

SOCIAL SENSATION OF PALO ALTO Stanford's Leading Fraternity Renounces Its Vows.

They Become a Local Society in Spite of Strenuous Opposition.

Whole College World Affected and Very Severe Censures Sure to Follow.

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, CAL., Sept. 30.—A sensation unequalled in the history of the university, and without parallel in club-life of other colleges, has just developed here. The "Fijis," a branch of the National college Greek-letter fraternity of Phi Gamma Delta, announced to-night that they have surrendered their charter, renounced allegiance to the National order and have become a local society without other affiliations.

This action comes unexpectedly. It is certain to be far-reaching in its effects throughout the college world. The men participating in it will, as a natural result, be expelled from the order, that being the only way, it is said, in which members of college secret societies can be officially divorced from their oath-bound obligations to the fraternity and permitted to join another order.

Phi Gamma Delta is one of the oldest Greek-letter fraternities, having been founded in 1818. It has chapters in forty-eight of the larger colleges and universities in the United States, graduate chapters in several of the larger cities and an active membership of 600 collegians, with hundreds of graduate members in the professional world, many of them of considerable prominence. Among such are college presidents and a large number of college professors, jurists and statesmen, clergymen and litterateurs.

The Stanford chapter, organized only a few weeks after the university opened its doors, was one of the first in the field. Early establishing itself in the clubhouse it assumed and maintained the lead in the social and fraternity life of the university.

As an example of its relative standing it is only necessary to cite last year's record. In a chapter membership of about fifteen men among 1100 students and in competition with some ten or more other fraternity chapters it received many of the most coveted positions attainable through individual fitness, captain and two other men of the Varsity football eleven, captain and another player of the Varsity baseball team, the intercollegiate champion hurdler, president and other members of the glee club, president of one of the four classes, captains of two class football teams and representatives upon the college publications and in various student organizations.

There are many results to follow from this act. Every one of the forty-seven remaining chapters must suffer more or less in its particular college because of the loss to the fraternity of one of its star chapters. In some colleges it may disturb the relative positions of the different fraternities. It is sure to give rise to a great deal of comment and unfavorable comment, too, for the National fraternity most affected will condemn the move, and others, to guard against its repetition elsewhere, will denounce it roundly in their fraternity magazines.

was William Linville, in the employ of the stage company for two years. Officers were notified and began an investigation, in which Detective Thacker took part. Soon after the theft Linville quit stage-driving and shortly assumed control of a hotel in La Grange called the Counter House, afterward selling it.

Sheriff Purvis last evening started for La Grange to arrest Linville, and met his man at Waterford. Linville was lodged in the County Jail here. Sheriff Yancey of Tuolumne County, acting in union with Purvis, caught William Thacker at Modesto, in Sonora last evening, sending him to Modesto to-day. The officers claim to have a strong case, saying they will prove that Linville and Noah caused the disappearance of the coin.

WRECKED ON TUGIDEK ISLAND. The Bark James A. Borland Strikes a Rock and Is Pounded to Pieces by the Sea.

PORT TOWNSEND, WASH., Sept. 30.—Another wreck has been added to the long list of disasters that have occurred this winter in the North Pacific Ocean. The bark James A. Borland, owned by the Alaska Packers' Association of San Francisco, laden with 29,000 cases of salmon belonging to the same company, went ashore on Tugidek Island, Alaska, and just as it was nearing its destination was overtaken by a dense fog. To intensify the danger a fresh breeze sprang up from the southwest and drove the bark in among a number of small islands. Without warning and in a fog so thick that objects a ship's length away could not be discerned, the vessel struck a needle-shaped rock. Captain Miller says, and the next instant it was pounding itself to pieces. The accident occurred late at night, but the officers and crew managed to remain aboard until daylight, when they were rescued by the tugboat.

