

MORE BLOODSHED IN CLEVELAND.

A Striker Shot and Killed by a Non-Union Workman.

POLICE TO THE RESCUE.

Laborers Shielded From a Riotous Mob by the City's Guardians.

MILITIAMEN PUT ON GUARD.

Disorderly Crowds of Men and Women Beaten and Dispersed by Policemen.

CLEVELAND, OHIO, July 2.—Blood was again shed during the trouble at the Brown Hoisting works this afternoon.

William Rotger was shot and instantly killed by a non-union workman, who attempted to leave the works on his bicycle and was attacked by a portion of the mob.

The police succeeded in rescuing the shooter and were then besieged in a shop and had great difficulty in preventing the lynching of their prisoner.

Finally a call for troops was made and two of the four companies under arms were hurried to the scene.

The prisoner was finally loaded into a patrol wagon and about 7:30 to-night was locked up in the Central police station.

The troops are on guard and there is a sullen mob of at least 10,000 hanging around the premises.

Shortly before the hour for quitting work several strikers marched up to the Brown Works with big banners, on which was written in large letters "Brown Scabs."

At 4:30 o'clock the main body of the workmen were marshaled into line and the police force formed the usual hollow square.

Captain English gave the word, the gates were opened and the solid body of workmen, surrounded by 150 policemen, with clubs in hand, marched out.

The crowd gave way and the procession moved up Hamilton street to Case on the way to the St. Clair-street cars.

The crowd followed, as on Wednesday evening, yelling "scab" and making a lively vocal demonstration.

Contrary to the Mayor's declaration, the police could not drive back the following mob. At least they allowed it to follow them up Hamilton street.

The police marched to the Fourth Precinct station, where they made a halt. Forming two lines, they allowed the workmen to enter the station.

All being out of the way, the police formed again across the street. At this moment the following party was a dense black crowd reaching far down Wilson avenue.

Suddenly the word "Charge!" was given. It rang out loud and clear, and an awful scene followed.

The police pressed forward like a shot out of a gun. In a moment they were upon the van-guard of the crowd.

The latter were dumfounded. There was a waver, and then all turned and fled.

The batons of the police were falling like hail on the heads of the men. The crowd was panic-stricken.

Two cars blocked the way north of Wilson avenue, and the men, women and children were packed together in a tight mass, yelling and shrieking.

One part broke away and ran down the Cleveland and Pittsburgh tracks, close at hand.

Another went south on Wilson avenue. Men were lying unconscious on the street or crawling around in a vain attempt to rise to their feet.

The police, dividing into squads, charged after each section of the crowd, determined to inflict punishment severe and unrelenting.

This lasted for several minutes, and then returning squads of policemen began to gather up unconscious men and others who were staggering around as the result of severe blows.

Ten students of the School of Applied Sciences have been engaged at the hoisting works, but there has been no disposition to molest them.

Each day they have, after the police marched out the other workmen, mounted their wheels and gone home.

men to the Fourth Precinct station at Wilson and Euclid avenues, the mob, which had followed all the way, was re-enforced by thousands of workmen returning from other shops, and both streets were packed.

Deputy Police Superintendent McMahon ordered the streets cleared, and fifty policemen, under command of Captain English, were lined up.

Batons were drawn and when the order "Charge" was given there ensued the most terrific exhibition of clubbing that Cleveland has ever known.

The police, who were tired from their long extra labors, fought viciously, and soon 100 men were either lying on the ground, or crawling, or being carried away.

The mob broke and soon Wilson avenue was cleared. The police were lined up and another charge made into Euclid avenue, where another fierce clubbing ensued.

This seemed to break the mob's spirit, and the crowd finally dispersed, and the workmen who were in the station were sent to their homes under police protection.

During the fight the police captured five of their assailants, each of whom was in a bad condition from the beating he had received.

William Hearn, a furniture van driver, allowed the strikers to crowd into his wagon, and then crying "Give them hell!" drove right into the police line with his horses on a run.

Several policemen were knocked down before the team was captured. Hearn was dragged from the wagon and clubbed into insensibility before he could be carried into the station.

His skull was fractured and his face and head cut and bruised fearfully. Steve O'Neill was also on the wagon and has a broken head and a broken leg.

Hermann Schaefer, a blacksmith, has a terribly cut head and was badly hurt by being trampled on.

James Fox and Charles Cuppenbecker were each badly cut about the head.

Charges of rioting were preferred against the five prisoners. The mob managed to carry away all the others who were so injured as to be unable to walk.

A conservative estimate is that fifty men were severely injured by the clubbing.

Quiet at Boca.

CLEVELAND, OHIO, July 2.—The presence of troops at Boca had a restraining influence on affairs at the quarries there to-day.

