The creditors of Henry Hons have asked to have him declared insolvent. It is asserted that in contemplation of insolvency Hons transferred his grocery store at the northwest corner of Fell and Laguna streets, to Henry A. Schulze.

The owners of the bark Socoma have settled all the demands against the vessel, amounting to $1316.91, and the vessel was released today by the United States marshal. She has been libeled by the seamen for $1076 wages. There was another claim for half pilotage, costs, etc., which made up the balance.

Next Friday evening, May 14, Miss Helen Kuebler will deliver a lecture in the auditorium of the Young Men's Christian Association, Mason and E street, on the famous resorts of California. She will present over 100 stereoscopic views of the numerous famous resorts and beautiful and romantic scenery of the State, including the Yosemite, the Geysers, Lake Tahoe, Mount Shasta, Mount Hamilton and other places.

A concert will be given on the 26th inst. by Andrew Younger Wood, baritone, assisted by Miss Georgia Constan, soprano; Miss Carolina Boyan, contralto; Miss Alicia Sheed Langstroth, recitacionista; Roscoe Warren Lynch, pianist; Armand Schmitt, violinist; and Meyer Jr., zither, at the Second Unitarian Church, Twentieth and Capp streets. The affair will be under the auspices of the Y. V. N. Fraternity, and promises to be very enjoyable.

The Pacific Mail Company's China arrived from China, Japan and Hawaii yesterday after a smart trip of 27 days 13 hours. Her run from Yokohama was made in 16 days 15 hours 31 minutes, and that from Honolulu was made in 6 days 20 hours and 6 minutes.

The vessel was not expected until this afternoon, so her arrival ahead of time was a surprise. She had 101 cabin passengers, 3 Europeans, 580 Chinese and 36 Japanese steerage passengers and 1610 tons of cargo. Strong northwest gales were experienced during the entire passage, but Captain Saunders says it was a very pleasant run nevertheless.

All the cabin passengers were thoroughly examined while the steamer was at anchor off Meigs wharf, and late during the afternoon were taken ashore in the company's tug Milien Griffiths.

There was no disease on board, but as there is no prevalent typhoid and diphtheria has broken out in Honolulu it was thought better to order the vessel into quarantine. All the steerage passengers were taken to the quarantine hospital, and the remainder are for San Francisco.

The China brought the news that the American ship Indiana, loading sugar at Hilo, Hawaiian Islands, for New York, had sprung a leak, but was in no immediate danger. The water was kept down by the pumps, and a diver was on his way from Honolulu to the scene when the China sailed. It is thought that the leak can be temporarily plugged and the vessel sailed to either Honolulu or San Francisco for permanent repairs.

The Japanese warship Naniwa was daily expected at Honolulu. She has on board Councilor Akiyama of the Foreign Office and two representatives of the Immigration Office, who will look into the matter of Japanese immigration in Hawaii, which has been causing trouble between the two countries.

A meeting of the shareholders of the schooner Bowhead was held yesterday, but nothing definite was done. It was proposed to sell the vessel at auction to the highest bidder, but many of the shareholders refused the proposition. They wanted her sold for anything she would bring over a stipulated sum. That proposition was also voted down, and some one proposed that she be advertised for sale, and when that failed several of the shareholders left the meeting in disgust. Those who remained then decided to sell their individual interests to the highest bidder.

Two failures during successive seasons on the coast of California caused the owners of the Bowhead to lay the schooner up in Oakland Creek, where she is now. She is not improving with age, and the general impression is that she should be sold, but not at a great sacrifice. The probable merging of four or five shareholders' interests in one hand may make a difference in the cost of the vessel.

Harry Selmer and his brother Fred are to sail a match race from Hunters Point around Crocker Island and back next Sunday. The vessel is the "Hazel," and Fred has completed a handsome new sloop which he has named the Hazel, so the partnership enters the water. The match will be off the ways until Saturday night, but Fred is so confident about her abilities that he is ready and willing to sail the vessel in the company of the "Hazel." A big crowd from South San Francisco will follow the race in a tug.

