

GRIZZLED VETERANS VERY INDIGNANT They Properly Resent Aspersions Upon Loyal Comrades.

Attention Called to the Fact That the "Examiner" Uttered No Protest.

SOME RINGING RESOLUTIONS Democratic Committee Denounced. Speakers Warmly Commend "Call's" Editorial.

Several delegations of Grand Army men visited THE CALL office yesterday to express hearty gratification on account of an editorial article which appeared in these columns rebuking certain Democratic newspapers and campaign stump speakers for wantonly and unjustifiable attacks on members of the Grand Army of the Republic because they have seen fit to exercise the right of free citizenship and support the man of their choice for the Presidency; a man who, like themselves, saw service during the dark days of the late unfortunate civil strife.

GOING TOO FAR.

No part of the Bryan campaign in the Mississippi Valley has been more offensive to warlike loyalty and democratic decency than the attacks which have been made upon Generals Sickles, Alger and Howard by some of the radical supporters of the Democratic Union seems to have excited the worst passions of the Bryanites, and the brave old soldiers have been maligned and insulted beyond the bounds of toleration by good citizens.

Omaha World-Herald, of which Bryan was at one time the editor, is included by our Eastern exchanges among the organs which are most violent in their attacks, but as we have not seen the language used by that journal we may let it pass. Another Bryanite organ, the South Omaha Daily Star, is quoted as having said:

A carload of old bums, called "generals," are now touring the country on free passes and other expenses being paid by the Democrats, telling the people how to vote. They were in Omaha last night. When the people stop to consider why such a stunt is so terribly interesting, it is enough to settle the matter that it is not any love for the poor man or the laborer that prompts these "generals" to thus swing around the circuit.

Such attacks upon men whom the country honors have naturally aroused the indignation of the people. It is not surprising, therefore, that when "Colonel" Harney ventured upon a similar attack at Clinton, Iowa, he was hissed and hooted into silence by the audience who gathered to hear him.

"Those are the sentiments we endorse," said Joseph Steele, a member of the committee. "The Examiner might have said as much if its sympathies had been with the old veterans, but it let the shameful incident go by without a word of protest."

F. Hanson, president of the McKinley Veteran Soldiers' and Sailors' Republican Club, heartily seconded Mr. Steele's remarks and added that he and his companions were surprised because no censures had been passed on those intolerant and bigoted speakers and editors who had thus violently attacked American citizens for exercising privileges guaranteed to them by the constitution and the laws.

In taking the position which it does in this matter THE CALL feels that it is doing a plain duty. It would equally as warmly defend democratic veterans should they be assailed in an unwarranted manner for supporting Mr. Bryan.

It would be a pretty state of affairs, surely, if the men who fought for the preservation of the Union should at this late date be coerced into a position when they must accept instruction from campaign orators as to the manner in which they shall perform their civic duties.

SHARKEY AND CAVILL The Pugilist Will Have a Chance of Meeting the Champion Swimmer of Australia.

Tom Sharkey, the pugilist, is probably better at swimming than at fighting. However that may be, Tom will have a chance in the near future of proving to the people of this country that he can defend the colors of Uncle Sam equally as well in water as on land.

It may not be generally known that Sharkey held the swimming championship of the American navy for years, and that he easily defeated the crack swimmer of the Hawaiian Islands during the time he was stationed at Honolulu. Sharkey is at home in the water, and during the days he trained at the Cliff House he thought nothing of swimming out to the Seal Rocks and watching the antics of the sea lions.

Wednesday evening Tom drifted into Ferguson's, 719 Market street, and during a conversation that followed Sharkey was shown a picture of Cavill, the famous swimmer.

"He is a fine looking fellow," remarked Sharkey, "but I do not think that he is such a phenomenal swimmer as he is cracked up to be. I will wager that I can swim across the channel in quicker time than Cavill was credited with doing."

"Would you swim him a match, Tom?" some one asked, and the pugilist answered instantly that he was not afraid to swim any man on earth and that the longer the distance the better it answered him.

ALARMING EFFECT OF THE BIG HAT.

A Perspective of a Stage Where a Sparkling and Absorbingly Interesting Drama is Being Enacted—at Least so the Young Lady in the Foreground Thinks. The Young Man Sitting Immediately Behind Her Did Not Know So Much About It.