The Sheriff, with 100 deputies and the two companies of State troops, are still on guard.

ALMOST A HOLOCAUST.

Narrow Escape of a Dakota Town From Being Swept by a Flood.

A Canal Bank Bursts and Water Overflows the Freight Depot of a Railroad.

EDMONT, S. D., July 2.—Last night the Edmont irrigating canal bank broke south of town and an enormous amount of water poured down the hill into the old bed of the creek where the Burlington Railroad Company has but lately erected its freighthouse.

The water rose until within ten feet of the top of the fill, when the ground broke through.

Before the flood, which was almost irresistible, could be controlled it washed a hole sixty feet long and many feet deep.

The embankment had been inspected on Tuesday last and found to be in good condition, and on the strength of this an extra amount of water had been turned in.

The damage to the canal is almost complete, while the Burlington line is very heavy.

The city escaped the flood by almost a miracle, as owing to the pressure of water the embankment above town proved to be weak in one place.

But for the providential breaking of the embankment where it did the town would have been flooded with consequent loss of life and enormous damage.

Two cloudbursts occurred to-day near the city and all streams are running over.

DEATH OF GENERAL LAWTON.

The Confederate Commander Was Stricken by Paralysis.

CLIFTON SPRINGS, N. Y., July 2.—General A. R. Lawton of Savannah, Ga., died at the Clifton Springs sanitarium this morning.

He was stricken by paralysis on Friday last and never rallied. He was Colonel of the First Regiment of Georgia Volunteers, when in January, 1861, he took possession of Fort Pulaski, under State authority.

At the commencement of hostilities in the following April he received a commission as brigadier-general in the Confederate army, and up to the close of the rebellion was in constant military service.

After the fall of Richmond General Lawton returned to Savannah and resumed the practice of law. He was Minister to the United States under the first Cleveland administration.

DARING CHICAGO FOOTBALLERS.

Their Fourteenth Successful Exploit Was the Hold-Up of a Druggist.

CHICAGO, ILL., July 2.—The "long" and the "short" man continued operations here to-night and did their fourteenth job in the line of holding up stores.

At 9:30 o'clock to-night the two men entered the drugstore of A. B. Lane at 1202 Wabash avenue.

MANY RECORDS WILL BE BROKEN

Splendid Entry List for Stockton's Carnival of Sport.

OCCURS ON JULY FOURTH

Seventy-Eight Athletes Will Compete in the Field Games.

SEVERAL CHAMPIONS LISTED.

Bicycling, Foot and Hurdle Racing in the Afternoon and Boxing at Night.

STOCKTON, CAL., July 2.—The coming carnival of sport on the Fourth of July promises to be the greatest event of the kind ever held in the West.

In the field-day games there are seventy-eight entries, exclusive of the fifteen entries in the two bicycle events, and if some records are not lowered the knowing ones will be badly mistaken.

Cheek, of the Academic Athletic League, has his heart set on lowering the coast record for the shot put. The Olympic Club tried its best to get him to go to Portland, but he preferred to save his energies for the games here, and he will give a creditable account of himself on the afternoon of the Fourth.

Last year Robert Edgren broke the coast record for the hammer throw at the field-day games held here, and this year he will probably eclipse the great record he made in his trial in San Francisco.

He has promised to lower the world's amateur record for the 56-pound shot, and all who know the stalwart athlete's ability in this line do not doubt that he will do it.

Then there is the half-mile run, in which fourteen men will start. Tom Carkeek of Stockton will lower the Coast record if he is given half a show.

He is anxious to make a record for Stockton, and has been training hard for the event. He is one of the best all-around amateur athletes on the coast to-day and the Stockton Athletic Association is willing to match him with any amateur on the coast in a catch-as-catch-can wrestling bout.

He has entered in all of the running events except the mile and 220-yard hurdle race, and may be depended upon to give a good account of himself.

Cheek has entered in the pole vault and high jump, and is expected to do something phenomenal for his team.

Stanford has also some good men entered. Fred Butz of the Olympic Club has his name down on all the sprints. He will have a rival in Wilhite of Modesto, who is a member of the Stockton Athletic Association and will wear the blue and white of that club.

Excursions will be run from Sacramento, Antioch, Tracy, Merced, Fresno and Modesto on the Fourth for the carnival of sport, and Stockton will be filled with strangers.

Already accommodations have been secured in all the leading hotels for the visitors.

Almost as much interest centers in the boxing tournament that is to come off at night as in anything else.

Van Buskirk has vowed to knock Corrigan out inside the allotted six rounds, and if condition counts there is little doubt that he will do so.