PORT TOWNSEND, WASH., Sept. 30.—After a long career of dissipation, Thomas Wylie ended his life at a lodging-house in this city last night by taking an overdose of morphine. Wylie left a note saying:

"I LOVE YOU AS A BROTHER." No Word for the One Whom He Twice Wedded and Twice Deserted.

LOS ANGELES OFFICE OF THE CALL, 328 South Broadway, LOS ANGELES, CAL., Sept. 30.—After a long career of dissipation, Thomas Wylie ended his life at a lodging-house in this city last night by taking an overdose of morphine. Wylie left a note saying: "Fannie, good-by, I love you as a brother. The whereabouts of "Fannie" is unknown. Wylie went to the lodging-house last evening in company with a gentleman who was unknown to the proprietor. Wylie was found dead in his room this forenoon. In his pockets were two shoe buttons, one glove button, with the name "Kahn & Co., Oakland," upon it, a gold watch, a mustache comb, a pocket knife and 15 cents. He was wearing an imitation diamond stud. He had several letters from Mrs. A. E. Rae of Oakland, one of which was dated September 18, and two postal cards, in which a projected trade of properties was spoken of, from W. F. Tate, a rancher at Fairview. These were all addressed to box 856, Pasadena.

IN THE room a quarter pound bottle of sulphite of morphine was found. In his pocket was a cork to this, showing that he had taken an enormous dose. Upon the floor was found the note to "Fannie." Wylie was dressed in a suit of dark brown clothes.

Wylie leaves a widow and three small children in East Oakland, unless they have removed recently. He formerly owned considerable property on and about Twenty-third avenue, but loss of business and a reckless life absorbed most, if not all, of it. Two weeks after a trip to New York State, Wylie returned with a woman he called "Sister Fannie." His unsophisticated wife admitted Fannie into her home, cooked and waited upon her for several months, but finally her suspicions were aroused and she sent both Wylie and his "sister" away, soon afterward securing a divorce from her recalcitrant husband.

Wylie and Fannie went to West Oakland, and the former tried railroad work for a time. He then apparently deserted his sister and remarried his former wife, promising all manner of reforms. But it seems that Fannie has never been forgotten. The deceased left no word to his devoted but deserted wife.

HAD A HAPPY HOME. Wylie Deserved a Kindly Wife and Three Children.

OAKLAND, CAL., Sept. 30.—Tom Wylie came to Oakland eight years ago from New York State, and was known as a hard-working, industrious man for five years, during which he saved considerable money and invested it in property. About three years ago he secured a young man to help him, and when fairly in the work Wylie took to drinking, and soon had trouble with his wife, a kindly dispositioned and attractive woman who had made many friends. After she had secured a divorce because of the woman "Fannie," friends remonstrated in vain when it was announced that she would marry Wylie.

MACCABEES MAKE MERRY. Four San Francisco Teams Entertained at Los Angeles—Music and a Grand Ball.

LOS ANGELES, CAL., Sept. 30.—The members of the Los Angeles degree team of the Knights of the Maccabees were accorded a royal welcome last evening by their fellow-members of the four tents located in San Francisco. The hall was crowded and the decorations were in excellent taste.

At 8:30 o'clock the degree team entered from a side hall. They were attired in their regalia and presented an attractive appearance. The commander, A. Luckenbach, in an Oriental suit, with a long, trailing red cloak bound with ermine, and with a scepter in his hand, was accompanied by the past commander, John Spears, in an equally rich suit. Fred Anthony, the chaplain, with J. G. Harris and G. H. Bertram as assistant priests, were dressed in white satin gowns, trimmed with gold lace. They were followed by the soldiers—Dr. R. E. O'Connell, Dr. G. N. Van Orden, Dr. D. J. Buckley, James Patterson, J. D. W. Bates and W. W. Thompson—in suits of armor and carrying spears. J. C. Waddington and S. W. Hall brought up the rear, as peasants, in appropriate costume.

