

THE SAN FRANCISCO CALL
 SUNDAY, SEPTEMBER 6, 1896

AMUSEMENTS.
 FALSWIN THEATRE—"Madame Sans Gene," 6-10 o'clock night.
 CALIFORNIA THEATRE—"On the Bowery," 7-10 o'clock night.
 COLUMBIA THEATRE—"The Social Trust."
 MOROCOS CINE-BOULEVARD—"Held in Slavery."
 VOLI OPERA-HOUSE—"Rigolotto."
 OPERA-HOUSE—"Held in Slavery."
 ALCAZAR THEATRE—"Turkish Up."
 EUTO BATHS—Bathing and performances.
 NIGHT THEATRE—Dally at Haight street, commencing at 10 o'clock.
 CIRCUS—At Central Park.
 MECHANICS' INSTITUTE PAVILION—Twenty-ninth Industrial Exposition, to-morrow.
 BARRACAS—Sixteenth and Folsom streets.
 FRENCH ATHLETIC GYMNASIUM—Baseball.
 FREE CLAMBAKE—At Tiburon.
 GOLDEN GATE PARK—Golden Gate Park Band.
PICNICS AND EXCURSIONS.
 FAMILY EXCURSION—To Santa Cruz.
 EXCURSION—To Bohemia.
AUCTION SALES.
 By L. H. Burt. To-morrow (Monday), Furniture, at Larkin st., near Hayes.

TOWED THE WHALE TO SAUSALITO

The Big Mammal's Carcass Brought From Pescadero.

PLACED ON EXHIBITION

Net Proceeds to Go Toward the Expenses of "A Night in Sausalito."

FATE OF A RAILROAD SPOTTER

He Was Driven Off Jackson Street Wharf in a Shower of Rotten Eggs.

The Whale Captured Near Pescadero Last Friday as It Appeared on the Beach Near Sausalito Yesterday. The Monster Is to Be Exhibited for the Benefit of the "Night in Sausalito" Celebration.

CITY NEWS IN BRIEF.
 Dr. Chalmers Easton is in town.
 A dinner in honor of Fred Yates was given at the Bohemian club last evening.
 Mayor Sutor's invitation to Li Hung Chang to visit the City has been declined.
 Fair Sunday, with light fog in the morning.—Local Forecast Official A. G. Scadie.
 Rev. Frank S. Ford preaches his first sermon at the First Christian Church to-day.
 A smooth man with a map of a gold mine gets $5,000 from the Fisher brothers and leaves for Chicago.
 Chief Justice Beatty has granted a writ of probable cause in the case of the people vs. W. H. T. Durrant.
 The San Francisco Labor Council will celebrate Labor Day by grand exercises at Metropolitan Temple.
 The employees of the Board of Health continue their labors tearing down condemned houses in Chinatown.
 William McFarland, collector for the Millbrae Dairy Company, is wanted by the police on a charge of forgery.
 The thirtieth annual banquet of the San Francisco Pipe Club was held last evening at Becker's Hall on Third street.
 The bicycle relay riders will arrive at Rochester this morning and probably reach New York early to-morrow morning.
 Attorney Joseph T. Coguet swore to a complaint in Judge Low's court yesterday charging Attorney Charles H. Maddox with battery.
 Alvin G. Clark, the rich and famous maker of telescope glasses, Cambridgeport, Mass., is here. He has been in Arizona and Los Angeles.
 The Oregon Standstone Company yesterday withdrew its suit to prevent the use of California stone in the construction of the new water tower.
 Harry J. Musgrave, 1014 Twenty-fourth street, ran his bicycle into a pile of rocks on Seventeenth street last night and was seriously injured.
 The annual convention of the California State Spiritualistic Association adjourned yesterday after an interesting, profitable and enjoyable session.
 It is shown in to-day's Call that the progress of agriculturalists depends upon the success of the masses, who prosper best under a protective tariff.
 William Webber, baker, 26 Sixth street, was convicted by Judge Conlan yesterday of battery upon Harry Chow, a boy, and will be sentenced Tuesday.
 Maxine Elliott, the actress, whose real name is Mrs. E. M. McCarty, is to be divorced by George A. McDermott, for divorce on the ground of desertion.
 George Green and Thomas Kelly, two well-known San Francisco night-clubbers, who were in the house, 1116 Bush street, occupied by William D. Keyton.
 The Mission Defense Club has secured as a permanent place of meeting the hall on Guerrero street, where it will meet every Saturday night in future.
 Norman Schuller, the young broker, waived his examination before Judge Conlan yesterday in the charge of forgery and was held to answer before the Superior Court.
 Friday night, at 11:45 o'clock, Lock, a Chinese restaurant-keeper, was shot and dangerously injured by a man named Lee, who is now under arrest for the crime.
 G. P. Athenour, who has made a tour of the mining camps of the Yukon and branches, is here. He says he will return to-day with a cache of gold to get gold by digging for it in Alaska.
 James H. Flynn, a laborer living at 1180 1/2 Harrison street, had his left leg so crushed by a falling beam at a factory, that it will be amputated at the City and County Hospital.
 Frank Brooks, alias Thompson, a "bunko-steerer," who swindled S. Jacobson of Fresno out of $10,000, was sent to the State Prison for six months by Judge Low yesterday.
 Judge Campbell yesterday came to the assistance of a man named George, who was being betrayed under promise of marriage, by lending him $2 to obtain the necessary marriage license.
 The whale captured off Pescadero last Friday was towed to Sausalito by the tug yesterday. It will be placed on exhibition for the benefit of the "Night in Sausalito" celebration.
 Lewis Sells of the Forepaugh, Sells & Co. Circus Company has conceived a unique scheme for starting the only wild animal show in the world in Merced County, Cal.
 The longshoremen on Jackson-street wharf won their fight with the California Transportation Company yesterday, when the men were released and the men all went back to work.
 Judge Sewall yesterday overruled the demurrer of the Board of Supervisors to the acquisition of the Grand Jury in the assessment reduction matter. The Supervisors will now stand on their feet.
 Richard U. Goode and Henry Gannett of the United States Geological Survey, are in town after having made a dangerous ascent of Mt. Hood, the highest recent "eruption" was merely a rock slide.
 The heirs of Horace Gasquet, a Del Norte County stock raiser, are questioning the disposition of the Del Norte County estate to the children of Joseph Kahn of this City a few days before his death.
 All arrangements for the Admission Day celebration by the Board of Supervisors, which last night by the joint committee. Tickets will be sold at both ends of the ferry, and at Sixteenth street, Oakland, with a cent in hand.
 One of the Southern Pacific Company's spotters was rotten-egged on Jackson-street wharf yesterday. He made himself very obnoxious, and the deckhands of the steamer Alviso handed him without mercy.
 Judge Buck of San Mateo County yesterday declined to hear argument in the matter of the Luce estate until the charges alleged to have been made in an affidavit of J. H. Campbell, a defendant, had been inquired into.
 The officers and members of the Stock and Bond Exchange held a banquet yesterday night in celebration of the opening of the exchange building, which was held in the second floor of the Merchants' Exchange building.
 The fusion conference failed to fuse last night on account of the knifing of Warren B. English and C. A. Farlow by Governor Budd, and the refusal of the fusionists to accept the Populists are disgusted, and the fuse will be a fizz.
 When the matter of streetcar fare reduction came before the Railroad Commission to-morrow its jurisdiction over street railways will be denied by the Market-street Railway Company, and the interesting legal proceedings will probably follow.
 Under an arrangement recently made by the jobbers of Utah with certain transportation lines that operate from New York to Utah country, freight rates will be taken from the Southern Pacific Company and trade from the merchants of San Francisco.
 Leading Populists are leaving their party and becoming enthusiastic adherents of the Republican party. Among them are well known men who polled large votes as candidates on the local Populist ticket, two years ago. They are McKinley men now.
 George W. Forsythe, the union printer injured at 26 Main street Thursday afternoon by a bundle falling from an open elevator and striking him on the head, is expected to recover, though at present he has neither the power of speech nor the power of deglutition, and is without the use of his left eye and his right leg.