It had, seems to have given a new interest, with indications of a new impulse, to theater-goers. The same card will be played at the opening of the California Theater, which is under the same management as the Baldwin.

The effect—every lady in a crowded theater with her hat off—presented a novel and very attractive appearance, and so increased the comfort of every individual in the audience, as well as adding to the pleasure derived from the performance, that there is every likelihood that the reform will become a fixed thing.

Habitués of the theater are delighted, and declare that if the managers of the Baldwin are permanently successful in the crusade they will earn meritable statues to their memory whether they ever get them or not.

"We have been at work toward this end, you know, for about a year," said Mr. Bonvier yesterday. "The means we have hitherto employed, however, have not worked many miracles. The little card of last night, placed in the hands of every lady as she entered the theater, carrying to her a personal plea, was responded to almost by the last woman. Very many of the ladies wore a small, flat headgear that interfered with the view of nobody. Those who were not thus provided simply drew their hatspin and laid their hats in their laps."

McDONALD WANTS HIS MONEY BACK New and Peculiar Phase of Pacific Bank Litigation.

Has Paid His Percentage of Liability and Now Wants a Rebate.

HE INTERVENED IN A SUIT.

Asks That He Be Permitted to Share in the Sixth Dividend, Now Declared.

There is a new phase in the Pacific Bank case. J. M. McDonald yesterday filed a petition in intervention in the suit of the Sacramento Bank against the Pacific Bank. He alleges that he has paid in all the money for which he is liable as a stockholder and owner of 1738 shares of the capital stock of the defunct institution and now asks that he receive his percentage of all future dividends declared by it.

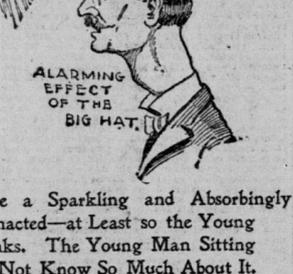

The intervenor in his petition admits all the allegations contained in the first cause of action brought by the Sacramento Bank versus the Pacific Bank, except that which alleges that there is still due the plaintiff $15,880. He also admits all the allegations in the second cause of action, except that which alleges that $2095 is due the plaintiff, and further alleges that only $11,731 is due.

It is McDonald, in support of his claim for restitution, says that he has paid his share of the stockholders' liability on all of the first five dividends made by the Pacific Bank, amounting in all to $2935.16, and that by reason of the payment and satisfaction of his share of the indebtedness he became entitled to plaintiff's rights against the said bank in the premises, and became entitled to receive from the Pacific Bank his percentage of all the dividends that it may hereafter declare and pay on that portion of said debt which was paid and satisfied by him.

THE SPANISH CARNIVAL. Preparations are being made by the entertainment committee of the Spanish carnival to be given on the afternoon of the 25th of October at Mechanics Pavilion.

The final account of special Administrator W. F. Good, who had charge of the estate of Lydia Spaulding of the Hotel Bella Vista, was yesterday filed with the probate court. It showed cash receipts of $30,275.55, of which $27,765 was from a life insurance policy, and disbursements amounting to $82.40.

NEW TO-DAY.

MUST NAME PARTIES. Important Opinion Rendered by Attorney-General Fitzgerald.

He instructs the Secretary of State Concerning Certificates of Nomination.

Attorney-General Fitzgerald has forwarded the following important opinion to the Secretary of State in reference to the filing of certificates of nomination: "Where nominations are made by conventions 'The certificate of nomination, which must be written, shall contain the name of each person nominated, his residence, and the office for which he is nominated, and shall designate the party or principle which such certificate of nomination must contain. The name of the candidate to be nominated, with the other information required to be given in the certificates of nomination made by conventions.' Political Code, section 1188."

I am in receipt of your favor of the 2d inst., in which you state that 'An organization which is a socialist labor party, etc.' has caused to be filed in this office certificates of nomination by petition for electors and Congressmen. This party had no candidate before the people at the last election, but has complied with the provisions of section 1188, Political Code in accordance with law, and in which you state 'Should all nominations by petition be certified as independent regardless of the title or party designation assumed and embodied in the certificate itself?'"