After the march Charles J. King, the chairman, in an interesting address, explained briefly the workings of the order and welcomed the visiting Knights. The response was made by Commander C. A. Luckenbach. The rest of the programme was carried out as follows:

Song..... Victoria O'Connell Recitation..... Miss N. V. Corra Address..... Mrs. H. Cook Mandolin..... Mrs. A. B. Brown Fanny dance..... Mrs. N. Lockwood Baritone solo..... Wm. Wilson The chairs were then removed and dancing was kept up until nearly midnight, when the entertainment was brought to a conclusion.

Verdict Against Consul Del Amo. LOS ANGELES, CAL., Sept. 30.—The famous suit of Professor Maravilla against Dr. Gregorio del Amo, Spanish Consul, came to a close before Judge Welborn and a jury in the United States Circuit Court here this afternoon. It was an action to recover the value of alleged services rendered to the Consul as agent, guard and lackey for several years, the claim being $10,000. The jury was out about three hours when it returned a verdict for the plaintiff for $1064.

Dr. Shorb Arraigned. LOS ANGELES, CAL., Sept. 30.—Dr. A. S. Shorb, charged with the murder of Mrs. Jennie Snyder, was arraigned in Department 1 of the Superior Court this morning, but by agreement with the District Attorney he was allowed until Friday, October 3, to plead.

NEWS OF SAN JOSE. Defaulter Hughes' Peculations Cause Joseph Enright's Failure—Success of the County Fair.

SAN JOSE, CAL., Sept. 30.—Joseph G. Enright, who has been engaged in the real estate and insurance business in this city since 1888, to-day filed a petition in insolvency. He describes his financial difficulties to hard times and to judgments obtained against him as a bondsman of George H. Hughes, an absconding notary public. Enright was a surety on Hughes' bond in the sum of $5000, and so far judgments have been obtained against him and B. D. Murphy, another bondsman, for $7500. There are also other claims against him amounting to over $15,000, which are due to the same party.

The total liabilities are placed at $21,301. The assets consist of real estate valued at $2000, but subject to mortgage.

The Killing of Ah Hoe Toy. SAN JOSE, CAL., Sept. 30.—The authorities have been unable to find any trace of the murderer of Ah Hoe Toy, the Chinese woman who was killed in Sixth-street, Chinatown last night. Two Japanese who saw the murderer leave the house where the woman was killed are being held as agents in this case. An autopsy this morning showed that the murderer had cut off the woman's body. The inquest has been postponed until to-morrow morning.

At Santa Clara's Fair. SAN JOSE, CAL., Sept. 30.—The County fair now in progress in this city is attracting much attention, and the attendance during the afternoons and evenings is increasing. The display of Santa Clara County products are greatly admired by visitors. The Marine band of this city gave concerts this afternoon and evening. To-morrow night will be given over to the San Jose Turn Verein.

Morissini Was Only Joking. SAN JOSE, CAL., Sept. 30.—Carlo Morissini, who stabbed Bonifacio Nicoletti in the back about a week ago because the latter refused him a pipeful of tobacco, was to-day held to answer on a charge of assault on a number of Italian boys. Bail was fixed at $2000, in default of which he was remanded in custody. Morissini admitted doing the cutting, but said he was only joking.

THE AL-KI IS SAFE. Sustained Only a Slight Accident to Its Machinery. SEATTLE, WASH., Sept. 30.—The story that the steamer Al-Ki had been wrecked in Alaskan waters is denied by the officers of the City of Topeka, which came in from Alaska to-night. They say that the Al-Ki met with a slight accident to some of her machinery and was laid up for repairs. Then she went to Yes Bay for a cargo.

Sacramento Suspect Held. SACRAMENTO, CAL., Sept. 30.—Gus Devine, suspected of being one of the parties in the Wachsthor diamond robbery, was this morning held for trial by Justice of the Peace Davis. A rumor is going the rounds that several diamonds were found on Devine's person when he was arrested in San Francisco, but no evidence of this kind was introduced in the examination.