Dr. Chalmers Easton is in town.
 A dinner in honor of Fred Yates was given at the Bohemian club last evening.
 Mayor Sutor's invitation to Li Hung Chang to visit the City has been declined.
 Fair Sunday, with light fog in the morning.—Local Forecast Official A. G. Scadie.
 Rev. Frank S. Ford preaches his first sermon at the First Christian Church to-day.
 A smooth man with a map of a gold mine gets $5,000 from the Fisher brothers and leaves for Chicago.
 Chief Justice Beatty has granted a writ of probable cause in the case of the people vs. W. H. T. Durrant.
 The San Francisco Labor Council will celebrate Labor Day by grand exercises at Metropolitan Temple.
 The employees of the Board of Health continue their labors tearing down condemned houses in Chinatown.
 William McFarland, collector for the Millbrae Dairy Company, is wanted by the police on a charge of forgery.
 The thirtieth annual banquet of the San Francisco Pipe Club was held last evening at Becker's Hall on Third street.
 The bicycle relay riders will arrive at Rochester this morning and probably reach New York early to-morrow morning.
 Attorney Joseph T. Coguet swore to a complaint in Judge Low's court yesterday charging Attorney Charles H. Maddox with battery.
 Alvin G. Clark, the rich and famous maker of telescope glasses, Cambridgeport, Mass., is here. He has been in Arizona and Los Angeles.
 The Oregon Standstone Company yesterday withdrew its suit to prevent the use of California stone in the construction of the new water tower.
 Harry J. Musgrave, 1014 Twenty-fourth street, ran his bicycle into a pile of rocks on Seventeenth street last night and was seriously injured.
 The annual convention of the California State Spiritualistic Association adjourned yesterday after an interesting, profitable and enjoyable session.
 It is shown in to-day's Call that the progress of agriculturalists depends upon the success of the masses, who prosper best under a protective tariff.
 William Webber, baker, 26 Sixth street, was convicted by Judge Conlan yesterday of battery upon Harry Chow, a boy, and will be sentenced Tuesday.
 Maxine Elliott, the actress, whose real name is Mrs. E. M. McCarty, is to be divorced by George A. McDermott, for divorce on the ground of desertion.
 George Green and Thomas Kelly, two well-known San Francisco night-clubbers, who were in the house, 1116 Bush street, occupied by William D. Keyton.
 The Mission Defense Club has secured as a permanent place of meeting the hall on Guerrero street, where it will meet every Saturday night in future.
 Norman Schuller, the young broker, waived his examination before Judge Conlan yesterday in the charge of forgery and was held to answer before the Superior Court.
 Friday night, at 11:45 o'clock, Lock, a Chinese restaurant-keeper, was shot and dangerously injured by a man named Lee, who is now under arrest for the crime.
 G. P. Athenour, who has made a tour of the mining camps of the Yukon and branches, is here. He says he will return to-day with a cache of gold to get gold by digging for it in Alaska.
 James H. Flynn, a laborer living at 1180 1/2 Harrison street, had his left leg so crushed by a falling beam at a factory, that it will be amputated at the City and County Hospital.
 Frank Brooks, alias Thompson, a "bunko-steerer," who swindled S. Jacobson of Fresno out of $10,000, was sent to the State Prison for six months by Judge Low yesterday.
 Judge Campbell yesterday came to the assistance of a man named George, who was being betrayed under promise of marriage, by lending him $2 to obtain the necessary marriage license.
 The whale captured off Pescadero last Friday was towed to Sausalito by the tug yesterday. It will be placed on exhibition for the benefit of the "Night in Sausalito" celebration.
 Lewis Sells of the Forepaugh, Sells & Co. Circus Company has conceived a unique scheme for starting the only wild animal show in the world in Merced County, Cal.
 The longshoremen on Jackson-street wharf won their fight with the California Transportation Company yesterday, when the men were released and the men all went back to work.
 Judge Sewall yesterday overruled the demurrer of the Board of Supervisors to the acquisition of the Grand Jury in the assessment reduction matter. The Supervisors will now stand on their feet.
 Richard U. Goode and Henry Gannett of the United States Geological Survey, are in town after having made a dangerous ascent of Mt. Hood, the highest recent "eruption" was merely a rock slide.
 The heirs of Horace Gasquet, a Del Norte County stock raiser, are questioning the disposition of the Del Norte County estate to the children of Joseph Kahn of this City a few days before his death.
 All arrangements for the Admission Day celebration by the Board of Supervisors, which last night by the joint committee. Tickets will be sold at both ends of the ferry, and at Sixteenth street, Oakland, with a cent in hand.
 One of the Southern Pacific Company's spotters was rotten-egged on Jackson-street wharf yesterday. He made himself very obnoxious, and the deckhands of the steamer Alviso handed him without mercy.
 Judge Buck of San Mateo County yesterday declined to hear argument in the matter of the Luce estate until the charges alleged to have been made in an affidavit of J. H. Campbell, a defendant, had been inquired into.
 The officers and members of the Stock and Bond Exchange held a banquet yesterday night in celebration of the opening of the exchange building, which was held in the second floor of the Merchants' Exchange building.
 The fusion conference failed to fuse last night on account of the knifing of Warren B. English and C. A. Farlow by Governor Budd, and the refusal of the fusionists to accept the Populists are disgusted, and the fuse will be a fizz.
 When the matter of streetcar fare reduction came before the Railroad Commission to-morrow its jurisdiction over street railways will be denied by the Market-street Railway Company, and the interesting legal proceedings will probably follow.
 Under an arrangement recently made by the jobbers of Utah with certain transportation lines that operate from New York to Utah country, freight rates will be taken from the Southern Pacific Company and trade from the merchants of San Francisco.
 Leading Populists are leaving their party and becoming enthusiastic adherents of the Republican party. Among them are well known men who polled large votes as candidates on the local Populist ticket, two years ago. They are McKinley men now.
 George W. Forsythe, the union printer injured at 26 Main street Thursday afternoon by a bundle falling from an open elevator and striking him on the head, is expected to recover, though at present he has neither the power of speech nor the power of deglutition, and is without the use of his left eye and his right leg.