The ship Charmer has been a little over two weeks at port, yet her big cargo has been discharged, and Capt. Holmes expects to get away the first of next week and says he intends to make a new record for the run between San Francisco and Honolulu.

The ship St. David, which got in last Sunday afternoon, was docked at Harrison street and was discharging yesterday afternoon.

All the Dunsmuir's hoppers and the coalyards are full, so the steamer Wellington will be turned into a steamer for the time being.

close of the second act De Wolf Hopper recalled several times. He embraced the occasion to make a speech abounding in humor and happy allusions. The audience seemed delighted to get something that was not announced in the program, and rewarded the speaker with generous applause.

At the Columbia.

For the present the Columbia is the house of the man with the elastic limb, the lady with the striped voice and maidens galore with abbreviated skirts, chic hats and patches on chin and cheek.

All these people form part and parcel of the "Excelsior Jr." company, a farce comedy that starts out with the commendable object of presenting an extravaganza founded on a well-regulated plot, but which, after the first few scenes, evidently gave up the intention as a very bad, unworthy and altogether ungracious job. If the management would be content with the "Excelsior Jr." straight, senseless padding made up principally of stale jokes and time-worn songs, the extravaganza would be worthy of consideration. There are some good people in the cast, old and tried favorites, and several newcomers who are sure to make friends.

Sadie Martini, who heretofore aimed at and attained the dignity of a four-sheet poster all to herself, is a central and attractive figure in the daily form and stunning hat. Her imitation of Yvette Guilbert went with a vim and dash, and possessed all the chic one associates with the original.

Johnny Page's imitations are worthy an act by themselves. They are original and clever, and possess the true essence of fun and comedy. "Excelsior" was handsomely mounted, recalling to mind the gorgeous stage pictures of the Christmas-tide extravaganza.

Grand Opera-Houses.

The patrons of Morosco's were treated last night to a picturesque comedy-drama entitled, "The White Rat." The hero of this play manages to implicate himself in the murder of a Swedish sailor. Of course he had nothing to do with it, because the heavy villain always attends to that sort of thing, but the hero is sent to prison anyway and the villain bears off the prize—a stuffed white rat, in which the sailor has hidden a diamond of immense value. After the villain has disposed of the rat he puts his money out at interest and enjoys a prosperous life for a year or two. Then the hero escapes and the villain's troubles begin again. Finally, through the timely aid of a man who goes blind right after the murder, and who organizes his sight right after the escape of the hero, the innocence of the

THREE THOUSAND MORE CHILDREN

The Largest Gain Known in This City for a Number of Years Past.

An Exhaustive Canvass That Cost the City $6000 Approved by Superintendent Webster.

With a burst of wild, barbaric music and a demoniac beating of gongs the orchestra at the Alcazar last night attuned the startled audience to the proper frame of mind for listening to Francis Powers' lurid drama of Chinatown, "The First Born."

Mr. Powers has broken into pastures new for an American dramatist in taking Celestials for his characters. Every theater-goer has seen comic Chinamen doing "turns" in variety performances, and "The Senator" boasts of one Celestial who is taken seriously, but a real Chinese play, full of the sights and sounds and smells of Chinatown has never been seen

The taking of the school census of this City which has occupied the attention of Census Marshal Wardell and a large staff of assistants for some time past was finished late last night, when the last of the clerical work was done and the results submitted to Superintendent of Schools Webster for his approval.

The increase of 3018 children of school age over the number recorded last year is the largest known for several years past, and Superintendent Webster believes that the canvass has been most thorough. In many districts where there was reason to believe that fewer children than actually existed were recorded it was necessary to canvass several times, and a number of blocks were canvassed as many as five times.

In order to finish the work within the time required by law it was necessary in some instances to work the men on Sundays, and this additional labor, taken with the large number of men employed, has brought the expenses of the census up to about $6000.