STILL ON POINT WILSON Efforts to Ascertain the Extent of the Umatilla's Damages Are Futile. Lighthouse-Keepers Admit That S. lent Foghorns Caused the Disaster.

PORT TOWNSEND, WASH., Sept. 30.—The steamer Umatilla is resting easily on the beach a few hundred yards from the Point Wilson lighthouse. Both bow anchors are embedded in the sand on shore and by a cable fastened to the steamer. This holds it steady, though the vessel is listing considerably to the starboard.

A diver made two unsuccessful attempts to-day to locate the place where the plates were torn off. A high swell and the unsteady condition of the vessel prevented the diver from accomplishing his object. A board of surveyors this afternoon examined the vessel and will probably report in a day or two. The freight is being rapidly removed to the dock and everything being got in readiness to facilitate the diver's efforts to locate the leaks.

The chances are about even whether the vessel can be pumped out and the holes temporarily closed until she can reach a drydock. If the weather continues favorable it may be possible to save it.

It is now known positively that the fog whistles on Point Wilson and the Race Rocks were not blowing on the night of the disaster. This is admitted by the keepers, who say that it was owing to the water necessary for steam purposes having been exhausted. For the past three days the whistle on the Race Rocks has been silent for the same cause. This, together with the ebb-tide, was what threw the pilot nearly a mile off his reckoning, and while trying to locate Point Wilson signal he ran the steamer in among the rocks ahead of the old wreck of the bark David Hoadley.

Six minutes from the time she struck the rocks reached the furnaces and quenched the fires. The firemen were nearly suffocated by the scalding steam and hot water and ashes. It was by the greatest luck the Umatilla reached the shore. Her distance been fifty feet greater she would have foundered in twenty fathoms of water.

When the ship struck the reef all of the doors leading from one to another of the compartments were open and during the excitement the crew failed to close them, and that was what caused the vessel to fill so rapidly.

Maricopa County Supervisors Sued. PHOENIX, ARIZ., Sept. 30.—Suit was filed in the District Court yesterday by Emory Kays, president of the Citizens' League, against W. L. George, E. B. Kirkland and J. T. Priest, supervisors of Maricopa County, to recover $900 claimed to have been illegally drawn by them for services while members of the board. Priest drew $400 for superintending work on county roads, George $100 and Kirkland $400 for superintending work on jail and courthouse. On demand of District Attorney Milroy George paid back the $100 some time ago. Kirkland is a defaulter and a fugitive from justice. Priest is chairman of Supervisors.

The Lake Lemna Spoken. PORT TOWNSEND, WASH., Sept. 30.—The Chilean bark Lake Lemna, which collided with the Italian bark Lazzaro ten days ago off Cape Flattery and for the safety of which great fears were entertained, has been spoken by several vessels off the Washington coast. The damage sustained by the Lake Lemna is unknown.

REPORT OF DR. JORDAN. Finds That Fur-Bearing Herds Are Steadily Decreasing in Number.

RESULT OF KILLING FEMALES. The President of Stanford Tells of the Success of the Northern Voyage.

SEATTLE, WASH., Sept. 30.—Dr. David S. Jordan, head of the Behring Sea Commission for the investigation of the fur seal question, arrived in Seattle to-night on the City of Topeka, in company with Fred A. Lucas of the same commission and Professor D'Arcy W. Thompson, head of the British commission. Dr. Jordan and Mr. Lucas left at once for San Francisco, while Professor Thompson will spend several days in Victoria. Of the other members of the American commission Captain J. F. Moser of the Albatross and Dr. Leonard Stejneger are still on the Japanese coast, whether they have gone for the exploration of the Japanese fur seal islands; Charles H. Townsend is in San Francisco engaged in collection of statistics, and George A. Clark and Colonel Joseph Murray remain to record the breaking up of the rookeries on the islands. The following prepared statement was given out by Dr. Jordan for publication:

Dr. Jordan and Mr. Lucas report that they are well satisfied with the work of the summer. Every phase of the life and history of the fur seal has been critically studied and all points heretofore under dispute have been settled beyond cavil. The first detailed census of fur seals has been made and the first complete examination of the various causes of their death. The conclusion reached last year by Mr. Townsend in the study of killing seals at sea have been confirmed in every particular. A detailed report of the work of the summer will be sent at once to the Treasury Department.