ADDRESSES HIS CONSTITUENTS

Congressman J. G. Maguire Speaks in Metropolitan Temple.

NOT A LARGE MEETING

The Iroquois Club and Democratic Committee Do the Honors.

APPEAL FOR INDORSEMENT.

The Funding Bill and the Silver Question Are Discussed at Great Length.

really envy the rich, and the spirit of Democracy—the present grand standard-bearer of Democracy, the second Jefferson, W. J. Bryan—repudiated that idea or that purpose.

This was a struggle against the monopoly power of wealth and special privilege—the power of wealth to cut off the opportunities of labor and to exact tribute without bestowing a corresponding equivalent. "Equal rights to all, special privileges to none," as Jefferson had formerly said, was the watchword of the Democratic party.

This struggle would continue until the abuses of which he spoke had been abolished and all citizens placed upon a plane of equality, with respect to natural opportunities. "The interest of the poorest as well as the richest," he said, "demands that property rights should be respected, and that none shall be in a position to secure wealth except by producing it or by giving thereof a just equivalent."

The so-called new Democracy aimed at this object. This Democracy was indeed the old Democracy of Thomas J. Jefferson revived. The standard of that party was now placed in the hands of the nearest successor in type and manhood, mind and heart, to the immortal Jefferson that the large audience—as Metropolitan Temple audiences go—to that place last night, though one of the campaign bands worked conscientiously on the sidewalk outside some time before the meeting opened, with a view to arousing a few sparks of public enthusiasm.

At 8 o'clock the body of the hall was fairly well filled, but there were many vacant chairs in the gallery.

The meeting was held under the joint auspices of the Iroquois Club and the Democratic State Central committee, Daniel E. Sikes, Senator Vilas, J. P. Irish and other Democratic "recusants," of which, he observed, the party was very weak.

The Democratic platform declared that the re-monopolization of silver was the paramount issue of the campaign.

In the event of such an improbable contingency as McKinley's election, he would not be handled immediately, inasmuch as the Senate, by a nearly two-thirds majority, stood as an impassable barrier against any such legislation and certain Senators, including among its number the greatest living anarchist on earth, Eli Perkins, the greatest liar in the world, was supporting McKinley.