It was found in many cases where pupils reported that the census-takers had not called at their homes, that the children were mistaken, inquiry of the parents showing that the canvassers had called and taken the names without the knowledge of the pupils. The figures as verified and approved by Mr. Webster are as follows:

White boys, 36,783; white girls, 36,842; total, 73,130. Negro boys, 176; negro girls, 128; total, 302. Mongolian boys, 742; Mongolian girls, 866; total, 1408. Total number of census children between the ages of 5 and 17, 74,860.

White children under 5 years of age, 23,171; negro children under 5 years of age, 84; Mongolian children under 5 years of age, 411. Total, 23,666.

Total number of children between 5 and 17 years of age who have attended the public schools, 46,871; number of children between 5 and 17 years of age who have attended private schools, 8501; number of children between 5 and 17 who have not attended any school, 19,488.

Native-born children, 95,389; foreign-born children, 3167. Grand total, 98,506.

The total number of census children between 5 and 17 years of age last year was 71,822, the present census showing a gain of 3018.

Huntington Will Soon Leave.

Collis F. Huntington will leave for the East some day within the next two weeks. He may go on Saturday next, and perhaps not until the following week. The return journey will be made over his own lines. He is intending going first to Oregon, and thence will proceed eastward over either the Northern Pacific, the Union Pacific or the Great Northern.

CHINESE CONSUL ARRIVES.

Yu Hsi Yi and Chang Yin Tong Will Control Local Mongolians.

They Rely For Success on the Fact That They Are Neither So Nor Sam Yup Men.

Warring See Yup and Sam Yup factions have now a neutral intermediary to turn to in times of riot and petty contention.

The new Chinese Consul-General for the Pacific Coast, Yu Hsi Yi, and his assistant, Chang Yin Tong, arrived overland from Portland yesterday morning and will immediately assume the responsibility of controlling the local Mongolian colony.

Both the Consul-General and his assistant are experienced diplomats. The former hails from the province of Keang Su and the latter from Kwang Tung.

Yu Hsi Yi disclaims allegiance to either the See Yup or Sam Yup Company and relies largely on his non-partisanship as the means which will enable him to keep the two branches of peace ever before the eyes of his people.

Today the new Consul will view the Chinese district, and after consulting with his predecessor as to the best methods for promoting the condition of his people will assume the reins of office.

Vassar Su rendered himself at the City Prison yesterday afternoon and was released on $1000 bonds. Vassar, who is a grandson of the founder of Vassar College, is now residing at 1000 Broadway, near the corner, Ellis street, of embezzling a diamond ring belonging to her. Vassar denies the charge and says he will prove that the woman gave him the ring to pawn to provide her with funds.

Behrman Will Recover.

Frank Scott, the telegraph operator who stabbed William Behrman, a saloon-keeper at Pine and Kearny streets, Sunday night, appeared in Judge Conlan's court yesterday to answer a charge of assault to murder. The case was continued till Friday. Behrman was removed to his home on the Receiving Hospital yesterday. The wound although serious is not considered dangerous.

MAXINE ELLIOTT, Who Will Appear as Ada Ingot in "David Garrick" at the Baldwin Next Week.

upon the American stage before, and may never be seen again.

Powers' evidently an advanced realist, for his "First Born" is a regular Celestial "Cavaliere Rusticani." He has taken just such a plot as might come up any day in the police courts, over a Chinese murder case, and has made the climax of his story the start of the feud between the See Yup and the Sam Yups.

The play is "Chinese, quite Chinese you know," and an American audience, struggling rather hopelessly with the unfamiliar names, and the yellow-faced crowd, just beginning to know who is who, when the climax is reached.

Mr. Powers' friends say he has studied for months to write and produce "The First Born," and every line of his play shows it, for he has actually succeeded in becoming a foreigner in the midst of his own people, who are pleasingly alluded to as "white devils" throughout the performance.

