

HER LOVE WAS NOT LASTING. Rosie Olivier Tries to Send Her Husband to Prison.

A SELF-CONFESSED LIAR. Testimony Given in the Police Court Was Badly Contradicted.

MAMMA'S BALEFUL INFLUENCE. Mrs. Brady Could Not Forgive Her Son-in-Law for Marrying Her Daughter.

Manuel Olivier's dream of love is shattered. Manuel is a son of the sunny south and loved ardently, but it seems that the object of his affections was unworthy of the efforts he made to win her.

Less than four months ago Olivier was a roomer at the house of Mrs. Esther Brady, 143 Minna street. He fell in love with Rosie Brady, the daughter of his landlady, a young woman whose age is shrouded in even more mystery than is usual on that point with most members of the gentler sex.

At any rate, Mrs. Brady woke up one fine morning to find that her daughter had eloped with the lodger, and at one sad blow she had been bereft of a child and an income of $3 per week.

Before the lovelock couple could be apprehended they were married, and so the abduction charge fell flat. Not to be balked in her revenge, Mrs. Brady then obtained a warrant charging her new son-in-law with perjury for having sworn that his bride was over 18 years old when he secured the marriage license.

Emile Hestres, the Pioneer Who Has Been Missing for Two Weeks.

early days of the mining excitement on the Comstock, he closed out his business in Stockton and then came to this City and engaged in the purchase and sale of mining stocks.

He dealt extensively in Justice and Raymond & Ely, and his investments realized him not less than $15,000 a month. His broker, the late Henry Schmidt, at one time advised him to sell out when he would clear up $900,000, but he wanted to make a million, and in his endeavor to secure that he, like many other speculators, lost all.

Yesterday when Rosie was put on the stand in Judge Belcher's court she showed that she had experienced a wonderful change of heart. Although married less than a half year she acknowledged that she would not go back to her husband.

In direct contradiction to this testimony Olivier's attorneys in evidence in a letter which the witness acknowledged, having written some time during last January. It reads as follows:

Dear Manuel, or Dear Husband: I got your note and was glad to hear that you were dreaming of me. Why, dear Manuel, I dream of you nearly every night.

more to say, I draw to a close, hoping you will be pleased with my notes and excuse my mistakes, as I had a bad headache to-day to write or take my time, so good-by, honey. From your true Rosie, or your true wife, Mrs. OLIVIER.

Built the First Theater in Stockton. A Legacy From Signor De La Vega. Emile Hestres, a Frenchman, who came to this City in 1849, was well known in the northern mines and in this City, disappeared from his home on the morning of the 7th of this month and has not been seen since.

Mr. Hestres, upon his arrival in this City, like many others, remained but a short time and then started for the northern mines, and finally located in Stockton, where he engaged in commerce. One of the enterprises he engaged in was the purchase of a flour mill at Knight's Landing from Colonel Dent, who became the father-in-law of General U. S. Grant.

While in Stockton, so some who have known him for many years say, he built the first theater in that place. During the five cheerings and one bunch of hisses interrupted the rollcall. Dr. D. F. Reagan, who went to the enemy some time ago and became a delegate to Chicago, was hissed.

James H. O'Brien, who had been reported in the Rainey camp while he was at the Santa Cruz carnival, answered "Here" all right and the boys hurrahed. Thomas Ashworth got his usual applause, as did Recorder Glynn and Railroad Commissioner Stanton.

Resolved, That in pursuance of section 3, article I, of the constitution of the general committee, a call is hereby made for the purpose of holding a primary for the election of delegates to a municipal nominating convention to be held in the City and County of San Francisco not later than July 13, 1896.

Resolved, That in accordance with section 1, article V, of the constitution, the number of delegates to the municipal nominating convention shall be 450, apportioned as follows: To each Assembly district three delegates, to be elected by the district clubs of the Assembly district, and one delegate to be elected by the voters of the district clubs.

Resolved, That the executive committee be and hereby is empowered to designate days and dates for future enrollment of members in district clubs; day and date of making nominations for delegates to municipal convention and Legislature, and to make any and all arrangements to carry out these resolutions and to attend to all details in furtherance thereof and report the same to this committee.

Resolved, That the executive committee be and hereby is empowered to personally perform any act that may be necessary to protect this committee and the Democratic party in all its rights.

