon, executors of the estate of Samuel Simon, for an accounting, is on trial before Judge Webb in this city. This case directly involves 10,000 acres of land situated east of Reedley, in this county, and indirectly affects a large amount of property situated in various parts of the State.

Samuel Simon had several brothers and E. Jacobs formed a company, called the Simon-Jacobs Company, in 1885. It owned about 40,000 acres of land in various portions of the State. Samuel Simon afterward died, bequeathing much of his property to the plaintiffs in the present suit. The plaintiffs allege that the defendants, by fraud and misrepresentation, cheated them out of their just interests in the settlement of the estate. They charge that the land was appraised by two persons who were in a conspiracy with the executors. The land involved in the case is some of the best in the county.

VALLEJO GRADUATES.

Diplomas Awarded to Members of the High School Class of '96.

VALLEJO, CAL., May 29.—Farragut Hall was filled to overflowing this evening with a crowd that came to enjoy the exercises of the Vallejo High School graduating class of '96. The retiring class included the following young ladies and gentlemen, who were recipients of many congratulations upon their passing, as their class motto indicated, "Out of School Life into Life's School": Daisy Vanavah, Marie English, Minnie McKipe, Lida Wilson, Ida Kelly, Mabel A. Richardson, Goldie Rounds, Adelaide Roddy, Lillian Wickstrom, Daisy Emerson, LuLu Luchinsinger, John Luchinsinger, Frank Maxwell. The programme of exercises was well rendered, each one of the young graduates being heartily applauded. City Superintendent Charles H. Fulton, in bestowing the diplomas upon the young ladies and gentlemen, wished them all success through life.

SONOMA'S FLAG-RAISING.

Committees Busily Preparing for the Semi-Centennial Celebration.

Features Commemorative of the Hoisting of the Bear Standard in 1846.

SONOMA, CAL., May 29.—The semi-centennial anniversary of the raising of the bear flag on Sonoma soil, which will be celebrated here on June 13, 14 and 15, promises to be the grandest event this city has ever known. Committees are diligently at work and preparations are being made to insure the success of the celebration. Nearly $500 has been raised by subscription in this city. Double that amount is expected from the people of the valley, and the county Board of Supervisors is considering a large donation.

Saturday, June 13, will be the great day. In the morning there will be a parade with music by the Sonoma Valley band, directed by Hugh G. Maxwell. This will be followed by a religious exercise in the pavilion and the raising of the original Bear flag on the old staff on the plaza by several surviving participants in the historic event of June 14, 1846. There will also be a barbecue in the afternoon.

On Sunday there will be a sacred concert and on Monday night the festivities will close with a ball. Preparations are being made for the entertainment of 10,000 visitors. Among those expected are Governor Stanford and staff, the members of the Society of California Pioneers, the Mexican War Veterans and Native Sons and Daughters from all parts of the State. Arrangements have been made with the railroad to handle the crowds. Reduced rates are promised on all lines.

MODESTO ASSESSOR SUED

National Bank Stockholders Seek to Evade Payment of Taxes.

Sixteen Complaints Against the County of Stanislaus Are Filed.

MODESTO, CAL., May 29.—Sixteen complaints have been filed here by Attorneys Lloyd and Wood of San Francisco in the National Bank taxation case. Assessor Campbell last season assessed the stock of the First National Bank of this place. Proceedings were begun to collect the tax payment and the matter was referred to the Board of Supervisors, who upheld the Assessor. A number of counties of the State concluded to assist Stanislaus County in forcing the payment. These suits are now brought by each stockholder of a bank separately against the county of Stanislaus to prevent any collection of tax on shares.

The existing State law says National bank stock must be taxed, but the assessors of counties of the State failed to make an assessment until this county's official took the initiative, followed in like manner by Sacramento County's assessor. The last taxes were paid to Tax Collector Downer under protest.

SACRAMENTO CONVENTION.

Mrs. Purnell Presides Over the State Woman's Suffrage Association.

SACRAMENTO, CAL., May 29.—The Convention of the State Woman's Suffrage Association began in the Assembly chambers of the State Capitol to-day, about fifty delegates being in attendance. Mrs. E. B. Purnell introduced Harriet May Mills of New York, and named her as manager of the convention. The address of welcome was delivered by Mrs. Purnell. She said reform could never be successful until those who first opposed them had been converted, and every reformer lived ahead of his time. Mrs. Mills outlined the plan by which speakers selected by the association were enabled to go into each State to convert the multitude. Mrs. Mary G. Dunn read a paper entitled "Does the Business Woman Need the Ballot?" and Mr. Purnell spoke of the nineteenth century woman, who was the evolution of the laws passed by men for many generations past.

Washings to Visit Santa Cruz.