He is extremely anxious to win laurels in the professional ring, and wants to challenge Sharkey, who will spar here with Needham at the boxing tournament.

On that night Van Buskirk will issue a challenge to Sharkey, and the two may be brought together.

Sharkey will be the best man the ex-amateur ever went up against, but Van Buskirk is confident he can win against the sailor in a finish fight or in one of a sufficient number of rounds.

The big Olympian is in better trim than he ever was in his life. As he has an ideal place for training and is making good use of it he should soon be a better man than he ever was.

Tom Berry is in training at the same place for his eight-round go with Charley Turner. The latter has promised to redeem himself in the eyes of his erstwhile Stockton admirers, and they are anxiously waiting to see what the wreck of their former idol can do.

One of the contests that is creating much excitement is that between Jack Hopkins, who once bested Solly Smith, and Ben Maxwell, a colored pugilist.

This is scheduled to last eight rounds, but few expect it to continue longer than six.

The lists are full for the regatta that is to come off on the morning of the Fourth. The great disappointment is that the champion senior South End crew did not keep their recent promise made to come here and compete against the Giant crew of Stockton.

The local men offered to pay their expenses, and to offer individual medals, besides a trophy, for the contest. The South Ends said that they wanted medals, and this point was waived.

Even then they did not enter and have only sent a crew to go in the intermediate class. This has caused much comment, as the Giants were only juniors at the El Campo races.

The new barge has been fitted up and the seniors from the Stockton Athletic Association are ready to pull the race of the lives. There are enough entries in the other events to make the regatta a great success, and the channel will be lined on the morning of the Fourth with thousands of spectators.

THE PRINCESS HORSE BEATEN.

He Failed to Win the Princess Stake at Newmarket.

LONDON, Eng., July 2.—It was a glorious Rothschild day at Newmarket for the big race. The purse being up was the Princess of Wales stake of 10,000 sovereigns.

Persimmon, owned by the Prince of Wales and winner of the Derby, was entered. Many of those in attendance looked upon him as a sure winner.

The knowledge, however, did not overlook the fact that Regret, owned by the Duke of Westminster, and Leopold Rothschild's St. Frusquin was also on the cards.

The condition of the track favored Persimmons. The three horses started well together, and for a while it was doubtful as to the outcome.

In the stretch, however, St. Frusquin showed up the fresher and finished first, with Persimmons second and Regret third.

The result was not a popular one, as many hoped the Princess's horse would win the Princess stake.

HE DID NOT LIKE CUBA. Joseph Berger Relates a Tale of Sad Experience in the Antilles.

Lizards for Breakfast, Bullets for Dinner, Fever for Supper, the Routine.

SEATTLE, WASH., July 2.—Joseph Berger, a cable and telegraph operator who spent three months in the Cuban army and made his escape from the island during a Spanish attack, in which he came near losing his life, passed through Seattle to-day en route to Southern California.

His duties while in Cuba were to accompany a division of the insurgent army, tap telegraph wires when the opportunity was presented, copy dispatches as they passed through, and thus gain knowledge of the enemy's plans.

Occasionally they held an office for a short time and once were in possession of the cable office at Databano and telegraphed glowing accounts of insurgent victories that never occurred.

In this connection he says both sides are doing all in their power to send out false reports, in order to deceive outsiders regarding the condition of things on the island.

"In the hands of the insurgents," said Berger, "are about 3500—more or less—4000 at most—stands of modern arms, but they have a large number of old flintlock rifles and blunderbusses. Of supply trains going into the interior about nine out of ten are captured by the insurgents, but on the other hand nearly all consignments intended for the rebels are captured by the Spaniards.

"Excepting the food taken by the rebels from the Spaniards, the latter live on lizards and snakes; but they are in condition to withstand the fever, which is killing off the Spaniards, a march of three miles being sufficient to incapacitate most soldiers. The plan of the insurgents is to starve the Spanish soldiers out of the interior, which they now hold with garisons and ample artillery.

"The treatment of prisoners is barbarous on both sides, bodies being badly mutilated whether there is life in them or not." Berger, referring to the manner of his escape, said that on May 2 he accompanied a troop of soldiers to the beach on the western slope of the island to receive firearms from a schooner.

The schooner was about to land the goods in small boats, when the Spaniards suddenly appeared, killing the captain, some sailors and a good many Cubans. He and two Cubans escaped in a small boat to the schooner and from there were taken to St. Marks, Fla. After landing there he was stricken with fever, but it proved to be a slight attack, and upon his recovery he paid a visit to the home of his parents in Great Falls, Mont.

DELUGE IN NEBRASKA.

ODELL, NEBR., July 2.—A heavy rain fell here last night and this morning
