Private John Whalen and John O'Donnell gave damaging testimony against Kelly. The former testified that he heard Quinn say that his jugular was cut and he saw Kelly walking away. O'Donnell testified that Quinn fell into his arms, saying he had been cut and he was done for. He asked Quinn who had cut him and Quinn whispered "Kelly."

PRECINCT REGISTRATION.

T. J. L. Smiley's Expert Opinion of Its Theory and Practice.

He Thinks It Will Result in Fraud. Election Officers Who Are Not Voters.

"The theory of precinct registration," said T. J. L. Smiley, the Republican representative, "is all very well, but the practice is essentially different. There are in this City upward of 900 election officers, not more than one-fifth of them being qualified electors. The precinct registration of this year will, I am sure, be productive of extensive frauds."

"Why, only a small proportion of the recently appointed inspectors, judges and clerks of election has a legal residence in the City and County of San Francisco and of precincts of the wider is the scope given to fraud. Registrar Hinton is seemingly a fair-minded man, but he cannot control the political consciences of his numerous subordinates. They, necessarily, will be influenced by personal and partisan considerations. I think that all registration should be conducted at the City Hall. This, while it would not altogether prevent fraud, would greatly lessen the chances for its perpetration."

"As I have said, many of the recently appointed officers of election are not voters, and besides many more of them are not even residents of the precincts from which they make their applications."

"There are several important constitutional amendments to be voted upon at the coming election, such as woman's suffrage, the exemption of taxation upon mortgages, etc., and these should be given a prominent place upon the tickets. Thus far the necessary provisions for bringing these topics before the attention of the people and giving them their proper places upon the tickets have not been made. The registration of this year is comparatively heavy, but this is not necessarily any indication of fraud, which may be looked for later in the precincts."

"It is surprising how many men are anxious to earn the $40 allowed for service on precinct boards of registration, and to what length they will go in securing such appointments. Political parasites and men around town without any visible means of support will file applications for days. These words mean more than they are worth, and I trust that by George Klarmann, time 2:22-25; one-mile walk, won by E. Leilich, time 8:33-4:16; running broad jump, won by H. Wilson, distance 17 feet 1 inch.

TEACHER OF LAW AT YALE.

United States District Judge Townsend Arrives From the East. Students Should Spend Two Years in Class Work and One Year in Law Office.

Professor William H. Townsend of the law department in Yale University, where he has been teaching for the last fifteen years, arrived at the Palace Hotel yesterday from the Yosemite and the Grand Canyon of the Colorado, two scenic wonders that were largely responsible for this, his first visit to the Far West.

Like almost every other member of the faculty of New Haven, Professor Townsend is teaching where he himself was taught years before. He was graduated from Yale University with the class of '71, of which, he says, Gordon Blanding, the attorney of this City, was also a member. Four years ago Professor Townsend was appointed United States District Judge of Connecticut, a position he still holds. For fifteen years previous to his judicial appointment he was a practicing attorney teaching with a textbook, supplemented by cases and discussions in class, but he is opposed to the Harvard principle of studying cases alone.

"Yale football prospects," he remarked, with the evident pride of a man loyal to his alma mater, "are, as usual, good. Oh, we'd like to meet you fellows out here. There is a very warm feeling at Yale for the California universities, for you have had our coaches to train you—Camp, Butterworth, Haffner and the rest." Professor Townsend is accompanied by his wife and Miss Townsend and his two sons. To-day the party will leave for Del Monte, but will return for a few days' visit in this City before going East.

QUADE & CO. MAY SETTLE.

The Firm Will Probably Pay Seventy-five Cents on the Dollar.

If Some Agreement Is Not Reached at To-Day's Conference Insolvency May Result.

There is a very fair probability that the assignment made by A. Quade & Co., the wholesale grocers, at 636 Market street, for the benefit of their creditors, will be settled soon in a satisfactory both to the firm and its creditors.

A committee of the Board of Trade reported that the liabilities amount to $20,000. The assets, they found, would fully cover this amount. Quade & Co. made a proposition to settle for 50 cents on the dollar, but the creditors thought that they might get more.

It was finally agreed that a proposition should be made to Quade & Co. to settle for 75 cents on the dollar. The result cannot be known until after a conference to be held to-day at 4 p. m.

If Quade & Co. agree to the proposition of the creditors it is believed that the affair will be settled to the satisfaction of all in the near future, otherwise the firm will be obliged either to go into insolvency or hand the business over to the creditors and permit the matter to wind up in liquidation.