He mentioned caustic references to C. P. Huntington, the gold-standard monopoly, Daniel E. Sikes, Senator Vilas, J. P. Irish and other Democratic "recusants," of which, he observed, the party was very weak.

The Democratic platform declared that the re-monopolization of silver was the paramount issue of the campaign.

In the event of such an improbable contingency as McKinley's election, he would not be handled immediately, inasmuch as the Senate, by a nearly two-thirds majority, stood as an impassable barrier against any such legislation and certain Senators, including among its number the greatest living anarchist on earth, Eli Perkins, the greatest liar in the world, was supporting McKinley.

He mentioned caustic references to C. P. Huntington, the gold-standard monopoly, Daniel E. Sikes, Senator Vilas, J. P. Irish and other Democratic "recusants," of which, he observed, the party was very weak.

The Democratic platform declared that the re-monopolization of silver was the paramount issue of the campaign.

In the event of such an improbable contingency as McKinley's election, he would not be handled immediately, inasmuch as the Senate, by a nearly two-thirds majority, stood as an impassable barrier against any such legislation and certain Senators, including among its number the greatest living anarchist on earth, Eli Perkins, the greatest liar in the world, was supporting McKinley.

He mentioned caustic references to C. P. Huntington, the gold-standard monopoly, Daniel E. Sikes, Senator Vilas, J. P. Irish and other Democratic "recusants," of which, he observed, the party was very weak.

The Democratic platform declared that the re-monopolization of silver was the paramount issue of the campaign.

In the event of such an improbable contingency as McKinley's election, he would not be handled immediately, inasmuch as the Senate, by a nearly two-thirds majority, stood as an impassable barrier against any such legislation and certain Senators, including among its number the greatest living anarchist on earth, Eli Perkins, the greatest liar in the world, was supporting McKinley.

He mentioned caustic references to C. P. Huntington, the gold-standard monopoly, Daniel E. Sikes, Senator Vilas, J. P. Irish and other Democratic "recusants," of which, he observed, the party was very weak.

The Democratic platform declared that the re-monopolization of silver was the paramount issue of the campaign.

In the event of such an improbable contingency as McKinley's election, he would not be handled immediately, inasmuch as the Senate, by a nearly two-thirds majority, stood as an impassable barrier against any such legislation and certain Senators, including among its number the greatest living anarchist on earth, Eli Perkins, the greatest liar in the world, was supporting McKinley.

He mentioned caustic references to C. P. Huntington, the gold-standard monopoly, Daniel E. Sikes, Senator Vilas, J. P. Irish and other Democratic "recusants," of which, he observed, the party was very weak.

The Democratic platform declared that the re-monopolization of silver was the paramount issue of the campaign.

In the event of such an improbable contingency as McKinley's election, he would not be handled immediately, inasmuch as the Senate, by a nearly two-thirds majority, stood as an impassable barrier against any such legislation and certain Senators, including among its number the greatest living anarchist on earth, Eli Perkins, the greatest liar in the world, was supporting McKinley.

He mentioned caustic references to C. P. Huntington, the gold-standard monopoly, Daniel E. Sikes, Senator Vilas, J. P. Irish and other Democratic "recusants," of which, he observed, the party was very weak.

The Democratic platform declared that the re-monopolization of silver was the paramount issue of the campaign.

In the event of such an improbable contingency as McKinley's election, he would not be handled immediately, inasmuch as the Senate, by a nearly two-thirds majority, stood as an impassable barrier against any such legislation and certain Senators, including among its number the greatest living anarchist on earth, Eli Perkins, the greatest liar in the world, was supporting McKinley.

He mentioned caustic references to C. P. Huntington, the gold-standard monopoly, Daniel E. Sikes, Senator Vilas, J. P. Irish and other Democratic "recusants," of which, he observed, the party was very weak.

The Democratic platform declared that the re-monopolization of silver was the paramount issue of the campaign.

In the event of such an improbable contingency as McKinley's election, he would not be handled immediately, inasmuch as the Senate, by a nearly two-thirds majority, stood as an impassable barrier against any such legislation and certain Senators, including among its number the greatest living anarchist on earth, Eli Perkins, the greatest liar in the world, was supporting McKinley.

He mentioned caustic references to C. P. Huntington, the gold-standard monopoly, Daniel E. Sikes, Senator Vilas, J. P. Irish and other Democratic "recusants," of which, he observed, the party was very weak.

The Democratic platform declared that the re-monopolization of silver was the paramount issue of the campaign.

In the event of such an improbable contingency as McKinley's election, he would not be handled immediately, inasmuch as the Senate, by a nearly two-thirds majority, stood as an impassable barrier against any such legislation and certain Senators, including among its number the greatest living anarchist on earth, Eli Perkins, the greatest liar in the world, was supporting McKinley.

He mentioned caustic references to C. P. Huntington, the gold-standard monopoly, Daniel E. Sikes, Senator Vilas, J. P. Irish and other Democratic "recusants," of which, he observed, the party was very weak.

The Democratic platform declared that the re-monopolization of silver was the paramount issue of the campaign.

In the event of such an improbable contingency as McKinley's election, he would not be handled immediately, inasmuch as the Senate, by a nearly two-thirds majority, stood as an impassable barrier against any such legislation and certain Senators, including among its number the greatest living anarchist on earth, Eli Perkins, the greatest liar in the world, was supporting McKinley.

He mentioned caustic references to C. P. Huntington, the gold-standard monopoly, Daniel E. Sikes, Senator Vilas, J. P. Irish and other Democratic "recusants," of which, he observed, the party was very weak.

