MENACE TO THE SCHOOL CHILDREN

City Contract Work That Did Not Last Two Months.

Artificial Stone Sidewalks Sink and Go to Pieces at Cooper School.

Repetition of the Job That Has Been Done at the North Cosmopolitan Schoolhouse.

The principal of the Cooper Primary School, on Greenwich street, between Jones and Leavenworth, has been in rather hard luck of late, and all on account of the way work is done by City contractors. In this instance the trouble of the principal and assistant teachers is the constant strain to save the young children from injuring themselves in the ruts and caverns of an artificial stone sidewalk that was constructed about two months ago in front of the schoolhouse.

It is a repetition of the worry and fear of the North Cosmopolitan School principal for nearly a year past, and which, by the way, are not yet at an end, for the North Cosmopolitan schoolhouse and yards have been in the hands of contractors, at the imminent risk of children's limbs.

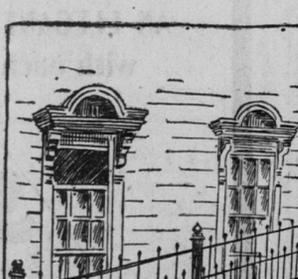

Last summer the School Department undertook to improve the Cooper School so that it might be habitable by pupils during winter months. A bulkhead, erected when the street was raised in front at considerable expense to the department, had fallen in, and with it went the sidewalk. The yard of the school was in a disgraceful condition, but it was paved with bituminous rock and a masonry sustaining wall was erected along the line of Greenwich street. This with some other improvements constituted the school board's part of the contract. There still remained a great hole between the wall and the street, and this was filled by Contractor John Dallam on a private contract with the Superintendent of Streets. Dallam at once proceeded to finish the job. He leveled off the earth almost even with the new granite curbs, and then laid a coating of concrete and cement for the patent stone sidewalk. This work appeared well enough, for the caused the dangerous places to be fenced and the ruts to be planked over. The sum of $500 was withheld on the contract, with the result that the contractor had to go over his work a second time. And yet the sidewalk is left in a dangerous condition. For about half the length of the lot there is a hummocky patch of bituminous rock upon the sidewalk, while the other half is a broken surface with heaps of debris and deep holes scattered about. And over them the children have to pass to get into and out of the school.

The Schooner Newsboy Loading Creosoted Piles at Section B of the Seawall for Central America. The Creosoting Process Has Gained Prominence, and Now Lumber Treated With It Is Being Shipped to All Central and South American Ports and China.

A NEW INDUSTRY AT NORTH BEACH

The Preserving and Shipping of Lumber Progressing.

Central America and China Send Orders for the Creosoted Lumber.

Vessels That Came Here Expecting to Get Wheat Charters Have Been Disappointed.

The preserving of piles and timbers from the ravages of the teredo has become quite an industry at North Beach. Several concerns have gone into the business and in consequence the old section on which Meigs wharf used to stand is now one of the busiest on the water front. The bulk of the work is done by creosoting and later shipments of creosoted piles and lumber have been sent to Central and South America and the last steamer for China took away a large consignment to be used in the harbor at Hongkong. All the piles, or nearly all those used by the Harbor Commissioners, are treated at the works, and it is estimated that the new process adds at least five years to the life of a pile. Broadway wharf is to be repiled and over 500 piles will be required. It will be a year before the new pier can be built and it had not been for the creosoting process the piles now to be driven would not last out the year. As it is President Colton says that when the commission comes to rebuild the wharf next year the piles will be as good as new and they can be used over again.

When the San Francisco Timber Preserving Company first put in its works at North Beach an attempt was made to carry its timbers over the roadway and wharf to the vessels alongside. At that time THE CALL protested against the State's roadway being put to such a use and the company abandoned the project. Now all the piles and timber are run into the bay through an underground tunnel. Another process employed at North Beach is the wrapping of piles in tarred lines, and still a third is the paraffin process. The conglomeration of smells is not pleasant, but as it brings work and money to North Beach, the residents do not mind. The creosoting works are running night and day and F. F. Dundas says the venture is a success.

There was a goose-chase on the bay yesterday. Dave Kramer was bringing home a bird from Fort Point, but lost it on the way. As the goose was to be fattened for Christmas Dave was anxious to bring it home. He bent to the oars but the bird was quicker than he and always eluded the Whitehall. The boys from Meigs wharf joined in the chase and Dave picked up his fowl-piece to kill the bird, but while taking aim his gun went off and he fell into the bay. Jimmy Welch secured the goose, and when Dave was taken ashore he found himself minus a gun and a bird, as Welch was well on his way up Telegraph Hill by that time.

Boatman Scott, while rowing along the front yesterday, wickered up a valise, in which were a quantity of clothing and a New Testament. In the latter was written: "Charles Anderson, City and County Hospital, Ward C," who the number of dockets for Sven Durd and August Durd. All the articles smell of creosote, and if there was a suicide the chances are the unfortunate jumped overboard from Powell-street wharf. Sergeant Hayes is in opinion that the man who jumped was from the City and County Hospital ended his life last Thursday night.