There is still a vast body of fur seals on the islands—more than the commission was at first led to expect—but the number is steadily declining. The only cause of this decline is the killing of females through pelagic sealing. The females are never molested on the islands, but three-fourths of those killed in Bering Sea are nursing females. The death of the mother causes the death of the young on shore, so that for every four fur seals killed at sea, three pups starve to death on shore. As each of those females is also pregnant, a like number of unborn pups is likewise destroyed.

Pelagic sealing as an industry has already cut its own throat, as the fleet this year will not pay expenses. The killing of surplus young males, as provided for by law, is and has always been a benefit to the herd.

The commissioners believe that the way is open to an honorable and amicable settlement of this question in a manner satisfactory alike to the United States and England and to Alaska.

down on the steamship Willapa, which arrived in port to-day. They say that Yukon is not panning out as well this season as in former years, and J. N. Weather Bureau Chief White Was Crushed to Death Under a Run-away Car.

PHOENIX, ARIZ., Sept. 30.—Full particulars of the death of Arthur L. White by accident in the Congress mine on Monday were received yesterday. White was chief of the United States Weather Bureau in Phoenix, coming from Columbus, Ohio, last summer. He went to Congress to establish a voluntary observation station and was exploring the mine with his wife and Shift Boss Bartholomew when the accident occurred.

The mine is on one side of a mountain ledge, dipping at an angle of about forty degrees. The working shaft is an incline, the ledge down 1700 feet, cars being handled by an engine on the surface with cables. The mine is worked by lateral drifts or levels, following the ledge on each side of the incline. White's party was ascending from the lowest level, and when at the 1200-foot level a car being loaded at the 400-foot level broke loose and rushed down the incline upon them. Bartholomew heard it in time to catch Mrs. White and spring from the car to the side of the incline and they escaped with slight injury. White was crushed and instantly killed in the collision before he could leave the car.

Just how the car got away and the cause of the accident is not known. The management has always been very careful and accidents were rare. White was buried in Phoenix yesterday evening.

OREGON KAOLIN DEPOSIT. Discovery of a Mine of the Clay Used in Making Fine Chinaware.

PORTLAND, OR., Sept. 30.—A party of Portlanders, while prospecting in Eastern Oregon recently, came across a bed of kaolin, the clay from which the finest chinaware is made. Claims were staked out, the locators being F. C. Brody, Herbert Baker, C. W. James and J. H. Burdard.

Samples of the kaolin were sent to a Delaware pottery, one of the largest in the United States, with the request that the clay be worked into chinaware. With the return of the ware came letters from the potters asking as to the extent of the field and its distance from rail communication. They said that the quality of the clay was fully equal to that formerly imported from England and in which country they were forced to place their sole dependence. The letter concludes with a proposition that a stock company be formed and the kaolin mined in a systematic manner.

The mines are five miles from Huntington, the deposit apparently being inexhaustible.

San Luis Obispo Explosion. SAN LUIS OBISPO, CAL., Sept. 30.—A locomotive in the roundhouse of the Pacific Coast Railway blew up this morning, completely shattering one end of the building and blowing a heavy timber across the tracks onto the roof of a warehouse seventy-five feet distant, driving it completely through the roof. Fortunately the men on the engine had gone but a few moments before, and none was hurt. The explosion was heard a long distance away, shaking the ground like an earthquake.