The Democratic platform declared that the re-monopolization of silver was the paramount issue of the campaign.

In the event of such an improbable contingency as McKinley's election, he would not be handled immediately, inasmuch as the Senate, by a nearly two-thirds majority, stood as an impassable barrier against any such legislation and certain Senators, including among its number the greatest living anarchist on earth, Eli Perkins, the greatest liar in the world, was supporting McKinley.

He mentioned caustic references to C. P. Huntington, the gold-standard monopoly, Daniel E. Sikes, Senator Vilas, J. P. Irish and other Democratic "recusants," of which, he observed, the party was very weak.

The Democratic platform declared that the re-monopolization of silver was the paramount issue of the campaign.

In the event of such an improbable contingency as McKinley's election, he would not be handled immediately, inasmuch as the Senate, by a nearly two-thirds majority, stood as an impassable barrier against any such legislation and certain Senators, including among its number the greatest living anarchist on earth, Eli Perkins, the greatest liar in the world, was supporting McKinley.

He mentioned caustic references to C. P. Huntington, the gold-standard monopoly, Daniel E. Sikes, Senator Vilas, J. P. Irish and other Democratic "recusants," of which, he observed, the party was very weak.

The Democratic platform declared that the re-monopolization of silver was the paramount issue of the campaign.

In the event of such an improbable contingency as McKinley's election, he would not be handled immediately, inasmuch as the Senate, by a nearly two-thirds majority, stood as an impassable barrier against any such legislation and certain Senators, including among its number the greatest living anarchist on earth, Eli Perkins, the greatest liar in the world, was supporting McKinley.

He mentioned caustic references to C. P. Huntington, the gold-standard monopoly, Daniel E. Sikes, Senator Vilas, J. P. Irish and other Democratic "recusants," of which, he observed, the party was very weak.

The Democratic platform declared that the re-monopolization of silver was the paramount issue of the campaign.

In the event of such an improbable contingency as McKinley's election, he would not be handled immediately, inasmuch as the Senate, by a nearly two-thirds majority, stood as an impassable barrier against any such legislation and certain Senators, including among its number the greatest living anarchist on earth, Eli Perkins, the greatest liar in the world, was supporting McKinley.

He mentioned caustic references to C. P. Huntington, the gold-standard monopoly, Daniel E. Sikes, Senator Vilas, J. P. Irish and other Democratic "recusants," of which, he observed, the party was very weak.

The Democratic platform declared that the re-monopolization of silver was the paramount issue of the campaign.

In the event of such an improbable contingency as McKinley's election, he would not be handled immediately, inasmuch as the Senate, by a nearly two-thirds majority, stood as an impassable barrier against any such legislation and certain Senators, including among its number the greatest living anarchist on earth, Eli Perkins, the greatest liar in the world, was supporting McKinley.

He mentioned caustic references to C. P. Huntington, the gold-standard monopoly, Daniel E. Sikes, Senator Vilas, J. P. Irish and other Democratic "recusants," of which, he observed, the party was very weak.

The Democratic platform declared that the re-monopolization of silver was the paramount issue of the campaign.

In the event of such an improbable contingency as McKinley's election, he would not be handled immediately, inasmuch as the Senate, by a nearly two-thirds majority, stood as an impassable barrier against any such legislation and certain Senators, including among its number the greatest living anarchist on earth, Eli Perkins, the greatest liar in the world, was supporting McKinley.

He mentioned caustic references to C. P. Huntington, the gold-standard monopoly, Daniel E. Sikes, Senator Vilas, J. P. Irish and other Democratic "recusants," of which, he observed, the party was very weak.

The Democratic platform declared that the re-monopolization of silver was the paramount issue of the campaign.

In the event of such an improbable contingency as McKinley's election, he would not be handled immediately, inasmuch as the Senate, by a nearly two-thirds majority, stood as an impassable barrier against any such legislation and certain Senators, including among its number the greatest living anarchist on earth, Eli Perkins, the greatest liar in the world, was supporting McKinley.

He mentioned caustic references to C. P. Huntington, the gold-standard monopoly, Daniel E. Sikes, Senator Vilas, J. P. Irish and other Democratic "recusants," of which, he observed, the party was very weak.

The Democratic platform declared that the re-monopolization of silver was the paramount issue of the campaign.

In the event of such an improbable contingency as McKinley's election, he would not be handled immediately, inasmuch as the Senate, by a nearly two-thirds majority, stood as an impassable barrier against any such legislation and certain Senators, including among its number the greatest living anarchist on earth, Eli Perkins, the greatest liar in the world, was supporting McKinley.

He mentioned caustic references to C. P. Huntington, the gold-standard monopoly, Daniel E. Sikes, Senator Vilas, J. P. Irish and other Democratic "recusants," of which, he observed, the party was very weak.

The Democratic platform declared that the re-monopolization of silver was the paramount issue of the campaign.

In the event of such an improbable contingency as McKinley's election, he would not be handled immediately, inasmuch as the Senate, by a nearly two-thirds majority, stood as an impassable barrier against any such legislation and certain Senators, including among its number the greatest living anarchist on earth, Eli Perkins, the greatest liar in the world, was supporting McKinley.

He mentioned caustic references to C. P. Huntington, the gold-standard monopoly, Daniel E. Sikes, Senator Vilas, J. P. Irish and other Democratic "recusants," of which, he observed, the party was very weak.

The Democratic platform declared that the re-monopolization of silver was the paramount issue of the campaign.