SANTA CRUZ, CAL., May 29.—Lieutenant-Governor Jeter, chairman of the committee, reported at the carnival meeting to-night that he had received assurance that the Philadelphia, Monterey and Modoc adnock will be there during the water fete.

FAITH-DOCTORS AT LOS ANGELES.

The First Convention of the Southern California Alliance.

WORKERS OF MIRACLES

Christians Who Profess to Cure Disease by the Laying On of Hands.

GIVE HOPE TO THE AILING.

They See in the Near Future the Coming of the Long-Awaited Millennium.

LOS ANGELES, CAL., May 29.—A new religious organization, called the "Christian Alliance of Southern California," is holding its first annual convention in the First Congregational Church of this city.

Conducting or taking prominent parts in this convention are the pastors of many evangelical churches. Methodists, Baptists, Presbyterians and Congregationalists form this somewhat unique body of people.

The chief characteristic of these people is based on what they term purification, sanctification and regeneration, while "holiness and healing" form a conspicuous part of every day's programme. They have, as many of them testified this afternoon, experienced the "second blessing" in their religious lives, and are now convinced that they may cure others, just as many of themselves have been cured of serious and menacing bodily ills, by the exercise of faith and the laying on of hands.

The meetings are largely attended, and members seem happy in the exercise of their boundless faith. In the relating of their experiences one is reminded that the days of miracles are by no means ended. The sick, enfeebled and decrepit are coming here in large numbers to test the powers of the healers. No notable instance of healing has occurred so far at this meeting, but much is predicted for the future.

The convention will continue until next Tuesday. A near approach of the millennium forms a conspicuous part of the discussion.

This body comprises ten auxiliary societies from Los Angeles, Santa Ana, Santa Barbara, San Bernardino, San Diego, Long Beach, Pasadena, Whittier, Riverside and Highlands. Among the prominent speakers and workers are: Reverend W. C. Stevens, A. C. Bane, F. H. Bickford, H. C. Waddell, Mrs. H. J. Pierson and Mrs. Carrie Judt Montgomery.

HARRY BROWN'S DEBTS.

A Young Bank Clerk's Property Attached at Carson.

CARSON, NEV., May 29.—All kinds of rumors have been in circulation in this city since the disappearance of Harry K. Brown, formerly a clerk of the Bullion and Exchange Bank of this city. Brown has been living in a very extravagant manner for several years, and his expenses have been far above his income, but his having been left $10,000 by his father seemed to explain this. Two weeks ago Brown was discharged from the Bullion Bank, and the same evening he left for San Francisco, taking his wife. Mrs. Brown returned in a few days, but was unable to say where her husband was, and since that time the bank people have been overhauling his accounts and have found nothing wrong with them.

Justice Balkin of the Supreme Court, Brown's father-in-law, stated that the reason of Brown's discharge was purely personal and not through any financial difficulty. He did not know the whereabouts of his son-in-law, nor does Mrs. Brown. He could see no reason for Brown's disappearance. Brown is deeply in debt and somewhat entangled over property he has negotiated to purchase, and this is given as the reason for his absence. This afternoon all of Brown's personal effects were attached by parties to whom he is in debt.

TO REOPEN CARSON MINT.

Orders Received From Washington Appointing a New Force.

CARSON, NEV., May 29.—Orders were received from Washington several days ago to resume operations in the refinery of the United States Mint on July 1. About nine men will be put at work. Seven were appointed to-day, among them being Frank D. Heitrich, who arrived from California this morning. He becomes assistant melter and refiner, the position formerly held by John T. Jones. Several of the men appointed, were important witnesses for the Government in the recent mint trials, and one was a member of the jury which convicted John T. Jones.

WOODLAND CONFERENCE.

Department Reports Submitted to the Lutheran Synod.

WOODLAND, CAL., May 29.—The second day's session of the annual conference of the Pacific District German Evangelical Synod began with the reading of reports from the various departments. The committee on home missions reported a growing influence for good among the German population of California. The church at Mount Eden, Alameda County, was accepted into membership in this district.

Services were held this evening in the large auditorium of the German Lutheran Church. At the invitation of John Huckle the delegates will be taken for a drive into the country to-morrow morning.

Under an Ogden Canyon Avalanche.

OGDEN, UTAH, May 29.—George Tornoli while working on the Pioneer Electric Company's pipeline in Ogden Canyon was killed to-day by an avalanche of falling rock. Tornoli had just put in the last blast for the day, work having been stopped on account of the rain, and hurried out to see if the shot had done good work, when a slide of loose rock came down the mountain side, grinding him into a shapeless mass.

Colonel Babbitt Ill at Benicia.

BENICIA, CAL., May 29.—Lieutenant-Colonel L. H. Babbitt, United States Ordnance Department, lies at his house seriously ill from the effects of a slight stroke of paralysis. When stricken a few days ago he recovered rapidly, apparently, but complications have arisen, making his case quite serious.