The dialogue is written in the Oriental style of flowery compliment and imagery, and contains some very pretty gems of rhetoric, though this rococo style of talk rather cogs the wheels of combination for dramatic purposes.

H. Francis Powers has succeeded in writing his play from a Chinese standpoint, as far as "white d-vils" can judge he has been even more successful in putting it on the stage "à la mode Chinese town." The scenery, the dresses, the sounds are those of the Mongolian quarter, and by some occult means the over-the-top selections of the company were all more or less successfully disguised, most of them more, and the supers were real Chinamen.

The audience was some very unexplained reason, received the performance with frantic demonstrations of delight, and Mr. Powers, being called on for a speech, modestly responded by throwing flowers at George Osbourne and at Hip Long, a Chinese gentleman who was enjoying the performance from a private box and who seemed nowise embarrassed at suddenly being made a public character.

The drawing strength of "El Capitan" was well exemplified last evening. Every seat in the theater was occupied, and many stood to hear the music. It was observed that the audience was excellent in quality. At the

ENDED HER LIFE WITH STRYCHNINE

Suicide of Cicelli Podesta, the Mother of Six Children.

No Cause for the Woman's Desperate Deed Is Known.

Early in the Evening She Was Lighthearted and Happy—At 10 She Was Dead.

Mrs. Cicelli Podesta, the mistress of a comfortable home at 1029 Clay street and the mother of six children—the oldest 14 years of age and the youngest a tiny baby girl of 18 months—committed suicide last evening at 9:30 o'clock by drinking a large draught of strychnine. The motive which prompted the deed is a mystery.

Mrs. Podesta returned to her room after doing some shopping at 6 o'clock in the evening. Half an hour later her husband, Antonio Podesta, who drives a wagon for Cavanaro's winehouse, returned home, and supper was prepared. During the course of the meal the woman, according to Podesta, was in the best of humor, her mind apparently being free from any thought of death.

At 8 o'clock Podesta retired and his wife stood on the doorstep conversing and joking with some friends who chanced to pass. The friends left and Mrs. Podesta walked into her husband's room.

She carried a glass in her hand and without saying a word raised it to her lips and drained its contents. She then called to her husband, who was in bed, and told him that she had taken poison.

Podesta refused to credit the statement for a short time. Mrs. Podesta finally relented and fell heavily to the floor, and he then knew that her statement was true. He hurried for a physician, but when the physician arrived it was too late.

An antidote administered failed to undo the work of the poison, and in half an hour the unfortunate woman was dead.

The coroner's office was then notified, and the body was removed to the Morgue. Mr. Podesta is heartbroken over the death of his wife, who was but 29 years of age, and is at a loss to understand her strange act.

"My wife has been in the best of health for some time," he said, "and so far as I know her life has been devoid of trouble. She never complained or intimated that her life was other than a happy one, and that is what mystifies me. We never quarreled and what could have prompted her to leave her babies motherless I will never know. She must have been temporarily insane."

DR. BARROWS IS HERE.

The Eminent Divine on His Experiences in India, Japan and the Hawaiian Islands.

The Rev. John Henry Barrows, D.D., president of the Parliament of Religions at the World's Fair, now professional lecturer on comparative religions at the Chicago University, and for fifteen years past pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Chicago, arrived here on the steamer China yesterday. He has been on a tour of the world and is now en route home.

"I delivered 113 lectures in India and also spoke at forty receptions and crossed the country five times, traveling over 6000 miles there," said the doctor. "I also delivered twenty-three lectures in Japan and one in Honolulu. My trip was in every way very interesting. I found earnest workers in the story of Christ wherever I was. I was in the famine districts of India several times and witnessed the keen suffering of the people. I spent some time in Japan and was quite taken with that country."

"It was in Hawaii, however, that I found an almost ideal state. The people there show a magnanimity way toward Christianity to highly civilized people. They are kind, hospitable, moral and religious. We should by all means annex Hawaii—as a State as a Territory. I've don't we are fools."