In the event of such an improbable contingency as McKinley's election, he would not be handled immediately, inasmuch as the Senate, by a nearly two-thirds majority, stood as an impassable barrier against any such legislation and certain Senators, including among its number the greatest living anarchist on earth, Eli Perkins, the greatest liar in the world, was supporting McKinley.

He mentioned caustic references to C. P. Huntington, the gold-standard monopoly, Daniel E. Sikes, Senator Vilas, J. P. Irish and other Democratic "recusants," of which, he observed, the party was very weak.

The Democratic platform declared that the re-monopolization of silver was the paramount issue of the campaign.

In the event of such an improbable contingency as McKinley's election, he would not be handled immediately, inasmuch as the Senate, by a nearly two-thirds majority, stood as an impassable barrier against any such legislation and certain Senators, including among its number the greatest living anarchist on earth, Eli Perkins, the greatest liar in the world, was supporting McKinley.

He mentioned caustic references to C. P. Huntington, the gold-standard monopoly, Daniel E. Sikes, Senator Vilas, J. P. Irish and other Democratic "recusants," of which, he observed, the party was very weak.

The Democratic platform declared that the re-monopolization of silver was the paramount issue of the campaign.

In the event of such an improbable contingency as McKinley's election, he would not be handled immediately, inasmuch as the Senate, by a nearly two-thirds majority, stood as an impassable barrier against any such legislation and certain Senators, including among its number the greatest living anarchist on earth, Eli Perkins, the greatest liar in the world, was supporting McKinley.

He mentioned caustic references to C. P. Huntington, the gold-standard monopoly, Daniel E. Sikes, Senator Vilas, J. P. Irish and other Democratic "recusants," of which, he observed, the party was very weak.

The Democratic platform declared that the re-monopolization of silver was the paramount issue of the campaign.

In the event of such an improbable contingency as McKinley's election, he would not be handled immediately, inasmuch as the Senate, by a nearly two-thirds majority, stood as an impassable barrier against any such legislation and certain Senators, including among its number the greatest living anarchist on earth, Eli Perkins, the greatest liar in the world, was supporting McKinley.

He mentioned caustic references to C. P. Huntington, the gold-standard monopoly, Daniel E. Sikes, Senator Vilas, J. P. Irish and other Democratic "recusants," of which, he observed, the party was very weak.

The Democratic platform declared that the re-monopolization of silver was the paramount issue of the campaign.

In the event of such an improbable contingency as McKinley's election, he would not be handled immediately, inasmuch as the Senate, by a nearly two-thirds majority, stood as an impassable barrier against any such legislation and certain Senators, including among its number the greatest living anarchist on earth, Eli Perkins, the greatest liar in the world, was supporting McKinley.

He mentioned caustic references to C. P. Huntington, the gold-standard monopoly, Daniel E. Sikes, Senator Vilas, J. P. Irish and other Democratic "recusants," of which, he observed, the party was very weak.

The Democratic platform declared that the re-monopolization of silver was the paramount issue of the campaign.

In the event of such an improbable contingency as McKinley's election, he would not be handled immediately, inasmuch as the Senate, by a nearly two-thirds majority, stood as an impassable barrier against any such legislation and certain Senators, including among its number the greatest living anarchist on earth, Eli Perkins, the greatest liar in the world, was supporting McKinley.

He mentioned caustic references to C. P. Huntington, the gold-standard monopoly, Daniel E. Sikes, Senator Vilas, J. P. Irish and other Democratic "recusants," of which, he observed, the party was very weak.

The Democratic platform declared that the re-monopolization of silver was the paramount issue of the campaign.

In the event of such an improbable contingency as McKinley's election, he would not be handled immediately, inasmuch as the Senate, by a nearly two-thirds majority, stood as an impassable barrier against any such legislation and certain Senators, including among its number the greatest living anarchist on earth, Eli Perkins, the greatest liar in the world, was supporting McKinley.

He mentioned caustic references to C. P. Huntington, the gold-standard monopoly, Daniel E. Sikes, Senator Vilas, J. P. Irish and other Democratic "recusants," of which, he observed, the party was very weak.

The Democratic platform declared that the re-monopolization of silver was the paramount issue of the campaign.

In the event of such an improbable contingency as McKinley's election, he would not be handled immediately, inasmuch as the Senate, by a nearly two-thirds majority, stood as an impassable barrier against any such legislation and certain Senators, including among its number the greatest living anarchist on earth, Eli Perkins, the greatest liar in the world, was supporting McKinley.

He mentioned caustic references to C. P. Huntington, the gold-standard monopoly, Daniel E. Sikes, Senator Vilas, J. P. Irish and other Democratic "recusants," of which, he observed, the party was very weak.

The Democratic platform declared that the re-monopolization of silver was the paramount issue of the campaign.

In the event of such an improbable contingency as McKinley's election, he would not be handled immediately, inasmuch as the Senate, by a nearly two-thirds majority, stood as an impassable barrier against any such legislation and certain Senators, including among its number the greatest living anarchist on earth, Eli Perkins, the greatest liar in the world, was supporting McKinley.

He mentioned caustic references to C. P. Huntington, the gold-standard monopoly, Daniel E. Sikes, Senator Vilas, J. P. Irish and other Democratic "recusants," of which, he observed, the party was very weak.

The Democratic platform declared that the re-monopolization of silver was the paramount issue of the campaign.

In the event of such an improbable contingency as McKinley's election, he would not be handled immediately, inasmuch as the Senate, by a nearly two-thirds majority, stood as an impassable barrier against any such legislation and certain Senators, including among its number the greatest living anarchist on earth, Eli Perkins, the greatest liar in the world, was supporting McKinley.