Suicide at Angels Camp.

ANGELS CAMP, CAL., May 29.—A young man named George McDonnelly, an employe of the Utica mine, committed suicide at his lodging-house on Bush street last evening. He had been on a protracted spree for several days and while suffering from delirium tremens swallowed a dose of morphine. His parents reside at Redding, Cal.

STORMS ALONG THE COAST.

Hail and Rain, Accompanied by Thunder and Lightning—Three Deaths in a Nevada Flood.

RENO, NEV., May 29.—The heaviest rain and hailstorm in years visited Reno this morning. Hailstones three inches in diameter fell and almost every skylight in the city was broken. Truckee River rose to the highest point known in fifteen years and the Truckee meadows about Glendale were under water. Much damage was done to vegetation.

Three men were drowned in the river at Prosser Creek. Their names cannot be learned. The bodies have not been recovered.

SANTA ROSA, CAL., May 29.—A terrific thunderstorm passed over this city about 3 o'clock this morning. The sky was copper colored and a crimson glow lighted up the west. A blinding flash of lightning preceded each volley of thunder.

The residence of Parker Maddux, five miles north of this place, was struck by a bolt of lightning, damaging the premises to the extent of $300. The bolt descended the chimney in the center of the house and passed through the front door, killing a watchdog on the front porch, but fortunately missing the sleeping members of the household.

LOWRYDALE, CAL., May 29.—An unusually heavy electric storm struck this vicinity about 1 o'clock this morning, lasting until daylight. There was not much wind, but a continuous roar of thunder. The vivid and frequent flashes of lightning were accompanied by a heavy fall of hail and rain, aroused much fear and trembling among Californians—strangers to such phenomena—while the Eastern residents imagined they had suddenly been transported to their homes in the cyclone belt. Some of the hailstones were the size of walnuts. Not much damage was done to the growing crops.

CARSON, NEV., May 29.—At 4 o'clock this morning a terrific hailstorm, accompanied by rain and thunder, visited this city. Hailstones nearly an inch in diameter fell in abundance. The rain also descended for hours in a deluge. The roads were badly damaged, but the crops will be benefited by the rain.

SANTA BARBARA, CAL., May 29.—A generous shower fell here this morning, the downpour continuing for several hours, with intermissions. It will help greatly to make Decoration day a success, by adding to the beauty of the flowers and brightening the green of the hills and the cemetery grounds.

UKIAH, CAL., May 29.—A terrific thunder storm visited here this morning, lasting from about 2 until 6 o'clock. During that time .34 of an inch of rain fell. The sky was brilliantly lighted by intermittent flashes of lightning. No damage was done to grain.

PEALUMA, CAL., May 29.—A severe electric storm passed over Pealuma last night, beginning shortly after 10 and lasting until 3 o'clock. The storm came from an easterly direction. The incessant flashing of lightning and loud thunder peals were phenomena unusual in this section of California.

ELECTRIC WIRES BURNED

Forecast Official Hammon Chats About Causes and Effects.

This Storm Came After the Very Hot Spell With Moisture From the Ocean.

The thunderstorm that swept in from the ocean early yesterday morning was no a rare occurrence in San Francisco, at least, Mr. Hammon of the United States Weather Bureau says it was not nearly so severe as people imagined.

There was a worse thunderstorm in San Francisco within the last six months, according to the bureau records. Two years ago, as the clerk of the weather remarked, houses were struck by lightning here.

And yet the electric pyrotechnics of the clouds were enough to make men feel deeply religious, especially when accompanied by thunderbolts that shook buildings. The Weather Bureau wires to Point Reyes crossed with the Western Union wires and caused considerable trouble. The lightning arresters at the cable-box at Lime Point were burned out.

"It is a mistake to think that there are no vivid thunder-storms on this coast," said Mr. Hammon yesterday. "It is a mistake also to think that the climate is changing. The records do not show a change. The Government got an idea about two years ago that there was no reason to fear lightning on this coast and had the lightning-rods removed from the light-houses. When the rod was removed from Farralone's light its top was found to have been burned off by lightning. A few months later the light-house was struck and all the electric wires were burned out. So far as I know the light-houses are still without lightning-rods."

"The same conditions that produced the hail of Thursday night's storm were the cause also of the thunder and lightning. It is a singular fact that hail is almost always the accompaniment of the electrical storms on this coast. The type of thunder-storms here belong distinctly to this part of the country. They are extremely rare anywhere else. The thunder-storms in the Eastern States are due to a dry condition of air with a moist spot in it. In other words, a comparatively small body of moisture passing through a dry atmosphere forms a strong attraction and conductor for all the electricity that is spread over large areas. This electricity gathers on the cloud until finally the tension becomes so great that it leaps off in the form of thunderbolts."

