

SARAH SPENCER'S MANY HUMBUGS

The New Woman in the Fair Case Is an Adventuress.

Her Shady Record in Many Dark Deeds Brands Her a Fraud.

None of the Attorneys Trust Her or Know Aught of Her Mysterious Pretenses.

Mrs. Sarah Owen Spencer, a weak woman who has had considerable unenviable notoriety in the past, has come to the front with a state and mythical story about the estate of the late James G. Craven, pretending also to great wisdom about the affairs of Mrs. Craven.

The order calling for the regimental inspection. Lieutenant-Colonel Duboce in his report partly censured Major Charles Jansen. The colonel reported that at the time of the inspection Major Jansen was not present and the colonel assumed the major would report later to receive his (Duboce's) special reports from the regimental officers.

Therefore, reported Lieutenant-Colonel Duboce, the inspection was proceeded with in pursuance of the exact letter of instructions. There having been received no orders to the contrary up to 9:40 p. m. the regiment was dismissed. Lieutenant-Colonel Duboce did not consider it his duty to anticipate that any of the brigade staff officers would desire to personally act as inspectors of the various companies.

General Warfield has not only accepted Lieutenant-Colonel Duboce's explanation; in addition to exonerating General Warfield has written that he is gratified at the loyalty with which the order was carried out.

Ex-District Attorney Selva on Work in Humboldt County. T. H. Selva, of Eureka, ex-District Attorney of Humboldt County, is among the arrivals at the Baldwin Hotel. Mr. Selva says that business is improving in the northwestern corner of the State, and that by spring, in his judgment, things will be moving quite actively.

"The black sand mines at Gold Bluff," said Mr. Selva, "that have been worked during the past season, have paid quite well. One of the properties there has been in the hands of a receiver for some months, and, curiously enough, as I am informed, it has been found that the property has paid very well. It seemed to pan out better, somehow. There are really opportunities there for coal-mining, and I do not know that the black sand is attracted as much attention for a long while. Some work is going on in the mines elsewhere in the county."

"About the lumbering business, especially the redwoods, I can say that I believe things are shaping themselves in a way that will see quite a little activity in that line. I think the mills will start in the spring earlier than usual. These are the indications now."

Mr. Selva is here on a brief business trip. He will probably leave for home today.

Golden Gate Park, the pride of San Francisco people and admired by all visitors, looks splendid in its fall costume of purple and green. The late rains gave to the trees and shrubs their fall bath, which washed off the summer dust and gave them an appearance pleasant to behold.

The autumn flowers of variegated hue, with a preponderance of purple coloring, lend a most fascinating charm to the beautiful scenery which attracts the eye as broad avenues are traversed either on foot, horseback or seated in handsome vehicles which are used by the wealthy in their daily spins over the well-kept drives.

A run through the park yesterday afternoon was more of a reminder of a tropical country than of a North American section at this time when the telegraph dispatches announce blizzards and snowfalls within a few hundred miles of San Francisco, the queen winter spot of California.

Tall pine trees that a month ago wore a dirty brown color from the summer's accumulation of red dust had been washed down, leaving a beautiful green appearance. This with the perfume of highly cultivated flowers and the majestic forms of choice chrysanthemums raised high above the tender collection of violets and the thousands of smaller but attractive flower-bearing shrubs seem to vie with one another as to which will draw the most attention from those who daily pass comments of admiration upon their beauty.

The open lawns so suddenly brought into view the winding avenues are traversed affording a charming panorama to the other points of observation. The bright green grass so carefully nourished by an abundant supply of water the year round is one of the features that make the park attractive at all seasons of the year.

The establishment long desired of a police station within the park boundary, where the park police may be under the command of that urbane and efficient officer, Captain Thomson, is being built, as the building is almost finished. This structure stands on the knob of the hill, where the Casino was first located, and close to where it had been moved and afterward taken away to make a resort in the Richmond District.

This police station will answer a good many purposes besides housing the officers and sheltering the horses of the mounted patrolmen. It will be a temporary lock-up for persons who get arrested, and, in the rules of the park, as also a place where persons injured can be taken until the police ambulance wagon can reach them.

Taken all in all a visit to Golden Gate Park on a November day, with its extra wraps and heavy overcoats are in requisition, is a treat that cannot be surpassed in any other city in the United States.

HERE'S YOUR OPPORTUNITY. How to Get a Great Reference Work at the Cost of Paper and Ink.

Not long ago the Pacific Coast Newspaper Syndicate conceived the happy idea of distributing among readers on remarkably favorable terms a certain number of sets of that great reference work, the Encyclopaedia Britannica.