He mentioned caustic references to C. P. Huntington, the gold-standard monopoly, Daniel E. Sikes, Senator Vilas, J. P. Irish and other Democratic "recusants," of which, he observed, the party was very weak.

The Democratic platform declared that the re-monopolization of silver was the paramount issue of the campaign.

In the event of such an improbable contingency as McKinley's election, he would not be handled immediately, inasmuch as the Senate, by a nearly two-thirds majority, stood as an impassable barrier against any such legislation and certain Senators, including among its number the greatest living anarchist on earth, Eli Perkins, the greatest liar in the world, was supporting McKinley.

He mentioned caustic references to C. P. Huntington, the gold-standard monopoly, Daniel E. Sikes, Senator Vilas, J. P. Irish and other Democratic "recusants," of which, he observed, the party was very weak.

The Democratic platform declared that the re-monopolization of silver was the paramount issue of the campaign.

In the event of such an improbable contingency as McKinley's election, he would not be handled immediately, inasmuch as the Senate, by a nearly two-thirds majority, stood as an impassable barrier against any such legislation and certain Senators, including among its number the greatest living anarchist on earth, Eli Perkins, the greatest liar in the world, was supporting McKinley.

He mentioned caustic references to C. P. Huntington, the gold-standard monopoly, Daniel E. Sikes, Senator Vilas, J. P. Irish and other Democratic "recusants," of which, he observed, the party was very weak.

The Democratic platform declared that the re-monopolization of silver was the paramount issue of the campaign.

In the event of such an improbable contingency as McKinley's election, he would not be handled immediately, inasmuch as the Senate, by a nearly two-thirds majority, stood as an impassable barrier against any such legislation and certain Senators, including among its number the greatest living anarchist on earth, Eli Perkins, the greatest liar in the world, was supporting McKinley.

He mentioned caustic references to C. P. Huntington, the gold-standard monopoly, Daniel E. Sikes, Senator Vilas, J. P. Irish and other Democratic "recusants," of which, he observed, the party was very weak.

The Democratic platform declared that the re-monopolization of silver was the paramount issue of the campaign.

In the event of such an improbable contingency as McKinley's election, he would not be handled immediately, inasmuch as the Senate, by a nearly two-thirds majority, stood as an impassable barrier against any such legislation and certain Senators, including among its number the greatest living anarchist on earth, Eli Perkins, the greatest liar in the world, was supporting McKinley.

He mentioned caustic references to C. P. Huntington, the gold-standard monopoly, Daniel E. Sikes, Senator Vilas, J. P. Irish and other Democratic "recusants," of which, he observed, the party was very weak.

The Democratic platform declared that the re-monopolization of silver was the paramount issue of the campaign.

In the event of such an improbable contingency as McKinley's election, he would not be handled immediately, inasmuch as the Senate, by a nearly two-thirds majority, stood as an impassable barrier against any such legislation and certain Senators, including among its number the greatest living anarchist on earth, Eli Perkins, the greatest liar in the world, was supporting McKinley.

He mentioned caustic references to C. P. Huntington, the gold-standard monopoly, Daniel E. Sikes, Senator Vilas, J. P. Irish and other Democratic "recusants," of which, he observed, the party was very weak.

The Democratic platform declared that the re-monopolization of silver was the paramount issue of the campaign.

In the event of such an improbable contingency as McKinley's election, he would not be handled immediately, inasmuch as the Senate, by a nearly two-thirds majority, stood as an impassable barrier against any such legislation and certain Senators, including among its number the greatest living anarchist on earth, Eli Perkins, the greatest liar in the world, was supporting McKinley.

He mentioned caustic references to C. P. Huntington, the gold-standard monopoly, Daniel E. Sikes, Senator Vilas, J. P. Irish and other Democratic "recusants," of which, he observed, the party was very weak.

The Democratic platform declared that the re-monopolization of silver was the paramount issue of the campaign.

In the event of such an improbable contingency as McKinley's election, he would not be handled immediately, inasmuch as the Senate, by a nearly two-thirds majority, stood as an impassable barrier against any such legislation and certain Senators, including among its number the greatest living anarchist on earth, Eli Perkins, the greatest liar in the world, was supporting McKinley.

He mentioned caustic references to C. P. Huntington, the gold-standard monopoly, Daniel E. Sikes, Senator Vilas, J. P. Irish and other Democratic "recusants," of which, he observed, the party was very weak.

The Democratic platform declared that the re-monopolization of silver was the paramount issue of the campaign.

In the event of such an improbable contingency as McKinley's election, he would not be handled immediately, inasmuch as the Senate, by a nearly two-thirds majority, stood as an impassable barrier against any such legislation and certain Senators, including among its number the greatest living anarchist on earth, Eli Perkins, the greatest liar in the world, was supporting McKinley.

He mentioned caustic references to C. P. Huntington, the gold-standard monopoly, Daniel E. Sikes, Senator Vilas, J. P. Irish and other Democratic "recusants," of which, he observed, the party was very weak.

The Democratic platform declared that the re-monopolization of silver was the paramount issue of the campaign.

In the event of such an improbable contingency as McKinley's election, he would not be handled immediately, inasmuch as the Senate, by a nearly two-thirds majority, stood as an impassable barrier against any such legislation and certain Senators, including among its number the greatest living anarchist on earth, Eli Perkins, the greatest liar in the world, was supporting McKinley.

He mentioned caustic references to C. P. Huntington, the gold-standard monopoly, Daniel E. Sikes, Senator Vilas, J. P. Irish and other Democratic "recusants," of which, he observed, the party was very weak.