The British tramp steamer Progressist is ready to sail for India, and will get away to-day. She has about 5200 tons of wheat on board, but the captain insists she should have at least 1500 tons more. He demanded that his vessel be loaded down to the Pimslor mark, but the surveyors refused to allow his demand. The tramp has been running in the Dunsuir line for twenty months, and during that time has never had a serious breakdown. Chief Engineer J. M. Norton, who came here with the vessel, has been more than successful in the management of the engine-room, and when the number of accidents that have happened to other tramps is taken into consideration the vessel's owners should be gratified. Mr. Norton has made many friends in San Francisco, and should on his return he will be made more than welcome.

THE PRINCE'S DENIAL.

Poniatowski's Secretary Asserts That the Story About a London Creditor is False.

Prince Poniatowski, who is president of large mining syndicates, is not in San Francisco, but the Princess is here at the residence of William H. Crocker. The Prince is on the Mother Lode looking after his mining interests. In regard to the published statement that the Prince had contracted debts in England and that Messrs. Maple & Co. of London were pursuing him with legal papers to collect the sum of $8000 for furniture obtained from that firm, a positive denial of its truth comes from the family of Poniatowski. The secretary of the Prince said last night: "You can deny on the very best of authority the statements published this evening."

THE POLICE TRIBUNAL.

One Officer Dismissed From the Force and Another Resigns.

The Police Commissioners held a meeting Thursday night and two vacancies on the force were created. Policeman Dennis Murphy was charged with unofficerlike conduct in being intoxicated while on duty and failing to report on duty, and was dismissed from the force. Charges had been preferred against Policeman Austin J. Langford, but rather than face them he tendered his resignation, which was accepted.

THE NEW WAVE.

Physical Culture, Pure Food and Drink Mark a New Era.

A great, popular, pure drink and pure food wave is just now passing over the country, and it seems to have come to stay. More attention is being given to articles of food and drink than heretofore, and people are slowly learning that good habits cannot be preserved under the present civilization unless the habits are of a more natural character. The apparently harmless coffee habit now numbers its victims by the thousands, producing obstinate stomach and bowel troubles that will not abate except by leaving off the habit. It is not always an easy task to drop a lifetime habit. One of the late discoveries is a pure food coffee, made entirely of grains and possessing great fattening and nourishing properties, while it brews the exact deep seal brown color of Mocha, and when it is brewed in added it takes the rich golden brown of old Java. The taste is pungent and piquant, quite similar to coffee; in fact so close to it in aroma and flavor that the coffee-drinker who has had trouble with his bowels will freely take on the new grain drink when he discovers that it agrees with him perfectly and its healthful properties quickly dismiss his former ailment. The great feature of this new and rational method of dismissing sickness is to avoid drugging oneself and quit hurtful habits, taking in only what is known to be pure natural food such as the Creator intended for man's subsistence. Dr. Wesley A. Dunn, Editor of "Medical Current," Marshall Field Building, Chicago, says: "I am highly pleased with it." Nothing is more to the point than this new food-drink, made from grains. It bears the name of "Postum Cereal," and is made by the Postum Cereal Company (limited), Battle Creek, Mich. It claims to be a direct and quick producer of new blood corpuscles by the natural method of good nourishing food taken in a liquid form. It is quite a bit less expensive than coffee and altogether its use appeals to one's common sense. Beware of the fraudulent imitations of the original Postum Cereal Grain coffee. Insist on Postum.

HEALTH BOARD HAS TAKEN WATER

Will No Longer Attempt to Control the Schools.

Attorney McEnerney Tells the Members They Have Exceeded Their Powers.

Seven New Cases of Diphtheria Reported at the Health Office Yesterday—One Death.

The Board of Health has been compelled to take water in its fight with the Board of Education, and it will not answer the injunction suit.

The matter came to a head yesterday afternoon when a special meeting was called to hear the opinion of the board's attorney on the subject.

The members evidently knew what was coming, for Dr. Fitzgibbon moved that the board go into executive session to hear the report. What transpired beyond the closed doors of the assembly-room none but the doctors and the employes know, but the faces of the members were long when they emerged. Attorney McEnerney was more communicative and in a few short sentences related what he had told the board.

"I simply told the board that it had no right to close the schools, and that its position in the matter could not be sustained in court," he said.

"Then you must have told them they had gone beyond their province and exceeded their authority?" said a reporter.

"I informed the members that I could find nothing in the statutes to justify their action," was the evasive answer.

Health Officer Lovelace let the cat out of the bag after the meeting.

"We knew beforehand what McEnerney's opinion would be," he said, "but we went ahead anyway to see what we could do. We made a fight, anyway."

When Age Approaches

and natural vigor declines; when the Nerves get out of tune and the Mind begins to worry about trifles; when the Great Shadow throws its first chill across the path of the once strong man—the value of the great African tonic and vitalizer, VINO-KOLAFRA, is perhaps most keenly appreciated.

Dr. J. G. Johnson, a prominent Brooklyn Heights, N.Y., Physician, says: "I have been familiar with the virtues of the African tonic for some time, but it is only recently that I have been able to procure a reliable preparation of it. It is known as VINO-KOLAFRA, gives prompt and permanent strength to the body, is an aid to digestion and a counter-agent to malaria. It is a powerful nerve tonic and sedative; especially as a tonic for men past middle life it is without an equal."

This incomparable preparation develops latent energy, intensifies and sustains the heartbeat, deepens the breathing, steadies the nerves and arrests the decay of the intellectual faculties. Has no reaction, no bad after-effects. Endorsed by Physicians and Scientists.