The resolution was adopted with a whoop, as was the following one, introduced by T. J. Powers, declaring loyalty to the dollar limit:

WHEREAS, The General Committee of the Democratic party of the City and County of San Francisco, do hereby certify that Joseph Rothchild is the only legal representative of the Democratic party of this City and County, and that he is the only person who is entitled to the rights and powers of all previous committees; therefore be it

NUMBERS AND HURRAH. The General Committee Prepares for a Future Municipal Convention.

G'BRIEN STILL IN THE FOLD. Declaration of War, Hope of Peace, Loyalty to the Dollar Limit and Speeches.

The Buckley regular Democratic General Committee held the biggest and most enthusiastic meeting in its history at B'nai B'rith Hall last evening.

The chairs in the hall provided seats for about half those present. Men stood three deep along the side wall, packed the rear of the hall and filled the gallery.

"All we want," he said, "is a fair primary under the auspices of a fair election board, giving every good Democrat a chance to cast his ballot and have it counted. If that can be we will have a solid Democracy."

Frank J. Fallon and Walter J. Gallagher also spoke and then an adjournment to the call of the chair was taken. A. J. Clunie was conspicuous at the meeting, but by his absence.

STOPPED BY A BEAR. Fearful Suspense of a Tourist on a Mountain Pass. A Frightened Horse Almost Backed Its Driver Over a Precipice.

Black and brown bear are singularly numerous this year in the mountains east and west of Cloverdale, and hunting parties are being organized for the purpose of having a little sport in chasing shy and artful bruisers through the mountainous districts where the "berry-hunters" have recently been seen.

Last week a gentleman named Wagner, who was driving from Highland Springs to Pieta, had a very narrow escape from being mangled into smithereens all because of the sudden appearance of a bear, which was evidently on its journey toward the coast.

Mr. Wagner was fortunately driving a very docile animal, to whose good behavior he attributes his success in having escaped with his life.

"I had just reached about half way between the springs and Pieta," said Mr. Wagner, "when suddenly the horse I was driving stopped, then reared up on his hind feet and commenced to snort. To my horror I was informed that the case was because the trouble commenced the road was narrow and over my left shoulder I could easily look down 500 feet into a canyon which was awful to behold, with its treacherous-looking bowlders and jagged rocks which were projecting from the side of the mountain."

"In an instant I concluded that my only hope was to get the animal on the move and I applied the whip briskly to his back and he started forward. In case he continued to back the buggy would certainly be forced off the road, and in that event horse, buggy and driver would go down to perdition."

Record Smashed. The dry-goods sale, or rather the slaughter, of the stock of James M. Moran & Co. at 1009 Broadway, for two days, ended last night with the biggest crowd of dry-goods purchasers that has ever been seen at a dry-goods store since the big fire sale of O'Connor, Moffatt & Co. in 1884.

The work of preparing for the International Christian Endeavor Convention, which is expected here in 1897, is now assuming definite proportions. The committee in charge states that it expects at least 15,000 people to attend, and it estimates the minimum amount of money to be expended in the community by them at $300,000.

The committee is now actively canvassing for funds to suitably entertain the delegates. All preliminary expenses are being paid by the Endeavor societies, and money now subscribed will be used only for convention purposes. No cash is required at present. Subscriptions may be left with THE CALL and due credit will be given. Up to date the subscriptions received are as follows:

There is a great industrial and manufacturing revival in Shanghai since the China-Japanese war, says George W. Noell, who for the last twenty-one years has been a constant resident at that Oriental seaport, and who is a well-to-do commission merchant and broker among the foreign residents there.

Five new cotton-goods factories are being erected. They will be in full operation before the end of the year. Large quantities of cotton are grown by the Chinese in the country inland from the port, so that there will be home production and manufacture and a large home consumption of the output of the mills.

Women and children are and will be the principal employes, as the work of tending the frames is not complicated or particularly difficult. They work for about cent and a half a day, gold value, and that is cheaper than the wages the coolie receives.

PATRIOTISM AND RELIGION. A Los Angeles Divine With Somewhat Contracted Views. LOS ANGELES, CAL., June 23.—Rev. F. J. Finley, pastor of the Bellevue-avenue Methodist Church, does not think that patriotism and religion go well together. Some time ago the Fourth of July committee addressed a circular letter to all the members of the pastors of the city requesting them to deliver a patriotic sermon and display the National colors in their pulpits the Sunday before the National celebration. Rev. Mr. Finley has replied that he does not think that the Sabbath or the church of God should be desecrated by being made a Fourth of July celebration organ, and he declines to preach the sermon or allow the pulpit to be draped with the flag. He deems the latter sacrilegious, too.