The Democratic platform declared that the re-monopolization of silver was the paramount issue of the campaign.

In the event of such an improbable contingency as McKinley's election, he would not be handled immediately, inasmuch as the Senate, by a nearly two-thirds majority, stood as an impassable barrier against any such legislation and certain Senators, including among its number the greatest living anarchist on earth, Eli Perkins, the greatest liar in the world, was supporting McKinley.

He mentioned caustic references to C. P. Huntington, the gold-standard monopoly, Daniel E. Sikes, Senator Vilas, J. P. Irish and other Democratic "recusants," of which, he observed, the party was very weak.

The Democratic platform declared that the re-monopolization of silver was the paramount issue of the campaign.

In the event of such an improbable contingency as McKinley's election, he would not be handled immediately, inasmuch as the Senate, by a nearly two-thirds majority, stood as an impassable barrier against any such legislation and certain Senators, including among its number the greatest living anarchist on earth, Eli Perkins, the greatest liar in the world, was supporting McKinley.

He mentioned caustic references to C. P. Huntington, the gold-standard monopoly, Daniel E. Sikes, Senator Vilas, J. P. Irish and other Democratic "recusants," of which, he observed, the party was very weak.

The Democratic platform declared that the re-monopolization of silver was the paramount issue of the campaign.

In the event of such an improbable contingency as McKinley's election, he would not be handled immediately, inasmuch as the Senate, by a nearly two-thirds majority, stood as an impassable barrier against any such legislation and certain Senators, including among its number the greatest living anarchist on earth, Eli Perkins, the greatest liar in the world, was supporting McKinley.

He mentioned caustic references to C. P. Huntington, the gold-standard monopoly, Daniel E. Sikes, Senator Vilas, J. P. Irish and other Democratic "recusants," of which, he observed, the party was very weak.

The Democratic platform declared that the re-monopolization of silver was the paramount issue of the campaign.

In the event of such an improbable contingency as McKinley's election, he would not be handled immediately, inasmuch as the Senate, by a nearly two-thirds majority, stood as an impassable barrier against any such legislation and certain Senators, including among its number the greatest living anarchist on earth, Eli Perkins, the greatest liar in the world, was supporting McKinley.

He mentioned caustic references to C. P. Huntington, the gold-standard monopoly, Daniel E. Sikes, Senator Vilas, J. P. Irish and other Democratic "recusants," of which, he observed, the party was very weak.

The Democratic platform declared that the re-monopolization of silver was the paramount issue of the campaign.

In the event of such an improbable contingency as McKinley's election, he would not be handled immediately, inasmuch as the Senate, by a nearly two-thirds majority, stood as an impassable barrier against any such legislation and certain Senators, including among its number the greatest living anarchist on earth, Eli Perkins, the greatest liar in the world, was supporting McKinley.

He mentioned caustic references to C. P. Huntington, the gold-standard monopoly, Daniel E. Sikes, Senator Vilas, J. P. Irish and other Democratic "recusants," of which, he observed, the party was very weak.

The Democratic platform declared that the re-monopolization of silver was the paramount issue of the campaign.

In the event of such an improbable contingency as McKinley's election, he would not be handled immediately, inasmuch as the Senate, by a nearly two-thirds majority, stood as an impassable barrier against any such legislation and certain Senators, including among its number the greatest living anarchist on earth, Eli Perkins, the greatest liar in the world, was supporting McKinley.

He mentioned caustic references to C. P. Huntington, the gold-standard monopoly, Daniel E. Sikes, Senator Vilas, J. P. Irish and other Democratic "recusants," of which, he observed, the party was very weak.

The Democratic platform declared that the re-monopolization of silver was the paramount issue of the campaign.

In the event of such an improbable contingency as McKinley's election, he would not be handled immediately, inasmuch as the Senate, by a nearly two-thirds majority, stood as an impassable barrier against any such legislation and certain Senators, including among its number the greatest living anarchist on earth, Eli Perkins, the greatest liar in the world, was supporting McKinley.

He mentioned caustic references to C. P. Huntington, the gold-standard monopoly, Daniel E. Sikes, Senator Vilas, J. P. Irish and other Democratic "recusants," of which, he observed, the party was very weak.

The Democratic platform declared that the re-monopolization of silver was the paramount issue of the campaign.

In the event of such an improbable contingency as McKinley's election, he would not be handled immediately, inasmuch as the Senate, by a nearly two-thirds majority, stood as an impassable barrier against any such legislation and certain Senators, including among its number the greatest living anarchist on earth, Eli Perkins, the greatest liar in the world, was supporting McKinley.

He mentioned caustic references to C. P. Huntington, the gold-standard monopoly, Daniel E. Sikes, Senator Vilas, J. P. Irish and other Democratic "recusants," of which, he observed, the party was very weak.

The Democratic platform declared that the re-monopolization of silver was the paramount issue of the campaign.

In the event of such an improbable contingency as McKinley's election, he would not be handled immediately, inasmuch as the Senate, by a nearly two-thirds majority, stood as an impassable barrier against any such legislation and certain Senators, including among its number the greatest living anarchist on earth, Eli Perkins, the greatest liar in the world, was supporting McKinley.

He mentioned caustic references to C. P. Huntington, the gold-standard monopoly, Daniel E. Sikes, Senator Vilas, J. P. Irish and other Democratic "recusants," of which, he observed, the party was very weak.

The Democratic platform declared that the re-monopolization of silver was the paramount issue