The project met with such widespread appreciation that the enterprise extended far beyond the bounds originally mapped out, and many thousands of sets of the work were placed in homes that would probably never have possessed it at the regular price of $12.50 a set.

In the course of the distribution, which involved the handling, packing and unpacking of many thousands of these sets, now and then a volume in some set was slightly rubbed and therefore withheld from shipment. These sets, of course, might be returned to the publisher, but the Syndicate, instead of doing this, purposes to distribute them at a nominal price.

The most serious injury to any set is no greater than might occur in a few days' use in the home or office.

The nominal price arranged for readers is also payable in small monthly amounts, so that many who may have found the former price too high may now possess one of these special sets at a cost entirely within reach, both as to price and payment. One dollar is all the cash required, and the full set delivered at once, with the privilege of returning within a week and money refunded.

The Syndicate's address is 14 Sansome street, San Francisco, where application may be made either personally or by letter, but as the number of these special sets is limited and as they will be distributed to the first who apply, prompt application is necessary.

Divorce Suits Filed. Divorce suits have been filed in the Superior Court as follows: Helen A. Tilden against George C. Tilden; Mary Silbermann against Morris Silbermann; Willie Montgomery against Frank Montgomery.

'T WAS ONLY AN "EXAMINER" STORY

His Family Greatly Mortified That His Ailment Was Paraded Before the Public.

Sands W. Forman, ex-Supervisor and journalist, denies positively the Examiner story that he has been cured of locomotor ataxia by the hypnotic power of Kennedy. While Mr. Forman expresses the desire to avoid a newspaper controversy, he was willing last night to make the following statements:

"I have never been hypnotized and have never been benefited by this man Kennedy. A few nights ago, in company with several friends, I met him in Frank's saloon, and a discussion of hypnotism led him to suggest that he try to cure me of my ailment."

"Though I was entirely skeptical of his prowess I consented, and after he had gone through several of his stage maneuvers and told me to get up and walk I got up and walked the entire length of the saloon without the use of my cane."

"This is a thing I can do at any time by making a strong endeavor. I did it for him the same as I would have done for a friend making the request."

"When I returned I told all present very distinctly that I was not under Kennedy's influence, and did not believe in his powers. My reason for carrying a cane is that I can move around much more easily."

"I was interviewed by a reporter in the morning, and said to him the same things I have said to you."

"What was my surprise to read the next morning that I was a well man through Kennedy's influence."

"This newspaper advertisement of my affliction has not only been very distasteful to me, but a source of the keenest mortification to my family. I am heartily tired of the whole affair, and after this will have nothing more to say about it."

The Examiner has advertised him as the subject of a special article in to-day's edition, in which he is supposed to give his version of the remarkable cure effected by Kennedy, and will in general be made a star feature of the edition.

In addition to publishing a two-column story last Wednesday under startling headlines, the Examiner has since sent a reporter to him with a long article about the alleged cure and a request that he attach his signature to it, which he refused to do.

FURTHER CAR TRANSFERS

More Facilities for Southside Passengers by the Market-Street Company.

Residents on Kentucky, San Bruno, Bryant and Other Streets Interested.

His Family Greatly Mortified That His Ailment Was Paraded Before the Public.

The residents of the Southside will be pleased to note that increased car facilities will, after December 1, be accorded passengers. The extension of privileges was yesterday announced in the following notices issued by the Market-street company:

Commencing Tuesday, December 1, 1896, transfers from the San Bruno line of horsecars to the Howard-street line, and inbound cars of the Bryant and Brannan streets line as heretofore, but also upon outward-bound cars of the Bryant and Brannan streets line.

Passengers desiring to take the Bryant and Brannan streets line may either ride on Howard-street cars from Potrero avenue to Bryant street, retaining their transfers for streets cars, the Bryant and Brannan streets line, or may walk across from the corner of Twenty-fourth and Potrero avenue to the corner of Twenty-fourth and Bryant streets, as they prefer; subject to the understanding that no stop-over privilege is intended and that the transfer check must be presented before the expiration of the time limit.

In the opposite direction transfers will be given from Bryant street to Howard-street cars, both inward and outward bound, to San Bruno cars, passengers either walking across or using the outward-bound cars of the Howard-street line, as they prefer.

Transfers from outward-bound cars of the Howard-street line to San Bruno cars will be given as heretofore, from eastbound cars of the Eighteenth-street (or Solano street) line to northbound Kentucky-street cars.