"Here the lightning is due largely to frictional causes, and I believe the friction is caused by the hail passing through the air. Our electrical storms cannot be compared to those east of the Rocky Mountains. The lightning is incessant in those storms, and the thunder is correspondingly frequent and heavy. The air here, owing to the vapor carried inland by the winds from the Pacific Ocean, and also owing to the small drying area, is altogether too moist to make severe or frequent thunder-storms possible; still, we are liable, as we were Friday morning, to get an occasional heavy thunder-storm or squall. The electricity generated in the air on this coast escapes harmlessly as usual thing, as soon as formed. The heat of the last few days had produced conditions favorable to a thunder-storm."

INDICTMENT OF BLANTHER.

Presentments for Murder Filed by the Grand Jury.

The Grand Jury yesterday indicted J. E. Blanthier alias Joseph E. Blanthier for the murder of Philippina Langfeldt in this city on May 15 last. The witnesses heard were Mrs. Agnes Kleinberg, Genevieve Marks, Dr. J. S. Balfrett and George L. Dodge. There were other witnesses in the waiting-room, among them Deputy Coroner Chitt, but the facts desired were obtained from other sources.

Captain Lees submitted to the Grand Jury a package of papers and letters, a collection of medals and some other trinkets. The indictment was presented to Judge Black in the afternoon. "The jury also found an indictment of forgery against R. M. Samuels. According to the testimony in the case Samuels forged the name of John C. Spencer to a check for $40 on the Anglo-California Bank

VALUELESS UNTIL MATURED.

Education in Christian Work the First Requirement—Secretary McCoy's Address.

CAZADERO, CAL., May 29.—During last night the students in attendance at the Y. M. C. A. intercollegiate conference were treated to something very unusual in California—an electrical concert. Shortly afterward refreshing rain fell.

Rev. Cumming Smith of San Francisco gave the platform address at 11 o'clock on the subject "Individual Work," using as a basis for his words the chapter of John's Gospel.

"Here we see John a definite man, with two other definite men, to whom he says, 'Behold the Lamb of God!' showing us to-day the supreme need, not of oratorical effort in the pulpit but of pointing men to God," said the speaker. "We have all a place in some great work; but mark me, not till we are educated up to it. We say everything has a place to fill in this world; but take for instance the little green apples on the tree—if we go on that supposition and give every little green apple a place in a man there will be trouble, sure. Not till the little green apple becomes ripe has it a place to fill. Neither have we a place to fill till we have prepared ourselves to fill it. Hand-picked fruit is the best, not the fruit which topples down when the tree is shaken; so personal work for souls gives more permanent results."

"In the first chapter Philip did not argue with Nathaniel. He said, 'Come and see.' I once knew a man whom no amount of argument would convert. He was a casuist. That man was converted by the conduct of a Christian who failed in business at 60 cents on the dollar and afterward, when he was given a new start, he, contrary to the customary method, paid up the remaining amount on each dollar."

In the afternoon students and faculty gathered for the intercollegiate games, which commenced at 2:30 o'clock. There were twelve events, Stanford having a team entered in each. The results follow: 100-yard dash, open—Charles S. Dole, Stanford, first; Galen M. Fisher, U. C., second, 12 sec.

Running broad jump—Charles S. Dole, Stanford, first, 19.5 feet; Galen M. Fisher, U. C., second, 17.75 feet.

440-yard dash—E. W. Smith, Stanford, first; E. W. Miller, Occidental, second, 7 min. 56 sec.

High jump—Charles S. Dole, Stanford, first, 5.3 feet; Galen M. Fisher, U. C., and O. L. Price, Pacific, tied at 4.11 feet.

Sixteen-pound shot put—Charles S. Dole, Stanford, first, 30.7 feet; Colton, Pomona, second, 27.1 feet.

The mile run went to Stanford; no other entries.

Baseball throw—Galen M. Fisher, U. C., first, 264 feet; C. C. Michener, international secretary Y. M. C. A., second, 249 feet.

Hop, step and jump—Charles S. Dole, Stanford, first, 42.4 feet; Galen M. Fisher, U. C., second, 39.3 feet.

Faculty race—H. J. McCoy, secretary Y. M. C. A., San Francisco, handicap, 25 yards; Time, 11 4-5.

Obstacle race—C. C. Michener, international secretary Y. M. C. A., first; Leavitt, Stanford, second. No time.

In the evening H. J. McCoy gave an excellent presentation of the work of the Y. M. C. A. secretary, and his claims to the consideration of the students as their life work. He remarked that it was not a position in which one could become rich; it was not a position in which one would get along who wore his feelings on his sleeve; but it was a position next to the ministry of God, where a man could become a powerful factor for good in this world.
